Morning Chronicle.

NO SUCH HONORS ARE DUE THE DEAD.—A hearse, followed by twenty-three dingy hacks, three limping cabs, two faded carryalls, and a chaise with nearly every screw in it loose, passed through Charles street, yesterday afternoon, at four o'clock. The hacks contained ugly bundles of men and women, to the number of from four to seven each, and the cabs, carryalls and chaise were proportionably laden. It was one of the meanest displays of human beings that has ever taken part in a funeral procession in Boston. There were three women and two men in one of the carringes: the men were smoking long pipes, which, on the score of decency towards their tender companions—as was supposed—were protruded through the side windows: and the women filled the air with their Tipperary jangling and horse laughter. Loud talk was common from one end of the train to the other, and a third of the vehicles bore pipe and cigar smokers. One of the cabs,—in which were four unwashed buffers with bloated faces,—threatened to break down, and its stoppage occasioned a general inquiry of "What the devil ails ye?" from the persons in the adjacent carriages. The whole procession was a wicked and heathenish affair, alike disgraceful to the living and the dead, and the sooner that the practice of "paddy funerals" is brought into disuse the better it will be for the Irish residents of Boston.—Boston Courier.

All this seems to be absurd, and some of it almost horrible. Yet these poor creatures only imitate their neighbors in riding when they had better walk; in smoking out of time and place; in chattering and blouting, when and where they should be silent and temperate; and in being unwashed instead of cleanly.

We do and must approve of the social and friendly feeling, that prompts a poor Irishman or woman to pay 25 or 50 cents for a ride to a friend's funeral; though we must condemn their disorderly conduct and bad taste, which they often exhibit on such occasions.

DEATH BY VIOLENCE—PROBABLY A MURDER BY MISTAKE.—About five weeks ago, in the night time, a man named Patrick Forey, residing in North street, Boston, was passing along North Square, in the vicinity of the Bethel, when he was met by two men, one of whom stabbed him twice in the side and fled. He was taken up and conveyed to the North watch house and thence to his home. On the same night a man was arrested by the watch on suspicion that he was concerned in the assault, but was discharged for want of evidence. The man stabbed lingered along under the care of two physicians until Thursday last, when he died, and was buried at Cambridge, without any inquest being held upon the body. The deceased stated after the assault, that he knew of no person who had reason to thus assault him, and thinks that he must have been stabbed by mistake for some other person.—He was a hard working man, and leaves a wife and family.

"Be it enacted, &c., That all laws for the collection of any debt contracted after the passage of this law, be abolished, except where property is transferred for its security; the property so transferred to be the only legal security on such debts."

The writer says that should this become a law, it would prevent seventy-five per cent. of the bad debts now made, besides promoting integrity and upright mercantile character.

A WEATHER SIGN.—An old hunter predicts that the following will be a dry summer, from the fact that woodcocks have built their nests in low moist places. When the summer is to be wet, he says, they will build in dry, sunny situations.—Newark Advertiser.

The woodcocks probably know as much of the weather in futuro as the old hunter, and no more. But we place the above on record for the benefit of those who believe that animals are weatherwise.—Boston Journal.

MARINE DISASTERS OF THE YEAR.—The amount of property destroyed at sea the present season has been enormous. We see it estimated that at least forty millions of dollars would be required to make up the losses of the year. The loss of life has also been unusually great. The average annual loss of life on the Atlantic does not equal that occasioned by the wrecks of four vessels within the past few months.

LIBERAL OFFER.—The Salem Register is authorized to say that a gentleman is ready to present a valuable estate, containing a large, substantial and commodious building, every way adapted for the purpose, and admirably located, for a SEAMEN'S HOME, provided a sufficient fund can be secured to furnish and support the same.

HORSE FRIGHTENED TO DEATH.—The Star of the 7th inst., relates that a horse was killed in Lebanon, on Tuesday morning last, by fright. First, an elephant belonging to the Hippodrome, passed by, which nearly killed him; then came the camels—and that finished him. The horse was previously in good health.—St. Louis Intelligencer.

A large number of persons (estimated to number not many less than twenty thousand) have been defrauded in various parts of the country by women who have collected subscriptions for "Ella Wentworth's Journal" without authority.

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, APRIL 29, 1854.

STEAMSHIP FALCON.—The steamship Falcon, which sailed from New York on the 18th and put into Norfolk on the 24th in distress, had on board a number of the troops of the Third Regiment of Artillery, which were on the ill-fated San Francisco, bound for California, as we have already stated. Before sailing, serious doubts of her seaworthiness were entertained, and Major Wyze refused to go on board, on this account. For this conduct he was placed under arrest for disobedience of orders, and is still under arrest. The Boston Advertiser remarks that Major Wyze's fortitude was severely tried in the time of the danger of the San Francisco, and bore the test nobly.

There must be some terribly dishonest and reckless men who have the charge of chartering transport ships, in which to risk the lives of officers and soldiers. There are surely good ships enough to be had at fair market prices of freight and passage,—and there is no reason to believe that the San Francisco was overloaded because government did not pay enough. Nor is there any reason to believe that the unseaworthy Falcon, if she is so, was hired at a low price.

No, no. There is more probably some trick or trap about the contract, which the public do not understand. We hope Major Wyze may be able to expose the swindle, if there is one.

THE MEDALS.—We are not quite able to understand why so large a sum as $100,000 was proposed in Congress, to be expended in buying three gold medals for the three captains whose ships rescued the people from the wreck of the San Francisco,—nor why any Senator should oljject to cutting that sum down to $50,000, or even to a much lower figure.

We have never doubted for a moment that these captains deserved a handsome reward—but surely $10,000 would make a gold medal as big as a saucer, if such a monstrosity were desired.

We hope the vote in the Senate will be explained by somebody who understands the subject. Our Senators, from New Hampshire, both voted to cut the sum down, as we think, properly, and then voted against the bill. We should have gone for the bill, as reduced, but with a modification, turning a large part of the medals' cost into a gift in money.

At an ecclesiastical council held at Saugerties, N. Y., recently, Rev. J. R. Johnson was deposed from the ministry, having been convicted of "gross licentiousness, woful depravity, and consummate hypocrisy."

That's right; put the scoundrels over the road when you convict them: for some such, who have oily tongues, manage to keep out of the reach of punishment themselves, by the lack of wholesome discipline in those organizations which ought to put on the lash of ecclesiastical censure.

A boy about 14 years of age, passenger on a train on the New York Central Railroad, on Saturday evening, was killed near Little Falls. He put his head out of the window, and a train passing on the other track, carried off part of his face, including the whole of the lower jaw.

We often see little nervous, fidgetty boys and girls, and sometimes men and women, putting their heads out in the same way, thus running the risk of getting them knocked off.

"The Church before the Flood," is the name of a new book; but it does not mean the "Church before the Flood" of clerical petitions in Congress against the Nebraska bill, but alludes to the general inundation in the time of Noah—which is supposed to have done a good deal more damage.—Boston Post.

No doubt the flood did more damage, but it seems as if it could not have occasioned more howling.

Captain Crockett has stated that the cook of the schooner Louisiana, of Cherrytown, Va., is a free man, and that his name is Thomas Bivans instead of George Weston. He has been with Capt. C. for a year, and it is asserted that he has never been a slave. If this is true, the serving of the writ of habeas corpus in New Bedford was an attention more polite than agreeable.—Boston Post.

All very well if it is so. But somebody must "lie like—a bulletin."

RAILROAD ITEMS.—The verdict of $15,000 against the Worcester Railroad, caused a decline on the stock of 1 per cent. One per cent on the stock of this company is about $50,000. The liability to such verdicts depreciates the value a great deal more than the amount of the verdict.

The Cary Improvement Co. has sued the Eastern Railroad for $50,000 damages for passing through their farm. It is probable this farm has been increased in value more than this sum by the passage of the Railroad through it. In fact all that gives its prospective value is the railroad passing through it; but railroads are fair game for everybody to sponge, according to the fashion of the day.—Newburyport Herald.

LOCAL.

THE OLD NORTH CHURCH.

On Friday morning the dials disappeared from the tower, and some morning pretty soon we expect to miss the steeple also, the fall of which may be reserved as a sight to be seen by the early risers only.

The old house itself, with its remaining apparel and appurtenances, is this day to pass under the hammer of James P. Bartlett, Esq., auctioneer, who will knock it down in a figure to the highest bidder, who in his turn will knock it down in reality.

The House was erected in 1712; and on 7th of January, 1713, the church voted that the Pastor, the Rev. Nathanael Rogers, should preach on "the next sabbath come se'nnight," in the new meeting house.

Of course, the house, in the lapse of all these years, has been many times repaired.—And it has also been enlarged and altered more than once. Originally, the stairways were in the body of the building, at the N. E. and S. E. corners, and the present belfry was the only projection from the main building. All the doors, except the North, opened to the wide world.

In 1745, the N. E. stairs were taken out, and removed to the belfry, to make room for more pews. In 1761, a porch was built at the south end of the house, and the stairways removed from the S. E. corner. And in the same year the house was enlarged in width, by adding a piece on the western side, which now gives the steeple a place like a man's nose being on one cheek, but which was not then perceived, as the old State House hid the deformity.

The house was then "glazed with sash glass," so says the vote. Previously the windows were glazen leaden casements.

The eastern porch was twice built of one story in height, and afterwards raised to two stories. [All the projections, except the belfry, were cut off again in 1837, and the stairs again carried up in corners of the house.]

During the revolution and the period of poverty which followed, not much was done to the building beyond keeping it in repair; but in 1796 there was a gallery built, and suspended from the ceiling by iron rods, where the singers were accommodated with good seats.

In 1806, a committee was appointed "to see what was necessary to be done to the inside of the house and pulpit to make it decent." The committee appointed to oversee the work, consisted of Edward J. Long, Josiah Ackerman, jr., and Charles Peirce, and they executed their trust with great fidelity and good taste.

They had the wood work of the pews painted next the aisles, the gallery fronts and pulpit also painted; the walls and ceilings blue washed; (indigo blue!) The pulpit was new trimmed, and furnished with the most splendid curtain ever put up in this place. A fine clock for the interior was put up on the gallery, which is now so good as to be laid by for use in the new house that is to be. And above all, there was a splendid brass chandelier, with three rows of candlesticks, to compare with the old three decker of a house.

When all these things were bright and new; when almost everybody had either painted his pew green inside, or lined it with green, and driven a row of brass nails into the top of the cap; and when the sexton had gracefully let go the halliards and lowered the curtains on the west side;—then it was that Uncle Toby thought Solomon's Temple might look as well, but had no idea that it could look better.

The house full of gaily dressed people in three tiers; the noble handsome minister in the pulpit; the many instruments and fine music in the gallery—captivated the senses of the child, who knew not what was preached or sung; and painted on his mind a picture of dignity and glory for the old house, which can never belong to any other.

Subsequent alterations destroyed the upper gallery, reduced three tiers of windows to one, modernized the pews and pulpit, replaced the chandelier by a circlet of squash like lamp glasses, (which in their turn gave way to gas pipes)—and now the old steeple is to be levelled to the earth, and the whole fabric destroyed.

FOURTH OF JULY.—The Newburyport Herald states that an appropriation of $1200 has been made by that city, to celebrate the coming anniversary of Independence; and that a movement is being made to call home and publicly receive the natives of that city residing abroad, as Portsmouth did last year. The ladies propose to provide a dinner for the returning sons and daughters—and the Herald says that "this fact once established would call home the most distant of all the children."

By the way, what is Portsmouth going to do this year? Because we had one grand celebration we don't consider that a reason why we may not have another. That labor and money were well spent—and we hope for another display as good, though not exactly of the same kind.

A BATH GRATIS.

The traveller by Railway, who goes eastward from Portsmouth, will not fail to remember that there is an important station at South Berwick Junction, more especially if he ever happens to wait there half an hour or so, for the Boston and Maine train to come down, or the Portland and Saco to come up, or both.

While he sits there, he may look, if he pleases, from the car window, and see a stone Engine House, built of square blocks of granite; and if he chooses, by walking back on one of the tracks a few rods, he can see the quarry whence all these granite blocks were got out, by blasts of gunpowder, wedges, and other such like Yankee expedients.

The removal of such a quantity of stone, left quite a cavity, of course; and this removal also led to a valuable discovery, viz.: that of a copious spring of fresh water, which being opened by the displacement of the rock, at once filled the cavity, and now remains an ample supply of water for all the locomotives which pass that point. Over the largest and deepest part of this cavity, there is now erected a reservoir, or watering house, with the usual conveniences, for furnishing engines with water. Some time before it was erected, but after the cavity was filled with water, the evening train from Portsmouth arrived at the junction in advance of the train on the upper road; and to avoid the possibility of any collision in the thick darkness, the conductor of the Portsmouth train caused it to back down on the side track, near the pit of water, where the cars might remain in safety.

While they were thus halted, he passed through the train from front to rear, and as usual, looked out at the door on the platform of the last car. As he did so, he thought he perceived in the fog a man hanging by his hands on the iron railing of the car, trying to get up the steps. He lent a hand and drew up the man, who was dripping with water, while his teeth were chattering with the cold. The conductor asked him where he had been. I cannot tell, said he, as soon as he could speak, but I have been somewhere in deep water. And so he had: for, having occasion to step out a moment, he had in the darkness stepped forward into ten or twelve feet of water, out of which he most happily got without difficulty, but not without a thorough wetting from head to foot. He had 1300 dollars in bank bills, which, unhurt, were dried by the conductor; and the man comfortably lodged and blanketed with cloaks, &c., in the saloon. His clothes were also dried and he reclad; glad to escape with only a ducking—and pretty sure to look out where he stepped, the next time he got out of a car in the dark.

☞ Mrs. Emma R. Coe, as will be seen by an advertisement in this day's paper, is to lecture on Temperance, at the Temple, on Sunday evening.

We understand also, that should sufficient encouragement be afforded, Mrs. Coe purposes to deliver a series of lectures on the different branches of the Women's Rights Movement, commencing on Monday evening. Subject of the first lecture,—"The Industrial Avocations of Women." Subsequent lectures will be announced from the desk.

Mrs. Coe is a native of Durham, Connecticut—a sister of the wife of the Hon. James Wadsworth of Buffalo. She is endowed with lively and brilliant parts, and had good advantages for education. She is respectable and respected in all the relations of life, and every way entitled to the generous consideration of an audience.—New York Day Book.

Mrs. Coe is a logician, as well as orator, of rare merit. She is one of the most agreeable and pleasing public speakers to whom we ever listened.—New York Evening Post.

Mann & Co.'s Troupe open at the Cameneum on Monday evening, May 1st. If we might judge from the opinions of the press through Massachusetts, this Company gives entire satisfaction in the performance of Uncle Tom's Cabin. We copy the following from the Boston Daily Mail:

EXCITEMENT AT LAWRENCE.—The production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," by Mann & Co.'s Dramatic Troupe, at this place, has created an unusual excitement. The parts are so carefully distributed as to produce the most startling effects—each part being placed in hands competent to its rendition. This is the last night but one of this company in Lawrence.

Messrs. Editors:—Can you give any reason why the gas burner, on the corner of Auburn and Middle streets is not lighted? About four months ago the connexion was cut off, and we have been in darkness ever since.

LUMEN.

The Follansbee Family had a meeting at the City Hall yesterday, Newburyport, to take measures to receive a fortune, they believe themselves heirs to in England. It is a second Chase excitement, and will probably end in about the same way.—Herald.

THE FIRST CHURCH, BOSTON.—At a meeting of the proprietors of the Church in Chauncy Place, held on Tuesday afternoon, the salary of the pastor, Rev. Rufus Ellis, was raised from $3000 to $3500 a year.

THE SECOND CHURCH, BOSTON.—At a regular business meeting of the proprietors, on Wednesday evening, it was voted to increase the salary of Rev. Chandler Robbins, the pastor, the sum of five hundred dollars.

A WHOLE FAMILY IN THE WATCH HOUSE.—At a late hour on Thursday night, the watch found in the street in Boston, a man named George F. Currier, with his wife and three children, including a pair of young twins, who were in want of lodgings, being entirely destitute of money, and having no friends in Boston. They were taken to the North Watch House and comfortably provided for. The man stated that he was a shoemaker, and belonged in Portsmouth, N. H., but getting out of employment there, he and his family came all the way on foot to this city, drawing the twin babies in a small wagon. The family had too good an appearance to be reduced into such extremities.—Boston Transcript.

NAVIGATION.—The ice in the Kennebec and Penobscot Rivers has broken up and gone to sea, and navigation is resumed.

CONGRESS.

THURSDAY, April 27.

SENATE.—Mr. Sumner presented the memorial of the Massachusetts Legislature in favor of cheap postage.

HOUSE.—The House took up the bill granting lands to the States for railroads and educational purposes.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE. — Charleston, April 26.—The town of Warrington, Ga., was nearly destroyed by fire on the 23d instant. All stores were burned, together with the Court House and the documents belonging to it, the post office and its contents, many of the best dwellings, and a number of offices. The loss is estimated at from $1,150,000 to $1,200,000.

WARREN, OHIO, April 27.—A disastrous fire occurred here last night. An entire block of six large stores on Market street was burned. Total loss about $50,000.

THE LATE DISASTROUS FIRE IN NEW YORK.—The Journal of Commerce states that up to midnight on Wednesday thirteen dead bodies had been recovered from the ruins of the burnt building in Broadway. Nearly all of them were recognized as those of active and valuable firemen, and it is believed that the few which were so disfigured that they could not be identified, also were those of members of the department. The search was still going on, for it was apprehended that other missing men fell victims to the calamity. Besides this frightful actual loss of life, no less than thirty-six individuals, mostly firemen, were severely injured, some to the extent of requiring the amputation of limbs. This most deplorable calamity was the result of culpable carelessness in not looking to the strength of the walls of the building when they were put up. They fell from sheer inability to stand alone when the inside of the edifice was destroyed, and no one who has observed the recent mode of putting up buildings in New York can be much surprised at any similar catastrophe.

THE NEW YORK FIRE.—At a special meeting of the City Council, fifteen hundred dollars were appropriated to defray the expenses of the funerals of the deceased firemen, and a joint committee was appointed to confer with the foremen and representatives of the fire department, and tender the use of the City Hall for the obsequies.

The flags on the City Hall and on other public buildings, the hotels, &c., were at half mast in token of public sorrow.

FATAL RIOT AT SAGINAW.—The Michigan papers contain accounts of a dreadful riot at Saginaw on the 17th inst. It originated in an attempt of some three hundred armed men to burn the jail at that place, and rescue the prisoners. The Sheriff and others interfered to put down the riot, and the Sheriff was killed. A large number of the rioters were arrested and bound over to await the examination.

LIQUOR LAW IN PENNSYLVANIA.—A committee of conference of the two Houses of the Pennsylvania Legislature have agreed to provide for a vote of the people, on the second Tuesday of October next, for and against the enactment of a law to prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor, except for mechanical, artistical, medical and sacramental purposes. The vote of the people is to be considered their prayer to the next Legislature.

LIQUOR SEIZURES.—In Bangor last week the City Marshal seized several casks, jugs, &c., of liquor in the dwelling house of an Irishman on Clinton street. The Mercury says: "A stout Irishman attacked the marshal, who collared him, and dragged him off, despite the efforts of his wife, who clung to her husband in the hands of the officer, and a child who laid hold of her mother. The Marshal drew along the whole procession for a short distance. The resistant was deposited in the Watch House, and the liquors likewise."—Hazardous business this—seizing property in a private dwelling house. No wonder the owner stoutly defended his "castle."

Last evening, officer Wellman found a girl 8 years of age, named Mary Ann Gallagan, standing by the side of a trunk in Franklin street, apparently in great distress. Upon inquiry, the officer ascertained that the child, accompanied by her father, arrived here yesterday from Amesbury, and that the father had become intoxicated and left her. Mr. Wellman kindly conveyed the child and trunk to his residence, but up to a late hour he had heard no tidings of the father.—Boston Journal, Wednesday.

The Benton war wages with new fury in the politics of Missouri, as the time for electing a new Senator approaches. Mr. Atchison goes out next year and has no chance of a re-election; and as the only means of defeating Mr. Benton he has written home to his friends to form a coalition with the Whigs, which in some instances has been done, thus making the issue Benton or no Benton. It is thought that Benton will ride over all opposition and be returned to the U. S. Senate.—Newburyport Herald.

FIRES CAUSED BY LIGHTNING.—The thunder storm of Wednesday evening was one of unusual severity, and appears to have taken a wide range. The Worcester Spy states that the barn owned by Mrs. Harriet Newhall, in Leicester, was fired by lightning and consumed, together with two cows, one heifer, and five tons of hay. The dwelling house also was somewhat damaged. The loss will probably amount to $600, and is covered by insurance. In Holden, the house and barn of Marson Eaton were struck by lightning and consumed with most of their contents.—The loss is about $2000, which is insured for $1200. Many large trees in the vicinity of Worcester were shattered by lightning.

The Manchester, N. H., Flour Mill, in the village of Piscataquog, is in successful operation, and said to be equal to the best of the Western mills. Most of the wheat is brought from Michigan and Ohio, by way of the Ogdensburg and Vermont Central roads. The mill is capable of manufacturing 200 barrels per day. The bran finds a ready market among the farmers at the rate of $1 50 per hundred. The flour sells in the market as well as the best western brands.

UNREASONABLE.—Several letters, in the New York Tribune, and other papers, are clamorous and belligerent against the governments of Spain and Cuba, because an Havana newspaper contained "an abusive article on the President's Message, and charged Consul Robertson with falsehood."

Hundreds of American papers teem with abuse of Spain and Cuba; but what should we think of the sense of the Spaniards, did they propose to make our government responsible for this folly, and to declare war against us on that account?

The Washington Union is often filled with abuse of England, which it has the stupidity to think popular. The British government and people are as much affected by this stuff, as the ox by the croaking of the frog in the distant meadow. It would be no small improvement for a considerable portion of our countrymen, if they could substitute the self sustaining pride that belongs to a great people, for the touchy and feverish vanity which is always on the watch for an insult.—Salem Gazette.

REV. DR. KING.—It has been stated that the Rev. Dr. King, the well known American Missionary at Athens, has had his sentence of exile remitted. A letter from Dr. King states that his sentence was reversed by the king, at the instance of the minister of justice, who had been one of his counsel. He says:

"I wish to be distinctly understood by the American public, that this order I never sought for, and that I would rather have been exiled from Greece a thousand times than have asked it. I asked right and justice, and not favor."

An earnest desire to promote friendship and a good understanding with the United States in the present critical position of the Greek nation, probably actuated the king in according this act of justice.—Boston Journal.

DR. ORDWAY'S

HUMOR DISCOVERY,

AND BLOOD PURIFIER.

DR. ORDWAY has been using his Blood Purifier in his practice for the last seven years with great success. He has often been urged by his friends and those who have tried it, and know its efficacy, to put it within the reach of all. He has now added to it an Herb, discovered in California, by Dr. KELLEY, which makes it the most wonderful remedy for

HUMORS OF ALL KINDS,

LIVER COMPLAINTS AND CHRONIC DISEASES.

The virtues of this Herb were first made known to Dr. Kelley by an Indian, while attending a patient, sick with that terrible disease, the California Erysipelas and Liver Complaint—the effect was miraculous—curing the man in a few days. The natives, when bitten by a rattlesnake, or rabid animal, resort to this Herb for a cure.—Hundreds are taking this medicine, after trying in vain other remedies, and say that the half was never told them.

If you have Erysipelas, 3 to 5 bottles will cure it.

If you have Scrofula, 3 to 7 bottles will cure it.

Three to six bottles will cure Salt Rheum.

One or two bottles will cure Pimples on the Face.

Two or three bottles will cure Scaly Eruptions and Scald Head

One to three bottles will cure Nursing Sore Mouth

One to three bottles will cleanse the system of Biles.

Two to five bottles will cure Rheumatism.

Three to four bottles will cure old running Sores and Ulcers.

One or two bottles will cure Barber's Itch.

One to three bottles will cure Canker in the mouth and bowels.

For Liver Complaints and Jaundice.

Its effects are new and wonderful, removing obstructions from the Liver, open the pores of the skin, carrying off the morbid matter, relieving the side, and all pain, the feelings of the stomach, and removing low spirits and despondency, which is the result of this disagreeable and often fatal disease.

FOR DYSPEPSIA.

A fair trial will convince you that there is nothing like it.

FOR CANCEROUS HUMORS.

It is the surest remedy ever offered. One widow lady in Lawrence, has been troubled with Cancer for years, by taking two bottles says she is now quite well.

FOR COSTIVENESS.

One gentleman says that it was the only medicine that cured him.

FOR KIDNEY DIFFICULTIES,

It is spoken of in the highest terms. A young man was sick so much with Asthma that he had to leave College; three bottles cured him, and he has now resumed his studies. An aged lady in Salem was perfectly cured of Periodical Sick Headache, by the use of two bottles. Mr. Williams, of Lawrence, had humors in his eyes for years, and was cured by the use of the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier. For Chills and Fever, Mercurial Diseases, Taints in the System, it stands unrivalled; sometimes where the system is much deranged it will cause disagreeable feelings at first, but continue its use as indications favorable. It is purely vegetable, and its compound and proportions are such that the effect is perfectly satisfactory and safe.

FULL DIRECTIONS ON THE BOTTLE.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for those noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 76 state Street, oppo. Kilby street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1836) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting the application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two scullieries, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the markets, factories and railroads. Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the north end. It is centrally located between the different ship-yards in that section of the city, each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lowd and is in good order. Attached to it is a lot of land large enough for a Stable or for another dwelling house. It would make a good place for the residence of a person employed at the shipyards across the river, or at the Navy Yard.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 47 Bow street.—This house has been built but a few years, is well finished off, and is very convenient. In the rear is quite a large garden spot. This would be a desirable place for a person employed at the shipyards, or at the Navy Yard nearly opposite.

Also, for sale, a BUILDING LOT, on Mount Vernon street, (opposite No. 2,) with a small building thereon, which can be finished off into a Dwelling house.

All of the above property will be sold on liberal terms, if applied for soon. For further particulars apply to JOSEPH M. EDMONDS,

Feb. 27. No. 9 Islington street.

EDUCATION.

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.—This Institute commenced its spring term in Kingston, April 10th, and closed on Saturday the 15th. Owing to the stormy state of the weather on Monday, there were only forty present, including the teachers.—This number was increased, however, the two following days, to one hundred or more.

This term of the Institute is said by those who are qualified to judge of its merits, to have surpassed anything of the kind ever held in the county; the whole being marked by orderly deportment on the part of the members, and efficiency on that of the Commissioner and board of teachers.

The County Commissioner, A. H. Hoyt, Esq., exhibited skilful and judicious management through the entire term, so as to satisfy all present that he was master of his work.

The teachers, Calvin Cutter, M. D., Messrs. D. P. Colburn, Arthur Sumner, and Osgood Collister, endeared themselves greatly to both the members of the Institute and the people of this place. Their good nature and aptness to teach, won upon the affections, and the apparent success which attended their efforts, showed them to be workmen approved, who needed not to be ashamed. The exercises of the day were usually opened or closed with singing, reading the scriptures, and prayer.

A lecture on the Philosophy of Teaching was given by Mr. Colburn, in which many profitable hints were thrown out to teachers, rules laid down for governing schools, and appropriate remarks made, especially on the subject of inattention.

This was followed by several lectures on Phisiology, by Dr. Cutter, in which the process of respiration was minutely dwelt upon. The arterial, muscular and nervous systems, exhibited and illustrated by diagrams and models, and many arguments used to show the importance of teaching this science in the common schools. Mr. Colburn's lectures on Physical Geography were of an interesting and instructive character. Here the resemblances and contrasts of the eastern and western continents were described, and the causes of wind, rain, and the oceanic currents ably discussed. The lessons in Arithmetic, Grammar, Elocution and Singing, conducted by Messrs. Colburn, Sumner and Collister, were highly interesting, and we trust will prove of lasting benefit.

Mr. Sumner's methods of teaching Reading and Grammar, were eminently calculated to foster habits of thoroughness and efficiency in teaching, and if carried into practice, will keep the minds of pupils interested in these studies. His system is philosophical, and therefore practical. Under his hand, as with Mr. Colburn in Arithmetic, Reading and Grammar, instead of being dull and obscure studies, assumed an interesting and simple character.

From what we have seen and heard, we are satisfied that the Institute is making progress, and with the present conductor to lead it on, is destined to occupy a still higher position.

We are more and more convinced that Teachers' Institutes, properly conducted, are of the greatest practical utility, and the very things which the educational interests of the country require.

This becomes more obvious when we reflect that in an assemblage of teachers, views can be exchanged, and various modes of securing good order discussed, and ways pointed out of illustrating, explaining, and making the different branches of study attractive to the pupils, of which teachers would never think, perhaps, without something of this character to call them together.

The assemblages of citizens to hear the lectures, were large and attentive, and young and old appeared to take a lively interest in them. At the close of the lecture on Friday evening, the following resolutions were passed by the citizens:

Resolved, That we, the citizens of Kingston, greet with pleasure the gathering of teachers in this county, and that under the able management of the Commissioner, aided by his associates, our anticipations of the success of the Institute have been more than realized.

Resolved, That we extend an invitation to the Commissioner, to hold the next term of the Teachers' Institute in this village.

Kingston, April 19, 1854.

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD ROUTE.—The St. Louis Republican publishes a letter from Mr. Massie to Gen. Lane, giving an account of a journey from El Paso to San Francisco, over the route designated for the Southern Pacific Railroad. It appears from the statements of Mr. Massie that so far as the topographical feature of the country are concerned, the route is very favorable, but there is one objection to the route, whip appears to be insurmountable, viz.—the great scarcity of wood and water. Mr. Massie says, "I do not think I speak in exaggerated language, when I say that I did not see enough suitable timber, from the Rio Grande to the mountains of California, to constructa single mile of railroad."

CONJUGAL EPITHETS.—Lady Bulwer has written another novel at her husband, called 'Behind the Scenes,' in which the man who owns her, figures as a Mr. Ferrars, and is described as 'a solid block of vice, guarled with villainy, veneered with virtue, and highly varnished with hypocrisy.'

OUR NATIONAL STRENGTH AND RESOURCES.

It is a popular delusion, wherever propagated, that the strength of a nation consists in its territorial extent. Strength depends rather upon a concentrated population, and concentrated, or united action, with the requisite physical means. Intelligence among the masses is also requisite for the successful use of the means. The history of the world shows the truth of these positions. When vast empires have been formed, whether the governments were liberal or despotic, their tendency has been to break into fragments by their own weight.

There is a class of politicians in this country who contend that the distinctive democratic features of our government will render this nation an exception from the human race, and therefore the lessons of history can have no application. Is it true that we are an exception? Is not our nation composed of nearly every race that inhabits or ever inhabited the earth? Is there not a constant influx upon us from every quarter of the globe?

The power of ancient empires, at Athens, Rome and Carthage, was in their concentrated population. The same thing is true now, of England and France. It is true that Russia, with a territorial extent, perhaps a little larger than that of the United States, is powerful—but with her vast expansion, she has so many points requiring defence, that her military forces must be formed into many divisions, thus giving her enemies great advantages.

The strength and resources of the United States would not be increased by an expanded domain. Our present territory is amply sufficient for a population of several hundred millions, and until there shall be a want of more land for the means of subsistence, our policy should be to husband our resources, and increase them by practical, national means. Our prosperity has been unexampled.

About seven years since, the total annual product of labor in the United States was estimated at thirty hundred millions. As our population doubles in about twenty-five years, and as there has been a rapid progress in the arts, and labor-saving machines, the present annual products may be estimated at about three billions seven hundred millions, of which it has been estimated that about five hundred millions are the annual products of the South, or the Slave States.

So vast a difference may seem to be incredible, until we consider that products are the result of labor, and that in the North all classes are laborers, and that here labor has its dignity. The wealth of a nation consists in its products, and not in the abundance of the precious metals. It is a false theory that an excess of the latter tends, ultimately, to promote national prosperity.

Another position should ever be kept in view—which is, that our government is so framed and constituted, that its duration will depend upon the general intelligence and virtuous principles of the people. We have fears, while incorporating other people, or nations, unqualified for self-government, with this nation, that the old doctrine laid down by Washington, Jefferson, and the other founders of the government, may be repudiated;—that when too late, the error of the new theory or policy may be perceived. The old patriots held that a Republic, to be successful, must be within reasonable limits.—In coming to that conclusion, they did not shut their eyes against all the lights of experience. T.

We do not share largely in our correspondent's fears. We do not apprehend a present or speedy dissolution of the Union; neither do we fear it as the sum of all evil if it should occur. Nevertheless his essay is worthy of consideration.

A WORD FOR THE DOGS.—Amid the general clamor against the Czar, one Boston paper, the Courier, comes out and defends him. So of the dogs: the press generally cries "mad dog, mad dog!" but one paper, the Portland Advertiser, speaks thus for poor Ponto:

The annual "phobia," about mad dogs, is now prevailing in this city, and some very mean two legged animals are distributing poison indiscriminately among them. It is a mean and cruel business. "But the dogs are of no use," say one! In a great majority of cases they are quite as useful as those who would poison them, and far more trusty.

The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer thinks that Robert Tyler, son of John Tyler, will be nominated consul at London. ($15,000 a year.)

The Consul at London ought to be a middle aged shipmaster or merchant, who should combine knowledge, firmness and humanity in his character, and industry and despatch in his business habits. If Mr. Robert Tyler has these qualifications, the world has not found it out yet.

STORM.

The storm of the 28th was very severe at New York, and among its results was the sinking of the caloric ship Ericsson.

Between 4 and 5 o'clock P. M., a dark cloud was seen in the South West, which rapidly approached the city, and the storm soon burst with unusual violence. A tornado blew from the South West, and for a few minutes made havoc with everything that was unprepared to encounter it. The most serious occurrence was the sinking of the air-ship Ericsson, which had just returned from a trial trip. She was off Jersey City when struck on the larboard beam by the squall, which heeled her over to starboard, so that the water rushed in at the lower port holes, and when the ship righted she had received so much water by these holes that it came above them when on an even keel, and she gradually filled and sunk. Fortunately she was on the Jersey Flats at the time, where the water is not deep, and the tops of her wheelhouses are above water, so that she will be raised without any difficulty, and will not sustain damage beyond what an immersion in the water will occasion. The accident is the more annoying from the fact that it was occasioned by carelessness, and might have been prevented by a little presence of mind.

The performance of the Ericsson was said by her owners to be satisfactory. They report that she left her dock at 1 P. M., rounded the spit buoy at half-past 2, with a favorable tide and head wind. On the return trip she made thirteen revolutions of her wheels, the engines working very smoothly. The consumption of fuel averaged at the rate of about 10 tons for 24 hours. The intention was to place her on the sectional dock to-day for the purpose of examining the bottom prior to a longer experimental trip to sea.

The gale was also felt at Jersey City, where the roof of the Custom House building, on the Cunard wharf, was blown off, and several other buildings received more or less damage—Its violence, however, seemed to expend itself chiefly on the lower part of the city, passing through East Brooklyn and Williamsburg. The lightning was vivid and constant, accompanied by rain and hail, which did some damage to exposed glass. The rain continued to fall at intervals, until a late hour in the night, accompanied by lightning and thunder. The wind shifted to the northeast, and acquired a chillness which rendered overcoats a comfortable addition.

Damage was also done at Philadelphia, where the storm was very heavy, and continued throughout the night. Mr. Hortsman's extensive silk fringe factory, on 5th and Cherry streets, was struck by lightning. The electric fluid descended into the engine room, which was partially destroyed.

At Chicago, the gale began at 12 o'clock, noon. Two schooners were stove in pieces, and several more went ashore. Seven lives were lost. At Buffalo and Milwaukee, a schooner was lost in each place, and in the latter, three lives.

THE PROPERTY NOT WORTH THE LIVES.—The New York Evening Post, in alluding to the list of deaths occasioned by the fire in that city on Tuesday night, remarks:

It is time that the terrible destruction of human life in attempts to extinguish fires should cease. When other lives are in peril and to be rescued, almost any risk of life on the part of the firemen is not only justifiable, but in the highest degree commendable. But it is not so in regard to property.

Let men build their houses more securely; and when they cannot be saved without such awful human sacrifices as we recorded yesterday, let them burn. The flesh, and sinews, and warm blood of the firemen are worth more than the brick and wood.

To this we say, Amen.

THE CRYSTAL PALACE.—New York, April 28.—The Board of Directors of the Crystal Palace have this afternoon decided to fix the price of admission at all times and on all occasions at 25 cents. An immense number of cards have been issued for the reinauguration, and it is confidently believed that it will far surpass the opening one in the perfection of its arrangements and splendor of its general appearance.

Depend upon it, Barnum will draw the million; and the Crystal Palace will pay well.

The New York Crystal Palace will be inaugurated under favorable circumstances. Elihu Burritt, Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, Rev. E. H. Chapin, Judge Wm. W. Campbell, Austin Aldwin of Connecticut, Richard O'Gorman, Parke Godwin, Rev. T. L. Caylar, Erastus Brooks, L. R. March, and others, will make speeches. The prize of $100 offered by the directors of the association for an ode to be sung at the re-inauguration, has been awarded to Wm. Ross Wallace.

LOUISVILLE, April 27.—Acquittal of Ward.—M. F. Ward, on trial for the murder of Prof. Butler, was acquitted to day.

This result was expected by all who have read the trial, and who know any thing about Kentucky ethics. The human tribunal clears him—but the Judge of All the Earth will do right, nevertheless.

ALL WINGS.—A correspondent of the N. Y. Spirit of the Times, speaking of small boats with large sails, says: "The sail boat V. C. Clickener, 25 feet keel, 9 feet beam, carries 26 feet hoist, 35 feet boom to mainsail, and 28 feet on foot of jib."

A minister while preparing his next Sunday's sermon, stopped occasionally to review what he had written, and, as a matter of course, to erase some portions which on consideration seemed to require improvement.—While doing so, he was accosted by his little son, a child about three years of age. "Father, does God tell you what to preach?"—"Certainly, my child." "Then what makes you scratch it out?"

LOCAL.

THE OLD NORTH CHURCH, sold at auction on Saturday, by James P. Bartlett, Esq., brought about $400. The pulpit sold for $16, the empty building $112—both knocked off to Mr. F. W. Rogers. Three weeks is given in which to remove the ancient building.

The new building is, we learn, to be erected under the direction of James Moses, 3d,—in a somewhat different way from that at first proposed. Instead of being completed by one contractor, a sub-committee from the building committee, consisting of Messrs. H. H. Ladd, Wm. Stearns, and Washington Williams, make the chief purchases, and have the immediate charge of construction; and the cost of completion is estimated below $25,000—whereas some of the contracts rated as high as $32,000.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING.—Another instance of involuntary "cold bathing,"—though this time not exactly "gratis"—came within our knowledge a day or two since. On Thursday afternoon, Messrs. Geo. Thompson, Jas. Folsom and Robert Blair, went down the river in a sail boat, to board the brig Marcellus, loaded with molasses for Jenness, Son & Co., of this city. The vessel had dropped anchor near Clarke's Island, just below the Narrows, and was waiting tide. The boat brought up alongside, but her rigging being new and stiff, the sail would not readily come down, but caught in the brig's rigging, and the tide swept her under the brig in such a way, that the boat instantly filled and sunk. Mr. Folsom sprung up the side of the vessel, but the other gentlemen were obliged to go down with the tide till a boat could be lowered from the brig and sent to pick them up—perhaps a hundred and fifty rods from where they started. Their boat being close ballasted, has not been seen since.

DANCING SCHOOL.—The public are already informed by newspaper and billet advertisements, that the Summer Term of Mr. Samuel Lamprey's Dancing and Waltzing Academy commences of Wednesday afternoon, May 3d. Mr. S. is always kind and attentive to pupils, and imparts all requisite instruction to make fine dancers. He will have a large class, as usual.

A HANDSOME TURNOUT.—We notice on the street a new bread-wagon, running from J. A. Dorr's Granite State Bakery, on Jeffrey's Court, in this city. It was built by Wm. C. Hatch, and painted by Swasey & Rowell. The harness is from the saddlery establishment of J. Larrabee. The whole speaks for itself. Examine, and see if there be need of going out of Portsmouth for any thing of this kind.

FISHING.—We have copied statements of various newspapers, that there would be generally more men engaged in the fishing business this year, than for several years past. But in view of the great complaints made by this class of late, we could hardly understand the movement. A gentleman from New Castle, however, informs us that such is also the case in that town, and the cause is the decline of the shoe business, consequent upon the exorbitant price of stock. We presume this to be the case elsewhere. It is thought by some to be a benefit to Great Island, and may be to other places, for at least a portion of those once engaged in the fisheries to drop their lap stones and bait their hooks anew.

☞ We are requested by several of the shoemakers of this city, to say that no man named George F. Currier has ever worked among them in this city—and therefore the man who called himself by that name in Boston, according to an extract which we made on Saturday from the Transcript, must either have assumed a false name or told a false story.

☞ Mrs. Coe's Temperance Lecture at the Temple last evening, was a most eloquent and pungent specimen of moral suasion, and at the same time one of the best pleas for a prohibitory law in aid of the cause of temperance, to which it has been our lot to listen.—She has a good voice, easy utterance and graceful manner. Small, slight and slender in her appearance, she is yet a very effective speaker, and will not fail to secure and interest large audiences wherever she becomes known, on almost any subject. She lectures again to-night.

For the Chronicle.

Messrs. Editors:—I was glad to perceive in your paper of Saturday, that some notice was taken of the state of the Gas Light at the corner of Middle and Auburn streets. Should not the city authorities immediately attend to the matter? What excuse can be offered for this great delay?

And whilst working on the post, cannot the gas company make another effort to repair damages to the pipe in Middle street, in the same neighborhood? AUBURN STREET.

☞ An official report of the late session of Rockingham County Teachers' Institute, will be found on the outside.

☞ We understand that the case Portsmouth & Concord Railroad v. Wm. Jones & Son, which has been in Court for several years, has been settled by a compromise—terms not transpired.

☞ We would remind our readers, that Mann & Co.'s Troupe open to-night at the Cameneum. Every one should avail themselves of this opportunity to witness this beautiful moral and religious Drama. *

MURDER AND ARSON IN AROOSTOOK.—On Friday, James Mathews, a man of fifty years, and a woman calling herself Mary Ann White, were committed to jail in Houlton, the former for the murder of a man named Samuel Jones, the latter for setting fire in the day time to the dwelling house of Benjamin Hewes of Umcolous, on the west Aroostook road, occupied as a tavern. From the officer who committed them our correspondent learns the following particulars:

Mathews is a bachelor, and lives in a sort of camp on the west Aroostook road, some five or six miles south of Hewes' tavern.—Mary Ann had been living with him for several months. On Sunday last Mathews left his place and went to the Ox Bow. The deceased that day visited Mathews' camp, and staid with Mary Ann over night. Soon after he left, Mary Ann went out on the road, met Mathews, and told him that James had been there, had treated her very badly, and had turned her out of doors. This story, supposed a fabrication, incensed Mathews, who called for a gun which he had left a few days before with a neighbor on the road, put a fresh cap on it and started forth.

Presently he met James, and at once shot him through the breast. He lived three or four hours. Mary Ann says she told Mathews not to shoot James, but was so much afraid he would do so, that when she saw they were going to meet, she left the road and ran into the woods. She says she heard Mathews ask James what he turned that girl out of the house for, and at nearly the same time heard the report of the gun and James' scream.

Two men who happened to be passing at the time, apprehended Mathews and Mary Ann and took them to Hewes' tavern.

While preparations were making for the examination of Mathews, the girl White stole up into the attic with some matches, set fire to the house, and came down. When the fire was discovered, it had progressed so far that it was with difficulty extinguished, though there were fifteen able men in the house. She says she set the fire as a means of escape.—She was not suspected to have participated in the murder, and was in custody merely as a witness.

Mathews admits that he shot James, but says he did not intend to.

James was about 42 years of age, and is supposed to have come from Portland or that vicinity. He said that he had a brother in that vicinity. He was a laborer in the lumber woods, and it is said had by him three hundred dollars of his earnings.

Mathews is said to have resided formerly at Anson. They had both resided in Aroostook county for several years.—Bangor Mercury.

EXECUTION.—At Taunton, Mass. on Friday, Clough, the murderer, was hung in pursuance of the sentence of the Supreme Court. Perhaps our readers may not remember the circumstances of the case. Nearly two years ago, a robbery was committed in Fall River, and the criminal (Clough) was discovered as he was leaving the building. He was pursued by a number of persons, among others Constable Manchester, who took the lead. Suddenly, Clough, who was armed, turned round and fired at Manchester, mortally wounding him, so that he died in a day or two. Clough up to the last maintained un unconcerned demeanor, and though visited by a number of clergymen, seemed to take but little interest in their exhortations, and met his fate with stolid composure.—Boston Courier.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, April 28.

HOUSE.—The House this morning resumed the consideration of the bill granting lands to the states for internal improvement and educational purposes.

Mr. Rogers occupied the morning hour in a speech in favor of the bill, advocating it as a measure both constitutional and just.

Mr. Bennett's land bill was postponed, and the House went into Committee on the deficiency bill. Mr. Giddings replied in a characteristic speech to some remarks made on Thursday by Mr. Smith of Virginia, concerning John Quincy Adams and his (Mr. Gidding's) own course.

Mr. Smith rejoined with much warmth.

Mr. Sapp of Ohio spoke against the Nebraska bill, when the Committee rose.

The Speaker laid before the House a message from the President enclosing copies of correspondence between the British Minister and the State and Treasury Departments relative to the expediency of bringing forth measures for the safety, comfort and health of emigrants, and commending the subject to the consideration of Congress. Referred to the Committee on Commerce.

SEIZURE OF A SLAVER.

The brig Glamorgan, of New York, from Congo River, Coast of Africa, March 11, arrived at Boston on Friday morning, in charge of Lt. John Downs, jr., of the U. S. brig Perry, she having been seized by the U. S. Navy, on suspicion of being a slaver, and sent home for trial. Her captain, Casper Kehrmann—a native of Bremen, but a citizen of the United States—the first officer and two seamen, were brought home and taken in custody by the U. S. Marshal, and lodged in jail. The Glamorgan will be taken through some of the bridges, and then surrendered to the U. S. Marshal.

When first seen by the Perry, the Glamorgan was supposed to be an English man of war brig, and the Perry bore down to speak her. Finding that she refused to recognize the signals made by Capt. Page of the Perry, suspicions were aroused, and all sail was made on board the latter to overtake her.—At night studding sails were got out by the Perry, and next morning the Glamorgan was discovered hull down. A calm succeeded, and Lieutenant Downes was ordered to chase her in a boat. Taking five men with him well armed, he started in pursuit, the Perry following as fast as the wind would permit, and after a long and a hard pull, got up with her, not, however, until a shot had been fired over the boat. Lieut. Downes immediately boarded her, and asked to look at the ship's papers, which were found to be correct. He then ordered the hatches to be taken off, which the captain seemed unwilling to permit, and upon the command being repeated, the captain observed that he might as well admit that the vessel had been fitted out for a slaving expedition. The Perry came up and took possession of the brig. She had on board a large quantity of water, farina, and the usual implements of slave traffic. The Glamorgan is a fast sailing Baltimore clipper brig of 150 tons, has a slave deck, and is owned in New York. A preliminary examination was had on Saturday before U. S. Commissioner Woodbury.—Courier.

SINGULAR DEATH BY DROWNING.—Mr. Hammond Hosmer, a respectacle citizen of Lexington, was found drowned in a ditch, in a field about half a mile east of that village, on the Woburn road, on Friday afternoon.—He had been into his field to cut some bushes, and when returning home seemed to have thrown them across the ditch, which was filled with water, as a rail was placed over the ditch, and the body was found with the head and shoulders submerged. It had apparently been in the water several hours. A dog was lying on the bank. Mr. H. was about 60 years of age, and leaves a wife and three children. He was formerly a partner with S. Wildes, Esq., in the hotel at No. 11 Elm street, Boston. There were no marks of violence on the body, and it is supposed that Mr. H. must have fallen while attempting to cross the ditch, in such a way that he could not extricate himself.—Boston Journal.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The eighth annual meeting of the American Scientific Society commenced to day at the Smithsonian Institute, Professor Dana of Yale College presiding; Professor Lawrence Smith, Secretary; Professor Lovering of Cambridge, permanent Secretary. A large number of scientific men, embracing some of the most eminent in the country, are present. Meetings were held to day preliminary to business, and the session promises to be extremely interesting and beneficial to science.

DEATH OF HUGH JAMESON, ESQ.—We regret to report the death of Hugh Jameson, Esq., which event took place on Thursday morning, at his residence in Boston. The deceased has long been known and respected in the mercantile community here. For many years he served as Deputy Surveyor of this port, the duties of which he discharged in a manner to secure the approval of all. He was removed for political reasons alone, and upon the accession of the present administration, received the appointment of U. S. Naval Store-keeper, at the Charlestown Navy Yard. The deceased married a sister of President Pierce, and was related to many prominent families in New Hampshire. His death will be regretted by a wide circle of friends, who will bear willing testimony to the many amiable traits of his character, and to the fidelity with which he discharged the duties required of him in all the relations of life.—Boston Transcript.

In view of the recent trouble between the firemen and students, at Cambridge, Mayor Edwards addressed a very courteous note to the presiding officers of the College, requesting them to co-operate with him in endeavoring to keep the students from disturbing the peace. On Monday the students were reprimanded by the faculty, and some good wholesome advice administered, but on Monday evening some of them broke into the chapel, and, after freely using paint and oil on cushions and walls, carried off the Bible.

It is said that the Black Swan is about to be married to a white goose of a Londoner.

The Salem Register apprehends trouble from the appearance of the Teredo, or ship borer, in the waters of that port. The fishing schooner Sarah Jane, but two years old, lying near the railroad depot, last winter, had her keel and some of her plank reduced to a complete honey-comb. There was not a foot of the keel that would sustain its weight; and some of the worms were several inches long.

LOST OVERBOARD.—Captain Richard E. Baxter, master of the bark Itasca, of Boston, was lost overboard in a gale, when four days out from Norfolk, on the passage to Jamaica. John Johnson, second mate, a native of Holland, fell from aloft in the same gale, struck the lee rail, went overboard, and was also lost.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. They ask, is it a hard and lasting, hums and has about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 16 lbs.; and another 7 lbs—the venerable master Robinson, of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. If the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Fever and Ague. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On taking two bottles she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to clense the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.—A dulls, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two sculleries, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the markets, factories and railroads. Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the north end. It is centrally located between the different ship-yards in that section of the city. each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lowd and is in good order. Attached to it is a lot of land large enough for a Stable or for another dwelling house. It would make a good place for the residence of a person employed at the shipyards across the river, or at the Navy Yard.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 47 Bow street.—This house has been built but a few years, is well finished off, and is very convenient. In the rear is quite a large garden spot. This would be a desirable place for a person employed at the shipyards, or at the Navy Yard nearly opposite.

Also, for sale, a BUILDING LOT on Mount Vernon street, (opposite No. 2,) with a small building thereon, which can be finished off into a Dwelling house.

All of the above property will be sold on liberal terms, if applied for soon. For further particulars apply to JOSEPH M. EDMONDS,

Feb. 27. No. 9 Islington street.

LOW PRICE OF SUGAR AND MOLASSES.—Not for a great while, if ever before, were these articles of prime necessity known to be so low in this market. Think of it! Sugars from 2 3-4 to 3 3-4c, and the best at 4c per lb. We actually noticed a sale of inferior yesterday, sixty hhds, at an average of 2,80; and some inferior Molasses has been sold as low as 15c per gallon, while the best plantation can be bought by wholesale at 18 1-2 to 19c. Molasses has been sold on the Louisiana plantations this season as low as 6 and 7c per gallon, and that sacrifice had to be submitted to on account of the impossibility of procuring cooperage to put it in. All sorts of "shifts" have been resorted to by speculators and others, to remove it from the cisterns at these ruinously low figures. Empty barrels, casks and vessels of every sort have been sent along the coast above New Orleans, and into the interior, for the purpose of being filled. Whiskey barrels, Beer casks and even Oil casks, and Wine Pipes, have been bought up in all the Southern towns to go out on the plantations, and Sugar has been put up as Sugar was never put up before. Coal casks, boxes, sacks and every conceivable contrivance for preserving the sweets of the South, have been resorted to, and still there are hundreds of cisterns and Sugar tanks yet filled. The crop was large, but yet not so unusually heavy as to produce such extreme low prices, had there been the customary facilities for transportation and the means of getting it to market in suitable condition, but to high freights and the scarcity of cooperage may be chargeable many millions loss to the industry at the South.—St. Louis Intelligencer.

HON. EDWARD STANLY.—The other day, in a case before an honorable Judge of Santa Clara county, California, a very flattering compliment was paid by the jury to the Hon. Edward Stanly, of North Carolina, who was engaged in the suit. It appears that Mr. Stanly was under the impression that a conspiracy existed against the client's right, who was none other than the celebrated pioneer, Capt. Graham, of San Diego, whose residence in the country dates from 1832. In the course of his argument, Mr. Stanly took occasion to allude to the unfairness which seemed to characterize the proceedings, at the same time intimating what the court deemed a suspicion that it was not entirely unbiased. Whereupon the clerk was ordered to fine Mr. Stanly $25 for contempt of court. That gentleman stopped in his argument, walked up to the clerk's desk and paid the fine, remarking at the same time that nothing gave him more pleasure than at all times to render cheerful obedience to the constituted authorities of his country, and continued his argument. Mr. Stanly afterwards took occasion in his address to the jury, to thank God he lived in a free republic, where the truth might be told to twelve honest men, and the teller not always punished for so doing. Mr. Stanly gained his case, and the jury, after having rendered their verdict, enclosed a complimentary note to Mr. Stanly, with the amount of the fine that his Honor had imposed, which that gentleman returned with an assurance of his appreciation of the compliment, and a request that they would give the money to some charitable institution, for the benefit of those who needed it more than himself, or some clergyman whose mission was to preach the Gospel of Truth!

Rev. Dr. Cox, of Brooklyn, preached his farewell sermon, occupying over three hours in delivery, morning and afternoon, on Sunday last, to the flourishing congregation in Brooklyn, with which he has been connected for seventeen years. He retires from the field of his labors—"borne off wounded," as he himself expressed it, in place of "dying in harness," as the plan of his life has been,—in consequence of a seated affection of the throat, larvngitis, which has for more than a year baffled less radical measures, and has finally compelled him to relinquish the pulpit, and resort permanently to a less exposed climate than that of Brooklyn. He retires to Oswego, N. Y., where he has purchased a residence, naming it Vesper Cliff, with a happy reference both to the character of the site, and to the evening decline of life. The purchase money of this place, some six or seven thousand dollars, which he had intended to obtain by the sale of his residence in Brooklyn, was raised by his congregation, literally in a few minutes, on the facts being communicated at one of their meetings.—N. Y. Courier.

Barnum has revived the Crystal Palace affairs, so as to make it an object of general interest with the people and the press. Barnum is better than any other man in this country to make such a scheme popular and profitable. The re organization will take place on the 4th of May; and among the future arrangements, the Tribune says, that a line of first class steamers, having accommodations for a thousand passengers each, will ply between Newport and the Palace this summer, taking passengers both ways and giving two tickets of entrance, for one dollar.

A MARINE CURIOSITY.—The Wilmington (N. C.) Commercial says that the bottom of the brig Pavilion, which is now undergoing repairs at that port, was found upon examination to be covered with clusters of oysters projecting some three or four inches from the planks. Wherever the copper had been knocked off, there was a bunch—making the bottom resemble an oyster bed rather than the outside of a ship. The brig is just off a whaling voyage, and is on the ways for the first time in six years.

Morning Chronicle.

TUESDAY, MAY 2, 1854.

SOMETHING MUST BE DONE.

Under this head, a writer in the Norfolk (Virginia) Beacon, signing himself A CITIZEN, gives Virginians the following important and alarming information of danger; and also shows how he thinks the danger may be averted, and the property secured.

The repeated depredations on our property by Northern fanatics, admonish us that we have arrived at that stage where we must sell out our slaves, or adopt measures for their security. As to the fugitive slave law, it is but a mockery, and we need spend no words on that miserable expedient. Nor can we look to the federal government, whose officers in the New England States will not or dare not discharge their duty. The remedy is with ourselves, and we should proceed at once to enforce it. The law of self preservation is the "higher law" that carries along with it the right to provide for the security of those whose condition renders necessary an appeal to its power. Even the Constitution of the United States does not in this case conflict with those provisions which it is our duty to enact, for a State has a right to pass inspection laws to guard its citizens from fraud, robbery or violence.

Norfolk is a sort of thoroughfare, and vessels loaded at other places bound for Northern ports daily and hourly anchor in our waters. They leave no money among us and steal away our slaves in the bargain. That we have abolition agents among us is beyond a question, and we have reason to believe that white men as well as negroes are engaged in this business. The negro churches and the secret societies, DRESSED IN UNIFORM, are the sources of all this mischief, and they should at once be broken up. No one but those who have enquired into these concerns can form an idea of their practices and influences. They should in all cases be shut up at night, and no minister should officiate in them at all without a certificate from the Mayor.

The right to search all kitchens should be vested in the police.

No negro, slave or free, should be permitted to pass after ten o'clock, without special permission in writing for that night only, and the object for the permit stated on the pass. Passes written by children should be disregarded.

Any negro belonging to any society other than as a Church member, to be punished at the public whipping post, and all debates in negro churches strictly prohibited.

All negro oyster boats to be prohibited under severe penalties from leaving the harbor after dark and be anchored above Town point in the night.

A watch should be located on Town point to stop all vessels and boats leaving during the night. They should be armed, have a swift boat and power to search and detain suspicious crafts.

Free negroes from other places should be prevented from gaining a residence in the city, and those from States north of Virginia coming here in vessels, steamers or otherwise to be served as in Charleston.

A free negro coming here from such States, not attached to a vessel, to be sold by a summary process.

A secret police to be organized by the Mayor and liberal rewards allowed for all discoveries of attempts to violate the police laws.

No negro to hire his time by the month or year, and any congregation whatever of negroes after bell ring, beyond the number of six, to be construed into an unlawful assemblage.

No vessel to be permitted to ride at anchor in the harbor for more than 6 hours, and all vessels for Northern States to be inspected by a police officer before leaving port, the fee to be paid by the owner or captain.

Inspection laws of the State to be revived, and amended to suit the occasion, so that every river in the Commonwealth shall be under the supervision of the police, and vessels entering the waters of the State be compelled to report before their departure.

Near the outlet of Hampton Roads a police force should be stationed with authority and power to overhaul and search every northern vessel, the expense to be defrayed by a sufficient tax on the vessel.

I deem the matter of sufficient importance to convene an extra session of the Legislature, especially as there is much else to be done in connection with other great interests of the people.

Half a million a year is a moderate estimate of our loss, if this thing is neglected.

As we closed this reading, being in a moralizing mood, Uncle Toby suggested that it put him in mind of a text: "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal." And he remarked by way of commentary, that riches are said to take to themselves wings and fly away; but he fancied that this half million of treasures took to their heels or paddles, thus proving this species to be a very slippery kind of property.

He was of the opinion that some of the proposed laws would be rather awkward things to execute, especially about vessels not riding at anchor more than six hours.

He would advise his Virginia brethren to speak in a whisper when they broach a heresy so pestilent as to declare that "the law of self preservation is the higher law!" And he hardly knows whether it is safe to call the fugitive slave law a mockery, and a miserable expedient, as the Norfolk Beacon does. He has been taught, by Eastern sages, statesmen and divines, that this same fugitive law was a duality; and a peacemaker; and a sort of anchor to windward, to keep the Constitution from going ashore, and to preserve the Union from going to Davy Jones's locker. And now to have the same blessed law so cavalierly handled in old Virginia,—it is altogether too bad.

THE KENTUCKY MURDER.

The papers in announcing the acquittal of Ward, state that the Jury agreed upon their verdict after an absence from Court of only 5 minutes.

The Boston Transcript remarks, on this trial:

From the reports of the trial which have appeared in the papers of Louisville and Cincinnati, a more deliberate case of murder was never proved in any court. Six or seven witnesses were present when the deed was committed, and their testimony was very clear upon the material facts in the case. Mr. Butler was a most amiable and accomplished man, and had been a private tutor in the Ward family. He was no stranger to them, and they evinced their confidence in him by sending their children to his private school. He corrected their son for lying. The lad went home, and told the story. His brother purchased, and loaded a pistol, and took his bowie knife, and the two deliberately marched into the school room, and after insulting Mr. Butler in the presence of his scholars, Matt Ward drew his pistol, and shot the teacher! Upon these facts he is arrested, a judicial farce is enacted, and by the appliances of wealth, the murderer is acquitted!

Hereafter let it be known that it is "chivalric" to shoot down the defenceless, and that it is no crime for a member of one of the first families to murder one below him in point of wealth, though immeasurably his superior in point of character and moral excellence. A "gentleman" can shoot a schoolmaster with impunity, particularly in a case where the latter is of northern birth, and the former can lavish wealth upon witnesses and counsel. What if Butler, resenting the insult offered to him, had struck Ward to the floor and by accident deprived him of life! How would the wealthy and aristocratic feeling of overseerism been roused at such an outrage upon one of the "chivalry." A schoolmaster venture to strike a gentleman! Lynch law would probably have been executed upon one thus guilty.

THE WARD TRIAL.

A Louisville despatch of April 29, says:

Nathaniel Wolfe, one of the counsel employed to defend Matthew Ward, having said at the trial that the citizens of Louisville were a set of bloodhounds, and impeached the veracity of sixteen of Butler's scholars, witnesses at the late trial, the boys proceeded to his residence last night and literally covered it with eggs. A meeting of citizens has been called at the Court House to express indignation against Wolfe.

Wolfe, after all, was a mere hired man, to do the dirty work of a rich but unprincipled den of homicides.

The Boston Courier pithily remarks on this subject.

The state of Kentucky, which was also on trial before the whole country, has been unanimously convicted of gross feebleness and favoritism, in shielding a cold-blooded assassin from the punishment which was due to his crime, and of robbing the gallows of one of its most worthy ornaments. It was predicted, before the trial, that the county of Hardin would "furnish an accommodating judge and willing jury, and an apologetic public sentiment," and the prediction has been fulfilled. The farce was performed with much solemn mockery, and was most artistically and skilfully carried out. The murderer appeared in Court, looking interestingly pale, supported by crutches, and was conveyed there each day in the carriage of an Ex-Governor or Lieut. Governor of the state. His family was grouped around him, so as to form a striking tableau, and his mother's fainting performance eclipsed all her previous efforts in that line of acting.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK.

We have just received the May Number of this beautiful and valuable periodical, containing the following illustrations, viz:

The Gleaner, mezzotinto.
Godey's colored Spring Fashions.
Embroidered Dress Under-Sleeves.
Preparing for Church, wood cat.
Evangeline and Antoinette, and four other patterns, all of Mantillas.

And forty more engravings of various sizes. The literary contents are very numerous, embracing a great variety of matter, grave and gay.

With the Number we received the following note:

Four Numbers of the Lady's Book for 1854 have been sent to you, and no notice of any number has yet been seen by the publisher.

To this we answer, that we have received two numbers only, viz., those for March and April, which we noticed promptly, and sent papers containing the notice to Messrs. Federhen & Co., Boston, from whom we received the numbers, but did not send to the publisher.

We send this notice to the publisher, requesting him to forward the Nos. for January and February, which we have not received.

Godey's Lady's Book is for sale in this city by J. P. Morse.

BLUNDER ON BLUNDER.—The Boston Journal says,—It is now stated that the colored man who was taken by habeas corpus from a Virginia vessel, was shut up in jail against his own protestations that he was a free man and at liberty to go where he pleased! His abolition friends insisted that he must be a slave, and took him before Judge Merrick at Taunton, where, instead of being formally declared free as stated by telegraph, the petition was dismissed on account of the informality and illegality of the process by which the negro was taken.

LOCAL.

FREE LECTURE.—Mrs. Emma R. Coe, one of the most eloquent speakers of the day, will deliver a free Lecture at the Temple; this evening, at half-past 7, on the subject of Women's Employment, compensation, rights and privileges. All are invited to attend.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.—This popular story has been neatly dramatized, and is considered one of the most effective among modern plays. Some of the characters in the Drama are even more intensely wrought than in the original production of Mrs. Stowe. We attended last evening, at the Cameneum, a representation of the piece, and seldom have passed an evening more agreeably. Nearly every part was ably sustained; and the performance of La Petite Emma, as Eva, was especially meretorious. We only wondered that so young a child could have formed so accurate a conception of the character. Uncle Tom was admirably personated by Mr. Stiles. The scenery is excellent, the stage machinery and appurtenances well arranged, and the whole entertainment worthy of patronage. It will be presented again to-night.

DOGS.—There has been considerable talk about town for a day or two, respecting the dogs. We are told that one supposed to be mad, at the South End, was killed on Saturday, after biting a man and several dogs.—Several others have also been killed, including those said to have been bitten. Somewhere in Vaughan street, an old gentleman, named Meschach Whitcomb, was bit by a dog supposed to be mad on Saturday last; also a man named Brown, and a horse, by the same dog. The cur was afterwards killed.

No good can result from an indiscriminate shout of "mad dog," but there is much excitement respecting dogs in various cities throughout the Union. It is certain that not one-tenth of the curs in this city are worthy the ground they cumber; and if they don't go mad, their incessant barking o'nights frequently, is almost enough to drive other people to that condition. Thin 'em out.

Those who have choice dogs should keep them close, or they may be destroyed.

MAY MORNING was not celebrated here by the young gentlemen and ladies as usual, in calling on the "wild old woods," searching for flowers and pleasant company. The storm prevented any from even imagining any romance on this occasion. The first of June, in this vicinity, is altogether a better time to go flower-hunting. The only thing that particularly reminded us of summer's approach, was the receipt of a beautiful fragrant bouquet culled by some fair hand—and this being composed entirely of house-flowers, served to remind us that the Summer has not yet opened. May the path of our anonymous friend ever be strewn with such, till it ends amid the never-fading beauties of celestial bloom. F.

NAVAL.—Commander Geo. F. Peirson, on Monday, received his orders as Captain of the Portsmouth Navy Yard vice J. Van Brunt, detatched, his term of service having expired.

At a meeting of the Board of Aldermen held May 1, Jonathan Dearborn and Charles Walker were drawn as Jurymen, to serve in the Circuit Court of the United States, to be held in this city on Monday, the 8th inst.

☞ The Dover Gazette states that the travelling back in the country is exceedingly bad. A young man employed in that office was two days coming sixty miles. He says that but about three miles beyond Milton, he could extend his hand from either side of the coach on the top, and touch the snow. In some places, however, the ground was entirely bare, but many of the huge snow drifts are reluctant to give way.

LIQUOR TRIAL.—The case of H. G. O. Rundlett, charged with selling liquor in Epping, upon three complaints, was brought before Wm. H. Y. Hackett, Justice of the Peace, at the Court House in this city, on Monday, and he discharged upon one complaint, and held upon the other two, and recognised in the sum of one hundred dollars in each case to appear at the next term of this County. J. W. Towle for State; G. Marston for Deft.

CITY MISSION.—The following sums of money to aid the poor in this city have been received during the month of April, and are hereby greatfully acknowledged:

CALIFORNIA ITEMS.—The ship Atlanta is now loading for Liverpool, having already engaged freight of 5000 bls sour flour—4500 bags 200 lbs. each,) flour Chile has been purchased for re-shipment to Australia.

We have to note the fact of a large and prominent hardware establishment having sold out their entire stock at private sale. This makes the third sale within the past month, of entire stocks having changed hands, besides one failure in this line—so that the number of hardware establishments has thus suddenly reduced by four, all having been merged into others.

The stock sold and above referred to was that of J. D. Hunt & Co., amounting to about forty thousand dollars at invoice cost, and was sold at an abatement of about 25 per cent., on one year's credit, secured by mortgage on real estate, and which is generally considered a good operation for all parties.

Commission merchants are generally disposed to sell goods freely, at prices covering cost and charges, having no confidence in any material rise in any department of trade, as our stocks are excessive.

The shipments of treasure on the three steamers leaving this day, will not fall much short of three millions of dollars, and a full complement of passengers.

LOST.—In Court street, Wednesday evening, a GOLD GLASS, attached to a Velvet Band, with the initials J. S. engraved upon the clasp.—The finder shall be suitably rewarded by leaving it at the Chronicle Office.

HARTFORD, May 1—10 A. M.—The greatest flood ever known in this city or vicinity has visited us, the water being two feet higher than in the memorable flood of 1801—having reached to a height of 30 feet above low water mark. In the lower part of the city, all the houses are full of water to the second story, including Colt's Armory, Tracy & Phail's car shop, Woodruff & Beech's machine shop, and all other manufacturing establishments in the vicinity. Houses, barns, and every description of property are bound down the stream. Portions of the New Haven and Springfield Railroad are three to four feet under water, and of course impassable. There is no way of knowing the amount of damage done south of the city. The railroads are much damaged, but will probably be made passable today or to-morrow. The Willimantic road is impassable.

The damage to property in this city will be very heavy, and involve much suffering to the poor people that have been driven from their homes. The Mayor has ordered the public buildings of the city to be thrown open for their use, and also ordered out boats to rescue such as are in danger. The water is now rising 1 1-2 inches per hour. The usual roads of travel leading to the city are impassable, so that the extent of damage in the adjoining towns cannot be ascertained.

The water is upon the floor of the Willimantic Railroad bridge, and also the bridges opposite the city, and fears are entertained that they may be carried away.

Masses of timber are floating down the river, supposed to be the Enfield bridge across the Connecticut river, several miles above the city.

There is also an unprecedented freshet in the Farmington valley, and we hear of railroad abutments and culverts having been carried away.

THE STEAMSHIP FALCON.—The steamship Falcon, in which the Third Artillery was embarked on the way to California, and which was compelled to put into Norfolk, has not for a long time borne a high reputation as a seaworthy boat. The N. Y. Times, referring to the disaster which has overtaken her, fortunately without causing the loss of human life, says:

"The result cannot be said to be wholly unexpected. The Falcon ought never to have been employed on such a service. The gallant corps of United States Artillery, already subjected to extraordinary hardship, and a heavy loss of numbers by death on the wreck of the San Francisco, were entitled at least to a seaworthy, if not commodious, transport to Panama. Some of their officers said as much to the government. They held a preliminary survey on the Falcon, and protested against her use while the regular United States mail steamer George Law was in port, to sail in two days, and connect with the same packet as the Falcon on the Pacific side.

The original engagement with the steamship company was for the regular packets.—Part of the regiment had sailed accordingly in the steamer of the 5th of April. But they had the old Falcon in the dock. They could turn her to profit by persuading the government officers on this post to use her, and suffer them to fill up the George Law with citizen passengers; and so, after Major Wyse, in command of the troops destined for Panama, had remonstrated, surveyed, and again protested in regard to the Falcon, a second survey was ordered by the government, and the Falcon dispatched with the troops, but not with Major Wyse, who is now under arrest on Governor's Island for disobedience of orders. He did nothing more than carry out his own solemn conviction of the imminent hazard of sending the sufferers by the San Francisco a second time to sea in such a vessel as the Falcon. His commission may be in danger from a court martial, but he certainly has the sympathies of the public. The transaction has all the appearance of a sordid speculation on the part of the steamship company, and an ill-considered approval of it by the government."

This bears out and more than bears out, all that we said on this matter, in the Daily Chronicle of Saturday.

We think Major Wyse's commission is in no danger, unless the court martial is an extremely long eared body. So far from this, we trust that on his trial he will be able to expose the rascality which prevailed to overload the San Francisco and drown many of her passengers; and which came so near drowning the remainder in the Falcon.

CLOUGH, the Murderer, who was hung at Taunton, Mass., on Friday, was, we learn, a native of Topsham, Me., and was only about thirty years of age. He confessed to the Sheriff, on the evening before his execution, that he had been guilty of many crimes, and that he had been largely engaged in passing spurious money at the west.

DAMAGES BY THE GALE.—During the gale on Thursday evening, twenty or thirty buildings in the upper part of New York city were blown down or unroofed.

One block of nine four story houses on 34th street, occupied by about forty families, was entirely unroofed; no lives were lost.

BALTIMORE, April 29.—St. Paul's Episcopal Church in this city, of which Dr. Wyatt is Rector, took fire this morning, and all the wood work was burned, and the steeple and bell fell in before the flames could be got under. The fire is supposed to have originated from a stove pipe.

NEW YORK, April 29.—In the Superior Court this forenoon, in the case of Newell against the New Haven Railroad, for injuries received at Norwalk, the jury returned a verdict in favor of plaintiff for $5600 damages.

Mr. Edward Christ, of the house of Spies, Christ & Co., a bachelor 35 years of age, and of abundant fortune, committed suicide on Monday, by shooting himself at his house on Bond street.

A NEW SONG:

BY THE HUTCHINSON FAMILY.

Topsy neber was born;
Neber had a moder,
'Specs I growed a nigger brat,
Jas' like any o'der.
Whip me till de blood pours down;
Ole missus use to do it;
She said she'd cut my heart right out;
But neber could get to it.
Got no heart I don't believ';
Niggers do without 'em;
Neber heard of God or love,
So can't tell much about 'em.
(Chorus) This is Topsy's savage song,
Topsy's cute and clever;
Hurrah! then, for the white man's rights;
Slavery forever!

I 'specs I'se very wicked,
That's just what I am;
Only gib me a chance,
Won't I raise old Sam.
'Taint no use in being good,
Cos I'se black you see;
I neber cared for nothing yet,
And nothing cares for me.
Ha! ha! ha! Miss Feely's hand,
Don't know how to grip me;
Neber likes to do no work,
And won't, widout dey whip me.
(Chorus) This is Topsy's savage song, &c.

Don't you die Miss Eva,
Else I go dead too;
I knows I'se wicked, but I'll try,
And be all good to you.
You have taught me better things,
Though I'se nigger skin;
You have found poor Topsy's heart
Spite of all its sin.
Don't you die, Miss Eva dear,
Else I'll go dead too;
Though I'se black, I'm sure that God
Will let me go with you.
(Chorus) This is Topsy's human song,
Under love's endeavor;
Hurrah! then, for the white child's work,
Humanity forever!

DR. ORDWAY'S HUMOR DISCOVERY,

AND BLOOD PURIFIER.

DR. ORDWAY has been using his Blood Purifier in his practice for the last seven years with great success. He has often been urged by his friends and those who have tried it, and know its efficacy, to put it within the reach of all. He has now added to it an Herb, discovered in California, by Dr. KELLEY, which makes it the most wonderful remedy for

HUMORS OF ALL KINDS,

LIVER COMPLAINTS AND CHRONIC DISEASES.

The virtues of this Herb were first made known to Dr. Kelley by an Indian, while attending a patient, sick with that terrible disease, the California Erysipelas and Liver Complaint—the effect was miraculous—curing the man in a few days. The natives, when bitten by a rattlesnake, or rabid animal, resort to this Herb for a cure.—Hundreds are taking this medicine, after trying in vain other remedies, and say that the half was never told them.

If you have Erysipelas, 3 to 5 bottles will cure it.
If you have Scrofula, 3 to 7 bottles will cure it.
Three to six bottles will cure Salt Rheum.
One or two bottles will cure Pimples on the Face.
Two or three bottles will cure Scaly Eruptions and Scald Head
One to three bottles will cure Nursing Sore Mouth
One to three bottles will cleanse the system of Biles.
Two to five bottles will cure Rheumatism.
Three to four bottles will cure old running Sores and Ulcers.
One or two bottles will cure Barber's Itch.
One to three bottles will cure Canker in the mouth and bowels.

For Liver Complaints and Jaundice.

Its effects are new and wonderful, removing obstructions from the Liver, open the pores of the skin, carrying off the morbid matter, relieving the side, and all-gone feelings of the stomach; and removing low spirits and despondency, which is the result of this disagreeable and often fatal disease.

FOR DYSPEPSIA.

A fair trial will convince you that there is nothing like it.

FOR CANCEROUS HUMORS,

It is the surest remedy ever offered. One widow lady in Lawrence, has been troubled with Cancer for years, by taking two bottles says she is now quite well.

FOR COSTIVENESS.

One gentleman says that it was the only medicine that cured him.

FOR KIDNEY DIFFICULTIES.

It is spoken of in the highest terms. A young man was sick so much with Asthma that he had to leave College; three bottles cured him, and he has now resumed his studies. One lady in Salem was perfectly cured of Periodical Sick Headache, by the use of two bottles. Mr. Williams, of Lawrence, had humors in his eyes for years, and was cured by the use of the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier. For Chills and Fever, Mercurial Diseases, Taints in the System, it stands unrivalled; sometimes where the system is much deranged it will cause disagreeable feelings at first, but continue its use as indications favorable. It is purely vegetable, and its compound and proportions are such that the effect is perfectly satisfactory and safe.

FULL DIRECTIONS ON THE BOTTLE.

☞ Price $1.00. ☜

HE HAS ALSO A HUMOR SALVE,

Unsurpassed for external humors, which, if used in connection with the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier will much facilitate a cure.

PRICE 25 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Dr. Ordway's Cough Destroyer.

This invaluable Cough Remedy is for the complete cure of Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Influenza, Whooping Cough, pains in the side and breast, hacking or tickling at the throat, spitting blood, tightness across the lungs and chest, and all Lung Complaints leading to Consumption.

No medicine yet discovered has that decided effect in curing Bronchial affections as the Cough Destroyer. It can be taken by all ages and classes, from a child six months old to the oldest man or woman, with the most happy results.

PRICE 50 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Dr. Ordway's Pain Destroyer.

This preparation is composed of a great variety of Extracts, Gums, Essential Oils, most of which have not heretofore been united and compounded into their present form. It will cure attacks of Cramps of the Stomach, Spasms, Convulsions, Faintings, Pain in the Stomach, Bowels, Side, Back, Limbs, and a great variety of other difficulties. It is also invaluable as an external remedy. It will be found to contain nearly double the strength of any similar article, and possesses properties heretofore unknown. No family should be without it for a single day.

PRICE 25, 37½ AND 50 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormentors of our nightly rest.

American and Foreign Office.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 76 state Street, oppo. Kilby street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and Drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent will be furnished for one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. EDDY, of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE,

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two sculleries, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the markets, factories and railroads. Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the north end. It is centrally located between the different ship-yards in that section of the city, each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Loud and is in good order. Attached to it is a lot of land large enough for a Stable or for another dwelling house. It would make a good place for the residence of a person employed at the shipyards across the river, or at the Navy Yard.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 47 Bow street.—This house has been built but a few years, is well finished off, and is very convenient. In the rear is quite a large garden spot. This would be a desirable place for a person employed at the shipyards, or at the Navy Yard nearly opposite.

Also, for sale, a BUILDING LOT, on Mount Vernon street, (opposite No. 2,) with a small building thereon, which can be finished off into a Dwelling house.

All of the above property will be sold on liberal terms, if applied for soon. For further particulars apply to JOSEPH M. EDMONDS,

AN EVENTFUL LIFE.

We had a long and very interesting interview yesterday with Captain John Oliver, of the bark Spermaceti, which arrived at this port some days since from Liverpool, consigned to Messrs. Andrew & Co. The Captain is a veteran English Tar, who has followed the sea since he was ten years of age. He was born in 1777, he has consequently lived on the wave 66 years. He tells us he has been in every quarter of the globe, except Greenland. He has traversed the Atlantic in every direction, he has been up the Pacific as far as the 52d parallel, has visited the Baltic and the Mediterranean Seas, the Gulf of Mexico, and the Indian Ocean; has doubled Cape Horn and the Cape of Good Hope; has visited Canton, Van Dieman's Land, and the coast of Africa; has been chased by pirates, taken prisoner by French and Americans, and indeed has seen, perhaps, as much of this world, and experienced as many adventures as any man living,—as he himself remarked, his life, if written out, would read "as well as a novel." Yet long as his career has been, and hard and toilsome as it must have been, its many vicissitudes have made but little impression upon him. His hair, which is quite dark, is but slightly sprinkled with the silvery mementoes which time leaves behind him, and his face, though marked with the inevitable wrinkled footprint, is ruddy, round and full, and suggestive of perfect health and strength. He never took but one dose of medicine, he tells us, in his life, which was to restore him after the only spell of sickness he has ever known. In recording some of the Captain's adventures, elicited by our questions, we shall not attempt to give them in chronological order, but as may be to us most convenient.

He was in the battles of the Nile and Trafalgar, and at the bombardment of Copenhagen. The last engagement, he says, was much the most terrific of the three. He had rather have been at "twenty Niles than one Copenhagen." The ship Elephant, upon which he was last 367 men during the fight. He went to his gun at 7 o'clock morning, and left at 4 o'clock P. M.; of the thirteen men who sided him in serving the gun, eight were killed on the day in question. The Captain says that sailors sometimes say that they would as soon go into an engagement as to breakfast, but he is not of that opinion. After the first quarter of an hour, however, one does not mind it, nor feel any longer embarrassed. He has often been hand to hand with the enemy in boarding, and this species of fighting, he says, is most repugnant to him. He gave us quite a nonchalant account of a feat of carving performed by him during a "boarding," in which he was compelled, after being missed by a pistol ball, to take off the head of the man who tendered it to him. In all his engagements he never received a wound, or lost a drop of blood. In his long career as ship master, he never lost a man, was never wrecked, never went ashore, never experienced a collision at sea.

His principal voyage by land was made perforce, while a prisoner of the French.—During this march the Captain picked up the only knowledge of French which he enjoys. After eighteen months' duresse in a French prison, he made his escape into Germany, and thence travelling by night, begged his way to Riga, where he obtained passage for England. He was also made prisoner by the Americans in the last war, and after staying in Boston for some time on parole, was exchanged, and once more he trod his native soil.

Among other privileges he has enjoyed, and which we envy him much, was that of seeing, face to face, many of those men who in song and story have become immortal—in whose honor monuments have been erected, and whose histories, we, in this dull, commonplace time, read with enthusiastic delight. Nelson, the noblest of tars, who amid all his honors and trials was still a tar, whose great characteristic was not so much mind, as expanse of heart and soul—who was brave, but not fierce, as a lion, and gentle as a lamb—whose heart was as soft as it was fearless—whose love and charity were as great as his intrepidity—Nelson has often been in the same ship with our veteran, and side by side with him. The iron Duke, too, has often passed before his eye, and many others we have not time to name.

During his durance as prisoner of the French, our Captain made the acquaintance of Jerome Bonaparte, and took quite a fancy to him. Jerome, he says, "was a nice little man, speaking English as well as meself, and very nice in dress." [The Captain saw him just after his marriage with the Belle of Baltimore—perhaps his toilet was unusually elegant at that time—it should have been so, at least.]

In the West Indies, the Captain went out one fine morning upon deck, and found within firing distance of him an elegant vessel, with a black flag at her mast head! He had not a gun on board, though he did have a large amount of specie; he says he took to the heels, and after a chase of two days and one night, succeeded, through the intervention of a terrific storm, in losing sight of his pursuer. The pirate was not a good marksman; his balls which fairly rained during the chase, either went over or fell short of the flying vessel. The Captain did not like the idea of parting with his specie, and he says he lost at least a fortnight's growth from apprehension of being caught. He was glad to hear, about a fortnight after, that his pursuer had been taken by an English man-of-war, and her crew, 32 in number, hung and gibbeted at St. Kitts, W. I.

During the Peninsular war, when Wellington was in Spain, Capt. Oliver commanded a transport ship, and made many voyages between England and Spain, carrying out bullocks, war supplies and provisions, and bringing home sick and disabled soldiers.

The captain has been married twice. In 1832 he lost a wife and seven children at St. John, N. B. He has now four children living—the oldest, a son, 53 years old, and the youngest, a daughter, two years of age. One daughter, by his first wife, now resident and married in Liverpool, the Captain says could navigate a ship in her girlhood as well as himself. He has had 14 children in all.

His ancestors were remarkable as long lived persons. His grandfather died at a very advanced age, his father was 116. The latter was land steward for 60 years, under two Lords Edgecombe, the present Lord and his father. In speaking of the present Lord, the Captain observed that he was born seven years after his mother was buried!

Of course we asked, "How could that be?"

The Captain explained: The mother of the present Lord was buried while alive, though to all appearance dead. The old Lord's gardner exhumed the body, being tempted thereto by a diamond ring of great value, which had been left upon Lady E's hand when buried, her husband being unable to remove it except by the knife, which he would not use. Upon the gardener's cutting the ring finger, the lady awoke to consciousness, and the gardener running off, Lady Edgecomb took the lantern he had brought, went home and lived many years afterward. The gardener was never heard of after his sacrilegious attempt to rob the tomb; his family are now enjoying a pension from the noble lord, who thinks of the gardener with gratitude, and would willingly have provided for him could he have found him.

The Captain mentioned many other things of interest, but our article has already exceeded the bounds we had allowed it.

FREAKS OF FORTUNE.—The St. Louis Intelligencer states that some eight years ago a gentleman patented an improvement in the mode of making boxes and axles for machinery, but failing in his attempts to introduce it into general use, finally gave it up, and departed for Iowa, where he was absent several years. Returning, after a time, he found that his invention was being used upon all the steamboats and railroads of the West. He immediately procured an extension of his patent, and is now rapidly amassing from it a splendid fortune.

It is said that Mr. J. G. Eveleth, who a few years ago was teaching school in winters in order to pay his term bills in Bowdoin College, has recently sold to a company in New York his interest in a patent iron pavement (the same as the pavement laid down in Boston) for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars. Mr. Eveleth entered the law school at Cambridge at the last term.

THE GADSDEN TREATY.

Although the secrets relative to this treaty are attempted to be concealed from the public, there seems to be some suspicion, perhaps growing out of the attempt at secresy, that there is something wrong about the measure. The injunction of secresy is not yet removed from the Senate; but it has leaked out that the treaty proposes to give Santa Anna ten millions for a tract of land including the Messilla Valley. It is now announced that an effort will be made in the House of Representatives to prevent the appropriation of ten millions, requisite to carry the Treaty into execution. The House has a perfect right to withhold such appropriation, and has asserted the right in times past. Should the Treaty be carried into execution, the free states would pay about seven millions and a half of the amount. What benefit would this additional slice of Mexican territory be to them? Perhaps it will be answered that, possibly a railroad from the South to California might be constructed, for a short distance, through that valley. But more northern routes, which seem to be preferable, are in contemplation. Would it not, therefore, be sound policy for the House to withhold the appropriation, ununtil it shall be ascertained that the Messilla Valley would be the best route? Seven and a half millions to be assessed, indirectly, upon the North, is an amount deserving some consideration, and, should it be paid, there ought to be an equivalent. Santa Anna would not care much about the equivalent, should he succeed in getting the money.

LIQUOR LAW DEFEATED.—The legislature of Massachusetts has adjourned; and the friends of good liquor have triumphed over the liquor law.

The Supplementary Liquor bill, as amended by making it apply to impure and adulterated liquors only, was returned from the House on Saturday morning, with the Senate amendment non-concurred in, whereupon the Senate chose a committee of conference, but the House would not confer.

It was then moved that the Senate recede: and the ayes were 14, nays 14: the speaker gave his casting vote nay, and killed the bill. There were 12 absentees or dodgers.

In the afternoon it was reconsidered, and killed over again by a vote of 19 to 14. Not voting, 7.

This leaves the liquor law on the Statute book, clogged with the decision of the judges against a part of it; and the whole law on the subject is in a state of delightful uncertainty.

It is easy to see that this state of things cannot endure, but will produce confusion in political circles and parties in that state, in the coming summer and fall.

NICARAGUA ROUTE TO CALIFORNIA.—A gentleman of this city, who has several times travelled the route, informs us that the whole distance across the Isthmus from the harbor of San Juan del Norte on the Atlantic up the river to Lake Nicaragua, thence across the lake, and thence over land twelve miles to the harbor of San Juan del Sud on the Pacific, is 162 miles. The traveller passes in steamboats owned by a company, 150 miles, and the road of 12 miles on the Pacific side is very level and good. The voyage from New York by this route to California, including the usual stoppages, may be made in twenty-nine days. As the land carriage is only 12 miles, it is questionable whether there can be a preferable route. The distance across the lake exceeds the length of the river 20 miles. There are two obstructions or falls in the river, which cause a little detention in shifting boats and baggage. We have seen a printed circular of the company, stating the route, and that their steamboats are well adapted to the purposes for which they are constructed. Additional improvements and facilities will, doubtless, much reduce the time now required for the voyage.

An effort is being made to introduce sewing into the city schools of Boston. Query—have the schools not already been overburdened with studies? and cannot sewing be taught best at home?—Lowell Journal.

Yes, indeed! but then sewing is not a study at all, but a kind of recreation, agreeable after study. And though sewing, as well as reading could be best taught at home; yet as it is often more costly to have children taught at home than at school, and as many parents cannot teach—therefore it is better to have children taught to read and sew in schools, than not to have them taught at all.

We notice that Warren F. Smith, of Manchester, the man who practiced the Mormon doctrine of marrying Mary Hora while he had another wife, has been sentenced by Judge Minot to one year confinement in jail, a fine of five hundred dollars, and costs of prosecution. If Warren had lived in Utah his propensity would have entitled him to a high seat among the elders.—Meredith Democrat.

FRANKLIN MILLS, N. H.

The Manufacturers of Hosiery at Franklin, in this State, are starting one hundred of Pepper's power rib Looms for making Ladies' Hose and Mens' half Hose; and twenty for making Ribbed shirts and drawers; which, when in full operation, will make two hundred and fifty dozen pair hose per day, and fifteen pair drawers per day. They have now in operation forty one looms on ladies' hose, and ten on shirts and drawers; and six sets of Carding Machines. They give employment at present to one hundred and thirteen persons in the mill, and their seaming gives employment to over four hundred families at their homes. The work, when in full operation, will give employment to about fourteen hundred persons.

Messrs. Geo. W. Towle and Co. are the sole agents for this city and vicinity.

"Good news from a far Country!"—During the debate in the Massachusetts House of Representatives on Thursday, on the Webster Monument resolve, Mr. Holmes of Boston, having understood Mr. Thayer of Worcester to have said that "by his seventh of March speech Mr. Webster had decended to the bottomless pit," commented upon the remark with great severity.

Now the newspapers say in explanation:

The member from Boston misunderstood the member from Worcester; and it was Mr. Douglas, and not Mr. Webster, that was described as having "descended to the bottomless pit."

When Mr. Douglas comes up, as perchance he may, we hope he will tell us all about his voyage, in his peculiar style of eloquence.—A little touch of the satanic literature would quite appropriate to the theme.

LARGE SALES OF OLD BUTTER.—Within a few days past over one hundred tons of old and inferior butter has been purchased in this market on orders from the East, and at rates ranging from 5 to 8 cents per pound. One party, who has an order from New York, has bought more than half the amount, and wants more at the same price. Large quantities are used annually in the manufacture of cloths, and for other mechanical purposes, in Europe, and it is believed that the most of the purchases here are intended for export.—St. Louis Intelligencer.

This old butter ought to have been sold when it was new and good for something, if it ever was good. We are rather inclined to think some of this miserable stuff will be offered for sale in our markets.

At San Francisco, March 31, the United States Marshal arrested the Mexican Consul at that port, M. Luis del Valle, charged with the offence of enlisting men within the United States territory to serve in the Mexican army, in pursuance of instructions received from the Mexican government. The orders from Mexico were for the enlistment of 3000 men, of all nations except Americans, Frenchmen to be preferred, and the Mexican Consul was empowered either to purchase or to charter vessels, and to employ any Mexican vessel of war that might be on the coast to transport these troops to a Mexican port. The advance guard of this force was to have sailed on the British clipper ship Challenge, but that vessel was seized on account of a violation of the United States passenger law, and this seizure led to the discovery of the Mexican plot. On learning these facts, Major General Wool requested the United States District Attorney at San Francisco to procure the arrest of the Mexican Consul, which was done, and M. Valle was brought before United States Commissioner Papy. The charge was proved before the Commissioner, and the Mexican Consul was holden to bail in $30,000. The charge was to be heard on the 5th of April.—Boston Courier.

DECISION IN A LIQUOR CASE.—A liquor case came before the Supreme Court in Rhode Island on Monday, in which it was decided that the validity of the law was not affected by submitting to the people the question of its repeal. On the general question of the validity of the law the Court did not pronounce an opinion.

LECTURE ON SINGING.—A Religious Lecture upon Singing is being delivered by Prof. G. W. Lucas, in Methuen, Lawrence, and other places. It takes well. We need it this way.

FRESHET.—The late storm has overflowed the banks of all the Rivers, and of course done considerable damage. The Eastern Argus mentions a freshet on the Saco river, which sent ten thousand logs over the factory dams at Saco and Biddeford.

PRIZE ODE.

To be sung at the Reinauguration of the Crystal Palace New York, May 4, 1854.

BY WILLIAM ROSS WALLACE.

Lo! the transitory darkness
From our Palace floats away;
Lo! the glorious gems of Genius
Glitter in the rising day.

See again the mighty Nations
Meet and clasp each other's palms,
And by Labor's glowing altar
Lift on high according psalms.

Here behold the true Evangel!
Not from War may Earth increase;
God has stamped his shining patent
Only on the brow of Peace.

Only by the arm of Labor,
Swinging to Invention's chime,
Can the Nations build their Eden
In the wilderness of Time.

Nations! hear that mighty music
Rolling through the mountain-bars—
Planting deserts, bridging oceans,
Marrying the choral stars:

Telling that our Crystal Palace
Glorifies the joyous sod—
Making Man, with Art and Nature,
Worthy of the Builder—God!

Nations! then rejoice that darkness
From our Palace floats away,
And the glowing gems of Genius
Glitter in the light of day!

LOCAL.

☞ The Old Town Clock, a city clock we suppose it must be now, has come across the street from the old tower where it dwelt, and nestled itself away in a back shop of the building wherein the Chronicle is printed.—Such a change of place affords at least a plea for change of occupation. Formerly it gave out hours; now it is to indulge in musings; it has been Chronological; it is now to be Chronical. It has sent down its warning voice from the brazen bell poised high in air; it is now to send it up through the leaden pipe into the Chronicle office, and out to the people through leaded matter, as the printers call it. Of course we must listen to the teachings of the oracle, and sometimes wait when the fit is not on. With this introduction, we give No. 1 in this day's paper.

For the Chronicle.

MORALIZINGS—No. 1.

BY THE OLD TOWN CLOCK.

After long years of constant service, the "Old Clock" is at length allowed a respite of a few brief months. Here, in the back shop of Mr. Henry Ham, jeweler, away from the public gaze, it is my destiny to pass in idleness, the coming season. Years of public service would seem to entitle me to a brief period of repose. But action has become a part of my very nature, and it would ill become these hands, which for so many years have marked the flight of time, to fold themselves in listless inactivity.

From my lofty position, and looking out upon the world beneath and around me with my great black eyes, many a wondrous sight has met my gaze during the last half century. Day after day, from the rising to the setting of the sun, have I looked out upon a scene of busy life. Since first the clear atmosphere of my lofty home surrounded me, a generation has arisen and gone. No longer do I hold converse with those who in my infancy walked the old Parade, and daily looked up to and consulted me, and moved with hasty step or measured tread according to my bidding. All, all have fallen beneath the resistless hand of time.

And the old "North Church," which has for so many years supported me, and which in earliest youth I looked on as a venerable pile—upon that too, hath the destroyer set the mark of his signet, and numbered are its days Sadly have I bidden farewell to this field of my past achievements, this home of my youth and supporter of my mature manhood, and in sorrow looked my last upon the old temple around which so many hallowed recollections centre. Its life hath departed, for no longer doth the old bell thunder forth from its high pulpit, its unending sermon—no longer doth the old clock register the moments as they rush onward and mingle with the past.

"What strange stories could the old clock tell had it the power of speech!" exclaimed a voice as I was being conveyed to my present hiding-place, a few days since. And what a train of thought has this remark awakened in my breast. In imagination I have passed again through all the trying and eventful scenes of my somewhat prolonged existence. And while gazing back into the great ocean of the past, and recalling the many startling events which over and anon have lashed into mighty billows, its now seemingly quiet surface, an almost irresistable impulse has urged me to give publicity to some of the many treasures which memory has in store.

I do not intend publishing a history of all the events which have occurred in the old town and new city, during the many years in which I have watched over its interests and exerted a controlling influence upon its destinies. It is rather with its inner life, that I propose to deal. I would speak of that current which underlies all human action; of those secret springs which control human destiny; of those unseen and scarcely self-confessed influences which actuate the desires and ambitions of men. I would say something of its joys and its sorrows—its loves and its hatreds—its unassuming piety and its concealed wickedness—of the symmetry of truth and the hideous deformity of vice. I would point the wholesome moral, that punishment follows crime like a shadow, and that woe and suffering is in the end the certain allotment of injustice and fraud.

And let none fear that I contemplate an indiscriminate revelation of their secret thoughts and actions; deeds enveloped in darkness, and of which the old clock and the stars were sole witnesses. I may deem it proper to reveal—but they will be secrets still—visibly identified with no human being; and the telltale blush or ill-suppressed sneer, shall alone stamp their paternity.

Nor must the old clock be fettered, in its teachings, by arbitrary dictation, as to time and circumstance. It must talk as the spirit moves it, and in such manner as the spirit prompts. Days, or even weeks may elapse between its moralizings, and they who read, must be content.

☞ We are requested to correct a misstatement made in the Chronicle of Monday, relative to the building of the new North Church. Mr. Moses has contracted to complete the church,—and Messrs. Geo. W. Pendexter, H. H. Ladd and W. Williams, are simply chosen a sub-committee of consultation from the building committee of nine chosen by the Parish.

THE FIREMEN were out on Monday evening in great style, with their tubs. No 6, Atlantic, appeared in their neat uniform—the only one in the city. No. 4 threw two streams over the North Church vane, at once.

We learn that all the members of the engine companies are to sign a petition for an increase of their yearly pay of $5. There are about three hundred men connected with the department.

☞ There was a May Day Ball at the Hall of A. A. Hayes, Esq., Navy Yard Village, on Monday evening. Twenty-five couple participated in the festivities—had a good dance, fine supper, and spent a pleasant time generally. Music by Lamprey & Haines' Quadrille Band.

Mann & Co.'s Dramatic Company,

FOR ONE WEEK ONLY,

AT THE CAMENEUM,

THIS EVENING,

Uncle Tom's Cabin.

Embracing the entire work of Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, being Religious, Moral, and of Great National interest.

THIS deservedly Popular Drama is now being performed at the National Theatre, N. Y., with a success unparalleled in the history of the Stage, with new and beautiful characteristic scenery, new machinery, and appointments.

In six Acts, nine Tableaux and thirty-one Scenes.

During the performance of this Drama, embracing Mrs. Stowe's entire work, will be introduced the following SONGS, composed and arranged by Mr. G. C. Howard.

"Uncle Tom's Religion." "I'se so wicked." "Eva to her Papa." Also, "The Slave," by Glover. "Old Kentucky Home," by Foster. "The Other Side of Jordon," by Geo. Christy. "Medley Airs." Sacred Anthem, "Wake Isles of the South," by L. Mason.

TABLEAUX IN THE DRAMA.

1. The Escape of Eliza on the Ice. 2. The Trappers entrapped. 3. The Free Man's Defence. 4. Death of little Eva. 5. The last of St. Clair. 6. Topsey Butting the Yankee. 7. Cassy helping Uncle Tom. Death of Uncle Tom. Allegorical Tableau of little Eva in Heaven.

The great original Drama in Six Acts, dramatized from Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe's world-renowned Work, and being performed with wonderful success at the National Theatre, N.Y, every night since July 18, called ARRIVAL OF THE PACIFIC.

NEW YORK, May 1.

The Collins steamship Pacific, Capt. Nye, from Liverpool April 19th, arrived here at half past nine this morning.

MARKETS.—Circulars quote cotton firmer, with sales for three days of 20,000 bales.—Flour has advanced in price 1s a 2s. Wheat is also 3d per bushel higher. Corn 1s per qr. lower.

At Manchester trade was better.

McHenry's Liverpool Circular of May 19, quotes Bacon quiet. Good Beef scarce and wanted. Pork plenty, but sales dull. Lard sells at 52s. Tallow on the decline.

WAR SUMMARY.—Admiral Napier's whole fleet had gone Eastward to attack the Russian fleet.

Navigation was open in the Black Sea, and the allied fleets had sailed direct with the intention of attacking Sebastopol.

By advices up to the 6th of April, it is understood that sanguinary skirmishes occurred daily on the Danube.

Omer Pacha, it is said, was awaiting the arrival of the allied armies before he would make a general attack.

The report of the Austrians having entered Servia is not confirmed.

England and France have entered into a treaty, "offensive and defensive."

The recall of the Prussian Minister from London was on personal, and not political grounds.

LATEST BY TELEGRAPH.—A large Russian force was said to have entered Servia.

All the Russian ports were declared blockaded.

The reports in relation to the Greek insurrection are meagre. The expulsion of the Greeks from Turkish territory is going on; but a private despatch states that Greek subjects who profess the Latin faith will be allowed to remain.

Among the reports not well authenticated are the following: that the Russians have entered Servia; that the Turks have taken Turnu and were advancing in the rear of the Russians; that fighting and cannonading had been going on on the lower Danube from March 30th to April 7th, in which time the list of killed and wounded, especially of the Russians, was much augmented, and that 8000 Russians had attempted to storm Rassova and were repulsed.

Constantinople advices of April 6 state that the whole fleet was then in the Black Sea. It was rumored that the bulk of the fleet had gone to Sebastopol, but it was more likely it had gone to Odessa. An Odessa date of 8th states that that port was under blockade, and a private despatch says it was taken on the 14th, but this is doubtful.

Russian advices state that additional reserves are called out to the extent of 125,000 men, and that a corps of Russian troops in two divisions is to be stationed on the Prussian frontier between Memel and Suwalki.

The French and English contingents were still moving, but slowly, to the seat of war. The Duke of Cambridge remained at Paris on the 17th. Prince Napoleon embarked from Marseilles on that day for Constantinople.

The Russians have been driven from the Circassian coast, the brave mountaineers, who had been supplied with arms and ammunition, having fallen upon the garrison and put them to the sword.

One mode of defending the entrance to Cronstadt is new and dangerous. Strong iron chests, charged with powder and other combustible materials, are sunk in the channel, and connected by wires to a galvanic battery. Above the chests is some machinery which, on being touched by the keel of a passing vessel, completes the galvanic circuit and explodes the mine. A hundred of these dangerous inventions are sunk in the narrow entry of Cronstadt.

House Lot at Auction.

By virtue of a License from the Judge of Probate, will be sold at Public Auction,
On TUESDAY, May 9th, at 12 o'clock, M.
On the Premises,

A VALUABLE LOT OF LAND—bounded on the West 50 feet by Anthony street, running back 150 feet, adjoining land of Ephraim K. Knox, Reed V. Rand, and William H. Rundlett.

The above is a very excellent lot for a Dwelling House; being on the highest grade of the street, offers an opportunity for a very dry cellar, with sufficient stone on the lot for the same; and being in the growing part of the city, making it a very desirable building lot.

A part of the purchase money may remain on time to suit the convenience of the purchaser.

Rev. Ephraim Peabody, of King's Chapel, Boston, has declined to accept the increase of $500 to his salary, which had been tendered to him.

A new vehicle has appeared in Paris; the horses are behind the carriage, and push instead of pulling it. A steering wheel in front is used for guiding.

The Second Parish in Worcester has voted to raise the salary of the Rev. Dr. Hill from $1500 to $2000 per year.

Edwin Lawrence, Esq., of Lynn, has issued a prospectus for a daily paper, to be published in Salem, commencing about the middle of May.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered from one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Fever and Ague, Tumor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it; they say the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs.—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. At the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of the most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Fever and Ague. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. In the second bottle, she broke out in some sore of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others and it to cease the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

COUGH CANDY.

Warranted free from Mercury, Opium, or any Mineral Ingredient. It injures no one, but benefits all.

Relief guaranteed in five minutes.

NEVER, since the Science of Medicine first dawned upon the World, has any compound gained such extraordinary popularity, in so short a time as DR. HOWE'S Hygeian, Hoarhound and Liverwort COUGH CANDY, in curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Difficulty of Breathing, Bleeding at the Lungs, Pain in the Side and Breast, Sore Throat, Cramp, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Hoarseness or any other Symptom of that distressing malady, Consumption.

A host of Certificates can be presented, but the following from Rev. J. M. Trimble, Presiding Elder of the Cincinnati District M. E. Church, must satisfy all of the beneficial results of the use of this Cough Candy.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 25, 1847.

DR. HOWE—Sir: I have used Howe's Cough Candy and have found it a pleasant remedy for Hoarseness, and believe that public speakers troubled with diseases of the throat would find benefit from its use. J. M TRIMBLE.

Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

THE DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the north end. It is centrally located between the different ship-yards in that section of the city, each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Miles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lowd and is in good order. Attached to it is a lot of land large enough for a Stable or for another dwelling house. It would make a good place for the residence of a person employed at the shipyards across the river, or at the Navy Yard.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 47 Bow street.—This house has been built but a few years, is well finished off, and is very convenient. In the rear is quite a large garden spot. This would be a desirable place for a person employed at the shipyards, or at the Navy Yard nearly opposite.

Also, for sale, a BUILDING LOT, on Mount Vernon street, (opposite No. 2,) with a small building thereon, which can be finished off into a Dwelling house.

All of the above property will be sold on liberal terms, if applied for soon. For further particulars apply to JOSEPH M. EDMONDS,

MORNING CHRONICLE.

BY MILLERS & GRAY. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., THURSDAY, MAY 4, 1854. VOLUME 4. NO. 79.

THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE

is published by
FRANK W. MILLER, SAMUEL GRAY, & THOS. W. MILLER,
At No. 4 Exchange Buildings,
Pleasant Street, ... PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

TERMS $4 a year, or $3 if paid strictly in advance.

The Weekly Chronicle,
A family newspaper, containing the news of the week, with carefully selected miscellany, &c., is published every Saturday morning—at $1 a year in advance.

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three insertions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.

☞ All accounts settled semi-annually.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING promptly executed.

MINER'S TEN COMMANDMENTS.

Mr. Charles E. Rand has sent us from San Francisco, a copy of the Miner's Ten Commandments, illustrated with as many spirited engravings. A man who wandered from "away down east," came to sojourn in a strange land, and "see the elephant;" and having seen him from the key of his trunk to the end of his tail, he followed the animal till he stopped before a clapboard shanty, and pointed to a candle-card tacked upon a shingle,—and the man read this new version of the decalogue. They are published by James M. Hutchings, of Placerville, and printed on letter paper, in good style. We give some extracts. The 10th is best.

1. Thou shalt have no other claim than one.

2. Thou shalt not make unto thyself any false claim, nor any likeness to a mean man, by jumping one, &c.

3. Thou shalt not go prospecting before thy claim gives out, &c.

4. Thou shalt not remember what thy friends do at home on the Sabbath day, lest the remembrance may not compare favorably with what thou dost here, &c.

5. Thou shalt not think more of all thy gold, and how thou canst make it fastest, than how thou wilt enjoy it, after thou hast ridden, rough-shod, over thy good old parent's precepts and examples, &c.

6. Thou shalt not kill thy body by working in the rain, even though thou shalt make enough to buy thy physic and attendance with. Neither shalt thou kill thy neighbor's body in a duel; for by "keeping cool," thou canst save his life and thy conscience, &c.

7. Thou shalt not grow discouraged, nor think of going home before thou hast made thy "pile," &c.

8. Thou shalt not steal a pick, or a shovel or a pan, from thy fellow miner; nor take away his tools without his leave; nor borrow those he cannot spare; nor return them broken, nor trouble him to fetch them back again; nor talk with him while his water rout is running on; nor remove his stake to enlarge thy claim, nor undermine his bank by following a lead, nor pan out gold from his "rifle-box," nor wash the "tailing" from his sluice's mouth, &c. For if the law hinder them not they will hang thee, or give thee fifty lashes, or shave thy head and brand thee, like a horse thief, with R upon thy cheek, to be read and known of all men, Californians in particular.

9. Thou shalt not tell any false tales about "good diggings in the mountains" to thy neighbor, that thou mayst benefit a friend who hath mules, and provisions, and tools, and blankets he cannot sell, &c.

10. Thou shalt not commit unsuitable matrimony, nor covet "single blessedness," nor forget absent maidens; nor neglect thy "first love;"—but thou shalt consider how faithfully and patiently she awaiteth your return; yea, and covereth each epistle that thou sendeth with kisses of kindly welcome—until she hath thyself. Neither shalt thou covet thy neighbor's wife, nor trifle with the affections of his daughter; yet, if thy heart be free, and thou love and covet each other, thou shalt "pop the question" like a man, lest another more manly than thou art, should step in before thee, and thou love her in vain, and in the anguish of thy heart's disappointment, thou shalt quote the language of the great, and say, "sich is life;" and thy future lot be that of a poor, lonely, despised and comfortless bachelor, &c.

ROTHSCHILD AND PALESTINE.—It is rumored in Paris, that M. de Rothschild, offered to accept the terms proposed for the Turkish loan, or even to advance a larger sum, provided a mortgage was given him on Palestine.

This rumor is highly suggestive. Every reflecting Christian must have had frequent thoughts of the Jews of Palestine, and of the precious promises and prophecies laid up for them in the Bible, during the thickening of the war plot, which now must inevitably involve all Europe. The great battle of Armageddon—the angel standing in the sun calling all the souls of heaven to the feast of the great God—the treading of the wine-press without the city, and the blood coming to the horses' bridles, are passages of holy writ which come up before the mind with awful grandeur, clothed with the idea of a possible fulfilment within a short time! Palestine is the Lord's inheritance reserved for the seed of Abraham. The Turkish power holds it. That power must give way before the plans of Divine Providence. Its downfall is imminent; and who next shall own Palestine? Evidently the Jews.

The world has wondered at the wealth of the Rothschilds. They are Jews. Why has Providence raised them up and placed in their hands an amount of wealth equal to that of many an entire kingdom? May it not be for such a time as this? The Turkish power, straitened for money to fight against Russia, comes to one of these Jews to borrow. He asks a mortgage on Palestine, and on this condition offers more money than Turkey asks. The Sultan knowing that Palestine is one portion of his dominion on which the Emperor of Russia has fixed his covetous eyes, that he may command the Mediterranean and Red Seas, and also the mouths of the Nile, would the more readily mortgage it to Rothschild, to put it as far from the enemy as possible, and identify it with the interests of western Europe, and by this means the more effectually secure the aid of England and France. In the event Turkey is swallowed up—the mortgage lies unredeemed—Palestine is once more the property of an Israelite.—But Russia is determined to have it; but to obtain it she must fight all Europe—and the last great conflict is on this sacred ground. There the wine-press is trodden—without the city of Babylon—popedom. Palestine being in possession of the Saracens and Turks, has always been beyond the limits of the Papacy. New forms of government arise all over Europe, and the Jews return to their fatherland under the deed of Rotchschild.—Vermont Chronicle.

PATENT ELASTIC HORSE SHOE.—Our attention has been directed to this new and valuable invention. The shoes are made of superior Swedish Iron, with deep incisions in the heels, into which India-rubber is introduced in such a manner as never to become displaced. This makes the shoe a perfect non conductor of heat, which is a matter of very great importance; it also prevents the hard concussion and jar which the solid unyielding Iron Shoe produced. And that is not all: great relief must ensue by the elastic motion produced every time the foot strikes the pavement, plank, or hard road. The invention, we understand, has been thoroughly tested in Boston and vicinity, and many testimonials of its great utility have been received. It has received the approbation of scientific men, and if its merits are fairly developed, it is destined to supersede the old fashioned method of shoeing. We learn it is to be shortly introduced in New York, and we predict for it the favor of all lovers of that noble, but greatly abused animal, the horse.—Spirit of the Times.

DEARTH OF PROVISIONS AT CONSTANTINOPLE.—Provisions are rising to an enormous price, and the merchants have received a notification prohibiting the export of any kind of grain. Even what has been imported for the purpose of reshipment, is not allowed to leave the country, and it is thus endeavored to alleviate the sufferings of the capital, and to quiet the dangerous discontent of a hungry mob. Yet in this beautiful country, favored above all others by the gifts of nature, there should be no need of economical expedients, which are excusable only in a small and densely peopled state. If want stares thousands in the face, it is because the advantages of a fertile soil and a commanding position have never been appreciated by the dominant caste, accustomed to consider agriculture as servile, and commerce as immoral.

A CURIOSITY.—The Yarmouth Register states that a gentleman of that place recently attempted to pick up a dead gull on the flats in the harbor, but found the bill to be firmly fixed in the sand. On digging down it was found to be held fast by a large sea clam.—The victim of misplaced confidence attempted to gull the shelly gentleman out of a dinner, and after having "introduced his bill," had "leave to withdraw" refused him.

FRIENDLESS GIRLS.

A new institution of a useful kind, has just been started in Boston, called the Guardian of Friendless Girls. At its head is Rev. John T. Sargent, formerly a minister at large, a man well qualified for his work, who will act as Agent of the Association, in the Courts, and elsewhere, becoming bail for such as he thinks proper subjects for his assistance. The committee solicit from their fellow citizens interested in the object, funds to support the movement. An agent, a home, means for clothing some of the girls, for sending them into the country, for correspondence with friends out of the city, willing to co-operate in the object,—all these and similar expenses, must be incurred; and for these the Association rely on the liberality of a community never appealed to in vain in behalf of a worthy object.

The Committee consists of six gentlemen and a lady, of known philanthropy, who say in their address:

Our streets are full of children, wholly idle or engaged in trifling occupations. Many of these are girls. Experience shows that idleness and vagrant habits lead them into temptation, and they soon become guilty of slight offences against the laws. If left unmolested by the police, they ripen into profligate and degraded offenders. If arrested and committed to jail or the House of Correction, they are, after a few months, rendered back to the community worse than before.

For boys, the State has provided fitting and ample succor in the Westboro' Reform School, of whose abundant success we need not speak. This association aims to protect the girls, until something of the same kind, or something equally effectual, be set on foot by the State. Its object is to take charge, where it is possible, of those who have not yet become offenders, and with permission of the Courts, to take possession of those arraigned for crimes; to provide them a temporary home in the city, instruction in some means of getting a living, and obtain homes, for such as need them, in families residing in the country towns of New England.

We publish the above not only as an article of Massachusetts intelligence, but also as showing what is needed in other states also, on a larger or smaller scale, as the case may be.

Capt. Ezekiel Jones, of the United States Revenue Marine, was brought before John Ordronaux, Esq., of this town, on Saturday last, upon complaint of James M. Hood, Esq. of Somerset, for threatening to shoot and blow out the brains of said Hood, and being convicted was ordered to pay costs and placed under bonds in $100 to keep the peace hereafter. Capt. Jones is a government superintendent of the construction of the five Light Ships, for which Capt. Hood is contractor, and the difficulty grew out of disagreements as to the execution of the work under contract. It appeared from the evidence of the complainant and others, that Capt Jones had not only repeatedly threatened the life of Capt. Hood, but had also avowed his intention of holding him amenable to the code of honor, after the completion of the contract. N. Morton appeared as counsel for the Commonwealth; Bassett & Reed for defendant.—Taunton Gazette.

Uncle Toby would give a trifle to know whether this Captain Ezekiel Jones is a steamer or a total abstinent. Having a great respect for officers, and believing them generally to be gentlemen, he is afraid that Capt. Ezekiel puts bricks in his hat. If he did not, he thinks he would not dream of challenging a mechanic to fight a duel, nor let off any gas about blowing his brains out.

Blunders Corrected.—The Boston Post has an article headed 'Meddlesome Philanthropy," in which the declaration is made that George Weston, the person recently taken before the Supreme Court on a writ of Habeas Corpus, by parties in New Bedford, who was not a slave.

But the New Bedford Standard replies:

This is not correct. Weston says that he was a slave and that he was owned by a man named Brinker, who resides at Cherrystone, Virginia—and we believe him. There is not a shadow of doubt that he was held in bondage, and neither is there any doubt in our mind, that the captain of the schooner was anxious to take him back to Virginia for pecuniary considerations Weston is now a free man.

That is, the first statement was correct, which freed the man by coming into a free State.

It is astonishing to see what immense quantities of carpetings are sacrificed at the New York auction trade sales. The New England Carpet Company of our city are heavy purchasers at these sales, which accounts for the immense quantities they sell at such extraordinary low prices. Rich tapestry carpets they sell for $1,17 per yard, which ordinarily sell for $1,75. Also, velvets, three plys and ingrains, they sell for less than the cost of manufacture. They are now piling in from this source we should think a three years' supply, but we are informed by one of their salesmen that they will last scarcely as many weeks. We should advise those who wish for a truly elegant carpet for a low price to call on them. Their store is on Hanover Street, at the corner of Elm.—Boston Post.

The Grand Jury of the Hillsboro', N. H., Court of Common Pleas have indicted Luke Curtice, of Windsor, N. H., for the murder of his father by poison.

PUTNAM'S MONTHLY.

The Number for May is on our table, from Fetridge & Co., Boston, by J. F. Shores, Portsmouth. An examination of its contents shows it to possess more than its usual variety and attractions. It opens with a brief sketch of Nebraska, a timely article. The sketches of the Enchanted Islands are concluded. A well written account of an hour with Lamennais follows, which we perused with much pleasure. The strange things of Spain are narrated in a pleasant account of a visit to that country. Henry Clay's oratorical powers are finely sketched. The Czar and Sultan are contrasted. The duty of strict neutrality on the Eastern question is enjoined in an article on the Eastern Question. A very pleasantly written paper on spring flowers is one of the most readable articles in the number. There are seventeen articles in all; and the high character of the work is fully sustained in the present number.

The Cadet.—We have received from Geo. Francis Towle, of this city, a copy of a neat monthly paper, in quarto form, with the above title, printed at the Western Military Institute, Tyree Springs, Tennessee, at 1$ per year. For a motto it has an extract from De Witt Clinton:—"Pleasure is a shadow, wealth is vanity, power is a pageant; but knowledge is extatic in enjoyment, perennial in fame, unlimited in space, and infinite in duration."—The Cadet is made up chiefly of original productions of the members of the Institute,—essays, addresses, poetry, &c., and is a good specimen of such a paper.

Mr. Shillaber's Book, "The Life and Sayings of Mrs. Partington and others of the Family," is having a rapid and extensive sale. Already fifteen thousand copies of the work are disposed of, and the prospect now is that fifty thousand copies of the oracular utterances of the old lady will be called for. The book is instructive as well as amusing, for among the sayings of Dame Partington are to be found many excellent moral precepts. Mr. Shillaber has long been known hereabouts as one of the chief contributors to the Boston Post, and this book, together with his book of poems, entitled "Rhymes with Reason and without," and his new poem on "The Press," prepared for delivery before literary associations, will give him a wider fame. He is a practical printer and deserves all the success he may meet with in his literary efforts.—Boston correspondent Newburyport Herald.

☞ "On the wall I've hung thee, my much beloved Lute," a ballad by Franz Schubert, fills the 23d No. of the Musical Repository, Mr. Morse has it.

Sad End.—The body of an Irishman named John Roach, was found on Monday morning, in the mud on the flats, near Vaughan's Bridge in Portland. In his pockets were found three dollars in money, a fish hook and line, with a fresh bait on the hook, and a pint flask two thirds full of rum, which somebody had sold him, contrary to law. He doubtless came to his death by drowning by falling from the bridge, while in a state of intoxication. He had been missing since Saturday, and his wife had been in anxious search for him about the city. Roach was known to be a very intemperate man, and was about 30 years old.

Says Dr. Curtis, in a report concerning the sanatory condition of Lowell: "There is not a State Prison or House of Correction in New England, where the hours of labor are so long, the hours for meals so short, or the ventilation so much neglected as in all the cotton mills with which I am acquainted."

If this statement be an error, it ought to be corrected. But if it be true, then the practices ought to be amended.

FOND REMEMBRANCES.

Again it is the lovely, glorious May!
Once more the tiny blades of bright, green grass
Have joyously peeped out of mother earth;
And brightly tinted flowers will soon tempt us
Away with their young freshness. Oh! how sweet
To roam at early dawn or evening's close,
With friends beloved, whose heart like to our own
Beats wildly with the beauty of the hour!
Oh May! thou bring'st remembrance of the days
That have gone by forever; when a group
Of young, fond, happy hearts, in Spring time gay,
Oft strolled away to pass in joy and mirth
Many an hour like this. Still will the thought
Of them last through long coming years,
E'en after death hath taken to his embrace
Many a form from out that once gay band.
Yes, those that still survive—if such there be,
Though cares press heavily, in fancy still will live
Time that doth changes bring to all on earth,
Brought such to each of them; the golden chain
Was loosed; some to stern realities of life
Have entered in, and some have formed
Strong ties, the grave alone can loose or break.
One to the mighty ocean hath gone forth
In all the pride and strength of manhood, and
A heart o'erflowing with bright hopes of bliss;
And yet methinks when the pale moon looks down
With silvery eye upon his midnight watch,
He fondly dreams of hours once happy, spent
With friends at home, under this same bright orb;
Or some sweet song floats on the midnight air,
As though 'twere wafted from the lips he loved.
Father, protect him! and to the many hearts
That offer up to thee a silent prayer,
Do thou in thy kind providence return him safe!
And to each one of those who hath or may Go forth to tread life's stormy path, do thou
Infuse new life, shield with thine arm,
And prosper them, and may it ever be Spring time within the heart, though age bend low the form.

LOCAL.

For the Chronicle.

A RURAL CHURCH.

Messrs. Editors:—Is it too late to appeal to the good taste of the congregation of the North Church, or the persons empowered to contract for the new building about to be erected, and to urge them to deliberate yet a little longer before they decide to commence their work upon the present site.

Surely a spot more unsuitable for a temple dedicated to the worship of the Most High, could scarcely be found. A dark, unfrequented lane and unsightly buildings on the west and south,—on the north and east an open ground, where cattle and market wagons are constantly gathered, and where horses may be tied to the very pillars of its outer porch; not an inch of ground for an enclosure, an iron railing, or even a few shade trees to give it the seclusion which the sacredness of the purpose demands; and so situated that on public days it is exposed to the smoke of tar barrels and various other evils. We doubt if there be one individual of taste or judgment in that congregation, or one gifted with a sense of propriety or the fitness of things, who would not, if consulted, assent to the writer's opinion, and we cannot but feel assured that the present rector, with his poetical tastes and his reverence for holy things, must in his heart feel that no sacredness of association can ever hover about a spot like this.

The lot on which the church now stands would be valuable to the town, would add much to the spaciousness of the central portion termed the "parade," and could be disposed of for a sufficient sum to enable the society to purchase a spot large enough for such surroundings as shall do credit to their taste, and manifest a proper respect for the great purpose to which it is to be consecrated. We would suggest the lot opposite the Post Office, on the corner of Daniel and Penhallow streets, if it can be purchased, or the one which has already been mentioned, opposite the Academy; any spot indeed, would be preferable to that now contemplated. We love to see a church—like those in the beautiful city of New Haven—shut out in some degree from the public gaze, in a quiet and retired spot, where the voice of prayer may at all times be undisturbed by the din of worldly tumult.—We would have the sunbeams falling in fragments through the quivering branches of overshadowing elms, which exclude the glare of the noon-day sun, and in the shadows of stained glass, bestow something of that dim religious light so grateful to the heart of the devout worshipper; and we would twine about its consecrated walls the woodbine, which with its verdure in Summer and its beautiful Autumnal tints, has a picturesque and tasteful effect, and is so often seen not only in New Haven, but in many other cities. With very little additional expense, the new church may be made ornamental to the town and creditable to those engaged in its erection. ***

We can answer all these suggestions and queries, very readily. The people who have worshipped in the old meeting-house, and who mean to worship in the new, have an exceedingly strong attachment to the old site, and whatever associations of holy things they have, belong to this particular spot whereon their fathers worshipped.

We have heard many suggestions similar to those above, not only at the present time, but also seventeen years ago, when the old house was repaired; and as  writes well, we give him [or her?] a hearing. But a great majority of the parishioners, then, as now, pertinaciously clung to the "old ground," and would hardly hear of any other.

The centrality, publicity and boldness of the position, are, by many of them, counted as advantages. Puritans are not generally admirers of stained glass windows, nor have they much reverence for the dim, religious light. If they wish to keep out the sunshine, they close a blind; but on a dark, rainy Sunday, they take in all the light they can get. The din of worldly tumult has no terrors for the business men who move in this effort; and the public gaze is courted rather than shunned.

All these things are matters of taste, about which there will be diversity, but over which there need be no dispute. We therefore, quite impartially, having no personal interest in the matter, give both sides of the question: The first by our unknown correspondent ; and the other in our own words, on the spur of the moment, but with views derived from a most thorough knowledge of the preferences and predilections of the North Parish. They will build a substantial, handsome Meeting House on the old spot.

Uncle Tom's Cabin is drawing good audiences at the Cameneum, and is nightly increasing in favor. The pious confidence and moral firmness of Uncle Tom; the beautiful thoughts of the precocious Eva, and the brutality of Legree, are well illustrated, and bring fairly before the mind of the hearer the beauties and horrors of Mrs. Stowe's popular work. The company play this week only.

☞ Mr. John F. Patten, of Auburn, has been appointed Principal of the Haven School in this city, and entered on his duties the first day of May.

Mr. Patten has taught school in Newington for two years past, to the entire satisfaction of the citizens, and also a school in Manchester, where he gave equal satisfaction.—He brings with him the highest testimonials as to his ability and character. Mr. Patten entered upon the discharge of his duties on Monday last. May abundant success attend his efforts.

Dogs.—A petition is being numerously signed by our citizens, to have the city fathers order all dogs to wear wire muzzles, as they do in many other places.

Large Egg.—Mr. Samuel P. Garland, of Rye, on Wednesday, left at our office a very large egg, measuring 7 1-2 inches in circumference one way, and 6 inches the other, and weighing 3 1-2 ounces. It was laid by a common fowl—none of the fancy breeds. Such eggs are richly worth 12 1-2 cents a dozen.

A GOOD TIME.

The Ladies of the Congregational Society in Hampton, will give a Social Entertainment in the Upper and Lower Halls of the Academy, on the evening of Wednesday, May 10th.

The entertainment will consist of Refreshments, Vocal and Instrumental Music, Tableaux, &c. All are cordially invited to attend. Admission 12 1-2 cents. The proceeds will be appropriated to the purchase of an organ.

The Newburyport Fair.—There was a large and joyous gathering at the Newburyport May Fair, on Monday, and many persons were present from other places, Boston and Salem included. The Fair was continued throughout Tuesday.

Our Hallowell and Augusta friends are improving the present rise of water by boating up immense quantities of ship timber before the water gets so low as to impede navigation above the Gardiner and Pittston bridge.—Gardiner Chronicle.

CONGRESS.

TUESDAY, May 2.

SENATE.—No business of importance was transacted in the Senate to-day. The Indian Appropriation bill was discussed, and an amendment adopted providing for California Indians. Adjourned.

HOUSE.—Mr. Richardson, from the Committee on Territories, reported a bill for the admission of Oregon as a state.

A bill was passed providing for the extinguishment of the title of the Chippewa Indians to lands in Wisconsin and the Minnesota Territory.

Mr. Wheeler of New York asked leave to introduce a resolution authorizing the Secretary of the Navy to send a steamer suitably provided to search for the missing City of Glasgow. Objected to.

The House went into Committee on Territorial business. When the committee rose the Speaker laid before the House a message from the President, with documents relative to the arrest in Austria of the Rev. John Cook.

PROVIDENCE, May 2.—The new Legislature met at Newport to-day. Henry Y. Cranston was elected Speaker of the House, and Messrs. Charles H. Brownell and S. Ballou Clerks. Wingate Hays was elected Clerk of the Senate. All are Whigs and were not opposed.

The two houses in grand committee elected the following officers, in default of an election by the people, (the election by the constitution being confined to the two candidates who received the highest number of votes) :—John I. Reynolds Lieutenant Governor, William R. Watson, Secretary of State, Christopher Robinson Attorney General, Samuel B. Vernon Treasurer.

LOUISVILLE, May 1.—The Ward Trial.—A meeting of the citizens was held on Saturday night, when resolutions were adopted requesting Mr. Crittenden to resign his seat in the United States Senate, and Mr. Wolfe to resign his seat in the State Senate, and also requesting Ward to leave the state.

A mob proceeded to the residence of the Ward family, and burned effigies of Matthew and Robert Ward at the front door. The wood work of the dwelling took fire, but the fire was extinguished before much damage was done.

BUFFALO, MAY 2.—Canal navigation resumed.—Water was let into this section of the canal yesterday. Up to noon, 42 boats, loaded with produce, had cleared. The loss by the late storm on Lake Michigan is estimated at $45,000. Vessels are now arriving here freely—200,000 bushels of corn arrived here during the last twenty four hours.

THE SAN FRANCISCO COURT MARTIAL.—The Washington correspondent of the Times states that the Court of Inquiry into the conduct of Col. Gates at the time of the wreck of the steamer San Francisco is against that officer, and that he has been directed to transfer the colors of the regiment to the officer next in command.

FROM HAYTI.—Later intelligence from Hayti says the Emperor is making immense preparations for the invasion of Dominica, putting the whole army and navy in repair, with the intention of commencing operations on the 1st of May.

DEATH FROM THE BITE OF A DOG.—A child of the late Caleb Waite, of North Chelsea, Mass., died on Friday from the effects of a bite by a rabid dog, inflicted last month.—The owner of the dog, Mr. Sled, was also bitten about the same time, but no ill effects have yet resulted from the wound. The deceased child was six years of age.

MISSING.—A young man by the name of Melvile Webber, a resident of Kennebunk, is now missing under circumstances that lead to the general belief that he has committed suicide by drowning. He had been at work at Lawrence, Mass, for sometime past, and returned to his friends at Kennebunk, on Monday last, 24th ult., in very low spirits. From remarks that he made, his friends supposed that he considered himself sick and near his end, but did not suppose he intended suicide. On Tuesday morning about 4 o'clock, he got up from bed, put on part of his clothes; his boots, without stockings; coat, without vest, his hat, &c., and started out. His hat was found just below the village of Kennebunk, by the bank of the Mousam River.—The citizens of Kennebunk have been searching the river much of the time since he was first missed, but as yet no traces of the body have been found.—Saco Democrat.

ANOTHER.—Wm. H. Wiggins, a young lawyer who has been a resident at Springvale village, is now missing. He left his office one morning some two weeks since, without any previous notice, was seen in Great Falls on the same day, and and has not since been heard from. His friends are much concerned for his welfare.—Saco Democrat.

A STRIKE.—The firemen of Concord, attached to several Engines, on Monday evening last, disbanded, because the city would not pay what they deemed a fair compensation for their services. They have heretofore been paid $2 each man per year and 25 cents an hour while in actual service at fires. But this is not satisfactory to the firemen; they demand $5 each per year, 25 cents an hour while at fires, and 25 cents for attending each monthly meeting during the summer.

The Patriot says:

We do not know anything about the merits of the dispute between the firemen and the Government, but we think the firemen should be paid liberally. If it is important to the citizens to have an organized and efficient fire department, they ought to be willing to pay for it. The labor of the fireman is no boy's play; those who object to paying him his price, would not take his place for three times the amount. "The laborer is worthy of his hire," and no one more richly deserves liberal pay than the firemen, and we do not think the demands of our firemen are unreasonable.

A QUADRUPED CHICKEN.—Mr. Sereno H. Perry of this city, showed us on Saturday a chicken about a week old, which nature had endowed with a double apparatus for walking, or, in other words, a chicken with four legs. It seemed to derive very little advantage from the innovation upon the ordinary way of making up chickens, and we presume that the fashion will not be generally adopted by the Shanghais in this vicinity.—Worcester Spy.

WHAT BECOMES OF ALL THE VESSELS.—The English official returns just published, show that during the year 1853, no less than 569 sailing vessels and 12 steamers, together of 120,715 tons, were wrecked. This aggregate loss amounts to about 11 shipwrecks a week during the year. The returns also state that in the same time, 69 sailing vessels and 15 steamers, with an united tonnage of 5221, were broken up on account of age.

The people of Russell county, Va., in public meeting, have passed resolutions against the small note law, and represent it to be a nuisance, and as worthy to sleep upon the statute book. Magistrates, Clerks of the Court, Prosecuting Attorneys, &c., took part in the meeting.—Portsmouth Va. Transcript.

DR. ORDWAY'S

HUMOR DISCOVERY,

AND BLOOD PURIFIER.

DR. ORDWAY has been using his Blood Purifier in his practice for the last seven years with great success. He has often been urged by his friends and those who have tried it, and know its efficacy, to put it within the reach of all. He has now added to it an Herb, discovered in California, by Dr. KELLEY, which makes it the most wonderful remedy for

HUMORS OF ALL KINDS,

LIVER COMPLAINTS AND CHRONIC DISEASES.

The virtues of this Herb were first made known to Dr. Kelley by an Indian, while attending a patient, sick with that terrible disease, the California Erysipelas and Liver Complaint—the effect was miraculous—curing the man in a few days. The natives, when bitten by a rattlesnake, or rabid animal, resort to this Herb for a cure.—Hundreds are taking this medicine, after trying in vain other remedies, and say that the half was never told them.

If you have Erysipelas, 3 to 5 bottles will cure it.
If you have Scrofula, 3 to 7 bottles will cure it.
Three to six bottles will cure Salt Rheum.
One or two bottles will cure Pimples on the Face.
Two or three bottles will cure Scaly Eruptions and Scald Head
One to three bottles will cure Nursing Sore Mouth
One to three bottles will cleanse the system of Biles.
Two to five bottles will cure Rheumatism.
Three to four bottles will cure old running Sores and Ulcers.
One or two bottles will cure Barber's Itch.
One to three bottles will cure Canker in the mouth and bowels.

For Liver Complaints and Jaundice.

Its effects are new and wonderful, removing obstructions from the Liver, open the pores of the skin, carrying of the morbid matter, relieving the side, and all-gone feelings of the stomach; and removing low spirits and despondency, which is the result of this disagreeable and often fatal disease.

FOR DYSPEPSIA

A fair trial will convince you that there is nothing like it.

FOR CANCEROUS HUMORS.

It is the surest remedy ever offered. One widow lady in Lawrence, has been troubled with Cancer for years, by taking two bottles says she is now quite well.

FOR COSTIVENESS.

One gentleman says that it was the only medicine that cured him.

FOR KIDNEY DIFFICULTIES.

It is spoken of in the highest terms. A young man was sick so much with Asthma that he had to leave College; three bottles cured him, and he has now resumed his studies. One lady in Salem was perfectly cured of Periodical Sick Headache, by the use of two bottles. Mr. Williams, of Lawrence, had humors in his eyes for years, and was cured by the use of the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier. For Chills and Fever, Mercurial Diseases, Taints in the System, it stands unrivalled; sometimes where the system is much deranged it will cause disagreeable feelings at first, but continue its use as indications favorable. It is purely vegetable, and its compound and proportions are such that the effect is perfectly satisfactory and safe.

This invaluable Cough Remedy is for the complete cure of Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Influenza, Whooping Cough, pains in the side and breast, hacking or tickling at the throat, spitting blood, tightness across the lungs and chest, and all Lung Complaints leading to Consumption.

No medicine yet discovered has that decided effect in curing Bronchia affections as the Cough Destroyer. It can be taken by all ages and classes, from a child six months old to the oldest man or woman, with the most happy results.

PRICE 50 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Dr. Ordway's Pain Destroyer.

This preparation is composed of a great variety of Extracts, Gums, Essential Oils, most of which have not heretofore been united and compounded into their present form. It will cure attacks of Cramps of the Stomach, Spasms, Convulsions, Faintings, Pain in the Stomach, Bowels, Side, Back, Limbs, and a great variety of other difficulties. It is also invaluable as an external remedy. It will be found to contain nearly double the strength of any similar article, and possesses properties heretofore unknown. No family should be without it for a single day.

PRICE 25, 37½ AND 50 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

Use Dr S. D. Howe's

Hygeian, Hoarhound, Liverwort and Asparagus

COUGH CANDY.

Warranted free from Mercury, Opium, or any Mineral Ingredient. It injures no one, but benefits all.

Relief guaranteed in five minutes.

NEVER, since the Science of Medicine first dawned upon the World, has any compound gained such extraordinary popularity, in so short a time as DR. HOWE'S Hygeian, Hoarhound and Liverwort COUGH CANDY, in curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Difficulty of Breathing, Bleeding at the Lungs, Pain in the Side and Breast, Sore Throat, Cramp, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Hoarseness or any other Symptom of that distressing malady, Consumption.

A host of Certificates can be presented, but the following from Rev. J. M. Trimble, Presiding Elder of the Cincinnati District M. E. Church, must satisfy all of the beneficial results of the use of this Cough Candy.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 25, 1847.

DR. HOWE—Sir: I gave your Howe's Cough Candy and have found it a pleasant remedy for Hoarseness, and believe that public speakers troubled with diseases of the throat would find benefit from its use. J. M. TRIMBLE.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Chilblings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built House, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two sculleries, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equal-distant from the markets, factories and railroads. Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the north end. It is centrally located between the different ship-yards in that section of the city, each tenement will be sold separately if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lowd and is in good order. Attached to it is a lot of land large enough for a Stable or for another dwelling house. It would make a good place for the residence of a person employed at the ship-yards across the river, or at the Navy Yard.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 47 Bow street.—This house has been built but a few years, is well finished off, and is very convenient. In the rear is quite a large garden spot. This would be a desirable place for a person employed at the ship-yards, or at the Navy Yard nearly opposite.

Also, for sale, a BUILDING LOT, on Mount Vernon street, (opposite No. 2,) with a small building thereon, which can be finished off into a Dwelling house.

All of the above property will be sold on liberal terms if applied for soon. For further particulars apply to JOSEPH M. EDMONDS,

MORNING CHRONICLE.

BY MILLERS & GRAY. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., FRIDAY, MAY 5, 1854. VOLUME 4. NO. 80.

THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE
is published by
FRANK W. MILLER, SAMUEL GRAY, & THOS. W. MILLER,
At No. 4 Exchange Buildings,
Pleasant Street,.....PORTSMOUTH, N. H.
TERMS $4 a year, or $3 if paid strictly in advance.

The Weekly Chronicle,
A family newspaper, containing the news of the week, with carefully selected miscellany, &c., is published every Saturday morning—at $1 a year in advance.

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three insertions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.

☞ All accounts settled semi-annually.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING promptly executed.

LONDON ORTHOPŒDIC HOSPITAL.—We observe in a late London paper a notice of an anniversary dinner, subscription £1 1s. in aid of the funds of the Royal Orthopœdic hospital in London, for the cure of club foot, lateral curvature of the spine, and other contractions and deformities. This is a benevolent institution under the patronage of the Queen and Prince Albert, and it is supported by private subscriptions from a large list of persons, a subscription of £1 1s. constituting a right of membership, and the payment of £10 10s. constitutes the subscriber a governor of the institution for life. The following statement is given of the extent of the relief which has been afforded by this institution.

This Hospital has cured and relieved nearly 15,000 cripples, upwards of 700 are now under treatment, and 200 more are waiting to be received, whose admission must be deferred, owing to the want of funds and accommodation. A fund for the erection of a larger hospital has been commenced, but it is very far from being sufficient for the purpose. The Committee earnestly solicit the affluent and benevolent to visit the Hospital, and to contribute to it as they may find it deserving of support.

The number of fresh applications on the last admission day was 55.

We publish this notice for the purpose of giving some idea of the number of defects and infirmities of these descriptions which call for charitable aid in affording the relief of which they are susceptible, provided it is proffered in due season; and also for the purpose of informing our readers that there is a charitable institution of this description in Boston, which has already relieved many patients, and which needs further patronage to render it far more extensively useful. We do not recommend the expedient of a public dinner as the most eligible method of obtaining aid to this charity in Boston, for we think that many more of our citizens would subscribe directly for the promotion of so commendable a charity, than for a public dinner.—Boston Advertiser.

INTERESTING PRESENTATION.—We are pleased to record that our esteemed old friend, Mrs. Partington, has been presented with a new corn broom by her grocer, as a mark of esteem for the prompt manner in which she has paid up her bills. The presentation was made in the front part of the shop, amid a crowd of orange baskets and sugar barrels, and the ceremonial was marked by peculiar interest, as was the skirt of Mrs. Partington's bombazine dress with an estray puff of flour. The grocer, handing the broom at arm's length over the counter, addressed her—his eyes filled with tears and his mouth filled with half an orange—as follows:

"Take the broom, mem, and with it the assurance of my distinguished consideration." Mrs. Partington took the broom in her fingers, and, with evident satisfaction, said, at the same time looking at Ike, who was peering wistfully into the orange basket, "I thank you for the broom, and I shall never fail to forget the doughnut."

She meant donor, and Ike said she did say so, but the grocer, who was a gross man, thought differently. The broom, on one side of the handle, bears on a small square piece of paper the inscription, "Half doz. corn brooms, made and warranted by the Harvard Society, and for sale by grocers generally;" on the other—nothing at all. The gift was a beautiful tribute of groceries to worth, and the story which afterwards 'got round,' that she had paid two York shillings for the broom, and that the presentation was all a sham, was an outrageous libel, that had its origin in the meanest envy.—Boston Post.

HONEST JOHN DAVIS.

We have great respect for the memory of this noble man. The Boston Atlas truly speaks of him, as a man of firmness and true moral courage in any great exigency.

One remarkable instance of this occurred at the commencement of the Mexican war. The bill declaring that war existed by the act of Mexico, had passed the House with but fourteen dissenting voices. It came to the Senate and was sustained, not only by the friends of the administration, but by the very men with whom Mr. Davis had been in the habit of acting. He was told that opposition to the bill would be injurious to his popularity, and hence he was advised to vote for the measure. But on a question of that magnitude, involving as it did the peace of the country, he was not to be deterred by any personal consideration from what he believed to be his duty. He declared that he would vote against it, if he stood alone. Acting on this high moral principle, he did vote against the measure, though only one was found willing to stand by him.

☞ Seventy six slaves arrived at Baltimore on Saturday, from Kentucky and Missouri, for the purpose of embarking on Monday next for Liberia.

HEAVY VERDICT.—The jury in the case of Southwick vs. the City of Boston, in the Supreme Court, gave a verdict of twelve thousand dollars to the plaintiff for injury sustained by falling into a cellar door-way in Congress square. Juries seem to be determined to give large verdicts against cities and corporations in cases where individuals receive injury.—There are at least five hundred places in Boston equally dangerous with the one on which this action was based. These places are clearly illegal, and the city authorities in times past have made many efforts to close them up. But the cupidity of the owners has prevented the complete enforcement of the city ordinances in this particular.

The railing about the place into which Mr. Southwick fell was but 27 inches in height. There was no light, and the entrance to the opening was not closed, as the law required. The Supreme Court has decided in a similar case, that the city can recover from the person in charge of the building where injury has been sustained from any defect in the sidewalk. The premises complained of are owned by the National Insurance Company, and leased to the proprietors of the Traveller.—The stairway leads to the press room of that establishment—Transcript.

RECTIFIED RECTIFICATIONS.—The National Intelligencer, in allusion to the paragraph of the Newburyport Herald, relative to a conviction of treason in the United States, points out that John Fries was tried in the Circuit Court of the United States for Pennsylvania and not in the Supreme Court; that he was convicted of treason and sentenced to death, not under the sedition act, but under the act of 1790, for opposing the collection of the internal revenue of the United States; and that the sedition act did not provide for the crime of treason, nor in any case impose the penalty of death, but punished certain misdemeanors with fine and imprisonment.—Fries was pardoned by President John Adams. The material fact that a conviction for treason has been had in the United States remains as yet undisputed.—Boston Adv.

BRITISH SEAMEN.—Mr. Barclay, the British Consul at New York, has addressed a note to the Collector, in which he says: "A report having been circulated in the United States to the effect that if British born seamen should return to their native country they would be pressed into Her Majesty's service, which report may prove injurious to American shipping, by preventing such seamen from serving on board ships bound to British ports, I take leave to acquaint you officinilly that no steps whatever have been taken by the British Government for a forced levy of seamen."

A writer in the Southern Times says that shaving the beard came in with the doctrine of transubstantiation, taught by Peter Lombard, Anno 1160, and established by Pope Innocent III., in the council of Lateran, in the year 1200. The reason of this shaving was, lest any hairs of the beard might touch the body or blood of Christ, (the wine or bread) or lest any crumb of the bread, or drop of the wine, might fall upon or stick to the beard.

Robert Brookhouse, Esq., of Salem, has recently purchased the Crowninshield estate, at the head of Derby wharf, and proposes to give it for a Sailor's home, if donations can be obtained sufficient to keep it in operation for that purpose. It is a fine large house, in a healthy location, which originally cost some $30,000, but in the depreciation of property is now valued atless than $6,000.

WOLF IN SHEEP'S CLOTHING.

The Rochester, N. Y. Advertiser gives the following account of the career of a great rascal who has been committing depredations upon the community for some time past. We give it the benefit of our circulation, and hope it will be copied all round, so as to get the rascal caught and caged, and also to compel him to disgorge his ill-gotten booty. The people of Henniker ought to describe his person with minuteness and accuracy, and send the description abroad in a paragraph which would circulate in the newspapers.

Last autumn, there appeared in Henniker, N. H., a man calling himself Rev. G. N. Adams, about 35 years of age, whose professed object was to stir up the people of that section of the Granite State to a proper sense of the value of religion, education and temperance. He represented himself as a clergyman in the M. E. Church in regular standing, and exhibited credentials, forged, of course, to that effect.

At meetings for prayer he was particularly exercised; but, with all his devotion to spiritual affairs, he did not wholly lose sight of worldly ones, since he soon commenced paying his addresses to a daughter of the resident Congregational minister of the place, whose affections he won, and whose peace of mind and reputation he succeeded in destroying. To do this, however, he had promised marriage to his victim, and made ostentatious preparations for the nuptial ceremonies.—While he was thus pursuing his schemes of villainy, he affected great abstemiousness in diet—was much troubled with dyspepsia, but took care to make frequent visits to Concord, where he made ample amends for his abstinence by a free indulgence in champagne and oysters.

While thus engaged, he became acquainted with Mrs. Emma G. Templeton, whose husband and one child were killed at the Norwalk bridge catastrophe in May. For this sad bereavement she was awarded $5000 by the railroad company, and word was sent that the money would be paid in the city of New York. Of course a circumstance like this would not be likely to escape the cognizance of so busy a man as the "Rev. G. N. Adams," and he volunteered his services in getting the money. The necessary papers for this purpose were made out, and away went the volunteer to New York, where he drew the money, put it in his pocket, and suddenly disappeared from public view—thus robbing a lone widow of nearly all her reliance for subsistence, and leaving behind a duped young woman exposed to the pitiless peltings of an unforgiving world.

The Sunday preceding his departure, he officiated in one of the pulpits in Henniker, and in his selection of texts seems to have copied somewhat from a performance known as the Life of Stephen Burroughs. He selected as a text for his morning's discourse Numbers 32d chapter and last clause of the 23d verse: "And be sure your sin will find you out." This doubtless was designed to strike home to the heart of the woman whom he had ruined, and was about to abandon. In the afternoon he grew waggish, as his selection of a text would seem to imply. It was found in John, 8th chapter, 21st verse: "I go my way, and ye shall seek me." No doubt he thought this an excellent joke to perpetrate upon those who had so kindly dealt by him.

The graceless scoundrel embodies in himself a varied and deeply dyed history. His father was a resident of Chautauque county, highly respected by the community in which he dwelt. But it was his misfortune to have one son—the rascal in question—who gave early indications of an infamous manhood, which his subsequent acts have but too fully verified. He served a term of three years and a half in the State Prison for counterfeiting, and on his enlargement got married to a woman named Smith, and who was residing in Chautauque county at the time her husband was at his labors in New Hampshire. He is a pompous, brazen-faced scoundrel, and was last seen in Castleton, Vt.

Slavery, in its Present Aspects and Realities.—This is a Fast Day Sermon, delivered by Wm. A. Stearns, D. D. of Cambridge, Mass. and is for sale by J. S. Harvey & Son, of this city.

The text taken is the Golden Rule, Matt. 7:12; and the author, though exceedingly conservative, yet brings out a strong array of facts and arguments against slavery as a system, and against the dishonest political shuffling which is so commonly adopted in apology or defence of the system. It is an able performance.

The Dublin Freeman says: Owen Duffy of Monaghan county, is 122 years old. When 116, he lost his second wife, and subsequently married a third, by whom he had a son and daughter. His youngest son is 2 years old, his eldest 90. He still retains in much vigor his mental and corporeal faculties, and frequently walks to the country town, a distance of eight miles.

For the Morning Chronicle.

Joachim Murat, once King of Naples, who married the sister of Napoleon Bonaparte, attempting to regain his lost power over Naples, was shot by twelve soldiers, per order, in 1815. He suffered the same fate to which he himself several years before had consigned 100 Spaniards at Madrid, who were guilty of no other crime than that of having bravely defended their country; and by the application of a law to his own case, which he had introduced to check the attempts of the Bourbons to regain the throne which he had usurped. His death affords a memorable instance of the moral retribution, which, even in this world, often attends great deeds of iniquity.—Alison's History of Europe 1,267.

Both ancient and modern history prove, that the prophetic declaration of Noah to his sons, has been, thus far, fulfilled. Murderers do not always meet precisely the same fate, but their life is full of misery, and their end tragic. Most of the cruel Roman Emperors, who had shed blood, were assassinated. We are accustomed to look with horror upon the individual who commits one murder, but upon the man who slays thousands, as a hero. Dr. Portens, in his poem on death, says, "One murder made a villain, Millions a hero."

Just at this time, there is some excitement in Kentucky, and perhaps some other places, because Ward shot down Mr. Butler, a teacher of youth. But those kinds of murder are not unfrequent in the land where gentlemen go armed with pistols and bowie knives. Where this chivalrous practice is tolerated, we must expect frequent murders. It is but a few years since that one of the professors of a college was shot by the trained up son of a southern gentleman, because the professor reproved his pupil for some improper conduct. There is not, perhaps, a day in the year, when one or more human beings are not either stabbed or shot down by the bearers of pistols and bowie knives. When a low or humble individual kills a gentleman, unless he escapes he will soon be hanged, or executed in a summary mode. But if a gentleman kills a gentleman, there is generally a trial and an acquittal.

REMOVAL OF STATE PAUPERS.—The work of removing this class of paupers from the institution at Deer Island, Boston, was commenced on Wednesday morning, and 200 were despatched by railroad to the new State Alms House at Tewksbury. About another hundred only will probably go to the same place.

The Transcript learns that quite a large proportion of the inmates are at their own request being furnished with certificates of discharge, in the hope that, as the employment season has opened, they may be able to provide for themselves, at least until winter.—With the drainage by both these courses the number finally left at Deer Island will be quite small.

We think the best way to relieve foreign paupers, is to put them on the farm and make them dig their bread out of the ground.

"A GRAND SPECTACLE OF MISERY."—The New York Courier and Enquirer, in noticing the visit of the legislature to the charitable institutions of New York on Saturday, states that 6,000 paupers are constantly supported from the city treasury, besides supplies to out door poor, and exclusive of the benefactions administered by the commissioners of emigration, at an annual expense of from $300,000 to $400,000. The amount expended in buildings last year for carrying out these mammoth charity institutions amounted to $520,000.

The 6,000 paupers above referred to, are the proper and inevitable product of supporting the Large Beer Holes, and small beer holes, the elegant drinking houses and the vulgar tippling shops with which New York is so abundantly supplied. So long as the cause is kept up, the effect must follow. New York has 515,000 inhabitants; therefore 6000 paupers give 114 for every 10,000 people. A very large and burdensome tax indeed.

JANE TRAINER, AGAIN.—New York papers of Wednesday, say that the Trainer Case was decided in the Kings Co. Circuit Court, the Jury finding $500 damages for the plaintiff against Rose Porter for the abuction of plaintiff's daughter, which created some interest about fifteen months since.

We remember that at the time of the former trial, a great deal of patriotic feeling was expressed in some papers, and by some noted political bullies, in favor of this same Rose Porter, who having sold the mother of Jane Trainer, meant also to sell or keep the daughter. The decision then was, that Jane was delivered to her father, who is a free colored man. Now this new decision gives him damages of $500, and of course makes her pay the costs.

Last February, two colored children were suddenly missed from Newport, and it was apprehended that they had been murdered or kidnapped and sold into slavery. Their step father was arrested on suspicion, and extensive inquiries were instituted, but without any success. On Monday, the body of one of the boys was found floating in the dock, and, it was rumored, with marks of violence.—Prov. Journal.

Dr. Hayward, the Maine Law candidate in Washington, D. C., is elected Mayor of that city by 170 majority over John A. Alderdis, Whig.

LOCAL.

CITY COUNCIL.

In the Board of Aldermen, on Thursday evening, the Mayor read a communication, recommending a consideration of the purchase by the city of the present location of the North Church; the communication was referred to the committee on Public Buildings, to which the Mayor was added.

A gas light was asked for at the corner of Fleet and Congress streets—referred.

F. W. Rogers applied for the privilege of using the city land in rear of Market, to store old lumber—leave to withdraw.

A. Q. Wendell, of School Committee for Dist. No. 3, sent in a communication representing that the seats in the Haven School were very inconvenient and required alteration — referred to Committee on School Houses.

A petition asking the acceptance of Dover street by the city was referred to Committe on Streets.

The Dog ordinance was amended by making the fine $2, instead of $5, and then passed.

The Methodist society offered their bell to the city—accepted. [Hereafter that bell will be rung instead of the Temple bell.]

In Common Council, a petition was offered, signed by R. O. Treadwell and 99 others, asking the passage of an ordinance to restrain dogs from going at large without muzzles. The petition was referred to a special committee.

The Committee reported an ordinance, and on suspension of rules it was passed. The ordinance provided that the owners of dogs which shall be found without a muzzle shall be liable to a fine of $5, and that the Marshall and his assistants be directed to kill all dogs found without such respirator; to take effect May 10—sent up for concurrence.

[The above paragraph was in type before we saw the official document. By the provisions of the second paragraph of the bill, it is made the duty of the Marshals to kill every dog, muzzled or not; which provision, in the minds of the committee, was probably not intended.]

City Ordinance, No. 37.

AN ORDINANCE in relation to Dogs.

Be it Ordained by the City Council of the City of Portsmouth, as follows:—If any owner or keeper of any dog shall suffer such dog to be at large within the limits of Portsmouth without a wire muzzle, well secured, he shall forfeit and pay therefor a fine of two dollars for each offence to the use of the city, to be recovered before the Police Court upon due complaint, which it is hereby made the duty of the City Marshal to make or cause to be made.

And it is hereby made the duty of the City Marshal and the Assistant Marshals to kill or cause to be killed any dog found within the limits of this city and not on the premises of the owner or keeper thereof.

Any person may lawfully kill any dog found within the limits of this city going at large in violation of the provisions of this ordinance.

This ordinance shall take effect from and after the 10th day of May instant.

JOHN BENNETT, City Clerk.

Passed May 4th, 1854.

☞ GRAND JURORS.—At a meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Thursday, Messrs. Robert Gray and William Marvin were drawn as Grand Jurors, to serve in the United States Circuit Court, at the term commencing next Monday.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

We hope that none of our citizens will lose an opportunity of witnessing "Uncle Tom's Cabin," at the Cameneum. It is admirably represented by Mann & Co., and we will acknowledge that we have never passed an evening more agreeably than beholding the super-excellent performance of little Emma as Eva, particularly, and the good acting of the whole Troupe generally. It is very seldom we can chronicle the performance of so good a company in our city, and they rightly deserve the patronage of our citizens. A. B.

Below will be found some lines addressed to La Petite Emma, as Eva, which we have cut from the Westfield News Letter.

Lovely she seems like a spirit of light,
On a mission of mercy sent;
A promising, pardoning, Angel sprite,
Invested with Heaven's intent.
Sweet, sweet are the tones of her gentle voice
As they fall on the listening ear,
Luring the sensitive soul to rejoice
In its haven of happiness near.
Oh, divine is the azure tint of her eye
And enchanting her seraphic smile,
As her glance is upturned to the Saviour on high,
In her prayers for the lowly and vile.
Like the dews of the Summer the teardrops will fall,
As her song to her father is heard,
Whilst a feeling of ecstacy steals over all,
And in silence they treasure each word.
Oh, mournful the moment when wrestling with death,
She is called her sweet mission to cease;
And gentle the sigh as she yields her last breath,
With a vision of love, joy and peace.
Like Eva, dear Emma, thy innocent day
Is a sunbeam of hope to the heart,
And thy smile is a beacon to guide us the way
To the home where we never shall part.

THE FISHERY QUESTION.—By despatches from Mr. Buchanan, it is understood that there is little if any chance of a treaty with regard to the Fishery question being entered into this Spring.

Admiral Seymour's squadron has been withdrawn from the fishing grounds, and Mr. Crampton is authorized to enter into provisional arrangements, so as to prevent disputes the coming season.

Our government desire the recognition of neutral rights by treaty, but the British ministry are adverse to negotiation.

WASHINGTON, May 3.

SENATE.—In the Senate, numerous petitions were presented.

Mr. Petit, one of the Judiciary Committee, to whom was referred the resolution directing inquiry as to the propriety of having the United States Statutes revised, corrected and collated, reported that it was inexpedient to legislate on the subject.

Several territorial bills were received from the House, and referred.

The bill confirming pre-emption rights to lands in the Madison Rouge grant in Louisiana, passed last week, was reconsidered and again passed.

The Indian Appropriation bill was taken up. A message was received from the President, vetoing the land bill for the indigent insane.

HOUSE.—Mr. Walloy of Massachusetts presented a petition from the executive of Massachusetts and 370 persons, mostly members of its Legislature, asking for the establishment of floating schools for the training of seamen. Also, the petition of the Mayor of Boston, and from two to three hundred others, asking that members of the army may be confined to their military duties, and that civil works may be placed under the control of civil superintendents. Both were referred.

Mr. Florence said the Committee on Naval Affairs had under their consideration a project for establishing floating schools for the education of seamen.

The House went into Committee of the Whole and resumed the consideration of the bill establishing the office of Surveyor General in New Mexico, and granting lands to actual settlers therein.

NEW YORK, May 3.—The steamer Black Warrier, from Havana on the evening of the 28th ult., has arrived. She was treated with marked courtesy by the officials at Havana, and her manifest accepted without comment. She brings over 100 passengers, but no news of importance. The health of the island was good.

PENNSYLVANIA.—The Legislature of this state has passed an act limiting the work of minors absolutely to ten hours per day. An attempt to stipulate that those over sixteen years of age might contract to work eleven hours was sanctioned by the Senate, but the House refused to concur, and the Senate receded. The Senate's test vote stood—yeas 18, nays 13. On the final passage—yeas 27, nays 4.

A despatch from Harrisburg, dated May 3, states that Gov. Bigler is quite sick, and confined to his bed. He was attacked on Saturday, and the disease is said to be congestion of the lungs. He was able to sign but one bill to-day, and that by a great effort, leaving a large number of bills unsigned.

HEAVY VERDICT.—The Springfield Republican states that the referees to whom was referred the disputed claim of Boody, Ross & Harris, contractors, against the New Haven and New London Railroad, and who have been in session lately at New Haven, have awarded $34,721 to the claimants. The latter once offered to take $30,000 and settle.—The claim was for unpaid services in the construction of the road, and the referees by whom its merits were passed upon, were Capt. Wm. P. Parrott, Col. C. I. Slaughter, and Judge Allen of Boston.

RUN ON THE BLACKSTONE BANK.—A sharp run on this bank occurred on Tuesday, a story being circulated that it was unsound, after the manner of the Cochituate. The supply of specie however, far exceeded the demand, there having been $350,000 in the vaults. But a few thousands were drawn.—There was not the slightest foundation, as we are assured, for the report. The bank is in the soundest condition.—Boston Herald.

THE GARDINER CASE.—John Charles Gardiner, brother of the Gardiner of Mexican claim notoriety, who committed suicide at Washington, has forfeited his bail ($12,000) and left the country, it is said for Cuba. He was indicted for perjury in connection with the Gardiner fraud.

CONVICTION.—Moses A. Pierce has been convicted at New Haven of having forged affidavits to support a claim against the United States for pension money, and sentenced to two years in the state prison. Pierce is about forty-six years of age, and has been a man of property and standing. His relations are very respectable, and a strong interest was manifested in his behalf.

STRONG LANGUAGE FROM A LOYAL SUBJECT.—There is some excitement in Canada, arising from a speech from the bench made by Mr. Justice Mondelet, on the day appointed by the Queen for humiliation and prayer in consequence of the war. The bartonnier, or president of the bar, suggested that the court should adjourn in observance of the day.—The judge said that the army was a parcel of murderers; for his part he did not care which party got their throats cut, and he would never consent to an adjournment to pray for such people. Mr. Bedwell, a member of the bar, remarked that if the gallant soldiers who had gone out to fight the just battles of their country were murderers, then much more were their officers and leaders murderers, the British Parliament and Ministers also,—nay, the Queen herself, who declared war, was a murderess, and if so, to pray for their success was blasphemy. To this Mr. Justice Mondelet responded, "So they are: so it is!" Audible groans and hisses were for the first time heard in the court. The members of the bar were unanimous in asking for the adjournment, and the court was adjourned. The judge in his opposition to a church of England fast day, was probably led to use stronger language than he intended.—Boston Adv.

A TAME RAT.—A pet rat is the strangest of ideas, yet it is most fully realized in one belonging to and educated by Mr. Aaron How, jr., of this city. The little animal is harmless, playful and devotedly attached to its master. It will run about his clothes, mount his shoulders, steal into his pockets, and perform various simple tricks at his bidding. The animal avoids others of its species, and seems perfectly contented and happy in its new life.—Springfield Repub.

AUGUSTUS JENKINS, Clerk of B. E.

Portsmouth, May 1, 1854. m2 4t

A couple of prisoners in the Johnstown, Ia., jail, last week, perpetrated a good joke upon their jailor. They cut a hole through the ceiling, then through the roof, and at night made their escape. In the morning the jailor entered to give them breakfast, when he found but one of his pets on hand; the other two had vanished. The jailer asked him why he wasn't gone, too. He said he was guilty of no offence, and wouldn't slope. The joke of the affair was, that on Tuesday morning, Hester, one of the missing, returned to his quarters, saying he had simply gone out home to change his shirt, bearing a message from the other chap that he, too, would be back soon. Sure enough, he did return—he was only out to "get a drink!"

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, was discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humors) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hams and has's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, scrawny looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new creature. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever was listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs.—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns.

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. In the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to cease the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

Have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from eight to twelve years, tea spoonful. This direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

COUGH CANDY.

Warranted free from Mercury, Opium, or any Mineral Ingredient. It injures no one, but benefits all.

Relief guaranteed in five minutes.

NEVER, since the Science of Medicine first dawned upon the World, has any compound gained such extraordinary popularity, in so short a time as DR. HOWE'S Hygeian, Hoarhound and Liverwort COUGH CANDY, in curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Difficulty of Breathing, Bleeding at the Lungs, Pain in the Side and Breast, Sore Throat, Cramp, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Hoarseness or any other Symptom of that distressing malady, Consumption.

A host of Certificates can be presented, but the following from Rev. J. M. Mitchell, Presiding Elder of the Cincinnati District M. E. Church, must satisfy all of the beneficial results of the use of this Cough Candy.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 25, 1847.

DR. HOWE—Sir: I have used Howe's Cough Candy and have found it a pleasant remedy for Hoarseness, and believe that public speakers troubled with diseases of the throat would find benefit from its use. J. M. TRIMBLE.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 76 state Street, oppo. Kilby street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case it fails to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any, persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents."

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two sculleries, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the markets, factories and railroads. Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons desiring to rent at the north end. It is centrally located between the different ship-yards in that section of the city. each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 2 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lowd and is in good order. Attached to it is a lot of land large enough for a Stable or for another dwelling house. It would make a good place for the residence of a person employed at the shipyards across the river, or at the Navy Yard.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 47 Bow street.—This house has been built but a few years, is well finished off, and is very convenient. In the rear is quite a large garden spot. This would be a desirable place for a person employed at the shipyards, or at the Navy Yard nearly opposite.

Also, for sale, a BUILDING LOT, on Mount Vernon street, (opposite No. 2,) with a small building thereon, which can be finished off into a Dwelling house.

All of the above property will be sold on liberal terms, if applied for soon. For further particulars apply to JOSEPH M. EDMONDS,

MORNING CHRONICLE.

BY MILLERS & GRAY. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., SATURDAY, MAY 6, 1854. VOLUME 4. NO. 81.

THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE
is published by
FRANK W. MILLER, SAMUEL GRAY, & THOS. W. MILLER,
At No. 4 Exchange Buildings,
Pleasant Street,.....PORTSMOUTH, N. H.
TERMS $4 a year, or $3 if paid strictly in advance.

The Weekly Chronicle,
A family newspaper, containing the news of the week, with carefully selected miscellany, &c., is published every Saturday morning—at $1 a year in advance.

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three insertions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.

☞ All accounts settled semi-annually.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING promptly executed.

THE SLAVE SHIP.—The slaver Glamorgan lies at the Navy Yard, near the northern ship houses. Men were engaged Tuesday in stripping off her sails. She is a small vessel, not more than 200 tons register. She spreads a great deal of sail for so small a vessel—is quite shallow in her build—and, as we understand, has proved herself quite a smart sailer.

The slave deck, which will be the principal witness against her, is still in the vessel as it was when she was taken. It is a layer of plank, roughly laid upon such heavy stores as are stowed away in her hold, and is actually not more than three feet in any part, below the main deck of the vessel. No light penetrates it, except from the open hatch. It is of course impossible to assume any but a crouching, sitting or lying attitude in it; and the small size of the vessel renders the low apartment thus formed particularly noisome and terrible. Upon this deck slaves are packed as closely as possible, in a space where it would be really impossible to move to and fro any bales of heavy merchandise.

There are peculiarities in the outfit and rig of the Glamorgan which indicates that she has been in the Brazilian trade, even were there no direct evidence to this point.

The Earl of Glamorgan, (the celebrated Marquis of Worcester) for whom this vessel was named, was sent by Charles I. into Ireland with one set of secret instructions, and another public set, to make a treaty with the Irish Catholics. He happened to be detected, his purposes defeated, and he imprisoned for his effort to sail under false colors. His namesake has found the business equally unprofitable.—Boston Adv.

New York possesses many remarkable characters—remarkable for every diverse reasons, but generally their eccentricity. We have one in mind, a Madame DeL., who is now probably sixty years old, and lives apparently in extreme destitution, in the garret of the house she owns. She pays taxes on $14,000 of real estate, and $1,100 personal property, and owns banking and railroad stock to the amount of something like $50,000. In the street, her appearance is well calculated to excite commiseration. Indeed, some kind-hearted individual, a few days ago, benevolently offered her one cent as a gratuity. The insult, however, was resented, as became her insulted honor. Diminutive in stature and decrepid, her head is covered with a hood, slouched and almost perennial. The cloak is well matched and appears to have done good service, as the folds in the cloth are mostly worn to the warp. Her daily food consists of a shilling loaf of bread, which is left at her door regularly, and there is added to this a small portion of meat, or such other food as she sees fit to obtain at the market. Even these small comforts are shared in solitude, in her quiet retreat. The human face divine has no charms for her. Her property naturally descends to a nephew living in Cincinnati, and the old lady's greatest fear is that he will get it.

"The great question which occupies at present the Court of France, is the divorce of the Emperor. He no longer hopes to have any children by his present wife, and it is said he thinks of taking another. The report is not official, but it has appeared in several licensed papers: the truth of it can scarcely be questioned. Napoleon III. is, however, very fond of his wife, and the divorce will resemble in every point that of his uncle and Josephine, who were, as you know, separated for the same reason. Whether from this motive or from any other, the Empress of the French is looking very melancholy. It is impossible to see her without being struck by her expression of sadness. As to the Emperor, he appears constantly calm and impassable."

A SMALL SCHOOL HOUSE IN A GREAT LOCATION.—There is a small school house so situated that it corners on the towns of Rindge and New Ipswich, this State, and Winchendon and Ashburnham, Mass., also upon the counties of Hillsboro' and Cheshire, this State, and Worcester, Mass.—situated in four towns, three counties and two States. What gives the little school house no less distinction than the fact that it is under seven distinct governments, is the other fact, that in that school house Rev. Ephraim K. Avery was preaching at the time he was arrested for the murder of Sarah Maria Cornell, at Fall River. —Manchester Mirror.

The longest pastorate ever held in New England, was by the late Rev. Samuel Nott, D. D. of Franklin, Conn., namely, seventy years; during all but three of which he discharged all the duties of pastor entirely unaided, and lacked but twenty months of one hundred years of age at his death.

NEW METHOD OF LIGHTING CHURCHES.—In the new Reformed Dutch Church in Seventh avenue, between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets, there are arranged in the ceiling, in the form of an ellipse, twenty four gas burners concealed by slides during the day, so that you see no gas fixtures. Behind each of these is a reflector, so adjusted as to throw the light directly upon the heads of the audience. During evening service, the slides being drawn, a most splendid light, rivalling that of Sol himself, fills a room sixty feet wide, seventy five feet long, and thirty five feet high, so that you can see to read with comfort the print of small psalm books, and sing with ease from "minion." The convenience of this arrangement is, no dazzling globe or jet pains your eyes, for there is no light on the pulpit, or on the gallery, or on the side walls of the church.—The comfort is in its agreeableness to the eye, all being reflected from above, and equally diffused, and nobody is able to get in your light. The economy is in the absence of expensive gas fixtures, which are a nuisance during the day, and an eyesore at night, and in the ability to get as much light, and of a better quality, from about one third of the burners that are necessary on the old plan.—This is an improvement worth looking at.—N. Y. Daily Times.

FIRE AND DREADFUL ACCIDENT.—The cottage house at the corner of Myrtle and Broad streets, owned by Gardner T. Swartz and occupied by his son, George Swartz, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. A little son of Mr. Swartz, two and a half years old, was in an upper room, and it appears had obtained some matches. His mother heard him scream, and hastened to the room, when she found the bed on fire, but being blinded by the smoke and bewildered by the confusion and excitement, she could not at first find the child. When she did, the flames had extended so far that she could not escape by the door. She rushed frantically to the window, which she dashed through with her hands and arms, and then throw out her child and jumped after him. She was so shockingly burnt that she is not expected to recover; and the child is also badly injured, though not so desperately as the mother.—Providence Journal.

EPISCOPAL COLLEGE IN CALIFORNIA.—Mr. Thomas G. Larkin, of San Francisco, has made a donation to the Bishop of 640 acres of land for an Episcopal College. The Bishop has selected a site for it in the Sonora Valley, 30 miles from San Francisco, and an application is to be made to the Legislature for a charter of the proposed institution, under the name of "Trinity College of Larkin." It is anticipated that it will be liberally encouraged by donations from other sources.

ALBANY EVENING JOURNAL.—Thurlow Weed, Esq., announces in his paper of the 1st inst., that Mr. Frederick W. Seward will hereafter be associated with him in the editorial department of that able and influential journal. Mr. Seward is the son of the distinguished Senator from New York. He is a young man of fine culture and attainments, and has given many proofs of his ample qualifications as a writer.

THACKERAY.—The London correspondent of the Dublin Telegraph, reports an on dit that Thackeray has given in his adhesion to the Catholic Church. Perhaps he has. We venture to predict that, however devotional he may become, he will heed the feasts of the church rather more than its fasts.—Boston Transcript.

A FLOWER INCIDENT.

"Father won't you give me one of those beautiful flowers," said a bright little fellow the other day, pointing to a bouquet in a vase. "No, I cant, my child," replied the father. "Why?" "Because it would spoil the bunch." "Well father, please do give me one; I would so much admire to have a flower; give me that dear little one with the yellow lines in it." "What will you do with it," said the father. "Why," replied the boy, "I'll smell it, and love it, and put it in a tumbler of water, for myself, and keep it to look at." And so I gave it to him; for he seemed really to love it. As he walked away with it in his tiny fingers, I had many a thought. How spontaneous is boyhood. I would rather, I thought, give that child that flower than to scold him, or chastise him. That flower will mingle itself in his little affections, and must certainly have a redeeming influence upon his little heart. Why did he ask me for it? He said he wanted to smell it, and love it, and put it in a tumbler of water, and keep it to look at. And sure enough, when I went into his little room at night, when he lay dreaming, there was the little flower in the tumbler of water, on a stand, like a little watcher, holding an influence, however unconsciously, over the soul of that little fellow. For who can tell the thought, the feeling, the sympathy, it stirred up in him when I gave it to him, and he took it away to put in a tumbler of water for himself? Give your children flowers.—Flowers and children! What a mingling of the sympathies, which cluster in the breath and the perfume of life! Give the child a flower. Never mind if it does spoil the boquet; it may save the child. For a flower has a lesson of love and beauty that no one can read so well as a child. *

NEAL DOW ON THE MAINE LAW.

PORTLAND, April 7, 1854.

DEAR SIR:—Your letter of the 31st is just received—asking for information in relation to the working of the Maine Law in this State. I have just returned from a Maine Law tour in Connecticut, and find many letters on my table—accumulated during my absence—waiting to be answered; and I cannot therefore, give you much detail in relation to the subject of your inquiry as I would like to do.

The Maine Law has been in operation in the State less than three years, having been approved by the governor June 2d, 1851;—and now it will be unanimously agreed by all disinterested persons, that the quantity of liquor sold or consumed in the State is not one-tenth so much as it was before that time. If I were to say one-twentieth, I think it would be very far within the truth.

The accounts given by letter writers in this State, like that contained in the slips enclosed by you, are false in every particular, except so far as they speak of secret liquor selling in Maine. Liquors in small quantities are smuggled into the State and sold secretly and only in that manner.

Neither in Portland, Bangor, or any other city or town in Maine are there any open grog shops, as there were all over the State before the Maine Law; while in many of the towns the rum traffic has been entirely annihilated. A system like the rum traffic—the growth of centuries, and interwoven with the appetites, passions and interests of all bad men—is not to be overthrown in a day or a year, but will pass away with time and effort.

The friends of Temperance in this State are perfectly satisfied with the results of the law, so far as being much more favorable than they had any right to expect within so short a time; while enemies of our cause hate the law as they would not if it were a failure, as they pretend that it is. If the latter were true, our enemies would make no opposition to the measure; but, as it is, their hostility is the best evidence of its efficiency.

The Maine Law as it now stands is no finality with us. It was thought to be as much as the public opinion of the time would sustain, but now the people are fully committed to the system which was inaugurated by it, and will follow up the measure by additional provisions and penalties, until there shall be no grog shop in Maine either open or secret.—Paragraphs like that you inclosed to me, are constantly going the rounds of the partisan and mercenary press, while we cannot get the contradictions into their columns, either for money or as a matter of favor. But we have always this abiding conviction in our hearts, that if this movement be indeed unwise and unsuited to the needs of society and of the time, it will fall; but if it be in accordance with the will of God, as I believe it is, and calculated to benefit and bless mankind, as it proves itself to be, it cannot be overthrown or resisted, but will pass on to execute its mission.

Very respectfully yours, NEAL DOW.
W. C. THOMPSON, Indianapolis, Ind.

EUREKA!—The editor of the New York Evening Post has found a remedy for the little pest known as bed bugs:

"Many persons complain of being pestered by bed bugs—it is easy to avoid the inconvenience. On going to bed, strip off your shirt, and cover yourself from head to foot with boiled molasses. Let every part of your body be thickly covered with it. On coming to bite you, the bugs will stick fast in the molasses, and then you can kill them in the morning."

This remedy will obviate the necessity for the purchase of the Dead Shot, advertised by our friend Thacher.

RURAL CHURCHES.

Well, "Rural Churches" are certainly very pretty, ease taking, comfort loving sort of places. You get such a fine chance for ruralizing on Sunday; and then the church edifice, every Sunday, has the charm of novelty, for it is so hid away up in a clump of "overshadowing elms," with a long lane, margined by colonnades of elms, and intervening flowers, and intertwining vines, reaching from the road to the church, that you never see it unless you go to it, and that is only once a week.

We have a lover's fondness for nature in all her forms. Especially do we love flowers and leaves, and streams and singing birds. Still we have some radical objections to making a flower pot of the church, or a conservatory, or a summer house, where men and women may go ruralizing once a week to smell flowers, hear singing, and rejoice in the happy adaptations of such appointments to a listless, half-eye open, die-away sort of worship.—What one's "tastes," in this regard, may be, is one thing; what is appropriate, just and right, is another thing.

A "rural church," according to your correspondent, is one "shut out in some degree from the public gaze, in a quiet and retired spot, where the voice of prayer may at all times be heard, undisturbed by the din of worldly tumult," &c. &c. The whole description is a pretty picture, and the thoughts would be a fine ground work for a tolerable pastoral.—But what kind of a rural spot is the corner of Daniel and Penhallow streets? We walked around there, after reading your correspondent:

We looked, and looked, and looked again,
But looked and looked and looked in vain—

for the overshadowing elms where the sunlight is to fall in "fragments through the quivering branches," to deceive the "Old North" parishioners into the belief that they were rich enough to afford "stained glass" to give a "dim religious light, so grateful to the heart of the devout worshipper." By the way, a bright religious light is preferable to a dim one.

Now as to churches being "shut out in some degree from the public gaze," it is to be regretted that this is too much the case already. The church is too much shut out from the world; and the world is too much shut out from the church. Let churches be built where the world passes and repasses, with its busy tread, and its "tumult." A fisherman spreads his net where the fish abound; and he drags his net to the shore ladened with the reward of his toil. We have too many churches out of the world; both buildings and spiritual organizations. So much out of the world that they can scarcely be found when wanted.—Churches should not be out of the world, but out in the world; in the busy, anxious, stormy places of life, full in the "public gaze." There is something grand in the idea of a church edifice rising up in its solemn, sanctifying proportions, right out of the business mart; rearing up its majestic form, like a great peace maker, amid the strife of life's business; pointing with its spire, those who cannot help but see it, toward heaven, and sanctifying the soul and the life with an occasional thought of heaven and eternity while hurrying through this lower world. Plant the churches at road crossings, where the traveller may be reminded, as he pursues his weary journey, of the temple "not made with hands, eternal in the heavens," which looms up at the end of life's journey. Plant the church in the business mart, where men congregate to make money and aggrandize wealth, that they may have an occasional admonition—"Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth." Not up among elm trees and in flower gardens; but out in life; out on the sea coast, where weather beaten mariners of life expect to see light houses.

Now to build the North Church opposite the Post Office, would be to build it opposite to the Custom House. Had your correspondent any idea of bringing the government officers who are there, under "Orthodox influence," when the corner of Daniel and Penhallow streets was proposed as a "rural" locality? No doubt it would be delightful for friend Rundlett of the Post Office, and friend Clement of the Custom House, to look out of their windows, and see the "woodbine twining round the sacred walls" of the North Church, "with its verdure in summer, and its beautiful autumnal tints,"—affording such a "picturesque and tasteful effect." But then unfortunately for our friends, this "corner" is not "rural" enough.

Taste, if that were all to be consulted, would lead the parish to some rural spot. But then there are other considerations. Perhaps such ruralities could not be purchased by us, and orthodox people could hardly afford the expensive luxury of a rural excursion once a week. But most of all; the house will be more useful on the present site. There it is destined to go up, providence permitting.—Just to think of the city clock, and the city bell, hid away up an elm lane, in some rural place, where nobody could see the one, nor hear the other. And then again, every business man, as he passes and repasses from house to business, and from business to house, passes and repasses the church; and comes, more or less, under a good, wholesome, Orthodox influence. There stands the church. Some professional men, merchants, traders are located there, right in the shadow of the North Church, and who can tell what good it has done them hitherto. And then we want the church to be seen. We intend it shall be handsome, attractively, usefully so. Therefore we want it to be seen more than once a week. And though the "present rector, with his poetical tastes, &c.," really loves flowers as a brother loves a sister, yet he can go any where else about this city, where nature is so prodigal of her beauties, and satisfy his soul with rare sights and sounds of nature's fulness. But the church in which he ministers, has perhaps as many thorns as flowers; as many clouds as sunbeams; as many occasions for sorrow as for gladness. Therefore let it be out in the world; and seem to be what it is—a place of toil, earnest, soul engaging toil for the good of all. We'll gather the flowers hereafter. "There remaineth a rest for the people of God." NEW NORTH.

PUTNAM'S MONTHLY FOR MAY.—We have just received a copy of this valuable Monthly, from Federhen & Co., Boston, by J. P. Morse of this city. Fireside Travels is a choice article. The whole contents are of a high character.

DELICIOUS CONFECTIONARY.—Our neighbor Gilbert has our thanks for a liberal sample of new, nice, harmless confectionary, in the shape of Rose and Lemon Gum drops, and Jelly Gum Drops—which last Drop especially is one of the sweetest morsels we ever rolled under our tongue. The Dr. keeps a good assortment. Try those Jelly Drops, all ye lovers of good things, and "if you don't find them nice, we'll eat 'em."

THE RECORD OF DEATHS in Portsmouth, during the Month of April, is as follows:—Males three—aged 2 mos., 24 years, 50 years. Females six—aged 1 mo., 17 yrs., 21, 34, 44, and 73. Total, nine.

HAVEN SCHOOL SEATS.—No fault was found with the seats in the Haven School, by the Committee or otherr, as stated in our report of the City Council. The application to the City Government on Thursday evening was for a trifling alteration in an outbuilding.

Money is a wonderful charmer. Mrs Stevens of Wiscousin, in a letter to a life insurance agent, writes that—"It affords me great pleasure to acknowledge the receipt of $1000, being the amount of a policy effected on the life of my late husband." Then Mrs. Roxa Wiley writes to a similar agent—"It is with heartfelt gratitude that I acknowledge the receipt of the sum of 1000, being the amount of a policy of insurance on the life of my late husband." These are pretty strong expressions on the part of these ladies, and, when it is borne in mind that their joy is the result of the death of their husbands, they are very curious expressions. As well might they have written—"We are mighty glad our husbands are dead, so that we can get a thousand dollars each."—Boston Courier.

We think this conclusion is exactly what logicians call a non sequitier. The gratitude and pleasure of these widows are caused, not by their bereavement in losing good husbands, but by the providence of those good men, providing the little portions now acknowledged, which will do something, in a pecuniary way, to supply the deficit occasioned by the cessation of the husband's earnings.

A physician, who has attended my family and myself, in a season of great sickness, brings in his bill for $50. And when the bill is paid he thanks me. But I turn upon him and say, You are thankful we were all sick, are you? He answers, No; but as you were sick, I am thankful that you employed me, and that I get my pay.

So the widow may be glad, not because her husband died, but as he did die, she is glad of his previous forethought, which now keeps the wolf from her door.

☞ To-Day, Saturday, May 6, is the first anniversary of the dreadful tragedy which occurred on the New York & New Haven Railroad, at Norwalk. Many a heart will weep. Strange is the discipline of life.

The Baltimore American states the cost of St. Paul's Church at $140,000. The woodwork of this church was burnt, May 1, supposed by an incendiary. The walls are standing, and there is an insurance of $20,000.

Fraud has been discovered in the franking privilege at Washington. A packer for two members of Congress, and authorized to use their names for franking documents, has been detected selling franked envelopes at 50cts per hundred. A claim agent purchased a lot, and enclosed eleven hundred circulars to pass through the city post office, when an investigation led to a detection of the fraud. The matter has been compromised.

The whole franking business should be cut up by the roots. But this case has been compromised! This, we presume is Washington fashion.

BRITISH CONSULATE.
Portland, May 4th, 1854.

Sir:—A report having been circulated to the effect, that British seamen, on their return to their country, would be pressed into Her Majesty's service, I am desirous of contradicting the report, and of stating that I have been officially informed that no steps have been taken for a forced levy of seamen.

Should it be in your power to make this known within the limits of your district, you will, Sir, greatly oblige your ob't serv't,
JAMES GRIGNON, H. B. M. Consul.
Collector of Customs, Portsmouth, N. H.

FOREIGN NEWS.

By the steamer Africa at New York, we have Liverpool dates to April 22. A very slight advance, in Wheat, 3d, in Flour 1s, is noted at Liverpool,—in London no change.

Richardson Brothers, agents of the City of Glasgow, say they are not afraid that she is lost; that the ship was perfectly efficient, had water for forty days, and also distilling apparatus, with provisions for sixty five days. She took out 373 passengers.

A treaty of alliance, offensive and defensive, has been signed between Austria and Prussia.

The Africa brings 113 passengers.

PARIS, Friday.—H despatch from Omer Pasha confirms the previous accounts that the Turks were on three different occasions successful against superior forces at the passage of the Danube, but in obedience to orders they retreated on the line of Harasan.

Nothing later is had from the Baltic. It is asserted from Copenhagen that Sweden has positively entered into a secret treaty with Russia, by which an obsolete enactment, forbidding more than four ships at one time to enter a harbor, has been restored, and the same extended to Norway.

The following is from the London Times: "Private letters from Madrid mention the appearance of a very remarkable decree in the Gazette, owing, it is but just to add, to the unremitting zeal and indefatigable energy of Lord Howden, the British Ambassador, and and which announces the intention of the Spanish government to put an end to the slave trade in Cuba, and to give satisfaction to Great Britain. According to the terms of the decree, the slaves are to be immediately registered, after which time any slave found in the island without a copy of his register, containing date, domicile, and description, will be looked upon as fraudulently imported, and be declared ipso facto free. And secondly, the introduction of white laborers is to be provided for and organized."

The correspondent of the London Times, writing from Paris, 18th, says that private letters state that the affair of the Black Warrior, so far from being settled, has been urged on with extreme violence by Mr. Soule, and at the present moment wears a very threatening aspect.

CONGRESS.

THURSDAY, May 4.

SENATE.—In the Senate, Messrs. Seward and Chase presented petitions against the Nebraska bill, and Mr. Sumner a memorial from Wisconsin and Missouri on the subject of spiritual manifestations, asking for an investigation into the subject by a select committee.

The "Veto" was taken up, and a motion made to have 10,000 extra copies. Agreed to. Mr. Gwin moved the postponement of the matter to Monday week.

Mr. Shields of Illinois wished to have it postponed until the Homestead bill was finally disposed of. Several members having intimated that they considered the principle of the veto as applying to the Homestead bill.

Mr. Dawson said that if he could be assured that the President, in writing his veto, had intended to establish a principle which would exclude his approval of the Homestead bill, he would be willing to consider the question immediately.

After a long discussion, the question was finally postponed till Monday—29 to 25.

The Indian Appropriation bill was discussed and postponed. Adjourned.

NEW YORK, April 4—6 P. M.—The inauguration of the Crystal Palace is going on according to the programme. The procession was very large and imposing, the various delegations turning out in full numbers, and the military escort made a showy appearance. Visitors began to throng the Palace at an early hour, and long before noon it was crowded to its fullest capacity. Mr. Barnum made a very effective address, and was enthusiastically cheered during its delivery. The morning was gloomy, and at noon it begun to rain, with at present a prospect of another storm.

The Coroner's Jury on the Broadway fire, announced their verdict this morning. They attribute the fire to incendiarism, and the accident to the insecure construction of the buildings, and fully exonerate Messrs. Jennings from all blame in the matter.

The steamer Economy, running between this city and New Rochelle, was totally destroyed by fire at the latter place, yesterday. She was only about one year old, and a fine boat.

CINCINNATI, May 4.—Mr. Crittenden is severely injured, in the estimation of our community, in consequence of his volunteer defence of the Wards.

At a public meeting held at Madison, Ia., yesterday, a resolution was passed unanimously, requesting the board of directors to withdraw their invitation to Mr. Crittenden as to his delivery of the address at their next annual fair.

The Kentucky papers are filled with the proceedings of public meetings in that state, in all of which Mr. Crittenden is denounced, and requested to resign his seat in the senate.

The Ward family have left Louisville, and the whereabouts of the murderer is unknown.

ANOTHER DOG STORY.—A Fact.—Yesterday forenoon, as a large and noble looking dog of the New Foundland species was passing through Kilby street, a strap which fastened a wire muzzle over his mouth became unbuckled, and the article appointed by the City Fathers to be worn by all well appointed dogs, fell off his nose upon the sidewalk. Instead, however, of trotting heedlessly along, rejoicing in being rid of the incumbrance, as low and ill-conditioned cur would have done, regardless of the danger of so doing, he paused, and gravely reinstated his nose into its wicker covering, and distending his jaws so as to keep it in its place, he passed on his way, seemingly conscious of the laws, and determined to respect them. The above story may seem a little tough, but we refer the incredulous to eye-witnesses of the scene.—Boston Chronicle, 4th.

Is the most profitable way of doing business. It is true that during the last year we have not been able to supply all the wants of our numerous customers, but as we have largely increased our facilities for manufacturing this year, by adding another Cutter and increasing our number of workmen, we hope to be able to supply the wants of all who may favor us with a call for READY-MADE CLOTHING or Measure.

If any who are in want of Good Clothing at Low Prices will do us the favor to look at our Large Stock, they will be convinced that what we state is true.

FLOUR SPECULATION.—A writer in the Boston Advertiser furnishes for publication (and for the benefit of those who have not seen the elephant) an exact copy of account of sales of 300 bbls. flour, shipped in the bark Falcon, over a year since, for Australia, and consigned to an American house there. The original cost of the flour was $2075 cash, and the return of sales a few months since showed a total loss of three thousand five hundred and fifty-seven dollars. The flour sold at Melbourne for £295 10s, and the charges for storage, freight, drayage, interest and commission, were £601 11s.

RESULT OF CRIME.—We learn from a gentleman recently from South America, that a short time since he met Rand, who was implicated with Charles H. Brewer, (who has just been pardoned from the State Prison,) in the embezzlement of a large amount of the funds of the Suffolk Bank two years ago.—Rand was in a most pitiable condition, so much so that our informant gave him money wherewith to supply food. Rand expressed a preference for the State Prison in Charlestown, rather than to be in the miserable condition he then was, and had been in for a long time.

HUMOR DISCOVERY,

AND BLOOD PURIFIER.

DR. ORDWAY has been using his Blood Purifier in his practice for the last seven years with great success. He has often been urged by his friends and those who have tried it, and know its efficacy, to put it within the reach of all. He has now added to it an Herb, discovered in California, by Dr. KELLEY, which makes it the most wonderful remedy for

HUMORS OF ALL KINDS,

LIVER COMPLAINTS AND CHRONIC DISEASES.

The virtues of this Herb were first made known to Dr. Kelley by an Indian, while attending a patient, sick with that terrible disease, the California Erysipelas and Liver Complaint—the effect was miraculous—curing the man in a few days. The native, when bitten by a rattlesnake, or rabid animal, resort to this Herb for a cure.—Hundreds are taking this medicine, after trying in vain other remedies, and say that the half was never told them.

If you have Erysipelas, 3 to 5 bottles will cure it.
If you have Scrofula, 3 to 7 bottles will cure it.
Three to six bottles will cure Salt Rheum.
One or two bottles will cure Pimples on the Face.
Two or three bottles will cure Scaly Eruptions and Scald Head
One to three bottles will cure Nursing Sore Mouth
One to three bottles will cleanse the system of Biles.
Two to five bottles will cure Rheumatism.
Three to four bottles will cure old running Sores and Ulcers.
One or two bottles will cure Barber's Itch.
One to three bottles will cure Canker in the mouth and bowels.

For Liver Complaints and Jaundice.

Its effects are new and wonderful, removing obstructions from the Liver, open the pores of the skin, ridding off the morbid matter, relieving the side, and all-gone feelings of the stomach, and removing low spirits and despondency, which is the result of this disagreeable and often fatal disease.

FOR DYSPEPSIA.

A fair trial will convince you that there is nothing like it.

FOR CANCEROUS HUMORS.

It is the surest remedy ever offered. One widow lady in Lawrence, has been troubled with Cancer for years, by taking two bottles says she is now quite well.

FOR COSTIVENESS.

One gentleman says that it was the only medicine that cured him.

FOR KIDNEY DIFFICULTIES.

It is spoken of in the highest terms. A young man was sick so much with Asthma that he had to leave College; three bottles cured him, and he has now resumed his studies. One lady in Salem was perfectly cured of Periodical Sick Headache, by the use of two bottles. Mr. Williams, of Lawrence, had humors in his eyes for years, and was cured by the use of the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier. For Chills and Fever, Mercurial Diseases, Taints in the System, it stands unrivalled; sometimes where the system is much deranged it will cause disagreeable feelings at first, but continued use as indications favorable. It is purely vegetable, and its compound and proportions are such that the effect is perfectly satisfactory and safe.

FULL DIRECTIONS ON THE BOTTLE.

☞ Price $1.00. ☜

HE HAS ALSO A HUMOR SALVE,

Unsurpassed for external humors, which, if used in connection with the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier will much facilitate a cure.

PRICE 25 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Dr. Ordway's Cough Destroyer.

This invaluable Cough Remedy is for the complete cure of Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Influenza, Whooping Cough, pains in the side and breast, hacking or tickling at the throat, spitting blood, tightness across the lungs and chest, and all Lung Complaints leading to Consumption.

No medicine yet discovered has that decided effect in curing Bronchia affections as the Cough Destroyer. It can be taken by all ages and classes, from a child six months old to the oldest man or woman, with the most happy results.

PRICE 50 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Dr. Ordway's Pain Destroyer.

This preparation is composed of a great variety of Extracts, Gums, Essential Oils, most of which have not heretofore been united and compounded into their present form. It will cure attacks of Cramps of the Stomach, Spasms, Convulsions, Faintings, Pain in the Stomach, Bowels, Side, Back, Limbs; and a great variety of other difficulties. It is also invaluable as an external remedy. It will be found to contain nearly double the strength of any similar article, and possesses properties heretofore unknown. No family should be without it for a single day.

PRICE 25, 37½ AND 50 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Full directions for the above medicines, on the Bottles. Orders should be accompanied with full directions how it should be sent.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

Hygeian, Hoarhound, Liverwort and Asparagus

COUGH CANDY.

Warranted free from Mercury, Opium, or any Mineral Ingredient. It injures no one, but benefits all.

Relief guaranteed in five minutes.

NEVER, since the Science of Medicine first dawned upon the World, has any compound gained such extraordinary popularity, in so short a time as DR. HOWE'S Hygeian, Hoarhound and Liverwort COUGH CANDY, in curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Difficulty of Breathing, Bleeding at the Lungs, Pain in the Side and Breast, Sore Throat, Cramp, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Hoarseness or an, any other symptom of that distressing malady, Consumption.

A host of Certificates can be presented, but the following from Rev. J. M. Trimble, Presiding Elder of the Cincinnati District M. E. Church, must satisfy all of the beneficial results of the use of this Cough Candy.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 25, 1847.

DR. HOWE—Sir: I have used Howe's Cough Candy and have found it a pleasant remedy for Hoarseness, and believe that public speakers troubled with diseases of the throat would find benefit from its use. J. M TRIMBLE.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, by when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it stated as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine rooms and two sculleries, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the markets, factories and railroads. Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, well painted and kept in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the north end. It is centrally located between the different ship-yards in that section of the city, each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lowd and is in good order. Attached to it is a good land large enough for a Stable or for another dwelling house. It would make a good place for the residence of a person employed at the shipyards or navy yard at the Navy Yard.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 47 Bow street.—This house has been built but a few years, is well finished off, and is very convenient. In the rear is quite a large garden spot. This would be a desirable place for a person employed at the shipyards, or at the Navy Yard nearly opposite.

Also, for sale, a BUILDING LOT, on Mount Vernon street, (opposite No. 2,) with a small building thereon, which can be finished off into a Dwelling house.

All of the above property will be sold on liberal terms, if applied for soon. For further particulars apply to JOSEPH M. EDMONDS,

ON MAD DOGS.

OLIVER GOLDSMITH, an old English friend of Uncle Toby, wrote an essay on Mad Dogs, which essay is here reprinted for the benefit of whom it may concern, accompanied with this piece of advice. Take good care of your own dog, keep him with you or at home, shut him up if need be; kill all the mad dogs you can find; but don't be frightened; for a thoroughly frightened man is a poor creature.

Indulgent nature seems to have exempted this island from many of those epidemic evils which are so fatal in other parts of the world. A want of rain for a few days beyond the expected season, in some parts of the globe, spreads famine, desolation and terror, over the whole country; but, in this fortunate island of Britain the inhabitant courts health in every breeze, and the husbandman sows in joyful expectation.

But, though the nation be exempt from real evils, it is not more happy on this account than others. The people are afflicted, it is true, with neither famine nor pestilence; but then there is a disorder peculiar to the country, which every season makes strange ravages among them; it spreads with pestilential rapidity, and infects almost every rank of people; what is still more strange, the natives have no name for this peculiar malady, though well known to foreign physicians by the appellation of Epidemic Terror.

A season is never known to pass in which the people are not visited by this cruel calamity in one shape or another, seemingly different, though ever the same; one year it issues from a baker's shop in the shape of a sixpenny loaf, the next it takes the appearance of a comet with a fiery tail, the third it threatens like a flat-bottomed boat, and the fourth it carries consternation in the bite of a mad dog. The people, when once infected, lose their relish for happiness, saunter about with looks of despondence, ask after the calamities of the day, and receive no comfort but in heightening each other's distress. It is insignificant how remote or near, how weak or powerful, the object of terror may be, when once they resolve to fright and be frighted; the merest trifles sow consternation and dismay; each proportions his fears, not to the object, but to the dread he discovers in the countenance of others; for, when once the fermentation is begun, it goes on of itself, though the original cause be discontinued which first set it in motion.

A dread of mad dogs is the epidemic terror which now prevails, and the whole nation is at present actually groaning under the malignity of its influence. The people sally from their houses with that circumspection which is prudent in such as expect a mad dog at every turning. The physician publishes his prescription, the beadle prepares his halter, and a few of unusual bravery arm themselves with boots and buff gloves, in order to face the enemy if he should offer to attack them. In short, the whole family stand bravely upon their defence, and seem by their present spirit, to show a resolution of being tamely bit by mad dogs no longer.

Their manner of knowing whether a dog be mad or not, somewhat resembles the ancient Gothic custom of trying witches. The old woman suspected was tied hand and feet, and thrown into the water. If she swam, then she was instantly carried off to be burnt for a witch; if she sunk, then indeed she was acquitted of the charge, but drowned in the experiment. In the same manner a crowd gather around a dog suspected of madness, and they begin by teasing the devoted animal on every side. If he attempts to stand upon the defensive, and bite, then he is unanimously found guilty, for "a mad dog always snaps at everything." If, on the contrary, he tries to escape by running away, then he can expect no compassion, for "mad dogs always run straight forward before them."

It is pleasant enough for a neutral being like me, who have no share in those ideal calamities, to mark the stages of this national disease. The terror at first feebly enters with a disregarded story of a little dog that had gone through a neighboring village, which was thought to be mad by several persons who had seen him. The next account comes, that a mastiff ran through a certain town, and had bitten five geese, which immediately ran mad, foamed at the bill, and died in great agonies soon after. Then comes and affecting story of a little boy bit in the leg, and gone down to be dipped in the salt water.—When the people have sufficiently shuddered at that, they are next congealed with a frightful account of a man who was said lately to have died from a bite he had received some years before. This relation only prepares the way for another, still more hideous; as how the master of a family, with seven small children, were all bit by a mad lap-dog; and how the poor father first perceived the infection by calling for a draught of water, where he saw the lap dog swimming in the cup.

When the epidemic terror is thus once excited, every morning comes loaded with some new disaster: as in stories of ghosts each loves to hear the account, though it only serves to make him uneasy; so here each listens with eagerness, and adds to the tidings with new circumstances of peculiar horror. A lady, for instance, in the country, of very weak nerves, has been frightened by the barking of a dog; and this, alas! too frequently happens. The story soon is improved, and spreads, that a mad dog had frighted a lady of distinction. These circumstances begin to grow terrible before they have reached the neighbouring village, and there the report is, that a lady of quality was bit by a mad mastiff. This account every moment gathers new strength, and grows more dismal as it approaches the capital; and by the time it has arrived in town, the lady is described, with wild eyes, foaming mouth, running mad upon all four, barking like a dog, biting her servants, and at last smothered between two beds by the advice of her doctors; while the mad mastiff is, in the meantime, ranging the whole country over, slavering at the mouth, and seeking whom he may devour.

My landlady, a good natured woman, but a little credulous, waked me some mornings ago before the usual hour, with horror and astonishment in her looks. She desired me, if I had any regard to my safety, to keep within; for a few days ago so dismal an accident had happened, as to put all the world upon their guard. A mad dog down in the country, she assured me, had bit a farmer, who soon becoming mad, ran into his own yard and bit a fine brindled cow; the cow quickly became as mad as the man, began to foam at the mouth, and raising herself up, walking about on her hind legs, sometimes barking like a dog, and sometimes attempting to talk like the farmer.—Upon examining the grounds of this story, I found my landlady had it from one neighbour, who had it from another neighbour, who heard it from very good authority.

Were most stories of this nature well examined, it would be found that numbers of such as have been said to suffer were no way injured; and that of those who have been actually bitten, not one in a hundred was bit by a mad dog. Such accounts, in general, therefore only serve to make the people miserable by false terrors; and sometimes fright the patient into actual phrensy, by creating those very symptoms they pretended to deplore.

But even allowing three or four to die in a season of this terrible death (and four is probably too large a concession,) yet still it is not considered how many are preserved in their health and in their property by this devoted animal's services. The midnight robber is kept at a distance; the insidious thief is often detected; the healthful chase repairs many a worn constitution: and the poor man finds in his dog a willing assistant, eagen to lessen his toil, and content with the smallest retribution.

"A dog," says one of the English poets, "is an honest creature, and I am a friend to dogs. Of all the beasts that graze the lawn, or hunt the forest, a dog is the only animal that, leaving his fellows, attempts to cultivate the friendship of man: to man he looks, in all his necessities, with speaking eye, for assistance; exerts for him all the little service in his power with cheerfulness and pleasure; for him bears famine and fatigue with patience and resignation; no injuries can abate his fidelity, no distress induce him to forsake his benefactor; studious to please, and fearing to offend, he is still an humble steadfast dependant; and in him alone fawning is not flattery. How unkind then to torture this faithful creature, who has left the forest to claim the protection of man! How ungrateful a return to the trusty animal for all its services!"

Morning Chronicle.

MONDAY, MAY 8, 1854.

THE UNSEAWORTHY FALCON.

Major Francis O. Wyse, of the United States Army, is on his trial at Fort Columbus, New York Harbor, on two charges, 1 Disobedience of orders; 2 Conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman. The first charge is real and true; but there was ample cause and good reason for disobedience. The second charge is a mere &c. growing out of the first, and whether true or false, of little or no consequence to the country.

The real criminal on trial is the country, or the government, or some official under it in the war department or elsewhere, who by bribery, fraud, or incompetency, suffers our officers and soldiers of the army to be sent to sea in overloaded, old or unseaworthy man-traps, dignified with the name of steamships.

We have read the trial carefully so far, as reported in the New York Herald; and while some officers safe on shore seem to accuse and may perhaps convict the Major of inaccurate statements of dates and some important facts; we find the most ample proof from all quarters that the Falcon was just such a wretched boat as Major Wyse asserted, and conclude that he acted not only right, but nobly, in his refusal to lead his men on board an old crazy steamer. In a letter of Major Wyse, he says, in regard to the Falcon,

I asked Col. Thomas if any one from headquarters had seen the Falcon, and understood him to say they had not. I then told him she was an old steamer, that she arrived in this city last October, and I believed had been undergoing repairs ever since, and that under these circumstances, I deemed it due to my command that she should be minutely inspected by competent officers before being sent to sea with troops, and requested Col. Thomas that a special board might be ordered from Washington, which should be composed of an experienced engineer of the U. S. Navy, an experienced Lieutenant or Captain of the Navy, and one or more army officers. Col. Thomas replied to me that there would not be time to write to Washington to get the board; and in answer I said if you will telegraph to Washington there will be plenty of time. I further stated that if I cannot get this kind of board I hope Gen. Scott will order a competent board, and called his attention to the General Regulations, par. 718.

Any one will see that the survey which Maj. Wyse called for, was a survey that would condemn a poor ship. He did not get that survey, but called a survey of military officers, who were to go in the steamer, and they condemned her; but another board, (all army officers) who were not going in her, appointed by Gen. Scott, approved of the old trap. The George Law, in which Maj. Wyse wished the men to go, is rated on the Insurance Books, A 1, but the Falcon on the same books in 1850, was rated A 1 1-2. Nautical men, and underwriters advised the Major not to go in the Falcon, and he did not.

His first impulse was to resign, and leave the service in disgust, but he adds:—

I reflected that this course would not cure the evil, and remembering that our worthy President has said our flag shall be an inviolable panoply to all American citizens, I thought I would take a stand which would bring this question to an issue, with the hope of being able to convince the community that the American soldier, although clothed in the livery of his country, was nevertheless an American citizen, and at least as much, entitled to some consideration.

I think there cannot be a doubt that the object so far as the steamship company is concerned, was to palm off on us the old Falcon, and take the other ship full of passengers, for I am told the George Law is now as full as she can hold, at the risk of cramming us all on the John L. Stephens, at Panama, or what is perhaps more probable, and if so a greater outrage, intending to send the troops from Panama to San Francisco, in the equally old unseaworthy steamer Republic or Isthmus, lying there, to be used only in cases of emergencies, such as the wreck, &c., of one of the regular line. Had this case stood alone I would feel that I was unjustified in resorting to such an extreme course, but the army has so long borne this reckless tampering with their rights, that further forbearance ceases to be a virtue. I was once sent myself with troops across the stormy Gulf of Mexico, in a small frail Mississippi river steamer, and a fresh water captain commanding her, who was so ignorant of navigation that he did not know how to make the correction for the variation of the compass, and was actually steering sixteen degrees out of the way, in consequence of making the correction the wrong side. Look, again, at the San Francisco, and the outrageous manner in which that portion of the regiment which went to Liverpool was treated by the government officials there; and look again at a more recent case. See Capt. Lovell's letter.

Capt. Lovell's letter reads thus:

Fort Columbus, New York,
April 20, 1854.

MAJOR—Your note of yesterday's date is received, and in answer thereto I would state that I did conduct a detachment of recruits for the Second Artillery, (160 in number,) from New Orleans to Tampa Bay, Florida, by water, in the latter part of March. These troops were transported in the United States steamer Fashion, Capt. Baker, a vessel built nearly twelve years since, and not intended originally as a seagoing ship. She was bought by the government, patched up and strengthened, and used as a transport vessel during the Mexican war. She was offered for sale when the United States steamers were sold at New Orleans, but could not find a purchaser and was, therefore, reapplied to government use. Her engine, a sliding beam, has been in her since 1842. She has but little power, cannot contend with a fresh head wind and heavy sea, and is considered, even by her own commander, so unsafe that he feels unwilling to strike across the gulf, but crawls along the land, so as to save all he can by beaching her in a heavy gale.

The only reliance of those who sail in her, is upon the forbearance of Providence and the proximity of the land. I doubt not but that you will agree with me in saying, that this is a most disgraceful tampering with human life on the part of the government of the second maritime nation in the world, with thirty millions surplus in her treasury.

My own opinion is that the Fashion would not live at sea in a moderately severe gale, nor do I think that her commander would dare to put to sea in her in the face of such. If the use of her is continued, it is done at the risk of disaster and loss of life. At least, that is my opinion and firm belief.

I remain, your ob't serv't, M. LOVELL,
Bt. Capt. 4th Artillery.

Maj. F. O. WYSE, 3d Artillery.

Major Wyse passed his soldiers over to Lieut. Loeser, who went in the Falcon, and fortunately came back alive in that celebrated craft. On the second day of the trial he testified to this effect:

He (Lieut. Loeser) had examined the Falcon before she hauled off into the stream, and thought her unseaworthy. Her general appearance was very bad, the engine rusty and dirty, and the paint on many parts of her was still green. The engineer knew nothing about the merits of the engine, but said he would be able to tell after a few days experience. The steamer left New York at about 2 o'clock, and proceeded very slowly until night, when she stopped for repairs. Next day, he said, her trim was changed, being too heavy in the head, and throughout the day the engine seemed hardly able to turn the wheels. On Friday morning, three days out, they again stopped three or four hours for repairs, and finding that she did no better, concluded to make for the nearest port, which they reached in safety.

We can publish but a small part of such a voluminous trial; but when we read it, in extenso, we long to spread it all before the public, that they may see in what manner soldiers are shipped, to fill the pockets of some swindling leeches who have either gold or brass enough to procure an approving survey on a vessel, which in a single week shows herself every way unfit for the transport service!

We suppose the present Court of Inquiry has very limited powers, and can probably do no more than to say Maj. Wyse did right or wrong, and pronounce sentence on him.

But there ought to be a power somewhere, to probe the sore to the bottom. If this swindling and murderous system is upheld by bribery and corruption, let a search warrant be issued to find the "itching palm,"—and if it belong to the Adjutant, or Quarter Master, to General Scott, or to the President himself, make him show his hand, that the people may know how these things are managed.

Secrets, in kingcraft or priestcraft, may be all very nice; but in Republics, the less we have of them the better. So, go ahead, Major Wyse, and give us more light.

THE GREAT PETITION.—The Exeter News letter makes inquiry as to what became of the great petition, containing 80,000 names, presented to the Legislature of 1852 for the enactment of a stringent liquor law.

We are informed that the paper was never put into the possession of the Secretary of State, in whose office the usage is to dispose, at the close of the session, all petitions and other important papers. The petition, as those who saw it will remember, made a huge roll, a foot or two in diameter, and was the result of a vast amount of individual labor in procuring signatures, collecting the papers, and arranging them for presentation. By some process or other, it has found its way into the cellar of the State House, where it has been treated as waste paper. Very little of it, we are informed, has escaped destruction, although it is of equal importance with other documents pertaining to business not disposed of by the Legislature, and now on file in the office of the Secretary of State. It should be understood that no blame can be laid upon that officer, as the petition never came into his custody.—Concord Seatesman.

We are glad to hear that the Secretary is not to blame; but somebody is. Some devoted worshipper of Bacchus perhaps, or some ardent hater of temperance fanatics, wreaked his patriotic vengeance by heaping indignity on the dumb paper,—fancying that he had thereby done something. And so he had; for he has made himself ridiculous, if we only knew who he was. But as we don't know, the public can only reflect on this matter, that some of the smallest men in the State nestle about the State House.

Except in some such view, the loss of the petition is not of the slightest consequence.

But we forget: as a bystander suggests, it is a modern doctrine, in high places, that men, certainly such men as signed this roll, have no right to petition Congress, or other great bodies, about anything political or moral. Politicians by profession will attend to governing the people—but ministers and women! what do they know about politics or liquor?

A letter from Callao, dated March 25, states that Capt. Cutler, of the ship Fides, is dead. John Hasty of Maine, and Dr. Jackson from the United States, had also died at Callao.—In addition to the above, it is also stated that many seamen, with some private citizens of the United States, had died of fever, dysentery and other diseases.

LOCAL.

MANN & CO.'S TROUPE will remain at the Cameneum for three nights more, in order to give a chance to those who were prevented on account of the weather from seeing the world renowned moral and religious drama of Uncle Tom's Cabin. The Company's engagements are such that they cannot remain longer than three nights.

After the Drama, La Petite Emma will appear in a favorite dance, each evening. *

For the Morning Chronicle.

Messrs. Editors:—Will you please to inquire of the City Fathers whether they intend by their Ordinance No. 37, to provide that every Dog found within the limits of the city after the 10th instant, with a wire muzzle on his nose, and not on his owner's premises, shall be Killed,—and if that is not their intention, request them to correct their ordinance.

Please inquire also, if the ordinance is to be perpetual in its operation, or is to be limited to the warm weather. L.

We have had a "spell of weather," as our readers may know, perhaps. On Saturday, we had about a dozen snow squalls, each one, as they progressed, growing colder and colder. And on Saturday night it was cold enough to make ice a quarter of an inch thick.

FIRE IN KITTERY.—On Saturday afternoon between 5 and 6 o'clock, a house at Kittery Point was destroyed by fire, which was probably kindled by sparks from the chimney lodging on the roof. The fire was discovered by boys at play. The house was owned by Noah Hurst, and occupied by the families of Wm. Grant and Noah Edson. As the wind was very high, the house burnt very rapidly, and as both the men were absent, the families could save but little of their furniture.

☞ We had the pleasure of seeing at Newburyport, a few days since, a silver Goblet of beautiful design and exquisite workmanship, which has been presented to Mr. Henry S. Thompson, the celebrated musician, now of that city, by the choir over which he has presided for the last three years. It is inscribed:

"Presented to H. S. THOMPSON, by the Members of the Old South Choir, Newburyport, May 3rd, 1854."

Mr. Thompson has just closed his connexion with this, the Federal Street Church, and is to sing in the Universalist choir. He is one of the most talented and successful musical conductors, and we are glad to see his services appreciated. We learn he has been invited to give a concert in this city, and will probably do so next week.

☞ Two daily papers are to be published at Concord during the coming session of the Legislature. The terms of the Daily Statesman, and Daily Patriot will be 25 cts for the session, in advance.

Eighty three divorce cases were before the Superior Court of New Hampshire at the late sitting in Concord. Thirty three separations were decreed, seven applications were denied, and forty three are under advisement.

THE NEBRASKA BILL.—Washington, April 5.—A number of Northern members, heretofore counted as anti-Nebraska men, it is said will vote to take up the bill under a pretence of killing it afterwards. Seven votes are expected from New York in favor of the bill.

We have been expecting some movement of this kind, all along, as we have several times stated. Such is our confidence in the patriotism and firmness of "a number of Northern members," that we expected them to wilt away under the sunshine of official patronage, and reappear wearing a golden chain as if they were used to it.

In the doings of the City Council, Wednesday evening, it will be seen, resolutions condemning the Nebraska bill were rejected by a decisive vote. In itself, this is not important, but it is worthy of notice from the fact that such resolves have been adopted by a great number of towns and cities of the State, within a few months, and in no one case have they before been defeated. Newburyport in this respect stands alone among the towns of the commonwealth.—Newburyport Herald.

Exactly so. And in this singularity we see the marks of Mr. Attorney General Cushing's influence on his native town, as plainly as Robinson Crusoe and his man Friday saw the human footprints in the sand.

The investigation of the Broadway calamity has closed. Mr. Sanford, a master mason, gave testimony in regard to the condition of the ruined building. In his opinion, the fatal defect was in the rear brick wall, which was the most insecure he ever saw. It was stated that the bodies discovered with the new clothes on, with the Jennings mark attached to them, were supposed to be the "runners," or persons who connect themselves with the department for the purpose of thieving.

CHARLESTOWN NAVY YARD.—Business remains exceedingly dull, a number of men having been discharged from the very small gangs now employed. Mr. Samuel M. Cook, naval constructor, is to be removed to the Washington Yard, and a Mr. Delano brought from the Brooklyn Yard, we believe, to take his place.—Boston Transcript.

Mr. John N. Genin, has been nominated by the New York Tribune for mayor of the city. His late sweet cleaning exploits have rendered him popular.

PROPOSED LARGE PURCHASE OF FREIGHT CARS.—At a meeting of the Presidents of the Lowell, Nashua, Concord, Northern, Central, Canada, and Ogdensburg Railroads, held in Boston on Wednesday, it was agreed to recommend to their respective boards of directors the purchase of one thousand additional freight cars, on joint account, for the use of the whole line from Boston to Ogdensburg.

OVER THE FALLS.—The Manchester Mirror says that a boat with a man in it was carried over the Hooksett Falls, in the Merrimack river, on Saturday evening last, and the man was drowned. There were two men in the boat before it reached the Falls, one of whom jumped out and swam ashore.

THE NEW THREE DOLLAR GOLD PIECES.—The first issue of the new three dollar gold pieces will be made on Saturday next, when 6000 will be sent to Washington. They are beautifully executed. The front has an Indian head with a feathered crown, and the "United States of America" around it. The reverse has the words "Three Dollars—1854" encircled in a wreath of wheat, corn, oak leaves and acorns.—New York Tribune.

ACCIDENT.—Hezekiah B. Moulton, brakeman on the freight trains of the Boston and Providence Railroad, was instantly killed Friday afternoon, near Mansfield, by striking his head against a bridge, while on the top of one of the cars. Moulton was a worthy, industrious man, and formerly resided in Maine.

The deficit in the accounts of William Sloanaker, who was navy agent in Philadelphia under the last administration, is somewhere about $24,000. His accounts, as rendered by himself, admit nearly the whole of the balance claimed to be due.

The Ohio Legislature has passed a law which provides for the punishment, by fine and imprisonment, of those who sell liquor to parties intoxicated, or who are in the habit of getting intoxicated. It also renders them liable to civil suits for damages.

"THERE'S CHEATING AT THIS TABLE."—Judge Metcalf, in charging the jury in a case at Lowell last week said, "Gentlemen, this case has developed some of the most painful manifestations of depravity which it has ever been my lot to witness. God only knows who lies—but somebody does!"

AT THE CAMENEUM,
THIS EVENING,
Uncle Tom's Cabin.

Embracing the entire work of Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, being Religious, Moral, and of great National interest.

THIS deservedly Popular Drama is now being performed at the National Theatre, N. Y., with a success unparalleled in the history of the Stage, with new and beautiful characteristic scenery, new machinery, and appointments.

In six Acts, nine Tableaux and thirty-one Scenes.

During the performance of this Drama, embracing Mrs. Stowe's entire work, will be introduced the following SONGS, composed and arranged by Mr. G. C. Howard.

"Uncle Tom's Religion." "I'se so wicked." "Eva to her Papa." Also, "The Slave," by Glover. "Old Kentucky Home," by Foster. "The Other Side of Jordon," by Geo. Christy. "Medley Airs." Sacred Anthem, "Wake Isles of the South," by L. Mason.

TABLEAUX IN THE DRAMA.

1. The Escape of Eliza on the Ice. 2. The Trappers entrapped. 3. The Free Man's Defence. 4. Death of little Eva. 5. The last of St. Clair. 6. Topsey Butting the Yankee. 7. Cassy helping Uncle Tom. Death of Uncle Tom. Allegorical Tableau of little Eva in Heaven.

The great original Drama in Six Acts, dramatized from Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe's world-renowned Work, and being performed with wonderful success at the National Theatre, N.Y, every night since July 18, called

CONGRESS.

FRIDAY, May 5.

SENATE.—The Senate was engaged on the private calendar. The bill to pay for tobacco, destroyed by the British in Maryland during the war in 1812, was passed. After disposing of a large number of private bills, the Senate adjourned to Monday.

HOUSE.—The debate on polygamy in Utah was continued for some time, when the Committee rose, and Mr. Richardson of Illinois moved to reconsider the vote, which being passed, the debate terminated,—his object being when the House should again go into Committee, to lay the bill aside, and proceed to the consideration of others. The vote was reconsidered and the resolution laid on the table. The House, however, went into Committee again, and the Utah bill was finally laid aside by ayes 84—noes not counted—with a recommendation that it do not pass.

Five other territorial bills were considered and laid aside.

The committee next considered the admission of Oregon as a state, but without action thereupon, the committee rose.

A sharp discussion then arose as to whether the House should adjourn to Monday, and during considerable noise the Speaker declared the House adjourned until to morrow. As the Speaker was leaving the House, he was addressed with much warmth by Mr. Campbell, who advocated the adjournment to Monday, and contended that the Speaker had declared the question of adjournment too hastily. The Speaker rejoined with equal warmth, and the House was in a state of excitement for a few minutes, when the members quietly dispersed.

NEW YORK, May 6.—Dr. Alexander Witherspoon, an eminent physician of the United States army, residing in Washington, died in that city on Thursday last. He was the medical attendant of President Taylor during his last illness.

At the trial of Major Wyse yesterday, the Port Warden, several Insurance office Inspectors, and a host of nautical men were called for the defence, and they all agreed in declaring the Falcon to be an unseaworthy vessel. She was classed as A 3 on some of the Insurance office books, while on others she was struck out altogether.

Our city is to be visited on Tuesday next by three uniformed companies of organized and disciplined Female Infantry and Lancers from Pennsylvania and New Jersey, known as the "Fairy Guards," commanded as a battalion by a masculine Colonel and Lieut. Col., but the several companies will be officered throughout by ladies, including captains on horseback. The Fairy Light Guard is composed of some of the best educated and esteemed young ladies of Peterson and Elizabethtown, N. J., and of Harrisburgh, Pa., and all its members between fourteen and eighteen years of age. A daughter of a late Governor of New Jersey is one of the Company.

NEW YORK, May 5.—Steamship Empire City, from New Orleans, April 27, via Havana, arrived last evening. She brings 104 passengers, and a heavy cargo, with nearly $90,000 in specie. In Havana there was little of interest occurring.

NEW POINT UNDER THE LIQUOR LAW.—At the court of common pleas held at Dedham last Tuesday, before Judge Hoar, Mr. French, of Quincy, was indicted as a common seller of intoxicating liquor, and for a single sale. The government testimony proved a single sale of gin and a great many sales of ale. A close cross examination disclosed the fact that it was Bavarian ale. After the evidence was all in, and the case had been argued on both sides, George Sennott, Esq., counsel for the defence, moved the court to instruct the jury that, if they were satisfied it was Bavarian ale which was sold, and no other—and if they did not know whether Bavarian ale was intoxicating or not—or if they were entirely ignorant of its nature and effects—they must presume that it was not intoxicating liquor, and find for the defendant. The court did so, and the jury in about an hour returned a verdict of "not guilty" on the first count, but guilty on the single sale. Mr. French paid the ten dollars with great cheerfulness, and went on his way rejoicing.—Boston Post.

WARNING TO CARELESS DRIVERS.—At the New York Supreme Court Circuit, last week, the jury rendered a verdict of $4000 against Benjamin Snow of Boston, for running over Irene Winchell, a girl of thirteen years, in one of the city avenues. The evidence in the suit was conflictive as to the rate at which the horse and wagon of the defendant were driven, but a speed of some seven miles an hour was pretty well shown. The injuries were very serious.

PUGNACIOUS.—A bellicose but slightly inebriated individual was peregrinating South Water street, this morning, making the most direful threats against the whole world and the "rest of mankind." If his assertions of physical power were well sustained by the facts, he would have made a valuable auxiliary to the Turks in their present crisis. But, alas, for his vast want of self knowledge, officer Valentine easily took him by the coat and nether garments, formed a procession, and with considerable of a military bearing, marched the belligerent gentleman up to see Mr. Porter. Stone walls and iron bars are usually efficient sanative remedies for an over-plus of patriotic and spiritual zeal, and heroes, or those fancying themselves such, by taking a horn too much, are often hastened through the little end of that article with considerable momentum.—New Bedford Standard.

OVERLAND TO CALIFORNIA. Companies A. and H., of the 2d regiment United States Artillery, are under orders to start from Bellows Island, New York, on the journey overland to California. At Fort Leavenworth, on the Missouri frontier, they will be joined by a troop of dragoons. The officers detailed to accompany the detachment are Lieutenant Colonel Steptoe, commanding; Major Reynolds; Lieutenants Chandler, Livingstone and Tyler; and Surgeon Wirtz.

A lad named Lucius B. Doane, 13 years of age, son of a widow lady of Pawtucket, was drowned while attempting on Friday last to recover a fishing net.

The probable loss of two more of the Gloucester fleet, with all on board, is reported: One, a coaster, although engaged in fishing during the summer, and the other a fisherman, having gone to sea and never returned. They are the schooners Gold Hunter and Lucy Pulsifer.

The damage to the railroads near New York, by the late storm, interrupted the supplies of milk, and what little was brought in by other modes of conveyance, was in such demand that holders freely obtained for it 25 cents a quart. A dollar a gallon was the regular price for two days.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

One to two bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two three bottles will clear the system of biles.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, humms and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives a good appetite, is catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1852, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 70, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. In the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to clease the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, when it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonful. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as pulling a trigger. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

COUGH CANDY.

Warranted free from Mercury, Opium, or any Mineral Ingredient. It injures no one, but benefits all.

Relief guaranteed in five minutes.

NEVER, since the Science of Medicine first dawned upon the World, has any compound gained such extraordinary popularity, in so short a time as DR. HOWE'S Hygeian, Hoarhound and Liverwort COUGH CANDY, in curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Difficulty of Breathing, Bleeding at the Lungs, Pain in the Side and Breast, Sore Throat, Cramp, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Hoarseness or any other Symptom of that distressing malady, Consumption.

A host of Certificates can be presented, but the following from Rev. J. M. Trimble, Presiding Elder of the Cincinnati District M. E. Church, must satisfy all of the beneficial results of the use of this Cough Candy.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 25, 1847.

DR. HOWE—Sir: I have used Howe's Cough Candy and have found it a pleasant remedy for Hoarseness, and believe that public speakers troubled with diseases of the throat would find benefit from its use. J. M. TRIMBLE.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 76 state Street, oppo. Kilby street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has fitted arrangements for securing applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringements of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two scullories, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the markets, factories and railroads. Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the north end. It is centrally located between the different shipyards in that section of the city, each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lowd and is in good order. Attached to it is a lot of land large enough for a Stable or for another dwelling house. It would make a good place for the residence of a person employed at the shipyards across the river, or at the Navy Yard.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 47 Bow street.—This house has been built but a few years, is well finished off, and is very convenient. In the rear is quite a large garden spot. This would be a desirable place for a person employed at the shipyards, or at the Navy Yard nearly opposite.

Also, for sale, a BUILDING LOT, on Mount Vernon street, (opposite No. 2,) with a small building thereon, which can be finished off into a Dwelling house.

All of the above property will be sold on liberal terms, if applied for soon. For further particulars apply to JOSEPH M. EDMONDS,

PORK.

Pork (we are not writing for Jews, for they abominate, loathe, execrate, it is said, the unclean beast,) the Rabbins say, ought not to be eaten, and if the stories are true which our provision dealer tells us—a conscientious man who keeps pork to sell—the Rabbins are right. Whilom, when men were honest and speculation in articles of food was comparatively unknown, pork was esteemed—and deserved the esteem — an indispensable. The well-filled pork barrel was a sign of well to-do, and the white, hard, unctuous junks that lay coiled around the barrel, imbedded in the salt, were comfortable to look upon—was esteemed a domestic last bower anchor to fall back upon in the event of a siege. Hogs were cleanly, orderly and respectable animals in those days, with their little snug back parlor where they could retire and indulge in any quantity of somnolence, the world forgetting, by the world forgot. A hog seemed to feel his importance, every pound of it, and seconded the farmer's efforts to increase it. And when he was killed, what a revelry there was in "sweet breads" and "runrounds" and "liver" and "spareribs." The tail was eagerly begged to roll up in paper and roast in the ashes, and the bladder served as a foot-ball for the whole village!

Now, however, things have changed. The hog has become inebriate on distillery and slops and almost dies in the gutter. His sleek sides, presenting a show of scanty fat, are distended by the putrid slops that his now depraved nature glories in. His cleanly habits are forgotten, and food at which he would in the day of his respectability turned up his nose, now is received and masticated without a demurring grunt. Our provision dealer tells us, as we commenced to say along back, that dead horses are even used to feed hogs upon, and that their carcasses are sought for miles around to feed to the hogs! Hence their bodies became the habitation of all uncleanness. The pork is flabby and red, and unwholesome looking, as is a man who is bloated with much rum.

For this we would that the legislature should say, as the Rabbins say, that pork should not be eaten, or pass a law compelling those who raise hogs for the market to see to it that good food is given the animals that are to become the food of the people. The people should demand this. Let the cry of "dead horse" come up from every meat stall where the unclean animal is kept until the practice is abolished, and the porcine quadruped shall present a clean bill of health.—Boston Post.

THE "BROKEN HEARTED CLUB," previous to the grand carnival ball, on Wednesday, 28th inst., submit their rules to the curious public. Programme on Monday in the Ledger.

Rule I—This being a Society for the promotion of general wretchedness and unhappiness, no person can be admitted unless upon the introduction of a member who can pledge his belief that the candidate's heart is broken, or ought to be so.

Rule II—That the member so introducing a candidate, shall be bound (if required) to state some definite grounds of wretchedness or misery under which the candidate is laboring, or conceives himself to be.

Rule III—It is essentially necessary that the candidate shall have been crossed in love; if, however, he has been married three times that circumstance shall be taken as a sufficient substitute. The qualifications of widowers and old bachelors to be strictly investigated. Married men with drunken partners to be declared eligible without further inquiry.

Rule IV—Individuals in the following capacities to be considered duly qualified: elderly gentlemen with handsome young widows, the same with marriageable daughters and fortunes to give them. Members of the press whose circulations are small. Theatrical Managers, if not actually in a lunatic asylum. Members of Congress, of large and independent constituencies. Respectable firemen put out of service by disreputable rowdies. Briefless lawyers without private fortunes. Young artists, authors, or actors with merely their talents to depend upon. Members of the Army and Navy on half pay, and young Physicians who have never had an opportunity of slaughtering their fellow creatures.

Rule V—That it being a fundamental law of this society that all the members thereof are to be equally unhappy, that any one of its members having a good fortune left him, shall become ineligible; such members, however, to continue on the roll, on giving up such fortune, or renouncing such other advantages, to the benefit of the Society, to be appropriated to the general enjoyment of misery and unhappiness.

By order of the "Scarlet Knight."

A GOOD HIT.—Certain members of Congress having declared themselves in favor of raising the rates of postage, on the ground that the Post Office department now costs more than it produces, the Memphis Eagle & Inquirer states that Congress costs the people a round sum every year, and wonders if some plan might not be discovered by which it could be made to pay expenses.

CHINA COMING.—We went down last evening to witness the landing of Chinese Emigrants from the Dutch ship Isis, and the British ship Robina. These two vessels brought out 967 of these celestials, and among them a large number of women. The landing of these strange people was a sight sui generis, and one not to be paralleled in America. All their valuables were packed in strange looking baskets, obviously of no civilized manufacture, and each man's name marked upon his baggage in Chinese characters. Mats, baskets and pieces of bamboo, were the only things visable. As boat load after boat load reached the wharf, the throng of Celestials increased, and the gabble of uncouth gutturals swelled to a full chorus. Had a colony of Lunarians dropped suddenly from the moon, they could not have looked less like beings of this earth. We hear that nine more vessels are about to sail from China with passengers to this port. It is becoming a great problem, how to dispose of this new race, who are swarming upon our shores.—San Francisco Chronicle.

INCIDENT OF OLDEN TIMES.—About the time of the American Revolution, the town of Concord sold to Oliver Holt the School Lot, situated upon Horse hill, and the selectmen were instructed to expend the purchase money (£100) in powder. At the time the spire of the old North Church (now Biblical Institute) was completed—1773—what remained of the powder was placed for safe keeping within that portion of the church. When news came of the birth of the Dauphin of France—Louis XVII., alias Rev. Eleazer Williams, as some people still insist—the United States being not only upon amicable but very friendly terms with France, on account of its aid and sympathy in the Revolutionary War, the people agreed to burn the powder, as a manifestation of their joy. It was accordingly done, and the powder exhausted. Ever after this, Capt. Emery, well remembered by many people still in Concord, opposed all attempts to sell the public lands of the town, lest the proceeds should go as did those of the hundred acre School Lot.—Concord, N. H. Statesman.

COMPLIMENTARY.—A western paper, referring to the recent visit of a delegation from the Boston city councils to Cincinnati, to examine a steam fire engine, very modestly observes that "Boston has been much improved by its communications with the interior states and the west. It has thus not only been enabled to introduce among its people the improvements of more advanced art, but the lights of knowledge and religion."

In Albany one evening last week, a happy bridegroom was so happy on the arrival of the night that had been assigned for his wedding that before the interesting ceremony, he stepped out with a few friends and got "jolly tight," was arrested and taken off to the watch house, where he was locked up for the night, the expectant bride being left a prey to the most horrid fancies in the mean time. He got two walking tickets the next morning—one from the Police magistrate, and the other from the bride elect.

There was a debate in the House on Wednesday on the word "white," in the amendment to the bill for a surveyor-general in New Mexico, in which Gerrit Smith, Wade of Ohio, Giddings, Washburn of Maine, and Campbell, harped upon the colored string.—Mr. Keitt of S. Carolina, in reply to Campbell, said if there were many mulattoes in his state, it was owing to associations with free soilers.—Boston Post.

Morning Chronicle.

TUESDAY, MAY 9, 1854.

GRAIN—HOGS—AND WHISKEY.

The manufacturers of whiskey in Ohio, with some from Kentucky and Indiana, had a meeting at Cincinnati last week. Twenty three establishments were represented, which consume 14,058 bushels corn and other grain daily, or over four millions a year. The Cincinnati Gazette says:

"The whole number of distilleries which send their whiskey to this market for sale is about thirty, and the whole consume at least five million bushels of grain annually. Large quantities of hops are also used in the manufacture. These establishments also feed constantly upwards of 1,000,000 hogs. One establishment, David Gleason's, at New Richmond, twenty miles up the river, consumes 1440 bushels of grain a day, and employs upwards of fifty coopers in making barrels. The twenty three establishments manufacture upwards of twelve millions of gallons of whiskey annually, all of which is sold in this city, and from hence it is shipped to all parts of the United States."—Boston Chronicle.

There must be some error in the number of hogs mentioned. Whether the Chronicle made the error or not we do not know, as we copy the paragraph from another paper. But it is certain that 5,000,000 bushels of corn would not feed 1,000,000 hogs a year, for that would be only 5 bushels each. 100,000 hogs will do better.

But we protest against this worse than waste of bread corn, to make the drunkard's drink, the widow's groan and the orphan's misery. Make, if you will, spirits to burn in lamps, to dissolve gums and resins, and to stiffen hats; but do not make them to burn men, and dissolve families, and stiffen corpses.

Far better would it be that the best of this bread corn should be eaten by men, at a cheaper rate than we can now get it;—and the remainder eaten by hogs and bullocks, to make our meat cheaper and better.

Let every man, as he lays down his nine or ten dollars to pay for his barrel of flour this week, consider the question, whether he is willing to pay a whiskey tax of ten or twenty per cent. on all the bread he eats or buys for his children.

PROVIDENCE, May 5.—The General Assembly to day passed an act repealing the compulsory part of the blind ballot law.

In so doing, they have shown very plainly, the blindness of party spirit. The origin of the blind ballot, as it is here termed, or as it really is, a secret ballot, is this.

In the Massachusetts Legislature, three or four years ago, there were three parties; but neither had a majority. They balloted many times; and once or twice there were more ballots counted than there were men present to vote. Somebody must have put in two votes. In this state of things, a whig moved to take a vote by ballots sealed up in separate envelopes. It was done, and a choice was effected. The Coalition, of Democrats and Free Soilers, held the political power in the State; and while they had it, they passed a secret ballot law for the people.

Against this law, no argument worthy a straw has ever been adduced,—for the reason that all the argument is on the other side: the law rendered double voting impossible; and also avoided the most odious espionage.

Yet the moment the whigs recovered their power, they amended this law, so as to make it optional with the voter to cover his vote or not: that is, they left the body of the law, but took out its soul.

In Rhode Island, the Democrats, when temporarily in power, passed a secret ballot law, in imitation of that in Massachusetts,—and now, as above stated, the Whigs have repealed it almost at the earliest dawn of their restoration to power.

What a profound regard, every honest man with brains in his head, must have for political parties, which often undo each others' good works, only because their opponents happened to perform them.

COPPER IN EAST TENNESSEE.—The Knoxville Register states that the copper mines in Polk county now yield five thousand tons of copper ore, worth $100 per ton, a month, although the mining operations are far from being fully developed. This is a product of $500,000 a month, and mineral lands have sold as high as $1,250,000 per quarter section. The coal and iron deposits are said to be still more valuable.

A FACT IN THE CASE.—In one of the New Orleans Courts on Tuesday week, while Benjamin T. Houghton, a lawyer, was making an argument in a case which his wife had brought to obtain a divorce, a constable came in and arrested him for abducting a young creole girl from the house of her father, a few days before, and concealing her in a house of ill-fame. He gave bonds in $1000.

We learn, says the Catskill Whig, that Johnson, the Saugerties clergyman who has recently been deposed by his church, has been arrested and committed to prison for drowning his wife and child last fall. Circumstances are brought to light which render the case clear enough to warrant a commitment.

ANNEXATION. The Charleston papers state that Mr. Fillmore declared in a recent speech in that city that both Cuba and Canada were destined to be annexed to this country.

☞ From a recent publication, entitled "Sight Drafts on the Million; or New York City, its Wards and Guardians," we extract the following notice of one of our advertising patrons; and as it contains some judicious remarks on the general subject of advertising, we commend it to the notice of our readers, more especially the merchants and mechanics in this vicinity:—

Gothic Hall, No. 316 Broadway, on the block between Duane and Pearl streets was built by the Masonic Fraternity in 1826, at a period prior to the supposed Morgan tragedy, and long before the anti-Masonic excitement commenced. It was then styled "Masonic Hall," but since that time it has successively been the "Whig Head Quarters," and "Halls of Temperance."

* * * * * * *

One part of the building is occupied by A. L. Scovill & Co., as a depot for the sale of Dr. Rogers' Syrup of Liverwort, Tar and Canchalagua, a most valuable lung medicine, recently placed in the market, and which is selling very rapidly.

It was first placed before the public in Cincinnati, in the year 1842, and the following year the sales amounted to 4000 bottles, the next year 16,000, and the succeeding twelve months 35,000 bottles. Up to this period, the principal ingredients were Liverwort and Tar, but a medical gentleman—a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Morrill—who had for many years devoted his researches to the nature and cure of pulmonary complaints—having purchased an interest in the compound, suggested the addition of the Canchalagua, a California plant, said to be of rare medicinal excellence. The improvement was made, and the result has seemed to fulfil the most sanguine expectations of the proprietors. In 1848, owing to the constantly increasing sale of the remedy, Dr. M. removed to the city of New York, and established himself at No. 65 Warren street, under the firm of A. L. Scovill & Co. It was not a large office which he occupied, but it was supposed to be sufficient for all purposes for some time to come; yet we find that, in eighteen months from that time, the firm found it imperative upon them to seek more enlarged accommodations, and Gothic Hall was rented for the purpose. The sale of the compound is now enormous, and is steadily on the increase—it being one of the best remedies for diseases of the lungs, and other pulmonary organs, extant—if not the very best!

The extraordinary success of this medicine may be attributed to two causes—one, the inherent excellence of the compound itself, and the other, the judicious method pursued by A. L. Scovill & Co., in placing the remedy before the public through the means of the press. We have, in the progress of these sketches, noticed so many instances of fortunes being rapidly accumulated through an extensive and systematic course of advertising, that renewed proofs would hardly seem necessary to strengthen our position.

There is scarcely a single business in the world, which may not be essentially benefitted by means of a reasonable expenditure in the advertising colums of a newspaper press; and it is among the histories of the past that through this medium hundreds of people have not only accomplished a vast amount of good, but have also become immensely wealthy by the sale of pills, ointments and sarsaparillas, skilfully compounded and adapted to the various diseases for which they are recommended.

This compound, sold by Messrs. A. L. Scovill & Co., is a really useful and successful remedy. It is prescribed continually by numbers of the regular medical faculty, and we are happy to see its reputation so firmly established. It is doing much good in cases of coughs, colds, bronchitis, and cases of incipient Consumption, and we presume its sale is fast accumulating a fortune for its proprietors.

YOUTH'S FRIEND.—We have received a copy of the Youth's Friend, for April. This is a youth's monthly paper, published by Longley and Brother, Cincinnati, at 50 cents per year, or in large clubs, half that sum.

The Ninth Vol. will commence on the 1st of June, so that this is a good time to subscribe. The work is literary, moral and religious, but not sectarian nor partisan. It would be a good work in a Sunday School, where 20 copies would cost $5 and a little postage.

A serious accident occurred on the Cape Cod Railroad on Friday afternoon. The down train just below Middleboro', came in contact with a carriage, which was crossing the track, in which were three ladies by the name of Washburn, overturned it and smashed it to pieces. One of the ladies was caught by the cow-catcher and from thence thrown upon the "cattleguard." Her head was badly fractured and she was otherwise severely and dangerously injured. She is not expected to survive her injuries. Another of the ladies had one of her legs broken and was also badly bruised. The third fortunately escaped without injury.—New Bedford Standard.

The physicians of St. Louis have combined for the purpose of keeping druggists to the pestle and mortar. They declare that the apothecary has no just right to put up a prescription the second time unless authorized in writing by the physician prescribing. Nor has said apothecary any right to make use of said prescription in any way unless by the consent of the physician. They pledge themselves to withhold their influence from any druggist who may thus act, and to use other means to make such conduct public; and further, that they will withhold their support from all apothecaries who persist in the reprehensible practice of prescribing for diseases.

At the opening of the Crystal Palace, in New York, on Thursday, there were some 10,000 persons present, three fifths of whom were from out of the city. Speeches were made by P. T. Barnum, Judge Campbell, Horace Greeley, and others. The aspect of the palace is said to be more beautiful than at the first opening, and the exhibition possesses great merit.

LOCAL.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.

The May Term of the Circuit Court of the United States commenced here on Monday; Hon. Matthew Harvey presiding.

Ralph Hall, Esq., of Greenland, was appointed foreman of the Grand Jury; Daniel Moulton, Esq., foreman of the Petit Jury.

Dennis Dulin, mate of the brig Arcadian, was indicted and tried for an assault and battery upon James Smith, the cook of the brig, on a voyage from Charleston to this port.—He was convicted, and sentenced to pay a fine of $20, and costs of prosecution.

John H. George, Dist. Atty., forthe U. S.; Samuel Storer, Esq. for deft.

Several actions upon the civil docket were disposed of without trial by the jury.

Wm. L. Foster, Esq., of Concord, and Horace Webster, Esq., of Portsmouth, were admitted attorneys and counsellors of the Court.

☞ Bayard Taylor, the celebrated traveller, and author of Views Afoot, is to lecture at the Temple, this evening, closing the course of the New Mechanic Lyceum. Tickets to be given up.

The Mechanic's Association are perfecting their arrangements for a course of Lectures next winter, and have announced the opening lecture on Tuesday, Nov. 7, by Rev. Henry Ward Beecher.

The Mercantile Library Association have all their lecturers engaged, and the first lecture of the course will be on Thursday, Nov. 2, by Rufus Choate of Boston. The reputation of this gentleman alone should be sufficient to secure the sale of season tickets for a crowded house.

For the Morning Chronicle.

THE OLD AND THE NEW.—Much has been said, Messrs. Editors, about the old church on the square, which is disappearing, piece by piece, to make room for a new and better building. Some think enough for a dozen such; but it has been the old house longer than any man now living can remember; and therefore please let me, an old citizen and old parishioner, have out my say.

As Solomon the wise, was appointed, with his correct views of the worship and law of God, to build a new and glorious temple for his worship, rather than his father, whose will and courage were quite as good, but who was divinely set aside on account of his wars: even so, may it not be that the high and free standard of Bible Truth adopted by the teachers of this and the coming day, is to leave behind the rigid or contracted measure of the iron bedstead whereon men's moral stature has been graduated?

Shall not the high standard of love now erected, be the banner of the people's gathering ever hereafter? The love of God to man, I mean, of man to man; and man to God. Under this standard the work must go on and prosper; even though strangers or great men might doubt or discourage as in the days when Nehemiah rebuilt Jerusalem. Under this standard and with this principle, a people can accomplish great purposes, erect large temples, and find them after all, not too spacious, but rather too strait. ☞

For the Chronicle.

"I come to bury Seizer—not to praise him.

Our City Fathers, as a farewell treat,
Propose to feed our dogs with poisoned meat;
They're wise—their Ordinance proves it—but I'm puzzled
To know how curs can eat, if first they're muzzled.

DOGBERRY.

RAILROAD CASE.—Our Dover correspondent informs us that at Ossipee, N. H., on Friday last, in the suit of Sanborn E. Carter vs. Boston, Concord and Montreal Railroad, for injuries received in September, 1852, the jury rendered a verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $6600. The case goes up on exceptions.—Boston Herald.

SAD ACCIDENT,—The Manchester Mirror says that Mr. Stephen Damon of Bedford Centre, four miles from that city, made a misstep one day last week and fell upon the water wheel of his saw mill when in motion, breaking his skull, his arm in several places, and injuring him in other respects.

ECCLESIASTICAL.—It is stated that Revt Joseph H. Towne, recently of the High Street Church, Lowell, has received an unanimous call from the First Congregational Church and Society, Bridgeport, Ct. Salary $1500.

Bob Ward, on his return to Louisville, addressed the following letter to his pistol repairer:—"Dear Sir:—I have just returned. Matt and Anna will come down this evening. Send me my pistols this evening. R. WARD."

To celebrate his liberty he went down street and got drunk.

In the Supreme Court at Lowell, on Thursday, the owner of the Museum buildings, destroyed by fire, recovered $2000 of two Concord (N. H.) insurance companies, who refused to pay their risks upon technical grounds.

MONUMENT TO REV. HOSEA BALLOU.—The collection at Mr. Chapin's church in New York on Sunday evening, for the purpose of building a monument to the Rev. Hosea Ballou, amounted to over $1000.

MARKETS.—New York, 8th.—Cotton firmer. Flour 12 1-2 cts better; sales 3000 brls; common to straight State $8 37 a 8 62; common to good Ohio 8 50 a 9 00; Southern very firm—sales 1000 brls mixed to good brands $9 a 9 25. AT THE CAMENEUM,

THIS EVENING,

Uncle Tom's Cabin.

Embracing the entire work of Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, being Religious, Moral, and of great National interest.

THIS deservedly Popular Drama is now being performed at the National Theatre, N. Y., with a success unparalleled in the history of the Stage, with new and beautiful characteristic scenery, new machinery, and appointments.

In six Acts, nine Tableaux and thirty-one Scenes.

During the performance of this Drama, embracing Mrs. Stowe's entire work, will be introduced the following SONGS, composed and arranged by Mr. G. C. Howard.

"Uncle Tom's Religion." "I'se so wicked." "Eva to her Papa." "I'se no Slave," by Glover. "Old Kentucky Home," by Foster. "The Other Side of Jordon," by Geo. Christy. "Medley Airs." Sacred Anthem, "Wake Isles of the South," by L. Mason.

TABLEAUX IN THE DRAMA.

1. The Escape of Eliza on the Ice. 2. The Trappers entrapped. 3. The Free Man's Defence. 4. Death of little Eva. 5. The last of St. Clair. 6. Topsey Butting the Yankee. 7. Cassy helping Uncle Tom. Death of Uncle Tom. Allegorical Tableau of little Eva in Heaven.

The great original Drama in Six Acts, dramatized from Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe's world-renowned Work, and being performed with wonderful success at the National Theatre, N.Y, every night since July 18, called

CONGRESS.

SATURDAY, May 6.

HOUSE.—Mr. Washburn of Maine presented resolutions of the Legislature of Maine, asking indemnity for lands taken to carry into effect the treaty of Washington, and in favor of the French Spoliation bill. Laid on the table, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Stephens of Michigan reported a bill to aid Minnesota in the construction of a railroad in that territory.

Nothing of consequence was done, and the House adjourned at half-past one. The Senate was not in session.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—THE MEXICAN TREATY.—The official copy of the new treaty with Mexico was only committed to Gen. Almonte yesterday. He immediately despatched two messengers with it, so as to meet the steamer of the 14th at New Orleans.

The Fulton has left the Navy Yard here for Norfolk, where she will await the arrival of Gen. Gadsden, who will take the original copy of the treaty to Santa Anna.

The friends of the Nebraska bill held a caucus last night, when they decided to oppose all amendments except the striking out of the Clayton clause. An exciting debate is expected to morrow. Col. Bissel, who was expected to make a strong speech against the bill, is dangerously ill.

A change of six votes in favor of the bill is generally conceded, but still its opponents are sanguine that their chance is the best on any vote which may be taken to-morrow.

THE TRUMPETER AT CHELSEA. — The "trumpeter of the approaching King," J. S. Orr, visited East Boston on Sunday, but as the police would not allow him to hold forth in Maverick square, he retired. In the afternoon, attended by a number of his admirers, he visited Chelsea in a carriage drawn by six horses, and was conducted to what is called the "Irish settlement," where he held forth in characteristic style against "popery." His harangue occasioned several fights, during which a policeman received a severe cut upon the head with a brick which was thrown into the crowd. The assault upon the officer was the signal for greater activity, and in order to swell the throng the alarm bells were sounded. The mob then proceeded to the Catholic Church, and threatened to pull it down, whereupon the authorities interfered. The riot-act was read, but the rioters refused to retire unless upon "compromise principles." If the authorities would allow them to take the cross from the steeple of the Catholic Church, they would withdraw, but not otherwise, in peace. Whether this proposition was assented to by the authorities, we know not; but at any rate a young man ascended the steeple, and dismounted the cross. By this time the military company had arrived and the mob dispersed. Fire-arms were discharged during the excitement, but we do not learn that any person was injured by their contents.

The most extravagant rumors were in circulation throughout Boston in the evening as to the transactions at Chelsea, But the above statement, which is based upon the facts derived from policemen, is, no doubt, correct. The cause of the quarrel and object of those who provoked it, are not very easily ascertained; but the disturbance, no doubt, was in part the result of the unhappy prejudice which has for some time past been brewing in certain quarters against the Catholics.

At East Boston on Sunday evening there was a large collection of persons in the vicinity of the Catholic Church, and violence was threatened. The Mayor was apprized of the fact, and despatched a large force of watchmen to protect the peace. Three or four persons were arrested, but they were all subsequently discharged, with the exception of one man named William Lewis.—Boston Courier.

TO MARINERS.

NANTUCKET NEW SOUTH SHOAL LIGHT VESSEL.—A light vessel will be placed during May, to mark the new South Shoal off Nantucket, and to guide vessels clear of danger in that vicinity.

This vessel will be fitted with two masts painted yellow, white mast heads, with an open work, oval black day mark, 5 feet in diameter, at an elevation of 63 feet from the water line.

The hull of the vessel will be red, with "Nantucket South Shoal" painted in large white letters on both sides.

The length of the vessel is about 100 feet; breadth of beam about 24 feet; height of gunwale above water, 11 feet; burden, 250 tons.

Two lights, (one on each mast) will be exhibited at an elevation of 44 feet above the level of the sea, each produced by 8 Argand fountain lamps, and parabolic reflectors, and should be seen in good weather, at an elevation of 15 feet above the water, at a distance of from 12 to 13 nautical miles.

During thick or foggy weather, a heavy bell will be kept constantly ringing.

The vessel will be placed in from 13 to 14 fathoms of water, about 1 or 1 1-2 miles to the southward of the southern extremity of the New South Shoal.

The position will be in about lat 40 56 30 North; lon 69 51 30 west from Greenwich.

In passing this light vessel, the following bearings and distances will be found to be sufficiently accurate to guide navigators in shaping their courses from positions near it: To centre of "Old South Shoal," (mag) N. by E., distant 8 miles; to "Tom Never's head," (mag) N 26 W, distant 21 miles: to "Block Island Lights," (mag) WNW, distant 78 miles: to light vessel off Sandy Hook, (mag) west, distant 180 miles.

Variations of the compass, 8 18 West.

Vessels bound to Boston Bay, or to that vicinity, when the weather is moderate, may, after passing the light vessel, steer an ENE course for 18 miles, leaving Fishing Rip on the starboard hand; from thence a N by W 1-2 W course for 38 miles, will bring up with the Chatham Lights.

The attention of the mariners is particularly invited to the setting of the currents in the vicinity of these Shoals, as shown by the Coast Survey Chart, and it must not be forgotten that the compass courses cannot be depended upon without having regard to the time of tide and its set.

AN ELEGY

ON THE DEATH OF A MAD DOG.

BY OLIVER GOLDSMITH.

Good people all, of every sort,
Give ear unto my song;
And if you find it wondrous short,
It cannot hold you long.

In Islington there was a man,
Of whom the world might say,
That still a godly race he ran,
Whene'er he went to pray.

A kind and gentle heart he had,
To comfort friends and foes;
The naked every day he clad,
When he put on his clothes.

And in that town a dog was found,
As many dogs there be,
Both mongrel, puppy, whelp, and hound,
And curs of low degree.

This dog and man at first were friends;
But when a pique began,
The dog to gain his private ends,
Went mad, and bit the man.

Around from all the neighboring streets
The wondering neighbors ran,
And swore the dog had lost his wits,
To bite so good a man.

The wound it seemed both sore and sad,
To every Christian eye;
And while they swore the dog was mad
They swore the man would die.

But soon a wonder came to light,
That showed the rogues they lied;
The man recovered of the bite,
The dog it was that died.

DR. ORDWAY'S HUMOR DISCOVERY,

AND BLOOD PURIFIER.

DR. ORDWAY has been using his Blood Purifier in his practice for the last seven years with great success. He has often been urged by his friends and those who have tried it, and know its efficacy, to put it within the reach of all. He has now added to it an Herb, discovered in California, by Dr. KELLEY, which makes it the most wonderful remedy for

HUMORS OF ALL KINDS,

LIVER COMPLAINTS AND CHRONIC DISEASES.

The virtues of this Herb were first made known to Dr. Kelley by an Indian, while attending a patient, sick with that terrible disease, the California Erysipelas and Liver Complaint—the effect was astonishing—curing the man in a few days. The native, when bitten by a rattlesnake, or rabid animal, resort to this Herb for a cure.—Hundreds are taking this medicine, after trying in vain other remedies, and say that the half was never told them.

If you have Erysipelas, 3 to 5 bottles will cure it.
If you have Scrofula, 3 to 7 bottles will cure it.
Three to six bottles will cure Salt Rheum.
One or two bottles will cure Pimples on the Face.
Two or three bottles will cure Scaly Eruptions and Scald Head.
One to three bottles will cure Nursing Sore Mouth
One to three bottles will cleanse the system of Biles.
Two to five bottles will cure Rheumatism.
Three to four bottles will cure old running Sores and Ulcers.
One or two bottles will cure Barber's Itch.
One to three bottles will cure Canker in the mouth and bowels.

For Liver Complaints and Jaundice.

Its effects are new and wonderful, removing obstructions from the Liver, open the pores of the skin, carrying off the morbid matter, relieving the side, and all-gone feelings of the stomach; and removing low spirits and despondency, which is the result of this disagreeable and often fatal disease.

FOR DYSPEPSIA.

A fair trial will convince you that there is nothing like it.

FOR CANCEROUS HUMORS.

It is the surest remedy ever offered. One widow lady in Lawrence, has been troubled with Cancer for years, by taking two bottles says she is now quite well.

FOR COSTIVENESS.

One gentleman says that it was the only medicine that cured him.

FOR KIDNEY DIFFICULTIES.

It is spoken of in the highest terms. A young man was sick so much with Asthma that he had to leave College; three bottles cured him, and he has now resumed his studies. One lady in Salem was perfectly cured of Periodical Sick Headache, by the use of two bottles. Mr. Williams, of Lawrence, had humors in his eyes for years, and was cured by the use of the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier. For Chills and Fever, Mercurial Diseases, Taints in the System, it stands unrivalled; sometimes where the system is much deranged it will cause disagreeable feelings at first, but continue its use as indications favorable. It is purely vegetable, and its compound and proportions are such that the effect is perfectly satisfactory and safe.

FULL DIRECTIONS ON THE BOTTLE.

HE HAS ALSO A HUMOR SALVE,

Unsurpassed for external humors, which, if used in connection with the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier will much facilitate a cure.

PRICE 25 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Dr. Ordway's Cough Destroyer.

This invaluable Cough Remedy is for the complete cure of Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Influenza, Whooping Cough, pains in the side and breast, hacking or tickling at the throat, spitting blood, tightness across the lungs and chest, and all Lung Complaints leading to Consumption.

No medicine yet discovered has that decided effect in curing Bronchia affections as the Cough Destroyer. It can be taken by all ages and classes, from a child six months old to the oldest man or woman, with the most happy results.

PRICE 50 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Dr. Ordway's Pain Destroyer.

This preparation is composed of a great variety of Extracts, Gums, Essential Oils, most of which have not heretofore been united and compounded into their present form. It will cure attacks of Cramps of the Stomach, Spasms, Convulsions, Faintings, Pain in the Stomach, Bowels, Side, Back, Limbs, and a great variety of other difficulties. It is also invaluable as an external remedy. It will be found to contain nearly double the strength of any similar article, and possesses properties heretofore unknown. No family should be without it for a single day.

PRICE 25, 37½ AND 50 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Full directions for the above medicines, on the Bottles. Orders should be accompanied with full directions how it should be sent.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

COUGH CANDY.

Warranted free from Mercury, Opium, or any Mineral Ingredient. It injures no one, but benefits all.

Relief guaranteed in five minutes.

NEVER, since the Science of Medicine first dawned upon the World, has any compound gained such extraordinary popularity, in so short a time as DR. HOWE'S Hygeian, Hoarhound and Liverwort COUGH CANDY, in curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Difficulty of Breathing, Bleeding at the Lungs, Pain in the Side and Breast, Sore Throat, Croup, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Hoarseness or any other Symptom of that distressing malady, Consumption.

A host of Certificates can be presented, but the following from Rev. J. M. Trimble, Presiding Elder of the Cincinnati District M. E. Church, must satisfy all of the beneficial results of the use of this Cough Candy.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 25, 1847.

DR. HOWE—SIR: I have used Howe's Cough Candy and have found it a pleasant remedy for Hoarseness, and believe that public speakers troubled with diseases of the throat would find benefit from its use. J. M TRIMBLE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two sculleries, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the markets, factories and railroads. Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the navy yard. It is centrally located between the different ship-yards in that section of the city. each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lowd and is in good order. Attached to it is a lot of land large enough for a stable or for another dwelling house. It would make a good place for the residence of a person employed at the shipyards across the river, or at the Navy Yard.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 47 Bow street.—This house has been built but a few years, is well finished off, and is very convenient. In the rear is quite a large garden spot. This would be a desirable place for a person employed at the shipyards, or at the Navy Yard nearly opposite.

Also, for sale, a BUILDING LOT, on Mount Vernon street, (opposite No. 2,) with a small building thereon, which can be finished off into a Dwelling house.

All of the above property will be sold on liberal terms, if applied for soon. For further particulars apply to JOSEPH M. EDMONDS,

Feb. 27. No. 9 Islington street.

STEAMERS AND ICE.

An English steamer, bound for Quebec, has arrived at Portland. The Argus of Saturday says:—

Our citizens were surprised yesterday forenoon by the signalizing from the Observatory, of a steamship in the offing, and the signal, (a white ground with a Beaver in the centre) denoted that it was one of the Canada line of steamers from Liverpool. The impression was of course that it must be the Cleopatra, which sailed on the 11th of April from Liverpool for Quebec. This proved to be the case, and the C. reached her wharf at about 12 o'clock. It appears that after reaching the mouth of the St. Lawrence she met with a severe storm, had her bulwarks stove, and met with large quantities of ice; so that it was deemed prudent to relinquish the attempt to get to Quebec, and steer for Portland. She brings 270 passengers. Two deaths, two births and one marriage occurred on board during the passage. The C. on the 19th ult. fell in with Br. ship Bellona, Pugsley, from Bristol, (England) for Quebec in a sinking condition, with 600 tons of railroad iron, shipped a sea the day previous which stove in her stern. Took off officers and crew, eighteen in all. The ship it was supposed, sunk in four hours after, as she was fast settling. One of the crew of the B. jumped overboard from the steamer, in a fit of insanity. The captain is now very sick on board the Cleopatra. The steamer saw a large number of vessels in the ice, near the St. Lawrence. The opinion of the officers and passengers were, that the passage across the Atlantic was the roughest they had ever experienced.

The Advertiser says:

It will be seen that the steamer had a pretty severe time of it. While she was among the ice she was struck with such force as to make a hole through her bow, half a foot or so below the water line. The Captain, with a presence of mind that entitles him to the highest commendation, immediately called all the passengers and men to the aft part of the ship, by which means her bow was raised out of the water, so as to permit of the injury being repaired. Is there not reason to fear that the steamship City of Glasgow, from Liverpool for Philadelphia, now out over 60 days, has received a similar, but more extensive mishap, and gone to the bottom.

MRS. PARTINGTON AT THE PLAY.—It was our fortune, the other day, at the Museum, to sit behind Mrs. Partington, during the performance of Romeo and Juliet, and we were much interested at the effect of the play on her unsophisticated mind. It was to her an all-absorbing reality. The characters were real characters, and Mercutio and Tybalt were as sensibly killed as though she had felt for their pulse and found it not. She criticised Juliet's haste to get married, and said that they didn't do so when she was young, and didn't believe so beautiful a young lady would have gone unmarried if Romeo wouldn't have had her, and gracious knows he seemed to love her terribly, though hot love, she knew, was soon cold. But it was at the scene where Romeo bought the 'pizen' that she became most excited. 'It's agin the law to sell it to him,' said she, half aloud, and turned around to see if Patterson was anywhere within hailing distance. But that functionary looked calmly on nor raised a finger to stay the fatal draught. She saw through the whole plot, and knew that Juliet had taken nothing but a sleeping potion, and wasn't dead.

'Won't somebody go down and tell the poor creature she isn't dead?' said she, wringing her hands, and dropping a tear upon the bill in her lap—'the dear young man will do something harmonious to himself, if somebody doesn't stop him.'

The scene shifted and the tomb of all the Capulets was revealed, with the grief of the noble Count Paris and the violence of Romeo in killing him, and when the latter drank the poison, she uttered the faint ejaculation, 'I told you so,' and bowed her head forward to shut out the scene which she knew must follow, by so doing chafing the neck of a young man in the front seat with her bonnet, while Ike sat wondering at what they did with all the dead folks that they killed at the theatres. When Mrs. Partington raised her eyes the green curtain was down and the bodies of Romeo and Juliet were bowing their thanks to the audience for a complimentary call.—Boston Post.

"KENTUCKY STATUTES."—A correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, writing from Louisville, says: "A large dealer in pistols and bowie knives sold nearly out yesterday. They are now called Kentucky statutes. Old men say they have seen nothing like the present feeling for twenty years."

The New York Canals are all in good navigable condition, notwithstanding the severe test to which they have been exposed by the recent freshets.

CLERICAL AND SECULAR.—The following from the Cleveland Plaindealer intimates that preaching doesn't pay in that vicinity:

The Rev. D. Pickands, the eloquent and popular divine, who so long dispensed the gospel to our neighbors across the river, has abandoned the profession, and is now a Clerk in the Canal Commissioner's Office.

The Rev. A. McReynolds, late Pastor of the Presbyterian Church at East Cleveland, has also laid off the surplice and gown, (if such things they wear,) and is now the popular station keeper at the Euclid Depot.

The Rev. B. K. Maltby, late of the Methodist Church, St. Clair street, devotes his time to the American Monthly Magazine.

The Rev. William Day, the well known and popular Chaplain of the Mariner's Church, and he whom every sailor on the Lake reverenced as a holy father, has abandoned the profession, and is selling hats and bonnets by wholesale for A. Fuller & Co.

The Rev. J. H. Breck, whilom of the Presbyterian persuasion in this city, is farming it in the south part of the county.

The Rev. Mr. North has been sometime in the Daguerreian business.

The Rev. Mr. Fuller, now of Brighton, is also farming it a little, and attending to other matters more congenial.

The Rev. Mr. Burritt, who, a few years ago, fed hungry souls from the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church in Franklin Mills, is now feeding the physical man. He keeps a boarding house in this city.

There is, doubtless, much more of truth than of poetry in this descriptive list. Every housekeeper in the land, knows that expenses have greatly increased. Every employer of men knows that wages are high. The ministers above named, had lived on their old stipends,—but found them inadequate when every thing eatable had advanced in price.—Their people did not see it or think of it; but the preachers felt it; and like like men as they are, they resolved to earn an honest living some other way, as their old means of support failed.

Mr. Borland's Treaty with Nicaragua will not be sent to the Senate, principally because it contains a provision making an alliance both offensive and defensive; but negotiations are now going forward between Mr. Marcy and Mr. Marcoletta for a new treaty, which will obviate the difficulties of that of Mr. Borland.

JAPAN EXPEDITION.—Nothing of importance has been received from Commodore Perry, but the government have received advices, deemed to be from a reliable source, corroborating the news of the Russians having succeeded in effecting a treaty with Japan.

The Washington Union of Wednesday announces that the purpose of the friends of the Nebraska bill is to move, on Monday next, to put aside all bills standing before the House Nebraska bill, and take up and ultimately dispose of it.]

Madame Sontag and her troupe arrived at Mexico the 12th ult. She was received with great attention—numbers riding out to meet her on the road, and carrying her into the city in a carriage drawn by six white horses, and at night the German Philharmonic Society greeted her with a serenade.

LAKE CRAFT.—They have large ships upon the lakes as well as upon the ocean. The Cleveland Herald mentions the arrival there of the Canada from Buffalo, a craft of 1100 tons burthen, which has carried 50,000 bushels of grain at a trip.

The Washington Union of Wednesday announces that the purpose of the friends of the Nebraska bill is to move, on Monday next, to put aside all bills standing before the house Nebraska bill, and take up and ultimately dispose of it.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 10, 1854.

"In Peace prepare for War."—We should not have so great an aversion to this war motto, were it not for the fact, that when a nation gets well prepared for war, she will generally plunge into it. She must fight somewhere, or else all the costly preparations will avail nothing, except injuring the popularity of the government. Understanding that an effort is about to be made in Congress for suspending our neutrality laws in respect to Spain, in order to make a plunge into Cuba, we would suggest something more efficient than the six new war-steamers. Were they already built and ready for action, our whole navy would not be a match for the remaining war vessels of either France or England, which are not yet ordered to the Baltic and the Black Seas, exclusive of the Spanish naval force.

Mr. Bocock of Va., in his recent speech in the House of Representatives, to authorize the construction of six first class steam frigates, says that England and France have 995 war vessels, carrying 24,474 guns, while the United States have 69 war vessels, carrying 2,029 guns. If we have got to build a navy sufficient to cope with foreign powers, in order to annex Cuba, it would cost more than all the revenue we have on hand, and afterwards it would be necessary to double the revenue to support the navy. It is very true that the Slave States consider that their slavery would not be safe, should the slaves of Cuba be set free by Spain, under the influence of France and England, as the example would be dangerous, they say.

But if the free States shall be taxed for three fourths of the expense of building a navy sufficient for such a war, and supporting it afterwards, should we finally succeed in taking Cuba, it would be rather a costly affair—as Franklin said, we might pay too dear for the whistle. But should Spain choose to set her Cuban negroes free, why need we intervene? Non intervention is a popular doctrine.—Should we undertake to interfere in the affairs of foreign powers—to shape their policy and dictate their laws, we may soon have our hands full. Would it not be better to mind our own business at home? T.

Nevertheless, we wish to be understood as protesting only against injustice and bad faith towards other nations, and against folly at home. We would acquire Cuba—not because we need it, but because many of our people desire it, and it lies near us—we would get it honorably and honestly. If it should come as a free State, so much the better.

GOVERNMENT FUNDS.—By the telegraphic news from Congress, it will be seen that the present administration, in paying off eighteen or nineteen millions of debt, have paid out two millions and a half of dollars in premiums.

If this is correctly reported, it is the most remarkable financiering we ever heard of.—We can hardly believe that any merchant would pay 12 1-2 per cent. advance on his debts, when he was at the same time giving new notes.

At Adrian, Michigan, last week, Edmund Granby, jr., was sentenced by Judge Wing to two years imprisonment in the state prison, for the seduction of Mary Doty under promise of marriage.

An excellent law, and wholesome discipline.

THE TRIAL OF MAJOR WYSE.—Fifth Day. On Monday, the fifth day of trial, Isaac W. Ayres testified that he had been an engineer twenty eight years. He had examined the engine of the Falcon, and thought it defective in no respect save in the valve of the steam chest, which was out of order. It would take one to three days to repair this difficulty. A trial trip to sea before the commencement of the voyage would have discovered it, or the careful examination of a competent engineer would have exposed it without a trial trip.

Capt. James W. Lowe, for the defence, testified that the construction of the Falcon was not originally imperfect. Subsequently, however, a heavy topgallant forecastle was put upon her, which strained and hogged her. Afterwards the position of her wheel-houses was shifted, and an upper saloon built upon her deck. These additions and changes ruined her, and her reputation as a sea-worthy vessel was very poor of late.

John English, for the prosecution, testified that he was one of the builders of the ship, and believed her a good, sea-worthy steamer, and built in a thorough manner.

A large portion of the long bridge across the Potomac was burnt on Sunday morning. The fire commenced on the south side of the draw-bridge over the north channel, and extended so that the land communication with Alexandria is cut off.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times says that five years' residence in Cuba is sufficient to send back the most needy and unscrupulous adventurer gorged with wealth, laden with the execration of all humane men.

Judgment for $44 and costs has just been obtained in a New York court against an editor, for champagne which he furnished upon the occasion of his compositors presenting a gold watch to him.

For the Chronicle.

BE COURTEOUS.

'Be courteous.' This exhortation is apostolic. You, who have Bibles, will find it recorded in the First Epistle of St. Peter, third chapter, and eighth verse. And those of you who have no Bible, can get one by calling on the city's friend, Mr. Abbott. Peter had experienced the disadvantages of being discourteous, and was therefore prepared to appreciate the advantages of being courteous; and he was also prepared, by that discipline, to exhort thereunto.

'Be courteous.' If you meet with a little beggar boy or girl, saying to you—'A penny if you please, sir;'—don't say 'no' with an emphasis which might be interpreted as harsh, by a passer by, on the other side of the street. If you meet with an old lady who looks poor,—not being dressed in the mode—help her over a difficulty that lies in her way; no matter if you are a gentleman. Some may think you are plebeian, but don't mind that; perhaps she is mother to somebody; and perhaps your mother is living. If you fall in with a drunken man, don't laugh as you pass him. Men often fall among thieves, and they deserve your warmest pity. On this subject you can learn a good lesson as you pass friend Thacher's store. You will sleep better at night, for having acted the part of the Good Samaritan during the day. If you meet a mechanic, with his coat off and his sleeves rolled up, don't turn up your——face at him. Perhaps he has children at home who get their bread from his labor. If you meet with any body you know, and he speaks to you, don't look like a dog with his tail cut off, but speak out like a man; your acquaintances will have more respect for you for it.

Sometimes, for some cause or other, with or without reason, a person holds up a stiff grudge against another. Supposing it to be reasonable and right that you should feel offended at another, will that justify you in passing that person on the street, with your face snarled up, or with the outline of stoic indifference, as if you were now to give him a practical exhibition of the most determined disposition to cut his acquaintance? If we really do pity any man, it is one who resorts to such modes of doing himself an injury.

'Be courteous.' Courtesy never made an enemy; on the other hand it has made many friends. If you are a tradesman, be courteous; it is good stock. If you are a merchant, be courteous; it will pay a good per centage on the amount invested. If you are a lawyer, be courteous; it pays good fees. If you are a physician, be courteous; it procures patients, and secures the respect of the profession. If you are a clergyman, be courteous; your parish, and other parishes, and your brethren in the ministry will love you the more; the children especially expect you to be courteous, if you are the parish minister. See the little laughing girls and boys, ceasing to trundle the hoop, or putting up the ball, as the minister passes, and coming up near to him, to get a smile, or a kind word from him. And how will they run home and tell mother that they saw the minister, 'and he patted me on the head, and he told me to be a good girl.' Next Sunday that little girl's mother pays more attention to the sermon. If you are a gentleman, of course you will be courteous, whatever walk in life you may pursue. If you are a lady, of course you will be courteous to every body. The good will of a dog is better than his ill will; and even the terrible Robin Hood could appreciate a kindness. 'If thine enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him drink, for in so doing, thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head. Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good.' *

NEW YORK RELIGIOUS ANNIVERSARIES.—This is "Anniversary Week" in New York, and large numbers of people are gathered there who take interest in the various celebrations. On Sunday evening there were meetings of the New York Bible Society, before which Rev. Mr. Halloway preached a sermon, of the "American Female Guardian Society and Home for the Friendless;" of the American Home Missionary Society, which was addressed by Rev. Dr. Smith of Marietta College, Ohio; of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, which showed a commendable balance sheet with regard to its funds; and the American and Foreign Christian Union, before which Rev. Dr. Cleveland of Northampton, delivered an address, though to a small audience. The meetings will continue until the last of the week.

An assault was made upon John Low, Esq., in Bangor, early on Friday morning, by an Irishman named Welch, by which Mr. Low was severely injured. He was walking down street, when Welch appeared and struck him upon the head, knocking him down. On recovering from the stunning effect of the blow, Mr. Low sought the police, and Welch was arrested. The cause of this conduct of Welch probably originated in some aid which Mr. Low afforded the police in arresting and confining Welch several days ago.—Courier.

ERIE, Pa., May 8.—During the morning services yesterday, the Catholic Church was so very crowded, in consequence of the presence of the Bishop, that the gallery gave way, precipitating the occupants on the ground. One person was instantly killed and several others very badly injured, three of whom are not expected to recover.

LOCAL.

☞ Bayard Taylor, the oriental traveller, closed the course of lectures before the New Lyceum, at the Temple last evening, by his well arranged lecture on the Arabs, which has been repeatedly noticed elsewhere.

His residence and travel of seven months among the Arabs, and his knowledge of their language, enabled and induced him to draw a more favorable picture of the Arab Character, than we have been accustomed to see; and this work was done well; for he exhibited some of their leading characteristics, good and evil. He gave us also some fair and clear views of their moral precept and practice, of their literature, and of their religious faith and character.

But he gave us almost nothing, after all, of Arab Life: he did not tell us how the Arabs ate and drank and slept; how they were clothed or housed; what were their ornaments, utensils or arms; did not notice their amusements, or say what are their ceremonies of marriage, burial or worship.

While, therefore, he gave us an able lecture of its kind, he did not give us what we expected—a traveller's story of the people's life, which he could have done so much better than almost any one else.

SHIP MIDNIGHT.—This is rather a dark name for a beautiful clipper ship, just completed by Messrs. Fernald & Pettigrew of this city, for Mr. Henry Hastings of Boston. The ship is of about 900 tons; and is built in the most thorough manner, entirely of New Hampshire white oak. She is said to be the only oak built clipper ever launched in this country. She is now advertised to load for California, at Boston, to sail about the 1st of June. Wherever she may go, she will compare favorably with any ship, and is but another monument of the skill and fidelity of the Portsmouth ship builders. She sails to-day for Boston, if the wind is favorable.

PLEASANT ST. CHRISTIAN SOC.—Rev. Mr. Bryant—having completed his six months' engagement with the Pleasant Street Society, closed his labors there with the last Sabbath. The Society with which he was connected at Eastport, Me., previous to his coming to this city, and from which he was obliged to separate on account of the location not agreeing with his health, are very desirous for him to return to his old charge.

☞ The annual meeting of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad, will be holden this afternoon at 2 o'clock, at Jefferson Hall in this city.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN will be presented this evening, for the last time, at the Cameneum. All who have not seen this beautiful drama, should attend to night.

CONGRESS.

MONDAY, May 8.

SENATE.—In the Senate this morning, Mr. Douglas presented a memorial from 504 clergymen of the North Western States, against the Nebraska bill. On presenting the memorial, which is a copy of the Chicago one, Mr. Douglas made a long speech, deprecating the charges alleged against him of having falsified the language of the memorial in his letter and the reply thereto.

The Chair laid before the Senate a statement from the Secretary of the Treasury of the amount of stocks and other government securities, redeemed since the 3d of March, 1853. The whole amount of stocks redeemed is $18,813,714; premim paid on same, $2,659,902. Amount of stock issued and authorised to be issued, including the Texas indemnity, Treasury notes, &c., for which the United States is liable, outstanding, was $50,316,000.

The Chair also presented a message from the President, transmitting copies of the correspondence of Mr. Barnard, late U. S. Minister at Berlin, with the King of Prussia, relating to religious toleration; and also with the authorities of Bremen and other places, respecting the arrest of certain Americans.—Referred.

The veto on the Insane Land bill was postponed to Wednesday.

The Homestead bill was postponed to Tuesday week. Adjourned.

HOUSE.—In the House Mr. Richardson of Illinois moved to go into committee of the whole, avowing his intention to be, should the motion succeed, to move to lay aside all preceding business, and take up the Nebraska bill—carried by a vote of 109 yeas to 88 nays.

The House then went into Committee, Mr. Olds of Ohio in the Chair. After some discussion all the preceding business, including the Deficiency bill, was laid aside by an average vote of about 99 to 33 on each bill; and after some tumultuous proceedings, and several ineffectual motions for the Committee to rise, the Nebraska-Kanzas bill was taken up, when Mr. Richardson said he proposed to offer a substitute for the bill, which would be substantially the Senate bill with the omission of the Clayton amendment, and the addition of a few other immaterial amendments.

A debate ensued, in which Mr. Hibbard of New Hampshire supported the bill, and Mr. Lyons of New York opposed it in a long and characteristic speech, during the delivery of which he was frequently applauded.

A motion to lay the Nebraska bill on the table was defeated by a vote of 105 to 85. Adjourned.

Lieut. Strain having returned from his exploring expedition, expresses the opinion that it is no more possible to build a railroad across the Isthmus, than a railroad to the moon.—Boston Post.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

Steamship Daniel Webster arrived at New Orleans, May 6th, and the Star of the West arrived at New York on the 8th, bringing California dates to April 15.

The George Law has also arrived at New York, and she brings the California mails of April the 15th and $847,573 treasures on freight, and 584 passengers.

The amount brought by all three steamers, comes up to about $3,000,000.

Mr. Borland intended returning from Nicaragua by the next steamer.

Among the passengers are Gov. Stephens, of Washington Territory, Hon. Mr. Hall, and Rev. O. C. Wheeler, first Baptist Missionary to California.

California markets are not very encouraging to shippers from this side.

The land route across the Isthmus was in good order.

Business continues to improve, and the general opinion is that the State was never in a more prosperous condition. Sufficient bread stuffs will be raised this season to supply the entire State.

The suit of Thorn and others vs. the City of San Francisco, has been decided by the Supreme Court of the State in favor of the plaintiffs, and confirming their rights to all the city lands, valued at several millions of dollars.

A lump of pure gold, weighing 27 lbs., has been found at Yankee Hill, near Columbus, by a poor Italian.

Four men were killed at Iowa Hill by the caving in of a large mass of earth.

Col. H. P. Watkins, recently convicted of fillibustering, has been sentenced by Judge Hoffman to pay a fine of $1500. Major Emery, who pleaded guilty to a similar offence, was also sentenced to pay a like fine.

The ship Challenge, with the troops enlisted by the Mexican Consul, sailed for Guyamas on the 2d ult. She was libelled by the U. S. Marshal, but released on giving the proper bonds.

The sloop of war Portsmouth sailed from San Diego on the 4th of April for the Gulf of California, to look after the fillibusters.

Walker and his band have evacuated Lower California and are gone—no one knows where, but perhaps to Texas. They drove off 300 or 400 head of cattle belonging to the rancheros of Lower California.

On the last trip of the Sierra Nevada from San Juan to San Francisco, a passenger named John Gardner, killed William Pratt, the 2d officer of the steamer. Gardner has been indicted for manslaughter.

The completion of the Sacramento Water Works was celebrated on the 6th.

Thos. Nailing killed George Dunn on board the steamer John L. Stephens, on her passage from Panama. Nailing was kept in custody until the steamer arrived in port, and then suffered to escape.

The arrivals from Oregon and the Sandwich Islands bring no important news.

The Fugitive Slave Law has passed the Senate by a very large majority. It had previously passed the Assembly.

The news from Mexico is of a highly interesting nature. Santa Anna has blockaded Acapulco, and the government troops and those of the revolutionary party are busily engaged in fighting.

The steamer John L. Stephens was ordered off by two ships of war, looking like French ships, which composed Santa Anna's blockading Squadron. Capt. Pearsons, of the J. L. Stevens, was informed by the commander that his orders were imperative from Santa Anna, to allow no vessels to pass, and that if he attempted it, he would fire into him.

The engineer reported that there were sufficient coals to reach Panama, and the ship was accordingly put on her course for that port.

During the detention of the John L. Stevens at Acapulco, shots were frequently exchanged between the two vessels and the fort, but without effect on either side. Santa Anna, with an army variously estimated at from 3000 to 5000 men, was encamped in the neighborhood, and it was expected he would attack the town during the night.

From the Panama Herald of April 14, we learn that on Sunday, Lt. Strain and his companions returned from San Miguel in H. B. M. ship Virago, and on the same evening the party started across the Isthmus under the command of Lt. Traxton, to join the Cyane at Aspinwall.

Mr. F. A. Bogg of Ohio, an engineer attached to the expedition, died on Sunday of debility.

Lt. Strain and Mr. Maury left for Aspinwall yesterday morning. The Cyane will sail immediately for New York, touching at Havana for provisions.

On the 13th, at San Francisco, a portion of the walls of the U. S. bonded warehouses at the corner of Union and Battery streets, fell with a loud crash, carrying a portion of the three floors to the ground. A large quantity of bonded goods, chiefly liquors in casks and cases, were precipitated in a confused mass below, causing considerable damage by breakage. Damage to building about $5000 to $8000 and to the goods about a like amount. These buildings, which are three stories high, were erected about two years since and leased to the U. S. Government for ten years, by G. K. Eldredge, the owner, at the rate of $3000 per month.

On the morning of the 15th the steamer Secretary, which left San Francisco at 10 o'clock for Tetaluma, burst her boilers while crossing Table Bay, causing death and destruction in every direction. The boat was blown to pieces. Fourteen persons were killed, and twenty eight wounded.

BANGOR, May 8.—Bangor has accepted the loan bills for the Oldtown and Lincoln and Penobscot and Kennebec Railroads by the handsome majority of 1481 yeas to 76 nays. This insures the immediate building of the projected railroad.

The commercial position of the Spanish ministry, the London Times says, is some degrees lower than Spanish ministers have ever been before, which will much distress such Americans as side with Spain against Cuba.—Boston Post.

PAPER MACHE ORNAMENTS.

THE subscriber has been appointed Sole Agent in the City and County for the sale of all goods manufactured by the BOSTON PAPIER MACHE CO., and has now in store an assortment of their goods, which the citizens of Portsmouth are invited to examine.

Papier Mache has been extensively introduced into Boston, and is much used for the embellishment of ships' cabins, churches, dwelling houses and other buildings, also for picture frames, chimney ornaments, &c.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, worms looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cared them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 16 lbs.; and another 7 lbs.—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eye, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 70, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns.

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for seven years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it does.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. If the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him.

Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to cleanse the dandruff outof the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular wrapped round each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS VIRULENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it only lays them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 76 state Street, oppo. Kilby street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby our applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there was none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in advising inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents."

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two outlets, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the markets, factories and railroads. Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the north end. It is centrally located between the different ship-yards in that section of the city. Each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lowd and is in good order. Attached to it is a lot of land large enough for a Stable or for another dwelling house. It would make a good place for the residence of a person employed at the shipyards near the river, or at the Navy Yard.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 47 Bow street.—This house has been built but a few years, is well finished off, and is very convenient. In the rear is quite a large garden spot. This would be a desirable place for a person employed at the shipyards, or at the Navy Yard nearly opposite.

Also, for sale, a BUILDING LOT, on Mount Vernon street, (opposite No. 2,) with a small building thereon, which can be finished off into a Dwelling house.

All of the above property will be sold on liberal terms, if applied for soon. For further particulars apply to JOSEPH M. EDMONDS,

MORNING CHRONICLE.

BY MILLERS & GRAY. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., THURSDAY, MAY 11, 1854. VOLUME 4. NO. 85.

THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE

is published by

FRANK W. MILLER, SAMUEL GRAY, & THOS. W. MILLER,

At No. 4 Exchange Buildings,

Pleasant Street,.....PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

TERMS $4 a year, or $3 if paid strictly in advance.

The Weekly Chronicle,

A family newspaper, containing the news of the week, with carefully selected miscellany, &c., is published every Saturday morning—at $1 a year in advance.

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three insertions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.

☞ All accounts settled semi-annually.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING promptly executed.

A bow-wow-woo for the Chronicle.

If a cat may look on a king, a poor dog may drop a word to the City Council. Please, sirs, why am I chained? Why am I muzzled? Why is a death-writ issued against me? I was born free. I no thief. I no bite. I no get drunk. I no sell drink. I am not mad, most noble Fathers. I am only a poor little dog, but I can put my paw on my heart and declare that I have always tried to do the best I know how—and can folks with souls say that I wonder? ah woe's me! No frisk in the sunshine—no walk with master—no watching the old house by night—degraded from duty, deprived of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness—and all what for? Please, sirs, what for! I sit at the door of my lonely kennel the livelong day, an outcast, an outlaw. I no wag tail—I no gnaw bone. I sigh "puir old Tray." But sometimes I keep up a terrible thinking. Now because one dog bite man and make him crazy and he die and that dog live way off, what for Portsmouth dogs suffer? What for are our Newfoundlands, St. Benards, pointers and setters, spaniels and gray hounds, faithful dogs, honest dogs, honorable dogs, honored dogs, Sabbath-keeping dogs and all the little doggies, what for are they hunted down and outlawed, and muzzled and murdered—may it please your Honors, what for?

Now there are men with their two legs and souls who make folks crazy and cause them to die awful deaths too—howling and raving and cursing—why don't you muzzle them, your honors? They don't bite to be sure, but they give drink, and drink that maddens, and what's the moral difference between a bite and a drink? What the moral difference between delirium tremens and hydrophobia, I should like to know—and which is there the most of, I should like to know?

I am only a poor little dog, your Honors. The effects 'bout alike, symptoms pretty much so—they both bate water like pizen. Well, your Honors, why don't you muzzle them? Why do they go at large, making a business of it, carrying death and disease and torment into family after family, upon little children and grown up men, and upon strong young men, making many a poor dog blush for his master. Ask that famous old fellow with a late memory, the oldest inhabitant, and he will tell you, that never a case of hydrophobia in dog or man, was ever known in Portsmouth with its fresh air and plenty of pure water; but ask him how it's been with the other case: no dog will blush at his answer, I'll warrant you. Please your Honors, consistency is a jewel, a very big one, but I'm only a little dog, I specs I hasn't growed to see it.

ONE OF THE DOGGIES.

BENEVOLENCE.—We make much parade about great acts, but often we pass by a great act that in a mere careless view seems trivial. He that gives a cup of water from a right motive does a great action, intrinsically,—though it seems a very small one. Our excellent bachelor friend who laid the three cent piece in the apple woman's hand and passed on without waiting for thanks, did as much, perhaps more, than he who endows a college and has his name blown through the press. We know a young colored man in this city who draws a hand-cart for a living, and who is as poor as can well be, who supports five children that do not belong to him—three belonging to a dead brother and two to a dead sister. Show an act of greatness that can compare with his! One who heard the story of his benevolence innocently asked him why he thus burdened himself. "Because their parents are dead," replied he: and the answer was enough. That ebony form, as unhandsome as it is, has a heart within it as true as steel, and in such a case Corporal Trim's question—"Have negroes souls, yer honor?"—could easily be answered.—Boston Post.

The captain of a merchant vessel unloading at Constantinople, feared to leave a part of his cargo exposed during the night. "It will not rain," said a Mussluman. "But somebody may steal them." "O, never fear," replied the Turk, "there is not a Christian within seven miles."

Letters from England allude to the serious illness of Charles Kemble, the actor, who it is thought will not survive his present illness.

Prentice, of the Louisville Journal, did not denounce Matt. Ward, because his father had lent him money when his office burned down some time since, but he denies any attempt to screen him. Matt. F. Ward—that innocent and interesting young man, as Wolfe says, made his escape from Louisville by crossing the river at Jeffersonville, from thence to New Albany, where preparations were made to turn him out; but he decamped instanter on the first boat that came along, and when last seen he was at Cannelton. His brother Robert, after having had his pistols "sent up," went on a spree and then decamped himself.—Boston Post.

FALL RIVER.—The first city election in the late town of Fall River took place on Saturday. The Whigs nominated Col. Richard Borden as their candidate for Mayor, but he refused the honor. Dr. Foster Hooper was nominated by what the Monitor calls "Tom, Dick and Harry, Freesoilers, Democrats, hards and softs, fused together"; but as predicted, Mr. James Buffington was suddenly and mysteriously brought into the field, and such a perfect deluge of "Know Nothings," "Natives," "Firemen," "Rummies," "Anti-Rummies," and nobody knows what else, came to his aid, as to overwhelm every opposing obstacle.

It is something in going ahead: but in going ahead, it is well to know where your head is going to.—Bangor Whig.

Mr. Haight, of Lafayette, N. Y., and his daughter, died in consequence of using white lead bought for saleratus.

Herr Driesbach, the lion tamer, has been led to the hymeneal altar by a Buckeye belle.

Morning Chronicle.

THURSDAY, MAY 11, 1854.

The action of Mr. Richardson and the votes to sustain him in taking up the Nebraska bill, have placed that measure where it may perhaps pass within a very few days. Several Northern members have changed their votes in its favor, and some of the Northern papers see favorable features in it. The Salem Gazette says, that its passage will remove the slavery discussion from the halls of Congress. If so, it will be one of the best movements for the country at large that ever passed. This is the same position that Douglas took originally.—Newburyport Herald.

So it is;—but it is a most erroneous position. The slavery discussion can never cease to disturb Congress, while slavery itself endures in any of our States or Territories.

We remember two or three finalities before this, neither of which has been final; and whoever lives a few years ahead will see more of them, whether this bill passes or not.

Between slavery and freedom there can be no compromise, any more than there can be a union of right and wrong. The professed advocates of the one and of the other may often find themselves compelled to adopt some patchwork measure, some temporary expedient, in order to live together. But between the two principles there is an intrinsic antagonism. Slavery is a wrong; it has no rights; and all its powers are merely encroachments on freedom.

This is the reason why our faith is so small in all such compromises as the Missouri and its successors. Every one of them has been a concession to slavery,—every one must be so. Slavery is too poor, too lazy, too dishonest, to give away any thing. It really has nothing to give, unless it gives up the ghost.

Give it what it asks now—and you say, do you? that it will ask no more. Lay not such flattering unction to your soul, Mr. Doughface: like the two daughters of the horse leech it will always be crying Give! give! It is the nature of the beast, and no more to be blamed for it than a dog is for whining when he wants his dinner.

In Sweden, conversion from the Lutheran religion is strictly forbidden; the public prosecutor of Stockholm has just commenced a prosecution before the criminal court of that city, of six married and one unmarried woman for having become Roman Catholics. He demands that, according to the criminal code, they shall be condemned to be exiled from the kingdom of Sweden and be deprived of the right of inheritance and of all civil rights.

Folly and Madness must have made this law. No matter whether a State calls itself by the name of Luther, or Peter, intolerance like this, in the name of religion, is at once a mockery of Law, Conscience and Religion.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

MUSICAL REPOSITORY, No. 24. published by F. Parker, Boston, contains three pieces of Music, viz. a serio-comic piece entitled Willikind and his Dinah; The Louise Polka; and The Tip-Top Polka.

PIONEER, or California Monthly Magazine, for March, 1854, No. 3, vol. 1,—a finely printed and well edited periodical, published by W. H. Brooks & Co., San Francisco. $5 per annum. Received from Chas. E. Rand, formerly of this city.

☞Our friend John Ball, the minister at large at Salem, has sent us the Annual Reports of the Salem School Committee, and of the Massachusetts State Reform School at Westborough; for which he has our thanks.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—It is intended to close the debate on the Nebraska bill Thursday, after which the five minutes rule will prevail. It is said that many members friendly to the bill declare they will not vote for it unless the Clayton clause is inserted. It is probable the House will set during the whole of to-morrow night; that is now the understanding.

[That is a very bad understanding. All night sessions of Congress are always scenes of gross and dreadful drunkenness;—disgraceful to the nation, and doubly disgraceful to majorities or powers who cause them. There is no more need of night sessions of congress than of similar sessions in any town meeting or court of law.]—Ed. Chron.

The friends of the bill are determined that the contest shall not be unnecessarily delayed. The anti-Nebraska Northern and Western members are receiving hundreds of letters, urging them to defeat the bill in any way and at all hazards.

The "Shepherd of the Valley" (Roman Catholic—published at St. Louis,) thus approvingly responds to Mr. John Mitchel's aspirations for Alabama negroes:

"Mr. Mitchel has been attacked where he is invulnerable; we wish to God that all his opponents had his hardy honesty in little things. Mr. Mitchel does not condemn negro slavery. Mr. Mitchel is right; neither does the Church condemn it; for you and I may hold a hundred negro slaves (for my part, I wish, with Mr. Mitchel, I had them)—we may hold a hundred slaves, and go to communion tomorrow without freeing one of them; and the Church admits to her sacraments no one guilty of practices which she condemns."

METHODIST ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

The N. H. Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, commenced on the 3d inst., at Rochester, N. H., and closed on the 8th P. M., an unusually harmonious and satisfactory session. Bishop Baker presided with dignity and impartiality. Rev. R. S. Rust was again unanimously elected Secretary, and Rev. Mr. Howard, late of Nashua and now of Dover, Assistant Secretary.

The candidates for ordination and full connection with the Itinerancy, sustained a rigid examination. The Standing Committees were all appointed on the first day, and were ready to report promptly in their several departments, specially on Education, Domestic and Foreign Missions, the Bible, Tract, Temperance, Slavery, and the Sabbath School interests. The anniversaries of all these moral and religious institutions came off with unusual spirit, talent and effect. The speeches and preaching were of the first order.

Rev. Bro. Evans preached the Conference sermon. Rev. Dr. Peck, Sec. of the Tract Soc., and Dr. Kidder, Sec. of the S. School, both of N. Y., gave thrilling addresses. Rev. Mr. Willey, N. H. Bible Agent, addressed us for more than half an hour, to excellent effect.

On the Sabbath the pulpits of Rochester, Great Falls, New Market, and Dover, were filled by different members of the body.

Rev. Dr. Peck of New York, preached at Rochester, on Sunday forenoon, and Rev. Mr. Wise of Boston, editor of Zion's Herald, in the afternoon; and the Deacons and Elders were ordained by Bishop Baker. Rev. Mr. Rust preached in the evening.

The urbanity and hospitality of the people were above praise. Rochester is an enterprising, beautiful and flourishing village. For the few last years the cause of religion has uninterruptedly prospered. They have greatly enlarged the church, repaired the vestry, and purchased a beautiful toned organ, at an expense of about $2500. Perhaps few churches are in a more fraternal state of christian sympathy and love. May they continue to prosper, and increase daily in piety, zeal and usefulness.

Perfect harmony reigned, from the commencement to the close of the session. Though the moral and ministerial character of each member passed a severe ordeal or examination, the smell of fire was not found in their garments.

At 3 o'clock P. M., on Monday, this singular body of Christian Ministers came together to receive their appointments for the ensuing year, which we give below:

APPOINTMENTS.

Dover District.—Rev. James Pike, P. E.; Dover Station, Rev. Mr. Howard; Great Falls, 1st Chh., Rev. H. H. Hartwell; Great Falls, 2d Chh., Rev. Calvin Holman; Rochester, Rev. Sullivan Holman; New Market, Rev. C. R. Harding; Portsmouth, Rev. J. Spaulding; Greenland, Rev. J. Thurston; Amesbury, Rev. H. Hill; Lawrence, 1st Chh., Rev. R. S. Rust; Lawrence, 2d Chh., Rev. J. McLaughlin; Haverhill, Rev. G. W. H. Clark.

Concord District.—Rev. R. Dearborn, P. E.; Concord, Rev. S. Kelley; Nashua, Rev. E. Scott; Nashville, Rev. J. Perkins; Northfield, Rev. S. Quimby; Manchester, Rev. E. Adams; Newport, Rev. A. C. Manson.

Claremont District.—Rev. N. Culver, P. E.; Claremont, Rev. F. Howes; Winchester, Rev. J. C. Cromack; Hinsdale, Rev. H. Hart; Keene, Rev. S. Beedler.

Haverhill District.—Rev. W. D. Cass, P. E.; Plymouth, Rev. H. N. Taplin; Sandwich, Rev. J. W. Guernsey; Bristol, Rev. S. Cummings; Lebanon, Rev. G. Currier; Lisbon, Rev. W. Evans; Littleton, Rev. L. L. Eastman; Whitefield, Rev. D. P. Leavit; Lancaster, Rev. G. J. Hooper.

CUBA AND THE UNITED STATES.—The Edinburg Scotsman observes:

The American republic has long cast a covetous eye upon Cuba, and it would almost now appear as if she was greedy of the prospect of the pear beginning to ripen towards falling into her grasp. The case is a fair one of wolf and a lamb—with the difference of Spain having the stupidity and weakness, without the innocence of the sheep; so that, in the event of the last of her many transatlantic colonies being torn from her, the gain of another slave state to America will be more to be regretted than the loss of a slave colony to Spain. Cuba would be a splendid "compensation for the seizure of a schooner or brig; but it is not a bigger price than was very lately paid by another weak and foolish kingdom, on the other side of the globe, for a not greater indignity. After taking possession of half the Burmese empire, because Commodore Lambert was not received with due respect by a third-rate official, we can hardly, with good grace, protest against the conduct of the United States, even should they continue so to aggravate this or any similar difference as finally to worry Spain into the cession or sale of Cuba.

POTATOES.—Several boats laden with potatoes have left Rochester for the east, and others are loading. The potatoes have been purchased during the winter and spring in that region at from 50 to 62 cents per bushel. This valuable and necessary root is selling in the Boston markets at from $1 25 to $1 50 per bushel.

LOCAL.

PORTSMO. & CONCORD RAILROAD.

The Annual Meeting of the Stock Holders of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad, was held at Jefferson Hall in this city, on Wednesday of this week, when the following gentlemen were chosen Directors:

Alfred W. Haven, Portsmouth, Joshua W. Pierce, Greenland, Arthur Fletcher, Concord, Nath'l Batchelder, Epping, Wm. Plumer, do. Nath'l White, Concord, Horton D. Walker, Portsmouth.

GRAND VOCAL AND INSTRUMENTAL CONCERT.—Mrs. Emma A. Wentworth, our popular and distinguished vocalist from Boston, at the request of many friends, proposes to give a concert, assisted by a select orchestra, provided a sufficient number of names are subscribed to pay the expenses. A subscription paper is left at Wm. R. Preston's apothecary store, where all our citizens who wish to encourage a first class concert, are requested to call immediately and leave their names, as it is necessary to ascertain this week in relation to the matter. A rare opportunity is offered for the citizens to listen to vocal and instrumental music of superior excellence. Mrs. Wentworth (formerly Miss Ham) has a special claim upon us in this city, as a native of our soil, who has won a high musical reputation in all the large cities, and who is to visit us henceforth, at least annually. ****

MANN & CO.'S TROUPE perform for the last time to-night. We would advise all who have not seen the performance to see Uncle Tom on this occasion, as the Company open at Worcester on Monday next.

QUICK DESPATCH.—The clipper ship Midnight from this port, was reported in the Boston papers of Wednesday morning, as having arrived at that port on Tuesday, while at the same time she was lying at her wharf in Portsmouth, with all hands growling for want of a favorable wind.

P. S.—The Midnight started for Boston last evening, in tow of a steamer.

THE DOGS.—A word for equal rights will be found on the first page, and a bit of rhyme for poor Carlo below. It is probable our City Fathers will amend their dog ordinance this evening, to make it less stringent, and then give the Marshal orders to put it in force. We saw a little ragged boy standing a safe distance from a savage chained dog, a few days ago, and on the dog's showing his dislike of the urchin's proximity, the little law-observer shook his head at him, muttering: "Ah, you ugly dog,—look out after next Thursday."

For the Morning Chronicle.

GAS vs. FISH.

A short time ago, Portsmouth was famous for its fish market; now it is, generally, quite bare of fish. Many remark that it is a curious circumstance that the fish should have deserted us, and give the subject no farther thought.

Now that fish should have become scarce, is no trifling matter. Many poor persons can afford to buy fish when it is quite out of their reach to procure fresh meat; and for them to be deprived of so cheap and delicious a food, is a great calamity.

The fishermen, too, are great sufferers, being deprived, not only of their usual food, but also of their livelihood.

Two intelligent fishermen have lately mentioned to the writer, that the only cause of the fish becoming so scarce in our waters, is the discharge from the gas works of substances which float on the surface of the water, and thereby drive away the fish and their food, which they get on the surface.

It has been proved by Dr. Franklin, that a drop of oil will cover a small pond, and that any liquid floating on water will obey the same law.

There was formerly a school of fish that entered our river in the fall and remained all winter, but now it is no longer the case.—They come to the mouth, and there meeting with this offensive substance, turn away to some other purer stream.

There were formerly millions of pollock and cunners swimming high in the water, and of delicious flavor; now we rarely find any but these kinds that swim low down along the bottom, and these are quite inferior as an article of food.

It may seem impossible to some, that a whole river could be, even slightly contaminated by a small quantity of impure matter; but when we recollect how extremely acute the senses of some creatures are, and how powerful the taste and smell of this matter is, we shall not think it at all strange, particularly when we have the fact of the scarcity of fish, staring us in the face.

Why would it not be better for the gas company to collect and sell this substance, or to dispose of it otherwise than to let it mix with our hitherto well peopled waters?

PISCATAQUA.

DECEASED.—One of the ladies injured by the collision on the Cape Cod Railroad in Middleboro', on Friday afternoon, an account of which has been published, has since died.

LINES ON THE DEATH OF SNORTER.

The following is the latest poetic libel which we have received against the dog law. But why don't somebody write some poetry on the other side?

Snorter, my dear old dog, is dead!
Him never more these eyes shall see;
A cruel law* hath murdered him,
For harming no one—loving me.

This law our City Fathers passed,
Provides that every dog shall wear
"A wire muzzle, well secured,"
(Around his mouth, or—anywhere.)

And then, if muzzled so that he
The Marshal or his aids can't bite,
It is their 'duty' (thus the law)
To kill him, harmless dog, outright.

Oh Council, wondrous brave as wise,
To muzzle first before you kill!
If you get bit, oh! blame no cur,
Nor your own bravery, nor skill. E.

*Ordinance No. 39.

OLD FOGYISM.—Speaking of the Philadelphia asylum for decayed merchants, the Newburyport Union says:

"We have had a retreat for decayed merchants, worn out ship masters and done over politicians, for a great many years in this city. 'Tis a sight to see them. In winter mornings, after the calculations of freights and dividends are over, comes a regular account of what Newburyport was prior to the great fire, forty years ago, which ends with a loud groan all around the circle, just clearing their breath for dinner; and in summer, a few of them straggle out on the shady side of the street to discuss the propriety of boys going into business before they are forty nine years old, and the solvency of every man who pays a fourpence to ride in the hourly, or carries a silk handkerchief."

BEECH NUT VS. CONSUMPTION.—We were shown this morning a beech nut that remained stuck in the windpipe of Mr. A. B. Austin, this city, for two years and three months. Eating beech nuts he partly swallowed this. He was soon taken sick and went to a physician, and told him that he thought the beechnut occasioned the sickness. He grew worse and a consultation of physicians was held, but they could not attribute his illness to the nut. He was treated for consumption, had a bad cough, became emaciated, and was considered on the 'decline.' At one time the beech nut of a sudden cut loose from its lodgment, hopped into his mouth, and is now kept in a little tin box as a curiosity. Mr. A. soon recovered, and is now hearty 'as a buck.' The 'curiosity' is at our office for the gratification of those fond of 'sights.'—Manchester Mirror.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, May 9.

SENATE.—In the Senate several memorials were presented, including some against the Nebraska bill.

A resolution was adopted calling for the ports of Mr. Sandford, late Charge to Paris, on the different systems of penal code in France.

A bill was passed for the paying to David Mijerle $30,000 for losses sustained by the contract for supplying hemp to the government.

HOUSE.—The House, on meeting, went immediately into Committee on the Nebraska bill. After which, Mr. Ingersoll made a speech on the European war, advocating that free ships made free goods, and that the United States would not permit the search of American ships or the overhauling of their papers.

Mr. Perkins of Louisiana spoke on the Cuban question, denouncing the intermeddling of England and France, and contending that it was high time for our country to take some steps in the matter.

Mr. Zollicoffer of Tennessee then spoke at some length on the Nebraska bill.

Mr. Walley of Massachusetts then followed in opposition to the bill.

Mr. Latham of California obtained permission to print his speech.

At 8 o'clock a motion was made that the committee rise, but no quorum voted. The roll was called and 110 members answered. Two motions to adjourn were negatived.

Mr. Richardson moved a call of the House, which was ordered, but the motion was afterwards withdrawn.

A quorum was subsequently present, and the House went into Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Ball then spoke against the repeal of the Missouri Compromise.

At 10 o'clock the committee rose and the House adjourned.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The New Steam Frigates.—The Star of this evening says the Secretary of the Navy has determined to build one of the six new steam frigates in Boston, one at New York, one at Philadelphia, one at Washington, and two at Norfolk. Mr. Martin, chief engineer, goes to Europe to examine improved naval machinery.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The Cuba Business. No advices have been received here that Minister Soule has demanded the recall of the Governor General of Cuba, and it is generally believed that the report of his having done so is premature.

NEW YORK, May 10.—The fifth anniversary meeting of the American Swedenborgian Society was held last evening in the Eleventh Street Church. Rev. Mr. Waldo presided.—Addresses were made by Messrs. Waldo, Sullivan, Barrett of Cincinnati, and Prof. Bush. The meeting was well attended.

The caloric ship Ericsson was nearly floated yesterday, when some part of the gearing gave way, and she again sunk. The damage thus far to the owners and insurers is estimated at $50,000.

All articles of consumption bear extravagant prices, and the wonder is how the poor are to procure the means of subsistence. The influx of California gold seems to have had the effect of making the rich richer and the poor poorer. Should things continue five years as at present, who shall then say that the chances for a poor man to become wealthy are better in New England than in Old England? We are wont to rejoice in the material growth of our country, but if that wealth is to be attained only by accumulating the wealth of the country in the hands of a plethoric few, to the impoverishment of the many, it may well be doubted whether it is not purchased at too great a sacrifice.—Letter from Boston to the Providence Journal.

A CURIOUS EXHIBITION.—It is said that one of the most interesting departments of the Crystal Palace exhibition is that which is assigned to lost articles picked up by the police. Among these there are about three hundred lace cambric handkerchiefs, some valued at $50. There are also about ten many veils, a large stock of gloves, an extensive assortment of babies' shoes and stockings, and some hundred articles of jewelry, pieces of which range as high as $100 in value. Locks of false hair are interspersed with other wearing apparel, and a bottle of brandy occupies a conspicuous position. Specimens of almost everything which is capable of being lost may be seen there.

CHURCH PROPERTY.—A clergyman in one of the pulpits in this city a few Sundays ago, remarked that in some of our City Churches, within the lifetime of a generation, the price of a pew has ranged over a scale of valuations more extreme and capricious than that of any other article of property. The statement is correct, for we have known many instances which confirm its truth. A pew was recently sold for $42, for which the family disposing of it gave $1000. In another case $550 was paid for a pew, which ten years ago was sold for $60.—Boston Transcript.

NEW PATENT FOR MAKING NAILS.—There has recently been invented and put into operation in this city, a new machine for making cut nails, the great peculiarity of which is that it is self-feeding, and will manufacture in a given time, nearly, if not quite, as many again nails as any other known process, and that one man, (as it is claimed,) with the assistance of a boy, will operate ten machines. There is also a great saving in iron, there being only a waste of about a quarter of an inch in ten feet, which is the length of the piece of iron placed in the machine at a time. It has been shown that one machine will manufacture from three hundred to three hundred and fifty nails per minute.—Troy Whig.

CAULKING SHIPS AT CHINCHA ISLANDS.—The following is an extract of a letter from a shipmaster at the Chincha Islands, March 5th, to his owners in Boston:

"I hope I shall not have to put back or in anywhere till I arrive at Hampton Roads.—There are five American vessels here now, returned leaky, and I hear there are several put into Valparaiso. I have caulked the ship from copper up to and around the stanchions and the deck, so the ship is in as good order better than when we left. Vessels dry up very much at the Islands, and require caulking invariably after being here a month or six weeks. Ships coming here should have oakum and pitch enough to caulk."

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Burns, Scalds, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

10,000 Bottles Sold since the First of January.

DR. ORDWAY'S HUMOR DISCOVERY,

AND BLOOD PURIFIER.

DR. ORDWAY has been using his Blood Purifier in his practice for the last seven years with great success. He has often been urged by his friends and those who have tried it, and know its efficacy, to put it within the reach of all. He has now added to it an Herb, discovered in California, by Dr. KELLEY, which makes it the most wonderful remedy for

HUMORS OF ALL KINDS,

LIVER COMPLAINTS AND CHRONIC DISEASES.

The virtues of this Herb were first made known to Dr. Kelley by an Indian, while attending a patient, sick with that terrible disease, the California Erysipelas and Liver Complaint—the effect was miraculous—saving the man in a few days. The natives, when bitten by a rattle snake, or rabid animal, resort to this Herb for a cure.—Hundreds are taking this medicine, after trying in vain other remedies, and say that the half was never told them.

If you have Erysipelas, 3 to 5 bottles will cure it.
If you have Scrofula, 3 to 7 bottles will cure it.
Three to six bottles will cure Salt Rheum.
One or two bottles will cure Pimples on the Face.
Two or three bottles will cure Scaly Eruptions and Scald Head.
One to three bottles will cure Nursing Sore Mouth
One to three bottles will cleanse the system of Biles.
Two to five bottles will cure Rheumatism.
Three to four bottles will cure old running Sores and Ulcers.
One or two bottles will cure Barber's Itch.
One to three bottles will cure Canker in the mouth and bowels.

For Liver Complaints and Jaundice.

Its effects are new and wonderful, removing obstructions from the Liver, open the pores of the skin, carrying off the morbid matter, relieving the side, and all gone feelings of the stomach; and removing low spirits and despondency, which is the result of this disagreeable and often fatal disease.

FOR DYSPEPSIA

A fair trial will convince you that there is nothing like it.

FOR CANCEROUS HUMORS.

It is the surest remedy ever offered. One widow lady in Lawrence, has been troubled with Cancer for years, by taking two bottles says she is now quite well.

FOR COSTIVENESS.

One gentleman says that it was the only medicine that cured him.

FOR KIDNEY DIFFICULTIES.

It is spoken of in the highest terms. A young man was sick so much with Asthma that he had to leave College; three bottles cured him, and he has now resumed his studies. One lady in Salem was perfectly cured of Periodical Sick Headache, by the use of two bottles. Mr. Williams, of Lawrence, had humors in his eyes for years, and was cured by the use of the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier. For Chills and Fever, Mercurial Diseases, Taints in the System, it stands unrivalled; sometimes where the system is much deranged it will cause disagreeable feelings at first, but continue its use as indications favorable. It is purely vegetable, and its compound and proportions are such that the effect is perfectly satisfactory and safe.

FULL DIRECTIONS ON THE BOTTLE.

☞ Price $1.00. ☜

HE HAS ALSO A HUMOR SALVE,

Unsurpassed for external humors, which, if used in connection with the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier will much facilitate a cure.

This invaluable Cough Remedy is for the complete cure of Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Influenza, Whooping Cough, pains in the side and breast, hacking or tickling at the throat, spitting blood, tightness across the lungs and chest, and all Lung Complaints leading to Consumption.

No medicine yet discovered has that decided effect in curing Bronchia affections as the Cough Destroyer. It can be taken by all ages and classes, from a child six months old to the oldest man or woman, with the most happy results.

PRICE 50 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Dr. Ordway's Pain Destroyer.

This preparation is composed of a great variety of Extracts, Gums, Essential Oils, most of which have not heretofore been united and compounded into their present form. It will cure attacks of Cramps of the Stomach, Spasms, Convulsions, Faintings, Pain in the Stomach, Bowels, Side, Back, Limbs, and a great variety of other difficulties. It is also invaluable as an external remedy. It will be found to contain nearly double the strength of any similar article, and possesses properties heretofore unknown. No family should be without it for a single day.

PRICE 25, 37½ AND 50 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Full directions for the above medicines, on the Bottles. Orders should be accompanied with full directions how it should be sent.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for a genteel family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two sculleries, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the market and railroads. Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the north end. It is centrally located between the different ship-yards in that section of the city; each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lowd and is in good order. Attached to it is a lot of land large enough for a Stable or for another dwelling house. It would make a good place for the residence of a person employed at the shipyards across the river, or at the Navy Yard.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 47 Bow street.—This house has been built but a few years, is well finished off, and is very convenient. In the rear is quite a large garden spot. This would be a desirable place for a person employed at the shipyards, or at the Navy Yard nearly opposite.

Also, for sale, a BUILDING LOT, on Mount Vernon street, (opposite No. 2,) with a small building thereon, which can be finished off into a Dwelling house.

All of the above property will be sold on liberal terms, if applied for soon. For further particulars apply to JOSEPH M. EDMONDS,

THE KILLER WHALE.—A few days since Lieut. Murray offered some remarks before the American Scientific Association, in relation to the "Killer Whale." His observations have called forth the following description of the character and habits of the animal from a correspondent of the National Intelligencer, Capt. W. D. Porter, of the Navy:

"The killer is the wolf of the ocean, and hunts in packs, and their tall dorsal fin can be constantly seen above the water. This fish has always as a companion, but swimming deeper, the sword fish, and now and then can be seen the shark. On sighting their prey, which the killer sees at a great distance, the pack gives chase; the unconscious whale is slowly moving near the surface, and occasionally spouting, as it were in sport, jets of water above him. But he now suddenly sees the 'sea-wolf' near him. Instinct at once teaches him that on the surface he cannot be safe, and, taking in a long breath, he flukes; that is, dives.

But there has been another enemy watching him from the depths below, the 'sword fish,' which now darts at him with the velocity of lightning and perforates the whale with his long and spear-like nose. This sends him at once to the surface; there he again meets with his enemy, the 'killer'; but as yet they are afraid to approach him. The whale now begins to see the extent of his danger, and for a time merely lashes the water with his ponderous fluke. He soon tires of this, and remains for a short time at rest; the pack now approach him, and he seeks safety in flight. But what can he do? The poor whale has a hump on his back, and steers unsteadily, while the killer's tail and stiff fin steadies him on his course. Nearer and nearer approaches the pack to their victim; again he takes a long breath and dives. The sword-fish has steadily kept him in view; he too has a tall fin and long, slender propelling tail; and while it is an effort to the whale to increase his speed, it is but play to the sword-fish, which again darts and perforates his prey, and sends the wounded whale again to the surface.

The race again commences, but this time with diminished speed, the killers having separated to watch the rise of the whale, who, finding his enemies in every direction, courses in a circle, and again makes a third, and sometimes a fourth attempt to escape by diving, but is always met by the terrible spike of the sword fish. He at last, weak, exhausted and dispirated, returns to the surface, where he again attempts escape by flight. Streams of blood mark his course; his enemies still follow steadily after him, until he stops and begins to lash and make the ocean foam around him; but now large streams of his life-blood are pouring out, and he is only increasing his weakness by the exertion, and merely lashing amidst his own gore. Tired, exhausted and faint, he rolls over. The deep red streaks of blood flowing from large orifices in his white belly can now be distinctly seen.

The hungry pack now close, and one more bold than the rest seizes him near the throat and tears away the white skin and fat; he opens his mouth and bellows with pain. This is generally the signal for a combined attack. His tongue is seized and torn from his mouth, so are his eyes. The sword-fish now rises to the surface, and his tall spar-like protuberance is seen projecting over the body of the whale; the sharks also close in and feed on the fat rejected by the killers. In this state the whale makes a few dying struggles. The feast now commences and continues till sufficient flesh is stripped off to cause the carcass to become too heavy to float on the surface, and it sinks. The shark is left to enjoy his few streaks of fat, while the killer pack, accompanied by their companion, the sword-fish, rove again the broad ocean to seek another leviathan of the great deep."

INTERESTING TO TENANTS OF GRAVES.—A curious and novel inquiry is now in progress before a referee, under the order of the Supreme Court, to ascertain the money value to be allowed to the descendants of a person occupying a grave.

In the recent widening of Beekman street, fifteen feet, the sum of $28,000 was awarded for the strip in front of the brick Presbyterian church, subdivided into vaults and graves, fifteen in all. The question is, "How is this sum to be apportioned among the families of those slumbering 'terretenants?'"

The examination commenced by analysing the contents of the first grave, in which were found the skull, dust, and some of the bones of its proprietor; also the ribbon which bound his hair in a queue, covering nearly the whole of the present century. The exhumation of these relics, and the necessity of measuring in dollars and cents what had been supposed to be their final resting place, will establish an instructive precedent for similar cases.—N. Y. Evening Post.

A French physician writes that he has cured hydrophobia by the vapor bath heated to 170 degrees of Fahrenheit.

SALES BY SAMPLE.—The Cincinnati Gazette says "a number of our wholesale merchants have petitioned the city council to pass an ordinance by which agents of mercantile houses in Eastern cities may in some way be prevented from coming here and selling to retail houses their goods by samples."

This is one of the means that men take to regulate trade. They asked, and for aught we know obtained, an act in Maine a few years since, of a like character. And in the same category came our Pedlar's licenses; and, then, the auctioneers licenses. The cities would force the establishment of wholesale houses among themselves, and consequently all foreign merchants must be stopped, however much the country traders may suffer thereby. The country traders would keep out all pedlars with their wares and merchandise, for the benefit of their stores, however much the people may lose by preventing competition in this manner. And then the State allows men to open stores and sell in a certain way without let or hindrance, but if they put up goods at auction and make the bidding public, instead of private, as it usually is, then there must be a tax. This is all humbug, from beginning to end, and the people are cheated thereby. Trade should be free, competition encouraged; and cheats can only be avoided by the intelligence of the people. No laws can protect the stupid and ignorant. —Newburyport Herald.

Sch. Bowditch, (of Bangor) Lawry, from Savannah, which arr at Portland recently, was discovered to be on fire night of 6th inst. The mate and a boy were asleep at the time in the cabin, and barely escaped with their lives, saving nothing but one trunk of clothing belonging to the first officer. The vessel was badly damaged, her after part being entirely burned away. The sails and rigging were mostly saved. Of the cargo, the deck load only had been discharged, and that remaining in the hold was principally destroyed. The fire was subdued by the assistance of three engines from Portland.

NOT SO.—It having been reported that the Second Adventists in Salem had announced that the final winding up of all sublimary things would take place on the 10th of June, their preacher publicly stated that such was not the case. They have settled upon no definite time. Judging them by their acts it would seem that they believe the event is yet distant, as they have recently bought a building and fitted it up as a place for public worship.—Boston Journal.

THE CROPS IN IRELAND.—Dublin papers of the 20th of April say it is a remarkable and most gratifying fact, that as the season advances, the markets all through the country continue abundantly supplied with potatoes of good quality, entirely free from disease, and that the price of this esculent is moderate relatively with the cost of bread.—It is now manifest that the crop of last year was far more productive than had been generally supposed; and the stoppage of the ravages of blight at an early period left the great bulk of the produce available for food. This full supply of potatoes has been a great source of alleviation to the humbler classes, who would otherwise have suffered most severely from the great advance in the corn markets. At present there is an immense breadth of land under potatoes, and farmers are still planting them. The weather is extremely fine.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, MAY 12, 1854.

NO LAND FOR THE INSANE.

We have barely stated the fact, that President Pierce vetoed the bill commonly called Miss Dix's Bill, granting Land for the relief of the indigent Insane.

Since the mention of this fact, we have carefully read the president's message, which is well written and easy to be understood.—We have also read an editorial defence and commendation of the veto, in the Newburyport Herald, and similar, but less able defences in many other administration papers.

They laud it as patriotic, Jacksonian, and strict constructionist. The Herald says, of Miss Dix—

In her pursuits she went to Congress asking aid for the insane. Grave Senators were moved by her appeals, and iron natured representatives were touched by her tenderness, virtue and eloquence. It was like a voice from heaven; and the bill she sought was passed. Men voted for it without consulting law books—men advocated it against all the action of their past lives; and it was checked only by the executive veto.

Well: that is right. Men voted for it like men who had souls, even though during their past lives they had often voted as if they had no soul.

They voted for it without consulting law books; and they did right. What are old musty law books, compared with the generous impulses of a living human heart?

But, says the Herald—

If the general government was a benevolent society entrusted with funds for distribution—the almoner of public charity—this would be one of the most outrageous acts ever perpetrated, and the whole world might cry out upon the inhumanity and hard heartedness of Franklin Pierce.

We are rather afraid some part of the world will do so, especially those who think more highly of humanity and compassion than they do of mouldy parchments and musty law books.

The Herald adds:

But the objects of government are not of this kind—its powers are not for such purposes, and however much we may feel for the unfortunate, and sympathize with the mover of this measure, we cannot fail to justify the action of the President, and the more honor it, since it must result from a conviction of duty against private wishes.

We cannot quite believe this. We sympathize with the measure and the object, and with the justice, equity and wisdom of the donation. We believe the majority of the members of both houses who voted for the measure are as old, as wise, and as good men as the president himself. We believe many of them understand the Constitution quite as well.

He possessed, as President, the power, by signing that bill, to make the first equitable distribution of the public lands that has ever been made, and at the same time to pass one of the most beneficent bills ever passed by any government. If his 'private wishes' had been very strong on that side, we do not believe the Constitution would have prevented his indulging or gratifying those wishes.

He possessed, also, the power to defeat the law, by his veto, if he pleased, and he has done so. In this he has violated no constitutional provision, but merely exercised a power plainly and distinctly conferred upon him by that instrument. The reasons which he offers for the veto, are numerous, and stated at length; a single extract shall suffice as a specimen of the whole. The President says:

It cannot be questioned that if Congress has the power to make provisions for the indigent insane without the limits of this district, it has the same power to provide for the indigent who are not insane, and thus to transfer to the Federal Government the charge of all the poor in all the States. It has the same power to provide hospitals and other local establishments for the care of every species of human infirmity, and thus to assume all that duty of either public philanthropy or public necessity to the dependent, the orphans, the sick or the needy, which is now discharged by the States themselves, or by the corporate institutions, or private endowments, existing under the legislation of the States.

The Herald remarks that this reasoning is correct, and says—

Our general government is a constitutional government—the creature of the States, endowed with certain attributes, named in the constitution. Whatever is written there, they may do; whatever is not written there, however humane it may be, and however desirable it may seem to this or that man—the government may not do, and should not do.

This is the old Virginia Republicans' Strict Construction doctrine, or theory, of '98, by preaching which, in a short time they overthrew the old Federal party, which then fell to rise no more as a ruling party in the Nation. But Mr. Jefferson, in the purchase of Louisiana, did an act as clearly extra-constitutional, as unconstitutional, according to the above definitions, as any act can be. He did it, we doubt not, to promote the general welfare, especially that of the Southern States. The people sustained him in it: and it became as strong as the Constitution itself.

The subsequent annexation of Texas, part of Mexico, and California, are other and later instances of the same overreaching and overriding of the Constitution—not written in the Constitution, but written and done outside it, yet thoroughly done, and the people agree, acquiesce, or submit. This Constitutional objection then, sinks into a mere quibble.

There is another argument in favor of this Veto, grounded on the fact, that Virginia, in the cession of the North Western Territory, gave it as a sort of sacred pledge to pay off the National Debt. The plea is, that it must not be used for any thing else. But every body knows that the debt then existing, occasioned by our Revolution, was long since paid off. So also was another Debt, made by the war of 1812. We suppose that the payment of the debts created by the Mexico-Texan War treaties, claims, pensions, and so forth, may all be saddled on the lands, may they not? O, yes, doubtless. Well, then, the law seems to be this: the land is a noble fund, whereon to build mischief, war, and strife—but let everybody take care not to devote one acre of it to any humane or benevolent purpose.

We say so it seems, or so it would seem, from this plea. But it is not true, after all. The public lands have been given for school funds, colleges, and various good purposes within the States where they lie, and donations of them have also been made for the benefit of distinguished individuals. The principle, if it were a principle, has been abandoned, and the contrary adopted. But it never was a principle;—it was only a policy about disposing of land; and it has been changed once, twice, thrice.

President Pierce has exercised his veto power, in the way clearly pointed out by the constitution: and we are in no mood to complain or be disheartened because he chose to use it. Nor on the other hand can we snuffle and cry amen to any whining cant about his doing the act against his own will or wishes, of which we do not believe one word. He chose to sacrifice a good object, of which he speaks favorably, on the altar of an old abstraction, which has been violated and repudiated an hundred times, and brought up as many times more, to serve a turn.

He has used his power, legally, to defeat a most benevolent purpose. If two thirds of both Houses vote for the measure, it will yet be a law, notwithstanding. We wish they would do so; for we value the bill, but we care nothing about the abstraction. We can hardly say we hope for the law; certainly we do not expect it. The country must wait for it;—and so must the insane poor, in their misery and suffering.

THE WYSE AND FALCON TRIAL.—The trial of Major Wyse was continued on Tuesday, and additional testimony for the prosecution produced. Mr. M. O. Roberts, agent, and Mr. Skidmore, engineer, of the steamship company to which the Falcon belongs, testified to the good qualities and conditions of the vessel and her machinery, as did also the persons who superintended the repairs previous to her last voyage. Lieut. Schenck, in the service of the company, has been offered, and intends to accept, the command of the Falcon, believing her sea qualities to be excellent.—Lieut. McKinstry, the commander of the ship on her late voyage, gave evidence to the effect that the failure of the recent trip was wholly owing to the defect in the valves of the port engine; in every other respect she was a good vessel.—New York Herald.

The Boston Courier remarks:

It is a pity that these admirers and defenders of the Falcon cannot testify that she put into Norfolk for want of wood and water.—Their evidence would then be worth about as much—as it appears to be in the eyes of any body who hears and looks at it—as if they had sworn that the Falcon was as competent to navigate the ocean as any one of the Collins or Cunard line of steamships.

We have read the testimony of that day. That the owners, agents, &c., of such a company should testify after that fashion, is not very astonishing,—nor will their testimony weigh much, against that of the inspectors of insurance. Lt. McKinstry's testimony is of more weight, and would weigh heavier still, were it not for the astounding facts, that under his command she put into Norfolk for something, and then came back to New York; which facts do not exactly prove that she was in good order for her voyage.

MUSICAL REVIEW.—This journal is conducted with ability and energy. The number for May 11th, just received, is a double one of thirty-two pages. The music is abundant, varied and good, and is said to be worth the subscription price of the Review (one dollar) for a year. The reading matter is copious, spicy and instructive. Every choir, singing school and family would be greatly benefitted by subscribing for, and reading this paper. Published by Mason Brothers, 23 Park Row, New York.

It contains a great variety of matter; among other things, Essays on Medical Jurisprudence, The Nervous System, Pulmonary Consumption, Respiration, and the Marriage Institution.

The price of the Quarterly is $2 per annum: its name shows its character; and it is ably conducted.

LOCAL.

CITY COUNCIL.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.—A communication from John P. Lyman, requesting the city authorities to notice the fact of the Spring Market being on his land, as an encroachment, was accepted and referred to Committee on City Lands and Buildings.

The Committee to whom was referred the subject of purchasing the location of the old North Church, reported that the land was not for sale.

A communication from Samuel Nott, to whom was referred the subject of a scientific survey of the city, in order to grade the streets in a proper manner, estimates the expense at from $500 to $800, the city furnishing one assistant.

A message was received from the Common Council, announcing that they had amended the Dog ordinance, making it plainer and more favorable to the dogs. Laid on the table, and a new ordinance was presented by Ald. Jenkins.

A communication was received from Mr. John Mugridge, relating to the small pox in his family, complaining of the Board of Health, and requesting the City Council to appoint another Board. After consultation, it was laid on the table.

In the Common Council, a Resolution was adopted, asking the opinion of the City Solicitor, as to the powers and duties of the two Boards, in relation to a refusal to go into Convention for choice of officers.

The annual appropriation bill was reported and referred.

THE OLD NORTH CHURCH STEEPLE, from the top to the roof of the belfry, will fall to rise no more, this day at 1 o'clock. So says the owner thereof.

NEW HAMPSHIRE STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—Secretary's Office, Manchester, N. H., May 10, 1854.

To the Editor of the Chronicle:

Dear Sir:—By vote of the officers of the N. H. State Agricultural Society, the Fifth Annual Fair of the Society will be held on the first week in October, at such accessible place as will contribute the most to the funds of the Society. If the citizens of your place desire to have a voice in the matter, they must give information to the Secretary by the first day of June, stating the amount that will be contributed. Yours truly,

JAMES O. ADAMS, Secretary.

MOBS.

One wrong will not justify another wrong. The outrageous verdict of the Ward jury, affords no pretext for the disturbance of public peace; and every lover of law and order ought to deplore the excesses into which the Louisville people are running.

The same mob spirit is seen, at times, working in our community. Whatever fosters this is of fatal tendency, and all good citizens should indignantly frown upon it. We live in a land where the law protects all equally; where the church of one sect is as sacred as that of another; where the rights of one are the rights of all; and where redress for wrong is certain and prompt—if it be personal through the courts of law—if it be public, through the ballot box. What, then, is there that can justify a mob? The community look to those in authority to use the entirely adequate means which the law places in their hands, to maintain, at every hazard, the public peace.

The above is from the Boston Post, and is well said. We said something like it, though not perhaps so well, many years ago, when the mob "of property and standing," as it was termed, broke up the meeting of a society of women in Boston, and adorned Mr. Garrison with a halter. Now we repeat it to the silly bigots on either side, who imagine they can put down either truth or falsehood by brute force or mobbish violence.

The Manchester Mirror states that Rev. John C. Webber, a travelling preacher in New Hampshire, who has a wife and seven children in Manchester, and is fifty-five years old, has been arrested for adultery with Miss Nancy Mead, to whom he promised marriage.

This man must not be confounded with Elder Horace Webber of Manchester, who is a respectable man. John C. Webber has been a member of five or six different denominations, and often a speaker or exhorter. He and Miss Nancy have confessed their crimes, and are in jail. Webber's friends have considered him insane.

In the Boston Municipal Court, on Monday, John Newson, an Englishman, pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with polygamy, and his sentence was postponed to the next term. Miss Andrews, the young woman whom he last married, and the chief witness against him, was in Court, having been in jail since the complaint was made in the Police Court, a period of about three weeks. This was at her own request, as she had no money or friends here. The Court allowed her a proper remuneration for the time.

The Court did well and wisely; and so did the woman, for she got legally rid of a bad man whom she had foolishly married, without the trouble and expense of a suit for divorce.

NEW CHURCH.—Rev. Mr. Himes's society, now worshipping in Chardon street, are about erecting a new church on the corner of Kneeland and Hudson streets, Boston. This is a Second Advent Society.

RUMORED CHANGE IN THE BOSTON CUSTOM HOUSE.—There has been a rumor in this city for several days past, that Collector Peaslee was to receive the nomination to the London Consulship, in place of Sanders, rejected by the Senate, and that Hon. B. F. Hallett would be appointed collector at this port. A special despatch from Washington to the New York Evening Post, learns, as he says, "from the best authority," that these changes will be made; and that Charles Levi Woodbury will be appointed U. S. District Attorney in place of Mr. Hallett. Mr. Peaslee is in Washington.—Boston Journal.

The chaplain of an English county jail was dismissed from his situation by the magistrates, not long since, for forcibly holding the finger of a woman, who was under sentence of death, in the flame of a candle, until it was in a blister, in order, as he said, to give her an idea of the eternal punishment to which she would be doomed, if she did not confess her guilt to him.—Manchester Mirror.

When a large comet appeared in 1456, just after the Turks had overthrown the Greek Empire, Pope Califus ordered public prayers to exercise both the comet and the Turks.—It is not stated whether the comet yielded to the exorcism; certain it is that the Turks did not.

The exodus from Ireland continues with fearful steadiness. The Mayo Constitution states that the flight of the comfortable farmer and artisan class from that country exceeds credibility, and that nearly all are bound to America, owing to "the remission of large sums of money by those who have formerly emigrated from this country, to their friends here."

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, May 10.

SENATE.—In the Senate, a report was made recommending the purchase of the Mount Vernon estate for an experimental farm.

A motion to print the agricultural part of the Patent Office report was agreed to.

Mr. Hunter of Virginia made an ineffectual motion to take up the vetoed Insane Land bill.

The Senate then went into executive session, and shortly after adjourned.

HOUSE.—In the House, the Nebraska bill was debated until adjournment.

	For the Bill.	Against the Bill.
Dem. from slave States	57	2
Dem. from free States	40	37
Whigs from slave States	12	5
Whigs from free States	—	37

FROM EUROPE.

The steamship Canada brings Liverpool dates to April 29. The Atlantic arrived at Liverpool on the 29th; and there are no tidings of the steamer City of Glasgow. It is not probable we shall ever hear from her again. The oak grained doors seen some time ago, more probably belonged to her than to any other vessel.

Cotton had not varied much. The Liverpool Breadstuff Market is reported dull, with a declining tendency. Flour declined 6d a 1s; Wheat 3d; and Corn 1s a 2s; while the Havre market was a shade higher, but closed quiet.

LONDON MONEY MARKET, April 28.—Money market unchanged and easy. Consols 87 1-4 to 87 1-2.

News from the seat of war indicates increased vigor on the part of the allies. Twenty thousand French and eight thousand English had landed at Gallipoli.

No events of importance had occurred. A sanguinary engagement had taken place near Kalafat without decisive results.

It was reported that the Russians had been defeated at Ischernernavoda, and that they have evacuated Little Wallachia.

Sir Charles Napier was at Stockholm on the 27th. His fleet was about fifty miles off.

The Russian force was withdrawing from Kalafat.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The debate yesterday in the House on the Nebraska bill was quite exciting, many members participating in it, and it lasted until half past ten.

The regular debate will be closed probably at three o'clock, Friday, after which there is a growing disposition not to adjourn till the bill is reported to the House.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The Union of this morning says, if ample satisfaction be not given for the seizure of the Black Warrior, it will advocate the immediate blockade of Cuba.

CONGRESS TODAY.—In the House today, Mr. Richardson offered a resolution that the debate on the Nebraska bill shall terminate tomorrow at 12 o'clock. Discussion and much confusion ensued.

Messrs. Mace of Indiana, Taylor of Tennessee, and Giddings, opposed the resolution.

Mr. Mace moved that the resolution be laid on the table.

Mr. English moved a call of the House—refused by 97 to 88.

CINCINNATI, 10th.—J. B. Laidlow, scene painter at the St. Louis Theatre, was murdered on Friday last.

From 20 to 26 deaths from cholera occurred among the German passengers of the steamer Dresden, which arrived at St. Louis on Saturday, from New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, 10th.—At the city election yesterday, the Reformers triumphed by a majority of 1700.

A DEACON'S QUOTATION OF SCRIPTURE ON THE USE OF WINE AND COLD WATER.—Mr. Secretary Marcy recently told an anecdote at a dinner party in Washington, which runs thus. He said that a few weeks since Gov. Seymour, of New-York, wrote to him, that since he had vetoed the liquor bill he had received various letters from gentlemen in different parts of the State, both approving and disapproving of his course in the premises.—Among them was one from an honest old deacon, who resided somewhere in the centre of the State, which commended his action in the strongest terms. The old gentleman alluded to, informed the Governor that he was deeply interested in the debates of both sides of the question, and did not let one "jot or title" escape him. He had, too, he said, "looked up" his Bible from Genesis to Revelation, in order to see how the liquor question was there treated, and after mature deliberation he come to the conclusion that all the great and good men, as Noah, Moses, David, Solomon and Jesus not only were partakers of the "rosy," but recommended it to others; in a word, in his researches he only found one instance (that of "Dives,") where a man called for cold water, and that he was in h—l, where he ought to be!

Verily this deacon's religion and his temperance are about equal the one to the other; that is if the story is true. Gov. Seymour ought to feel gratified with his commendation.

☞ The Fairy Guard, of females bound to New York, turns out to be a hoax, which some lady (?) inflicted on Barnum and the Astor House.

The Austrians, in order to nationalize their army, use only German words of command through the whole force, whether the regiments are Italians, Servians, Croats or Hungarians.

A farmer dismissed a hand because he set only nine trees in a day. The farmer set out the remaining ninety-one of the hundred himself, the next day. The result was that the nine bore more fruit the first year of bearing, than all the others.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of tetter.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; quite the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what ever ailed them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs., another 18 lbs.; and another 7 lbs—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference twenty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. It the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to cleanse the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

Directions for use.—Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found this a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 76 state Street, oppo. Kilby street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to continue the business of securing for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, and made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure the patent awarded and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents."

"R. H. Eddy, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"Sir:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK, Commissioner of Patents."

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two sculleries, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the market, factories and railroads. Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the north end. It is centrally located between the different ship-yards in that section of the city. each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lowd and is in good order. Attached to it is a lot of land large enough for a Stable or for another dwelling house. It would make a good place for the residence of a person employed at the ship-yards across the river, or at the Navy Yard.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 47 Bow street.—This house has been built but a few years, is well finished off, and is very convenient. In the rear is quite a large garden spot. This would be a desirable place for a person employed at the ship-yards, or at the Navy Yard nearly opposite.

Also, for sale, a BUILDING LOT, on Mount Vernon street, (opposite No. 2,) with a small building thereon, which can be finished off into a Dwelling house.

All of the above property will be sold on liberal terms. For further particulars apply to JOSEPH M. EDMONDS, PRETTY GOOD.

A writer in the Philadelphia Bulletin gets off a witty burlesque on the reopening of the Crystal Palace. He says:

Among the wonderful and precious curiosities obtained for the reinauguration, are the following—

New Curiosities at the Crystal Palace.

Statue of the author of the Prize Ode, in lead—cost $150.

Fragment of Modesty found in New York—preserved in spirits.

Group of the American Amazon and Tiger—after Kiss—the Amazon in Bloomer costume; the Tiger in a blue suit, with bullet buttons and a jockey cap.

The hair on which hangs the proof of Eleazer Williams's Identity with the Dauphin of France.

A marriage Certificate of two 'Choral Stars.'

Statuette of the Fejee Mermaid—in pickle.

Fossil Remains of an Original Idea.

The Grand Humbug Machine, invented by Barnum and worked by gas.

Galvanic Fluid by which the Crystal Palace is to be revived—in a horn.

He then lays down the order of procession, which is headed by

PHINEAS T. BARNUM,

In the middle is the Treasurer of the Crystal Palace Co., supported by the Sheriff.

Band of Music,

playing 'That's the way the money goes.'

While the rear is brought up by 'Strangers in search of the Elephant.'

In this order, says the writer, the procession wound round among the naves (the telegraph spells it with a K.—Eds.) of the Palace, and the inspiring airs of the different and indifferent bands, playing all at the same time, produced a musical effect unheard of until this occasion. The head of the procession finally halted in the shadow of Washington, and the great Barnum ascended a crimson dais, while the multitude waved their hats, and the various representatives of foreign nations saluted him with cries of 'Vive Barnum!' 'Viva Barnumbo!' 'Ejen Phineas!' and 'Go it P. T. B.'

THE EXECUTION AMONG THE FILLIBUSTERS.—Arthur Morrison, one of the victims of whom we speak, had a young and fondly attached wife and a child five years old in Illinois, the place of his birth. He had written to her to come out, and sent her the necessary means to do so; and about two months since this devoted woman left her home and friends, with a heart buoyant with hope, to meet the object of her love and fealty. About one month ago she arrived with her child on our shores, and then for the first time learned that her husband had been enticed to join the fillibusters. She immediately wrote to him, informing him of her arrival, and begging him to come to her, and abandon his unjustifiable enterprise. Morrison received this letter, and instantly set about fulfilling his duties as a man and a citizen by abandoning the camp of the fillibusters, and starting for San Francisco. But he "counted without his host," for Mr. Walker immediately despatched a party in pursuit, which overtook Morrison near San Diego, and compelled him to return with them. A second letter from his wife soon after reached him, and the unhappy man determined to leave Lower California and return to his family, which needed his presence, at all hazards. In order to effect this Morrison entered into a combination with ten others to desert at the first opportunity. This determination was carried into execution with as little delay as possible; but again the emissaries of Mr. Walker tracked the ill-fated refugee, and, making him a prisoner, returned with him to the camp. Then a court martial was held; the self constituted officers sat in judgment over their victim; the forms and ceremonies of a trial were gone through with according to the most received rules for such cases made and provided; a verdict of guilty is brought in, sentence of death is pronounced unhesitatingly by his superiors, and Morrison is shot like a dog, in cold blood, for obeying the first laws of God and man, and refusing any longer to do evil.

Tongue cannot tell nor language depict the sufferings of that devoted wife and mother, who now stands on our soil, homeless, friendless, cheerless, far from the scenes of her birth and the friends of her existence, unknown to all around her—and her helpless orphan, dependent on her for support. Such is one of the incidents connected with the fillibustering expedition.—San Francisco Sun.

This is a sad incident. But it is very much like military executions generally.

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, MAY 13, 1854.

MAJOR WYSE.

The evidence in the Court Martial on Major Wyse, closed on both sides on Thursday, and the Court adjourned to Monday to give Major Wyse time to put in his written defence.

For the information of any readers who do not know him, we copy from the New York Herald a brief biographical sketch of Maj. Wyse.

Major Wyse was born in Deer Park, Baltimore county, Maryland, and graduated in 1837 at West Point. His first appointment was to a post in Florida, where he was engaged in active service against the Seminole Indians, who were then at war with the United States. When peace was restored he was still kept in Florida, where he was actively employed until the commencement of the Mexican war, when his regiment was ordered to Tampico.

While here he was engaged in the rescue of the Encarnacion prisoners, among whom was Major Burland, our present Minister in Central America. The whole party by which this feat was accomplished did not exceed 130 men, while the Mexicans numbered from 12 to 1500. For three days this gallant little band contended against such overwhelming odds, until they succeeded in reaching Tampico, not, however, without the loss of some of its bravest members. On this occasion they plied their only cannon with terrible effect upon the Mexicans; but their grapeshot having been expended, they gathered lead from some of the public buildings and converted it into bullets, then putting these into empty champagne bottles, they loaded the cannon and fired into the enemy with terrible effect. The bravery of Captain Wyse on this occasion, obtained for him the title of Brevet Major. He served throughout the whole war with distinction, and has since its close been actively employed. At the time of the shipwreck of the San Francisco he was on his way to California.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Telegraphic despatches from Washington of the 12th, represent the Nebraska bill as not quite out of danger. A caucus of anti-Nebraska democrats, and another of whigs, had been holden. A friend of the bill is doubtful, if amended so as to pass the House, whether it will not stick fast in the Senate.

RELIGIOUS BOOKS.—A friend in Portland has furnished us with the following books, all published by Otis Clapp, Boston, and written by Rev. Wm. Hayden, who is a minister of the New Jerusalem Church or Swedenborgians, and now located at Portland—where he is very popular as a writer and lecturer.

Science and Revelation; or the bearing of Modern Scientific Developements upon the interpretation of the first eleven chapters of Genesis.

Correspondence of Wine, Baptism and the Holy Supper.

On the Character and Works of Christ.

The New Jerusalem Church of the Future.

The Two Revelations, Nature and the Word.

We have looked into the first and third, as they stand on the above list, and find them books to be studied rather than merely to be read; and we doubt not they will abundantly repay a thorough examination.

John Newson, an Englishman, has been sentenced in Boston, to the State Prison, for three years, for having two wives. The first woman has two young children that she supports with her needle, but was willing that her husband should live with the last married, rather than go to prison. The last one repudiated him altogether.

The last serves him right. Let the rascal go to prison where he belongs. The first woman is too good for him.

THE WARD TRIAL.—From statements in the Louisville and Cincinnati papers, we judge that there will be two reports of the Ward trial published, one at Louisville, which will contain all the evidence and the speeches of the counsel, as they were delivered. This edition will make a volume of about 200 pages, octavo. The New York edition is said to be prepared by a person under pay of the parties most implicated, and the speeches of the counsel for Ward will be given in a style to save, if possible, the reputations of the speakers.—Boston Transcript.

HUMAN LIFE VERSUS FREIGHT.—Charles H. Haswell, surveyor of sea steamers for the Boards of Underwriters of New York, Philadelphia, Boston, and Lloyds', London, in his testimony before the Wyse court martial, stated in reply to a question, that vessels were often used for carrying passengers which would not be used for freight, as the former were not insured! In other words, vessels upon which the underwriters would refuse to take freight risks, or would assume them only at high premiums, are often consigned to the passenger business!

MORE OF THE LOST IN THE POWHATTAN.—Twenty-six more bodies were washed ashore on Brigantine Beach, N. J., from the wreck of the Powhattan, between the 23d of April and the 3d of May. They were the bodies of one lady, with an ear-ring in one of her ears, one little girl, one colored man, and twenty-three white males, who were, from their appearance, Germans. One of the latter was respectably dressed, and had on India rubber boots, rings in his ears, and a silver hunting watch.

Dr. Charles Jewett, the Temperance lecturer, has accepted an appointment in an educational institution in Illinois, and will soon retire from the former field of his labors.

CONGRESS TO-DAY.—Washington, 12th.—The House spent the whole night in parliamentary tactics and bickerings, without accomplising anything with the exception of the waste of time aimed at by the opponents of the Nebraska bill.

Motions to adjourn were frequently made, and calls for the yeas and nays likewise.

At daylight this morning the House was called, and no quorum being present, the sergeant-at-arms was sent after absentees, several of whom appeared about 9 o'clock, and offered their excuses.

Motions to adjourn were renewed, and at half-past 12 o'clock to-day, the struggle was being carried on with as much animation as ever.

The Senate met at the usual hour, but no quorum being present, did nothing, and soon afterwards adjourned to Monday.

NEW YORK, 12th.—The Ericsson was raised yesterday and towed to the Jersey side. Her hull and machinery appear to be but little injured, the chief damage being to the furniture and fittings.

The jury in the Hayes case returned a verdict of not guilty of the murder of Dr. Leutner.

The American Temperance Union held its eighth anniversary at the Tabernacle last evening, before the largest audience of the week. Chancellor Walworth took the chair, and resolutions were adopted, eulogising the Maine law, and condemning the veto of Gov. Seymour as a great evil and moral wrong towards the community.

The Washington correspondent of the Courier and Enquirer telegraphs:

"It is apprehended that we are on the eve of a rupture with Spain. The replies to Mr. Soule's demands are unfavorable. His demands did not include the recall of Pezula."

NEW YORK, May 11.—THE NEBRASKA BUSINESS.—A call is out for a public meeting on the Park of citizens opposed to the violation of the Missouri Compromise, signed by Moses H. Grinnell, Alfred Pell, William C. Bryant, Walter R. Jones, Judge John L. Mason, Geo. Griswold, Samuel P. Ruggles, and many other prominent citizens. The object of the meeting is stated to be to consider the proper steps to be taken at the present momentous crisis, and to demand of all members of Congress, who adhere to the faith pledged in the Missouri Compremise, to protect from invasion the rights of the people, and to resort if necessary to the most decisive and even extreme measures to prevent it.

SUICIDE.—Yesterday afternoon Benjamin Beale of Milton was found dead in his slaughter-house. Mr. Beale arose about 4 o'clock yesterday morning, to all appearances as well as usual. He went as was supposed to his barn to attend to his horses and cattle, as usual, and afterwards, as was thought by his friends, left home to attend to his business.—He did not return for breakfast, and finding that he had not been to his barn, his friends became somewhat alarmed, and about noon search was made for him which resulted in finding him hanging by the neck. Mr. Beale was 54 years of age, and possessed of a property of the value of $30,000.

No cause is assigned for the suicidal act. The deceased was a mild, quiet, amiable man, and much respected in his neighborhood. He was a butcher by trade, and had accumulated his property by industry and perseverance. His estate is situated on Milton Hill, and is one of the most beautiful in Norfolk County. Boston Herald, 10th.

SWAMPSCOTT FISHING BUSINESS.—The Lynn Reporter says that a new feature is about to be introduced into the fishing business of Swampscott, which is destined to work quite a revolution in it. It is the introduction of steam. A project is on foot to organize a company, with a capital of about $15,000: for the purpose of building a steam propeller of one hundred tons, to be employed in making daily trips from the fishing grounds to market with the proceeds of each day's catch. The vessels employed in taking fish would thus be enabled to go farther from home. Ten thousand dollars have already been subscribed towards the new enterprise, and the remainder will be speedily obtained. The same paper says that the people of Swampscott have pre pared a petition to be forwarded to Washington, praying that their town may be set off from the Marblehead collection district, and joined to that of Salem and Beverly.—Salem Register.

DISTRESSING DEATH.—A bright and interesting little girl, about eight years of age, died on Monday last in the village of Newark, from convulsions brought on by excessive exertion in jumping the rope. She was competing with several of her school companions in this exercise, who were endeavoring to outdo each other in endurance. She jumped four hundred times in succession, and until entirely overcome by the long continued exertions. The child was taken home insensible, but the movement of the muscles of the limbs, as in jumping, continued without cessation forty-eight hours, until the sufferer was released from the painful exercise by death. This case, which is not the first one of the kind that has come to public notice, should serve as a warning not only to children, but to parents and school teachers.—Rochester Democrat, 6th.

The 20th Anniversary of the American Bible Society took place on Thursday morning at the Tabernacle, New York. The principal services were the address of the President of the Society, Theodore Frelinghuysen; the reading of the Treasurers' and Managers' reports, and the adoption of resolutions. Rev. Dr. Neely of Alabama, Rev. Dr. Lyman Beecher, Rev. Dr. Vermyle, Rev. Phillip Kent of London, Rev. George W. Cummings of Virginia, Rev. Dr. Allen of Indiana, and Rev. Dr. Palmer of Albany, were present. The receipts for the year for the general objects of the Society amounted to $394,240, being an increase over the last year of $47,798. The number of Bibles printed during the year is 306,000; and 556,000 Testaments. The number of volumes issued was about 815,399, being an increase of 16,029.

DIVIDEND.—The Bartlett Steam Mills in Newburyport, have declared a semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent.

LOCAL.

THE CRASH.—The heavenward-pointing spire of the old North Meeting House points upward no more; it was beleaguered with ropes on Friday morning, by Mr. Albion K. P. Deering, a bold mariner, who ascended by the lightning rod to a point chosen by himself, where he fastened his guys. Then descending to the bell deck, he and his assistants cut off the eight posts which supported the several corners of the octagonal crown which sustained the heavy steeple. At one o'clock the tackle on the hawser leading to Market street was hove taut, and at 12 minutes past one the steeple toppled over and fell into Market square, pointing towards the Athenæum, and being dashed into a thousand pieces by the concussion. The spectators were very numerous, and apparently delighted that the spectacle was at noonday and exhibited according to the programme.

The steeple was the largest and most noble looking specimen of its kind which we ever happened to see. But it has given way before the onward march of progress, and we now expect to see one not less noble nor less substantial in its place. And perhaps it has not come down too soon, for it was much decayed—the pine timber actually being in better preservation than the oak.

The builder's name is seen plainly chalked on the king-post—"Joseph Libbey, 1730," and the same date is on the Vane. The venerable vane was somewhat injured, but will be straightened out and preserved as a relic, inside the new steeple. It is of copper, mostly cast, from the head to the fork, which is iron. It pointed to the South, the land of sunshine, till rudely cast down to earth.

P. & C. RAILROAD.—After the reading of the Directors' report, at the annual meeting in this city on Wednesday last, enquiry was made by G. W. Towle, Esq., of the terms on which the Directors had made a settlement of the law suits pending, to which reference was made in the report. Mr. Emery, one of the Directors, stated that the sum claimed, for which settlement had been made, was about $17,000. The sum received therefor was $7,550. The sum received, it will be seen, is about 40 per cent. of the demand, amounting to something like the interest thereon.

The SAGAMORE MILL in this city, which has turned out much celebrated and excellent spool cotton, is offered for sale, with all its machinery, &c.

PISCATAQUA BRIDGE.—Notice has been given that Piscataqua bridge, spanning the river between Newington and Durham, is closed from travel until further notice. A special meeting of the proprietors is called, to take into consideration the present condition of the bridge, and to decide what course they will take in regard to the same. This bridge has been deemed somewhat unsafe for a long time.

ARRIVAL.—The new ship Midnight, Capt. James B. Hatch, which left Portsmouth at 7 o'clock P. M. on Wednesday, arrived in Boston the next day at 8 A. M. with the following passengers:—Horatio Coffin, Dan'l Marcy, Wm. R. Preston, J. Warren Towle, Henry Hastings, (owner of the ship) Leonard Cotton, and Samuel Gray, of the Portsmouth Chronicle. Passengers and crew all well.—Boston Post.

A COLLEGE INCIDENT.—Some of the students of the Indiana State University were suspected to be in the habit of drinking brandy. Where they obtained it was a mystery. Dr. Daily determined to ferret out the secret. Calling into a small drug store, the proprietor asked him 'how that sick student, Mr. Carter, came on?'

Smelling a rat, the Dr. answered in an evasive manner, and soon drew out of the apothecary the fact that the students under suspicion had been in the habit of purchasing brandy for a sick student by the name of Carter; that they said he was quite low, and kept alive by stimulants; that the young gentlemen seemed very much devoted to him. New the secret was out. This Carter was a fictitious character, and the Dr. had the secret.

However, he kept his own counsel. The next time the students assembled in the chapel for prayers, he cast his eyes over the crowd, and satisfied himself that Carter's nurses were all present. The devotions were duly conducted, and then he called the attention of the students, remarking that he had a mournful task to perform—as President of the University it became his duty to announce the death of their fellow student, Mr. Carter. After a lingering illness of several weeks, a portion of which he was only kept alive by stimulants, he had breathed his last! He had no doubt this announcement would fall sadly on the ears of those who had so faithfully attended to his wants, but he hoped they would bear it with resignation—he hoped they would reflect upon the oft repeated words, 'Memento mori'—that he would now no longer detain them, but leave them to their reflections!

The result of this announcement was startling. None of the Professors, and but few of the students, had ever heard of Carter. 'Who is he?' was whispered; none knew but the kind friends who attended him, and they wouldn't tell; and the President seemed so deeply affected, they didn't like to ask him.—Brookville American.

CUBA.—A letter from Washington says: "I do not think that the Committee on Foreign Affairs or the majority of the Senate will second Mr. Slidell's movement. They know that Africanization must be a slow work, and that it will not prevent Cuba from falling into our possession at a proper time. Under no circumstances, likely to occur, will the Senate authorize any hostile measures, or give the President any provisional powers for a hostile movement."—Boston Courier.

A letter from the Rev. Mr. Eaton, of Henniker, N. H., to the Boston Traveller, leads to the inference, that the story about the crimes of a person calling himself Rev. Geo. A. Adams, is an invention of a woman, a begging impostor, of good address and good education, and one of a series of lies by which she has managed to sponge the charitable public. The woman's real name does not appear to be known. At Henniker she called her name Mansfield. The woman referred to calls herself 25 years old, but is supposed to be nearly 35.

The story was exceedingly well and plausibly told, but it comprised more rascality than it is often in the power of one person to perpetrate, and had the look of belonging rather to the pages of romance than the events of real life.—Newburyport Herald.

MR. PUNCH has the following:

Strike of Seamen.—There is one description of strike in which we hope our sailors will never engage—that of their colors.

Two things rather difficult to be done at once.—To cultivate a moustache, and a taste for Vermicelli Soup.

The Czar's Idea of an Angel.—Nicholas has called his brother in law, the King of Prussia, "an Angel of Peace." An angel—after the Russian view—has of course, two wings; one of infantry, and one of artillery.

Punch also speaks thus of one of our own distinguished fellow citizens:

"Mitchel—who, let us hope, carried away in his bosom the last rotten potato from Ireland—Mitchel has been yelling for an invasion of Canada by Russia."

Blushes are flying colors, which maidens carry becomingly.

If a man waits patiently while a woman is "putting her things on," or "shopping," he will make a good husband.

CALIFORNIA POETRY.—The following is one stanza of a patriotic poetical production that appears in the Nevada Democrat:

Keep your eye fixed on the American Eagle,
Whom we as the proud bird of destiny hail;
For that wise fowl you can never inveigle
By depositing salt on his venerable tail.

FIRE AT BROOKLYN.—Mr. Norris' turpentine yard, near the Atlantic dock, Brooklyn, was burned on Thursday evening. Large quantities of naval stores were consumed.—Loss upwards of $50,000.

ADVERTISEMENT.—If Nicholas will meet Sir Charles Napier in the Baltic, he will hear of something to his advantage.

Jonathan Packard, a venerable silversmith, of Rochester, N. Y., died in consequence of an attack upon him by drunken rowdies.

A Hamburg ship arrived at San Francisco April 15th, from China, with 570 Chinese passengers, of whom 100 were females.

FURTHER NEWS BY THE CANADA.

Twelve Russian merchant ships are already captured by British cruisers. Six of these have arrived in England, and the crews were liberated on parole not to serve against England or France.

The report of the bombardment and capture of Odessa by the allied fleets was totally untrue. The story arose from the circumstance of the batteries at Odessa having fired harmlessly into the British ship Furious, which was sent with a flag of truce to bring off the Consul and British residents. The ships of the allied fleets were, however, within sight of Odessa on the 21st, and an attack may very soon occur.

On the 16th of April a sharp combat took place before Kalafat. Twenty squadrons of Russians, with six guns, were making a reconnoissance of the Turkish lines, when the Turks sallied out with two regiments of regulars, under Pacha Bayouk, and after a combat of three hours' duration, obliged the Russians to retreat, with a loss of 500 men.

The Russians were still fortifying themselves in the Dobradscha. They had not crossed Trajan's wall. The forces before Kalafat were withdrawn towards Krajova. Their strength in the Dobradscha is about 30,000 men.

The expulsion of the Greeks from Turkey continues. Their stores and dwellings, in which some arms were found, have been seized and closed up.

Brilliant Feat.—The following brilliant feat is announced:—The British steamer Fury, 6 guns, on the 11th inst, under Austrian colors, steamed within three miles of the entrance to Sebastopol, when she saw two merchantmen, two brigs, two frigates and a steamer leaving the harbor. The Fury dashed in and seized one of the merchant ships and towed her off, but being chased by the Russians was obliged to cut the prize adrift. One of the frigates and the steamer came within range and exchanged broadsides. After four hours the Fury escaped, carrying off the Russian merchantmen's crew as prisoners of war, who gave important information respecting the strength of Sebastopol.

Another Feat.—The following is also reported as performed by the Russians:—"A steamship, supposed to be a "Russian Despatch Boat," under British colors, boldly steamed from the Archipelago, passed the batteries of the Dardanelles, and succeeded in escaping into the Black Sea.

SPAIN.—The Madrid correspondent of the London Times writes on the 20th a letter commenting unfavorably on Mr. Soule, the United States Minister. He says that up to that date the notes exchanged between Mr. Soule and the Spanish government were five in number. No. 1, by Mr. Soule, states the complaints of the United States and the reparation he is instructed to demand, and requiring a positive reply, within 48 hours. No. 2. The Spanish government declares its inability to reply until information was received from Cuba. No. 3, the Times calls a most rude and discourteous document from Mr. Soule, taxing the Spanish government with seeking to postpone a reply, and affirming, or rather insinuating, that Spain had received despatches from Havana, but suppressed them. No. 4, from the Spanish government, was so strong that the senders thought it not unlikely that Mr. Soule would demand his passports. No. 5, from Mr. Soule, was in milder terms. Contents not transpired.

The correspondent also says that the Spaniards look on American claims as overbearing and exorbitant.

On the 18th, Mr. Soule was present at a dinner given by Lord Howden, the British Minister.

ITALY.—The steamer Ercolaro was lost off Villa France, fifteen English passengers were drowned and five saved—among them Sir Robert Peel.

AUSTRIA.—The Emperor's marriage was celebrated, and an amnesty has been granted to 400 prisoners, and the state of siege removed from Lombardy from 1st May.

GREECE.—From Athens 21st, the reports are that the Gulf of Corinth was guarded by French ships of war, and all communication stopped between the continent and Peloponesus. The whole of Southern Thessaly is in arms, and it was reported that the Turks were defeated at Mezzobo. This is doubtful.

CONGRESS.

THURSDAY, May 11.

SENATE.—In the Senate, Mr. Bright of Indiana offered a resolution directing the Secretary of the Senate to contract with the editor of the Sentinel for publishing the debates of the Senate in that paper. The resolution was debated for an hour, and then, without final action, was laid over.

Mr. Mallory offered a resolution of inquiry as to the expediency of authorising the Secretary of War to finish the fortifications at Tortugas and Key West. Adopted.

The vetoed Insane Land bill was taken up, and Mr. Badger of North Caroline spoke two hours, sustaining the constitutionality of the bill. He held that the power to dispose of the public lands was vested in Congress, without any limitation. He read from the journals to show that grants of lands to Connecticut and Kentucky, for the Deaf and Dumb Asylum, had been voted for, and were supported by Messrs. King, Buchanan, McDuffee, Woodbury, McLane, Polk, and others, all strict constitution statesmen, and approved of by President Monroe and his able Cabinet. The bill was postponed to Monday. Adjourned.

HOUSE, 10 P. M.—The House is still in session, and the whole afternoon has been passed in a fruitless effort of the majority to proceed to business. The minority appeared resolutely determined to defeat all business until after Tuesday.

There is every reason to believe that the House will continue in session until Tuesday, such is the determination of the minority now. By that time the Pacific Railroad bill will be reached, and the Nebraska bill will be thrown behind. [Enigmatical.

A jury in the Supreme Court in New York, on Monday, returned a verdict of thirty-six hundred dollars against the Hudson River Railroad Company, for causing the death of a gentleman named Button, in November last.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 76 state Street, oppo. Kilby street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents."

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Linimeut, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

DR. ORDWAY'S HUMOR DISCOVERY,
AND BLOOD PURIFIER.

DR. ORDWAY has been using his Blood Purifier in his practice for the last seven years with great success. He has often been urged by his friends and those who have tried it, and know its efficacy, to put it within the reach of all. He has now added to it an Herb, discovered in California, by Dr. KELLEY, which makes it the most wonderful remedy for

HUMORS OF ALL KINDS,
LIVER COMPLAINTS AND CHRONIC DISEASES.

The virtues of this Herb were first made known to Dr. Kelley by an Indian, while attending a patient, sick with that terrible disease, the California Erysipelas and Liver Complaint—the effect was miraculous—saving the patient in a few days. The natives, when bitten by a rattles ake, or rabid animal, resort to this Herb for a cure.—Hundreds are taking this medicine, after trying in vain other remedies, and say that the half was never told them.

If you have Erysipelas, 3 to 5 bottles will cure it.
If you have Scrofula, 3 to 7 bottles will cure it.
Three to six bottles will cure Salt Rheum.
One or two bottles will cure Pimples on the Face.
Two or three bottles will cure Scaly Eruptions and Scald Head
One to three bottles will cure Nursing Sore Mouth
One to three bottles will cleanse the system of Biles.
Two to five bottles will cure Rheumatism.
Three to four bottles will cure old running Sores and Ulcers.
One or two bottles will cure Barber's Itch.
One to three bottles will cure Canker in the mouth and bowels.

For Liver Complaints and Jaundice.

Its effects are new and wonderful, removing obstructions from the Liver, open the pores of the skin, carrying off the morbid matter, relieving the side, and all-gone feelings of the stomach; and removing low spirits and despondency, which is the result of this disagreeable and often fatal disease.

FOR DYSPEPSIA.

A fair trial will convince you that there is nothing like it.

FOR CANCEROUS HUMORS,

It is the surest remedy ever offered. One widow lady in Lawrence, has been troubled with Cancer for years, by taking two bottles says she is now quite well.

FOR COSTIVENESS.

One gentleman says that it was the only medicine that cured him

FOR KIDNEY DIFFICULTIES,

It is spoken of in the highest terms. A young man was sick so much with Asthma that he had to leave College; three bottles cured him, and he has now resumed his studies. One lady in Salem was perfectly cured of Periodical Sick Headache, by the use of two bottles. Mr. Williams, of Lawrence, had humors in his face for years, and was cured by the use of the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier. For Chills and Fever, Mercurial Diseases, Taints in the System, it stands unrivalled; sometimes when the system is much deranged it will cause disagreeable things at first, but continue its use as indications favorable. It is purely vegetable, and its compound and proportions are such that the effect is perfectly satisfactory and safe.

FULL DIRECTIONS ON THE BOTTLE.

Dr. Ordway's Cough Destroyer.

This invaluable Cough Remedy is for the complete cure of Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Influenza, Whooping Cough, pains in the side and breast, hacking or tickling at the throat, spitting blood, tightness across the lungs and chest, and all Lung Complaints leading to Consumption.

No medicine yet discovered has that decided effect in curing Bronchia. affections as the Cough Destroyer. It can be taken by all ages and classes, from a child six months old to the oldest man or woman, with the most happy results.

PRICE 50 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Dr. Ordway's Pain Destroyer.

This preparation is composed of a great variety of Extracts, Gums, Essential Oils, most of which have not heretofore been united and compounded into their present form. It will cure attacks of Cramps of the Stomach, Spasms, Convulsions, Faintings, Pain in the Stomach, Bowels, Side, Back, Limbs, and a great variety of other difficulties. It is also invaluable as an external remedy. It will be found to contain nearly double the strength of any similar article, and possesses properties heretofore unknown. No family should be without it for a single day.

PRICE 25, 37½ AND 50 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for those noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built House, two (high) stories, in good order and pair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two sculleries, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equidistant from the markets, factories and railroads. Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the north end. It is centrally located between the different ship-yards in that section of the city. each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lowd and is in good order. Attached to it is a lot of land large enough for a Stable or for another dwelling house. It would make a good place for the residence of a person employed at the shipyards across the river, or at the Navy Yard.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 47 Bow street.—This house has been built but a few years, is well finished off, and is very convenient. In the rear is quite a large garden spot. This would be a desirable place for a person employed at the shipyards, or at the Navy Yard nearly opposite.

Also, for sale, a BUILDING LOT, on Mount Vernon street, (opposite No. 2,) with a small building thereon, which can be finished off into a Dwelling house.

All of the above property will be sold on liberal terms, if applied for soon. For further particulars apply to JOSEPH M. EDMONDS,
Feb. 27. No. 9 Islington street.

ALARM WITHOUT DUE CAUSE.

Mr. Elliot, successor of Zeno Scudder, has made a speech in Congress against the Nebraska bill; and Rev. Mr. Upham, of the Salem district, says if it is passed, "the country will swing from its moorings."—Boston Post.

The predictions of alarmists on both sides of such questions always amuse us, because we cannot share in their real or pretended consternation. We consider some features of the bill to be unwise, inexpedient, contemptible; and have never scrupled to say so. But we expect to see it pass and become a law;—and then, to see the world wag along very much as it does now. The deformity of slavery will not be diminished, nor will the friends of freedom number any less than before. But the friends of freedom fear too much, and the devotees of slavery hope too much from every such measure.

With similar views we look very coolly and calmly at the immense mass of folly, falsehood and froth, which is put in circulation about Cuba, and our relations to that island and to Spain.

The other day there was a report that Cuba was to be Africanized by a fresh importation of negroes from Guinea, as apprentices, alias slaves, in English vessels. Anon, we hear that a gradual emancipation law for Cuba has just been passed in Spain, under English influence, by which Cuba is to be Abolitionized. Each of these stories has been told as a reason for our favoring fillibusters, and making war on Spain, to prevent English Cuban influence from breaking up our glorious Union.

Now it turns out that a gradual emancipacact has long existed on paper, but does nothing, or very little; and that Spain is about, not to abolish slavery, but the foreign slave trade, and to regulate her domestic slavery somewhat as we do ours.

We have our opinions as to the relative wisdom of these three kinds of policy in Cuba: but we cannot see in either of them any cause of war with Spain, or of disquiet to anybody here, except the fillibusters, who seem bent on a quarrel about Cuba, and on conquest and annexation during the presidency of Franklin Pierce.

We do not believe the Union will be dissolved if we get Cuba, or if we do not get it; if slavery is abolished there, or is made stronger. We have no special desire to govern that island, but are pretty certain its freemen (?) and its slaves, could not be injured by the change. We think its inhabitants, at first, would make a poor sort of republicans, but they would learn after a while to be as civilized and christian like as the people of Kentucky or Mississippi.

We have no doubt that many swindlers and scamps would make a fortune by the change; and that for a time oppression and injustice would have a carnival. But after such a feast always comes a famine; and in a brief period, the whole pack of wolves, conquest, fraud, and slavery, would become as hungry as ever, but with the certainty that there are no more such fat morsels as Cuba, on which they can gorge themselves.

They might, then, when they wished to carry a point, threaten to dissolve the Union—but doing it is quite another thing—more easily told of than done.

SOUND JUDICIAL DOCTRINE.—In the Supreme Court at Worcester, Mass., on Wednesday, in the action of Jonathan Richmond vs. Providence and Worcester Railroad, Judge Thomas made an able charge to the jury, and after enforcing the idea that the company was bound to pay all damages for physical and mental injuries received, he said:—

Some thought exemplary damages should be assessed for the beneficial effect upon the community, but the only exemplary verdict necessary, or which would benefit the community in this or any other case, was to render equal and exact justice. They had been urged to be liberal, but liberality was not a good word. A man might be liberal with his own property, but could not be allowed to be liberal with another's. In summing up the case and assessing damages, they ought always to forget who and what they are that ask it of them, and only remember what they have proved.

In the case mentioned the jury returned a verdict of $3394 in favor of the plaintiff.

Rev. John C. Webber, of whose rascalities we gave some account yesterday, is an old offender. He was three years in the State Prison at Windsor, Vermont, for forging a note. He was pardoned out three days before his time, that he might not lose his citizenship. He left the prison about nine years ago. During his stay there he made brogans for the southern negroes, or rather he did the pegging and lasting, as he never could be made to understand how to finish a brogan. We have these facts from the man who was his overseer.—Manchester Mirror.

That is a most injudicious and mischievous use of the pardoning power to restore citizenship to such fellows. But what shall we say of religious societies which will employ teachers of whom they know nothing, and who have no fair credentials from well known sources?

THE FALCON TRIAL.

On the seventh day of the trial, the owners of the Falcon sent in a note inviting the Court to take a trip to Washington; but we do not see that the Court accepted it.

There is a very natural conflict of testimony about the goodness of the vessel, with the balance quite against her. But there is no pretence set up by anybody, that her engines were in working order. Different witnesses vary as to the time needful for repairs on the engines, some saying it might take from one to three days, and others setting a much longer time. Among the latter,—

Charles McDonald, chief engineer of the Falcon on her recent trip, and witness for the prosecution, testified that the cause of the failure of her engines lay chiefly in the bad condition of four valve stems—a difficulty which could not have been repaired in less than a week's time. A trial trip would probably have developed these defects.

Major Wyse offered in evidence a deposition of Henry Waller, of Kings county, N.Y., in regard to a statement published by the passengers in the Falcon, from Havana, in November last. It was shown by this document that after being out two days from Havana, and making only 180 miles, her machinery gave out, and she was obliged to return. After four days she left again, and soon proved to be in as bad a condition as ever. Frequently she could raise steam for but four or five evolutions a minute, and several times her engines stopped entirely. She leaked very badly, and her progress was but one and a half or two miles an hour. When seventy five miles off Charleston, it was found that if her steam failed, of which there was danger, it would be impossible to keep her from sinking, and she was turned for Charleston, where she arrived safely, but leaking at a rate of eight or nine inches an hour. All the passengers then left the ship, and finished their voyage in another steamer.

There can be no doubt whatever, that Maj. Wyse has been guilty of the technical crime of disobedience. But no man ever had better reasons for it.

The New York Herald says:

The public should know by whom the Falcon was engaged, and what were the terms upon which she was employed in the service of our government. Let us have the contract and the names of the parties by whom it was made, before the trial closes.

We add, that the public should also know what it was that induced the Military Board of Survey, Messrs. Abercombie, Thomas and Swords, to certify favorably of the construction and sea worthiness of the Falcon.

Did anybody pay them for their "opinions"? Who paid them? and how much did they receive? The public would like to know.

A MIRACLE OF THE PRESENT DAY.—Many readers may remember the appearance of Mr. Joseph Balch of Johnston, N. Y., in the procession which met Daniel Webster on his last public entrance into Boston. Mr. Balch was born Feb. 16, 1760, and is now in the ninety fifth year of his age. He was three years a soldier in the war of the American revolution, and has been an active participator in all political events since that time. He belongs to a family of singular tenacity of life, and last year he lost by death two sisters, one of whom was one hundred years old, the other was ninety-seven, and both were older than he was himself. He is now in the possession of all his natural faculties, can read the finest print of the books of the day without spectacles, can walk two miles at a time with most young men, and his memory not only covers very closely all the events of his youth, but keeps pace with the current movements of modern times.

This fine old American gentleman has recently made a visit to Wisconsin and some other parts of the West, in order to see the progress of the country with which he was so well acquainted in its infancy. We have been allowed to examine one of his letters, which was written from Rock county, Wisconsin, a few weeks ago, to a gentleman in this city, which in its chirography and grammatical construction would do credit to any mercantile clerk of the present day, and is also full of lively and sensible remarks with regard to the condition and prospects of the country to which he had been so recently introduced. This active and venerable gentleman expects to visit his friends in Boston and vicinity during the present season, and has made arrangements therefor.—Boston Courier.

WESTERN BUTTER.—The St. Louis Intelligencer, of the 27th ult. mentions the shipment of nearly 200 tons of grease butter from that port, for New York via the Lakes. It was purchased on an order from New York at 5 to 9 cents per lb. and is intended for shipment to Europe, where it is used in the manufacture of cloths and other mechanical purposes. The Intelligencer says St. Louis will furnish to New York this year, about 200 tons of the oldest and by far the strongest butter, that has been imported into that city for years. Some of it is returning from whence it came, not quite so fresh, but with a vast deal more experience, from having taken a tour out west.

One lot of about six tons is noticed as received last fall, on consignment, a superb article, put up in small packages expressly for family use, and warranted to "keep in any climate," and for which soon after arrival he refused 28c per pound for the whole lot; couldn't take it, limited at 30c. But a day or two since, to cut a long story short, that butter was sold at 6 1-2c, making a clear loss of 21 1-2; and what was still worse, the shipper, who resides somewhere in York State, lost the whole consignment, it being swallowed up in freights, charges, interest, &c.

PERSONAL.—The Boston Post says, the friends of Abby Kelly Foster will be pleased to learn that she is looking much fatter and better than usual. She has been in training undoubtedly for the convention in New York, where she has been speaking.

LOCAL.

☞ We understand that the Railroad now building from this city to Great Falls, has been leased by the Eastern Railroad. It is to be run by the lessees, and the stockholders are to receive a rent of six per cent. on the capital stock. The road will probably be completed within a few months.

GOOD COWS.—The best cow in Portsmouth, raised by Mayor Walker, was sold this week to Col. J. W. Pierce, of Greenland, for $100. She is six years old, mixed Durham, of very large size, weighing 1500 pounds, and gives much milk.

A neighbor of the Mayor, Mr. F. W. Rogers, says that one of his own cows gave last year $150 worth of milk.—Journal.

EXTRAORDINARY DESPATCH.—The clipper schooner Restless, Capt. Penhallow, which arrived at Honolulu on the night of March 15, made the run across from San Francisco in eleven days. Her sailing time in making the two passages was 23 days—a distance of 4200 miles at least. The round voyage 36 days—two days less than ever before made by a merchant vessel. The U. S. ship United States once made the voyage in 26 days, but she made no stay, while the Restless was nine days in port.

GRAPES.—We received, a few days since, some bunches of fine Isabella grapes, ripened last fall in the garden of Mr. Bateman, in Georgetown, and kept through the winter by being packed in layers of cotton, and kept in a cool room. They looked as plump and fresh as if just taken from the vine, and retained nearly all the original flavor of the ripened fruit.—Newburyport Herald.

THE DOVER.—This beautiful inland steamer made her first trip across Lake Winnipiseogee, on Monday, May 8th.

NEW YORK ANNIVERSARIES.—The American Tract Society held its 29th anniversary on Wednesday, at the Tabernacle, Chief Justice Williams of Conn., in the Chair. Addresses were made by Drs. Oncken and Duff, Prof. Post of St. Louis, and others. Total receipts for the year, including donations and for sales of books $415,000; expenditures $406,000.

The Prison Association met at the church of the Puritans, in Union square, R. N. Havens in the chair; Recorder, F. R. Tilton.—Rev. Dr. Ting, Rev. H. J. Fox of Brooklyn, and others, addressed the meeting.

The 28th Anniversary of the Home Missionary Society was held in the Mercer street Presbyterian church, Mr. Henry Dwight presiding. Addresses were made by Rev. Isaac H. Brayton of California, Geo. Richards of Boston, and Rev. George Thacher of New York.

The annual report of the Home Missionary Society represents the affairs of the Association to be in a very flourishing condition, the receipts of the year were about $191,000, exceeding those of any previous year by nearly $20,000. The expenditures and liabilities are $195,000.

The American Anti-Slavery Society met in E. H. Chapin's church, Wm. Lloyd Garrison presiding. The annual report was read by Mr. Francis Jackson of Boston. Receipts for the year $11,000; expenditures nearly $9000. The speakers were Mr. Garrison, Rev. Mr. Furness, Mr. Purvis of Pa., Wendell Phillips, and Abby K. Foster. The church was crowded, and the session lasted until a late hour in the evening, when the meeting adjourned to meet again.

The anniversary of the American and Foreign Anti Slavery Society was held at the Tabernacle; John Rankin presided, and Messrs. Wm. Goodell and Fred. Douglas addressed the meeting.

SUICIDE.—James Lund, of Hudson, committed suicide last week, by cutting his throat from ear to ear. He has been indisposed for some time, and his friends have been afraid, he being low spirited, that he would commit suicide, as two of his brothers and his father had done before him. He was a farmer, had considerable property, and was otherwise comfortably situated.

He built some last year and got in debt, and was troubled in consequence. The idea has run in his mind for some time, until he came to the conclusion he could never meet his liabilities. He has one son in California, and he was troubled on that account. His brother John committed suicide by drowning himself in a mill pond; his brother Chase by hanging himself; and his father by hanging himself. A third brother was killed, some years ago, by the cars at Boston depot. He has one sister in the Insane Hospital. He was about 55 years old.—Manchester Mirror.

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE.—The annual commencement at Dartmouth College, will take place on the 20th, 26th and 27th of July. The orators are, Pres. Hitchcock of Amherst College, before the Theological Society; Prof. Shedd of Andover, before Phi Beta Kappa; and J. T. Fields of Boston, will give a poem before the Phi Beta Kappa. The whole number of the graduating class is 56. Of these 28 are from New Hampshire, 10 from Vermont, 7 from Massachusetts, 5 from Maine, 2 from Ohio, 2 from Connecticut, 1 from Rhode Island, 1 from a place not mentioned in the books.

A son of the fifth generation was born a few days since to Joseph A. Harris of Clarksburg. His mother is 22 years old; his grandfather is 42; his great-grand-father 76, and his great-great-grand-father 95; there are ten others in Clarksburg, all of the same fifth generation, and all of them can be called together in thirty minutes! The great-great-grand-father, Mr. Isaac Hills, is a revolutionary pensioner.

The premises of the Rev. Mr. Fellows, in Bedford street, Fall River, were entered on Sunday night, and a most wanton destruction of valuable fruit trees effected. Nearly 200 fruit trees, besides vines and shrubbery, were mutilated in the most shameful manner.

DESECRATION.—The New York Herald speaks of Mr. Chapin's [Universalist] Church in Broadway, New York, as being desecrated by having the American Anti Slavery Society's Anniversary held there, with Mr. Garrison in the chair.

The same paper, not long ago, spoke approvingly of the rejection of a Unitarian from a professor's chair in a University, and of filling his place with a Christian.

Perhaps Mr. Chapin will be frightened,—but probably he will not.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 76 state Street, oppo. Kilby street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ———

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully,
Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,

CONGRESS.

FRIDAY, May 12.

HOUSE.—Five o'clock, P. M.—Nothing has been done in the House yet, except ineffectual motions to go into committee, and calls for the yeas and nays on trivial motions.

The New York Hard members intend issuing an address to their constituents, embodying their views on territorial questions, and their attitude with regard to other political matters.

Ten o'clock.—The House continues in the same state, and without any prospect of an adjournment.

THE NEBRASKA BILL.—The proceedings in Congress show what is going on at Washington. The minority, who are opposed to the passage of the Nebraska bill by the House of Representatives, appear to be disposed to hold out and to stave off the question until Tuesday, when the subject of the Pacific Railroad comes up by special assignment, and, without a two thirds vote to the contrary, must be considered to the exclusion of the Nebraska bill. No such long battle has ever before been arranged to be fought in the House of Representatives, and many curious and exciting scenes are likely to be enacted before the contest is ended.—Boston Courier.

11 1-2 o'clock. Mr. Richardson announced that the Nebraskians yield, and moved an adjournment.

Intense excitement immediately ensued.

Mr. Hunt of La., appealed earnestly for adjournment till Monday, to allow time for reflection and pacification.

Mr. Cullom of Tennessee advocated the same.

Mr. Richardson expressed most conciliatory sentiments.

Mr. Stephens of Georgia said that Mr. Hunt could give no guarantee for the good faith of the faction opposed to business, and went on to denounce with severity the New York call for a public meeting.

Mr. Giddings interjected with vehemence, that if stump speaking was to go on he would take a hand in it. He added greatly to the excitement.

Mr. Seward of Georgia moved an adjournment till Monday.

Mr. Campbell of Ohio protested with great excitement of manner that he would resist to the "bitter end."

Mr. Edmondson of Va. advanced upon Mr. Campbell, attempting at the same time to throw off his coat, and declaring that "he would have a fight now!" Mr. Campbell stood prepared for a conflict, when Messrs. Aikin and Ketit of S. C., Dean of N. Y., and many others interposed, some seizing Mr. Edmondson and others Mr. Campbell. The sergeant-at-arms rushed forward with his mace in his hand, while hundreds of voices exclaimed "Order!"

Mr. Edmondson was withdrawn by his friends. Mr. Douglas was in the midst of the affray, and Mr. Benton approaching.

At length, after the restoration of order and comparative calm, a motion of adjournment was carried, followed with wild shouts, stamping of feet and rapping of desks.

Mr. Edmondson had previously got into a very serious difficulty with Mr. Wentworth, who was forced to retire from the Hall.

Throughout the contest of thirty five hours and a half, the conduct of Speaker Boyd has been admirable, and previous to the last affray excellent good humor prevailed.

TROY, May 13.—A locomotive ran into a passenger train this morning on the Hudson River railroad, near Grenbush.

Many of the passengers were badly injured, some fatally. The cars were all demolished. So great is the confusion that at present it is impossible to obtain further particulars.

Second Despatch.—It was the 8.40 minutes train from Troy, which overtook the 8.30 minutes Greenbush train from Troy. The Express engine went half through the passenger cars of the Greenbush train. No person was killed, but all the passengers with the conductor of the Greenbush train, were more or less injured. Among the passengers were Judge Hunt and his two daughters who were badly injured.

SENTENCE OF A MURDERER.—In New York, on Thursday last, John O'Sullivan, who was indicted for the murder of his wife at Fort Hamilton in October last, was found guilty by the jury, and yesterday morning was sentenced by Judge Rockwell to be confined in the State Prison at Sing Sing for the term of twenty-one years. The prisoner manifested little or no emotion at the sentence of the Judge.

LIQUOR LAW IN PENNSYLVANIA.—The Pennsylvania Legislature has passed the bill relative to the sale of spirituous liquors. It prohibits the sale of beer or other malt liquors without license, and forbids any person from obtaining a license and selling spirituous liquors by the quart or otherwise, unless the person so applying shall be a retailer of foreign or domestic goods, wares and merchandise. The act does not apply to brewers of malt liquors or manufacturers or rectifiers of spirituous liquors for wholesale purposes. It goes into effect immediately, if signed by the Governor.

The price of the wild lands along the line of the Illinois Central Railroad has at length been fixed. Mr. David A. Neal, of Boston, has undertaken the charge of selling the company's lands, and reports that the lands are scattered through forty-seven counties. He says: "I propose to select 50,000 acres from the highest valuations, and hold these for sale by special contract, not of course, less than $20 per acre. The next in value, to the extent of 350,000 acres, will be held at $15;—then 1,300,000 acres at $8, and the balance at $5, until it shall be deemed expedient to advance these rates. Credit to be given to actual settlers, but cash to be insisted on from speculators." Previous to the construction of the railroad the land could not be sold at $1 per acre. It was too far from market, and in the midst of thirty mile prairies. Now every railroad station is a good market for all that settlers can raise.

ATTEMPT TO DROWN.—Wednesday night about 11 o'clock, some people on board the steamer Daniel Webster heard a cry of distress proceeding from some one in the water near the Cape Elizabeth bridge. They hastened to the rescue, but the man in the water had succeeded in swimming to the wharf and saving himself. He was found to be a young man about twenty years of age, very much under the influence of liquor. In rather an incoherent manner he explained his situation by saying that he had consulted with an acquaintance (giving his name) and that they mutually resolved to drown themselves from the bridge; that they accordingly jumped from the bridge together, and that his companion was drowned, but that he concluded to save himself. This statement was at first believed, and Thursday morning had obtained some circulation about the city as correct. But upon a further questioning of the young man who saved himself, he does not confirm his story of the night previous, but remarks that the whole affair seems like a dream to him. The young man whom he said jumped from the bridge with him, was at home at the time of the occurrence. The whole matter—story and all—sprung from the disordered brain and imagination produced by liquor which, he says, he purchased of one Foley on Fore street, and some more which was given him by a stranger whom he met shortly after.

The name of the young man is George Coolbroth. He is of very intemperate habits, and described as nearly crazy when under the influence of liquor.—Portland Advertiser.

THE PATENT ELASTIC HORSE SHOE.—We had occasion to notice very briefly, a short time since, this new and important invention. We were impressed with its great value and utility. There is no science which is so little understood, and yet of so much importance, as that of Horse-Shoeing. The amount of property invested in horses is almost incredible, and yet thousands of these valuable animals are sacrificed yearly from want of correct knowledge and proper attention being paid to shoeing. It is usually left to men who know comparatively nothing of the anatomy and economy of the horse's foot, though there are some honorable exceptions. But a new and better state of things is, we hope, not far distant. The Patent Elastic Horse-Shoe meets a want which has long existed.

Many attempts have been made, both in this country and in England, to obviate the terrible effects produced by concussion and heat, but after repeated trials, all have proved of no value. But we have, we think, in this last invention, realized a prevention of concussion, sufficient elasticity to enable the horse to travel with much less comparative fatigue, a protection to sound feet, and a relief where lameness exists. This shoe has received the unqualified approbation of scientific men, horse owners, horse shoers, &c. Prof. Silliman, Dr. Dadd, Prof. Disbrow, J. B. Baker, Esq., and many others, have publicly expressed their opinion of its great value. It will be found to fully realize all that is claimed by the inventor.—N. Y. Spirit of the Times.

THE NEW INDIAN POLICY.—The Committee on Indian Affairs in the House have reported a bill which contemplates a radical change in the policy of the government towards the Indian tribes. The bill provides that the president shall cause treaties to be negotiated with the various tribes in Nebraska and Kansas, for the cession of their lands back to the United States, and their division into farms of a section of 640 acres for each family of six, for which proper patents shall be issued. So soon as these reservations are allotted, the remaining lands ceded shall be brought into market and sold, and the entire proceeds, deducting expenses, be paid to the respective tribes and divided among them, or invested in stock, &c., for their benefit. The intention being, if possible, to convert these occupants of our Western territories from nomadic tribes into quiet agriculturists. The bill also provides that any male Indian of the age of twenty-one, resident upon these farm reserves, after declaring his intentions in the form provided, may, two years after, upon adducing evidence of good character, of attachment to the constitution of the United States, and of a good disposition towards the order and happiness of the same, be admitted to citizenship, upon taking the final oath. His children who may be under the age of twenty-one at the time of his attaining citizenship, are also made citizens by that act.—Boston Journal.

THE FIRST FRUIT OF WAR.—A letter from the Rev. Wm. H. Shauffler, of Constantinople, draws a melancholy picture of the distress which the Eastern war has already occasioned among the poorer classes of Constantinople. He says that there is no commerce, no business going on, but little money to be seen, and thousands of human beings are dying of thirst, hunger, nakedness and disease. Rats and mice are eaten by many to allay the cravings of hunger, and people who but a few months since were comparatively rich in worldly goods, now beg for bread.—Mr. Shauffler states that although he has resided twenty years in Constantinople, through all the horrors of plague, war, famine and fire, he never saw such distress as now exists. It is hoped that the present state of things will prove but temporary. The Journal of Commerce says to those who are disposed to contribute to the relief of the suffering poor in Constantinople, that all donations sent to David Hoadley, No. 78 Broad Street, New York, will be applied to that object.

SPANISH AFFAIRS.—The Boston Courier, after properly discrediting the floating reports from Washington, says:

We have the best assurances that there is no disposition in Congress to favor the project of getting up a war with Spain. Neither the North nor the South wants any such thing, for reasons which will be clear to any man who takes the trouble to bestow a thought upon the matter. A few harum-scarum demagogues at Washington, are trying to hound on the government to the mad enterprise, but the administration will not venture upon such a step without a great deal more encouragement than they can see around them at present.

A new mode of dispersing a mob has been discovered—said to supercede the necessity of a military force. It is to pass around a contribution box.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humors.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of crofula.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, worm ridden children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it when have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause a slight singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs.—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns.

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. If the column of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humors outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to clease the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

Directions for use. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been supplied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two sculleries, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being equidistant from the markets, factories and railroads. Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the north end. It is centrally located between the different ship-yards in that section of the city. each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lowd and is in good order. Attached to it is a lot of land large enough for a Stable or for another dwelling house. It would make a good place for the residence of a person employed at the ship-yards across the river, or at the Navy Yard.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 47 Bow street.—This house has been built but a few years, is well finished off, and is very convenient. In the rear is quite a large garden spot. This would be a desirable place for a person employed at the ship-yards, or at the Navy Yard nearly opposite.

Also, for sale, a BUILDING LOT, on Mount Vernon street, (opposite No. 2,) with a small building thereon, which can be finished off into a dwelling house.

All of the above property will be sold on liberal terms, if applied for soon. For further particulars apply to JOSEPH M. EDMONDS,

THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE

is published by

FRANK W. MILLER, SAMUEL GRAY, & THOS. W. MILLER,

At No. 4 Exchange Buildings,

Pleasant Street,.....PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

TERMS $4 a year, or $3 if paid strictly in advance.

The Weekly Chronicle,

A family newspaper, containing the news of the week, with carefully selected miscellany, &c., is published every Saturday morning—at $1 a year in advance.

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three insertions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.

☞ All accounts settled semi-annually.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING promptly executed.

For the Chronicle.

TO "ONE OF THE DOGGIES"—A MUZZLE FOR THE SAME.

My Dear Doggie:—I heard your communication in the Chronicle read at the breakfast table this morning, and am constrained to say that so much of it as relates to us of the genus cani, shows great ignorance of dog nature in general, and of the principles governing me and our race in this city in particular. Your 'stand point'—are you a setter?—is unfortunate. Cats and dogs have nothing in common. A cat—hateful animal!—belongs to the house; a dog, to his master. A cat is free—may come in at any hour of the night; has a skeleton night key; but dogs know and do better.

Excuse me, but I think you must be a foreigner, or a 'cur of low degree,' whose early education was schockingly neglected; for at first you talk like a Sandwich Islander, and then like a Topsey, both of whom are undoubtedly 'very fine in their way,' but alas for their ways. You will permit me to say they are hardly proper language-teachers for a dog of any refinement. You speak of chaining, muzzling, &c., and ask various absurd questions as to why and wherefore. Don't you know why and wherefore it is proper that we should undergo a confinement to our master's premises, and why we should wear a muzzle? You speak of having a heart, and of putting your paw on it. Now don't you think you have just put your paw into it? In the first place are you sure you have got a heart? Then do you know where it is?—Now just 'put your paw on it,' and arn't you a pretty specimen of a dog? Here is a mirror: look at yourself—now turn round and run home, doggie, and ask your master (if you have got one, of which I am very doubtful) to buy you a muzzle, for you are the maddest looking little doggie I ever did see. If you had the smallest fraction of that heart, about which you are so pathetic, you would not regret the muzzle so much as its absence.

Tell me, for that paw which so gracefully lies against your heart, would you harm your master or his children? Would you not rather that heart should drop blood till the paw fell, and the little doggie with it, than that one who has fed you and caressed you should come to harm through you? If otherwise, what a dogged little doggie you must be, and how surely do you deserve chain, muzzle and strychnine. Are you so well posted up in the symptoms of hydrophobia that you can tell of its approach, and warn those whom you profess to love, that they may then take the proper precautions? Are you not aware that the bite of a frightened dog is as hazardous to human life as that of a dog which has shown unmistakable symptoms of true rabies?

You say you were born free. If you have remained so to this day, you deserve that which you will probably get. You say you are no thief. That is very much to be doubted. Let us go down to the markets and see if the occupants do not recognise you for a arrant a thief as goes on four legs. You don't bite? Well, nobody said you did, but a muzzle would prevent you from doing so, should you ever feel an inclination. You don't get drunk? Perhaps not, but you looked very much like it just now, when you stood on three legs and held one paw against your heart. You don't sell drink? Why don't you? Manifestly because nobody would buy of you. You are not mad? Then your communication very much belies you. You don't wag your tail or gnaw your bone?—Well, I have seen my master's children, when they have had a fit of the sulks, and I can only say you act very much like them.

I have little to say concerning your latter queries to our City Fathers, respecting the propriety of muzzling the drunkard makers, for with that a dog has nothing to do; only muzzling the makers would have your little effect upon the number of cases of delirium tremens, unless they muzzled the guzzlers at the same time. That 'famous old fellow with a late memory,' told my master this morning that his memory was still as 'green as the Bay tree,' and that early recollections crowd thick and fast upon him; that the quantities of doggies seemed to be increasing, though not in equal ratio with hydrophobia; that his voice was still for war upon all unmuzzled doggies, and that he hoped at least 'one of the doggies' would catch it. Wishing you a better acquaintance with the subject when next you write, I remain, my Dear Doggie, your very affectionate TOM.

PORTSMOUTH, May 11, 1854.

LOUIS NAPOLEON AND THE SULTAN DESCENDED FROM AMERICAN ANCESTORS.—The past history of the families of Louis Napoleon and the Sultan of Turkey, is full of interesting and marvellous incidents; some of which are, probably, not generally known to our readers.

The two Monarchs, now so cordially united in the struggle to maintain the integrity of the Ottoman empire, are both grandsons of American ladies. These ladies were born and raised in the same neighborhood, on the island of Martinique, one of the West Indies. They were of French origin, and companions and intimate friends in childhood and youth.—They were Josephine de Tascher and a Miss S——

The history of Josephine is generally known. She went to France, and was married to M. de Beauharnois, by whom she had one son, Eugene, and a daughter, Hortense. Some time after the death of Beauharnois, Josephine was married to Napoleon Bonaparte, and became Empress of France. Her daughter Hortense, was married to Joseph Bonaparte, then King of Holland, and the present Emperor of France is her son by that marriage.

Miss S. quitted the island of Martinique some time before her friend. But the vessel that was carrying her to France was attacked and taken by the Algerine Corsairs, and the crew and passengers made prisoners. But this Corsair ship was in turn attacked and pillaged by Tunis pirates, and Miss S. was carried by them to Constantinople, and offered for sale as a slave. Her extraordinary beauty and accomplishments found her a purchaser in the Sultan himself; and she soon became the chief lady of his Seraglio and Sultaness of Turkey. Mahmoud II. was her son, and the present Sultan, Abdul Medjid, is the son of Mahmoud.

Thus the two sovereigns who now occupy so large a space in the world's eye are grandsons of two American creole girls, who were playmates in their youth; and were as remarkable for their beauty and excellent dispositions, as for their varied and singular fortunes.

Both these women, in the height of their power, remembered all the friends of their youth, and provided munificently for their welfare. Many of the relatives of this Sultaness left the island of Martinique, and settled at Constantinople, where their descendants still reside, and enjoy the favor of the Sultan.

The Sultaness died in 1811, the Empress Josephine in 1814, and their grandsons now rule over two wide and powerful empires; and are entering as friends and allies, upon one of the most momentous and sanguinary struggles in which Europe was ever involved.—Pittsburg Post.

TUESDAY, MAY 16, 1854.

THE WORLD'S CRISIS.

The paper which does not keep posted up in all the news of the day, so far as to report leading facts, is not a newspaper in the modern sense of the term.

Some of our readers, perhaps, may not be aware that the Adventists, who created so much excitement in the community ten or a dozen years ago, are now as zealous and as positive as then, and are holding a perpetual series of protracted meetings, which occur so that believers or inquirers can attend all the time by a little travel.

It may not be known, by all the people of this city, that daily worship and daily preaching, at eventide, have been sustained for many days, in the Advent Chapel in our midst.

Yet these things are facts. And the preaching, which is earnest and sometimes able, is mainly directed to this point, viz. That the Lord Jesus will come speedily, (that is as some suppose next month, and most suppose this year,) to burn the earth, raise the saints, and judge the world. Similar preaching, as we see by the Advent papers, is in progress all over New England; and for aught we see, the excitement produced by it must run its course as before, and with similar effects.

From the Crisis, an advent paper in Lowell, we copy the following extract of a letter, dated in Wardsboro', Vt. which gives many of their views in a small compass.

I feel to thank the Lord with a sincere heart that He yet remembers His waiting and toil-worn children; and that we are permitted now after so long a time of sleep, to hear the true midnight cry, "Behold the Bridegroom cometh, go ye out to meet Him!" Since I have had the happiness of perusing the World's Crisis, my mind has been very sensibly affected by seeing the complete verification of the parable of the ten virgins. Early in the year A. D. 1843, a brother came to this place, gave us a course of lectures on the second coming of Christ, and he most earnestly requested the whole congregation to bring their Bibles and follow him day after day, to see if those things are so. It is evident that was the movement the Lord saw would take place at that time. But why did the Bridegroom tarry? Why because the Bridegroom desired to see how his intended bride would bear the trial of a little disappointment; and moreover to fulfil the prophecies. And can we be disappointed again? No, no, there is not between the lids of the Bible a single text that I know of intimating a second disappointment to the waiting, lonesome and mourning bride. When I view things as they are on one hand, my soul is pained within me; but when I look on the other hand, my soul is filled with "joy unspeakable and full of glory!" Yes I think we have reason to expect the heavenly summons every moment. Glory to God, Hallelujah. Amen. Yours, expecting the Lord in 1854,

STEPHEN BRALEY.

Another letter says:

Can it be possible that in a few months Jesus will come, when every eye shall see him? Yea, verily, those who pierced him shall see him. But who shall abide the day of his coming? And who shall stand when he appeareth? May God enable us to be as wise as Lot, and escape the fires of the last day.

The writer of the above extract says of this expectation,

It is truly like water to the parched ground. Yea, it is like a stream of water in the desert.

From these brief extracts our readers can readily infer the sincerity, depth, and intensity of feeling among a people who fully believe in the supernatural inspiration of the scriptures, and who give them a literal interpretation as far as they can.

It seems, however, that elder Himes, who was a leader in 1843, does not agree with all these views. The Boston papers of last Saturday gave this notice:

Rev. J. V. Himes will preach in Chardon Street Chapel to-morrow (Sunday) morning and afternoon, at the usual hours of services, when the reasons will be given why the Adventists have no confidence in the calculations that some persons have recently made fixing the time of the Second Advent in 1854.

Here we have it: Elder Himes and his clique are the adventists: all others are outsiders.

In all seriousness we say, let sound judgment rule men's minds and induce them to prove all things, without being in a hurry to believe this or that novelty. And let trust in the divine goodness rule in men's hearts, that they may think soberly and calmly, as men ought to think.

CORRECTION.—In common with nearly all the papers in the country, we published a telegraphic item, stating that Rev. Mr. Chapin's Church in New York city, had contributed $1000 towards erecting the monument in memory of the Rev. Hosea Ballou, late of Boston. But the New York Ambassador, a Universalist paper published in New York, sets down the collection of Mr. Chapin's Church at $103, which we suppose to be correct.

WEDDING MURDER.—At a wedding of a German couple, in Cincinnati, May 10, an Irishman named Thompson shot and killed a German named Dresher, and then fled. The deed was done at 3 o'clock in the morning, and of course the parties had all been drinking.

A NEW UNCLE TOM.

After all the growling and grumbling at Mrs. Stowe's Uncle Tom, facts are daily coming to light, which vivify every picture she drew, in the strength of the light, and the depth of its shade.

REFUSED THEIR LIBERTY.—It will be recollected that a few years ago there was a family known as the Cottrel family, who, according to the laws of Georgia were slaves, although they may be the offspring of their owner. At the decease of Mr. Cottrel, who we believe went from the East Parish of this town, this colored family was sold into slavery. The mother of these children was here a few years ago, and an effort was made to raise sufficient funds to purchase the freedom of this family, which was finally accomplished, and a special agent sent to Augusta, Ga., to procure their relief from servitude. He has returned, and they refused to be liberated from their owners.

This item shows up the amalgamation, the sale of children, and the attachment of slaves to their masters, their comrades and their homes.

The second is from the Baltimore Patriot, and exhibits man and woman, youth and age, sold by the sheriff, and scattered by the law.

HIGH PRICES FOR NEGROES.—M. H. Buchanan, Esq., Sheriff of Washington county, Va., sold on Monday last, in front of the Court house in Abingdon, nine negroes, who, the Abingdon Democrat states, brought the following prices—some of which are extraordinarily high: A negro girl, eighteen years old, $1,200; one of eighteen years, $1,205; one of thirteen years, $1,150; one of ten years, $900; one of five years, $300. A woman, forty two years old, brought $800; and one of eighty two years $75. A negro man of twenty one years brought $1,100, and one of seventy two years $50.

CONGRESSIONAL MORALS.

The Washington Correspondent of the New York Herald, in his letter of the 13th, says:

On Monday, of course, the fight upon the bill will be resumed. Supposing that the struggle will be continued up to Tuesday, the question arises, what then will be done? The friends of the bill say that they cannot go into committee upon the Pacific Railroad, or any subject, while there is a question in the shape of this Nebraska affair before the House; but that that affair must first be decided. Should the speaker so decide, the test of more physical endurance may be kept up another week or so, and may possibly be closed in downright fighting on the floor, a la Tammany Hall. We had some signs of this sort last night. Some members on both sides, believing in the virtues of bad brandy, had been drinking pretty freely. There was an abundance of refreshments in the various side rooms around the house, including liberal supplies of liquors and segars, both of which are too often productive of mischief. Hence members became unduly excited, and there was some hard swearing, and badly disguised indications for fisticuffs towards midnight. Had the adjournment been delayed an hour longer there might have been a jolly row.—Things were beginning to assume that complexion to an alarming degree.

Now we hope there will be no patriotic wincing on any side, when we say that a number of our legislators and so called statesmen, sometimes drink a great deal of liquor, and when this happens in a night session, as it commonly does, it always leads to disorderly conduct. A Congressional drunkard is just like any other drunkard,—only more so.

POLITICAL MOVEMENT.

The Boston Post of Monday says:

There has been much surprise expressed in this section of the Union at the course pursued by Messrs. Morrison and Kittredge, of N.H., in the House of Representatives, on the Nebraska question. While Mr. Norris in the Senate, and Mr. Hibbard in the House, have been faithful in the performance of their duty to their country, their state, and the principles of democracy, Messrs. Morrison and Kittredge are found in the enemy's camp giving aid and comfort to the worst form of freesoil whiggery; in strengthening faction, and encouraging that hand of rebellion and treason which would fire the capitol of the nation and consume the representatives of the people in its smouldering ruins, to defeat the will of the majority.—We do not say this is their design, but such, certainly, is the effect of their position.

We bring this before our readers at the earliest moment, for their sober consideration. The will of the majority is alluded to. How has this majority in Congress been obtained? Those only who know the wires at Washington, can answer this.

How was this matter presented in New Hampshire pending our election? Every man knows it was then allowed that a man could be a good democrat, and be on either side of this question. Had it been made the issue, or the principal issue here, the measure would have been greatly in the minority.

Messrs. Morrison and Kittredge know this; and hence their action. They have some idea of majorities here, as well as in Washington.

PROPER RESENTMENT.—We learn from the New Hampshire Phenix, that the citizens of Henniker, at their annual town meeting, voted not to grant license to any one to sell spirits in that town. Whereupon, Mr. Bell, keeper of the National Hotel there, fenced up his premises with a high, rough, hemlock board fence, which is supposed to signify No Admittance. Nevertheless, a teacher's institute being held there week before last, one hundred people from abroad were entertained a whole week in other houses, not National.

LOCAL.

For the Chronicle.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE.—Messrs. Editors:—In your issue of the 12th instant, mention is made of the downfall of the North Steeple, and the performance of "a bold mariner" concerned in the operation.—How curious it is the people could see but one bold mariner. Did they look with one eye shut? or like some of our modern sportsmen did they close both eyes? Had they looked with both eyes, they might have seen another, who with his mighty weapon sharpened for the occasion, dealt terrible blows on those supporting columns. But being fully aware of the extreme modesty of my friend, I shall not be personal—and will only say that John M. Campbell is not the man to pass a shipmate without a helping hand; and had you included him in your item, it would have better suited a number of Rope Yarns.

A. K. P. D.

Considerable anxiety was felt by the lady spectators of the scene, for the bold mariners mentioned; and even some of the gentlemen thought they ran some risk. The tars were the lions for the moment; and they did up their job in good shape. The getting down the steeple, which it was said by the croakers would eat up all profits realized by the purchaser on the sale of the old building-stuff,—occupied a couple of men half a day, and cost considerably less than an X.

BY HIS WORKS SHALL YE KNOW HIM.—Mr. Conner has on exhibition at his room in Congress Block, portraits of quite a number of our citizens; among the collection we noticed likenesses of His Honor the Mayor, Rev. Mr. Lamson, N. K. Raynes, Esq., and E. N. Fuller, Esq., of the Gazette. He has painted many others, some of which are still to be seen at his room, and in every instance his work has given satisfaction. It is seldom so good an artist visits Portsmouth, and he should receive a liberal share of patronage. He paints the same style of portraits here which he painted in Boston some time since, at about half the price he received for them there. All those who desire to be immortalized on canvas, should embrace the present opportunity;—they will never have a better one. Mr. C. intends leaving the city shortly, and it would be well to call soon.

ACCIDENT.—A man named Alfred Moore, a painter and rigger, fell from the ridgepole of the old North Meeting House, about 40 feet, into the cellar, on Monday afternoon about five o'clock; but was so little hurt as to be able to walk with assistance, to a carriage at the door, which carried him home.

RAILROAD TO GREAT FALLS.—We are desired to contradict the statement that the Eastern Railroad has taken a lease of the Gt. Falls Railroad. No such arrangement has been made, or is likely to be, as we learn from the best authority.

FROM EUROPE.

Odessa was bombarded on the 24th; one part of the city was laid in ruins.

Sir Charles Napier's fleet remains quiet.

The Bremen bark Favorite, with 180 passengers, sunk in the channel, all but five of whom were lost.

The Greek insurgents were defeated with great loss.

Russia has imposed a heavy war tax on all classes.

The Russians were making tremendous preparations for an attack on Sillestria about the 1st of May.

BERLIN, Tuesday.—The ratification of the Austrian and Russian treaty was exchanged to-day.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—THE NEBRASKA BILL.—The opponents of the Nebraska bill, both Whigs and Democrats, held an informal meeting on Sunday evening, and came to the resolution of insisting on freedom of debate.

The friends of the bill offer to postpone final action for two weeks, provided its opponents will consent to abrogate the rule allowing five minute speeches in the Committee of the Whole.

This proposition was rejected, and a 24 hours session is looked for from to day noon.

The Union announces that a caucus of the friends of the bill will be held this morning.

NEW YORK, 15th.—A serious disturbance occurred in the Park yesterday afternoon, during the holding forth of a street preacher, named Samuel C. Moses, which terminated in a fight. The police interfered and arrested the preacher, and also several men engaged in the affray.

LOSS OF SHIP WINCHESTER OF BOSTON.—A telegraphic despatch from New York states that the steamer Washington arrived at that port Monday, bringing with her about 500 passengers of the ship Winchester, which was wrecked at sea on the 19th of April. The Washington fell in with the Winchester on the 2d of May, and after laying by her 36 hours, succeeded in rescuing all on board.—In an hour after the last boat, containing Capt. Moore and the first mate of the ship, had left her, the Winchester sank. The Winchester started from Liverpool with a living freight of 800 human beings. Previous to falling in with the Washington she had transferred 300 to the ships Paragon and Mary & Caroline, and the brigs Ann, Robert Bruce and Edward, bound to Quebec. She lost four seamen overboard, and had several others disabled at the time of the disaster.

INTELLIGENT VOTERS.—The Newburyport Saturday Evening Union strongly urges upon the "Know Nothings" to incorporate into their creed that no man shall be a legal voter who cannot read and write.

CHARLESTON, May 11.—From Havana.—Steamer Isabel, from Havana and Key West, May 8th, arrived to day. News has reached Havana from Spain that the Spanish government approves of the conduct of the Captain General in the Black Warrior affair. Perula had published new regulations, making it lawful to search for negroes on estates. He also denies that there is a contract between Great Britain and Spain, by which the latter is bound to emancipate the slaves on the island. He also makes very severe remarks relative to the introduction of negroes into Cuba.—Artisans are forbidden to carry knives or any pointed instrument of their trade upon their persons.

NEW YORK, May 13.—The great anti-Nebraska meeting in the Park commenced at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Hon. Mark Spencer presided, supported by many whigs and democrats. Among the speakers were Messrs. B. F. Butler, R. N. Havens, T. Fessenden, and several working men. Resolutions were adopted amid great cheering. The purport of them is denunciatory of all who vote in favyr of the bill, and pledging to withhold votes from all such for any public office hereafter. It is also proposed to establish an efficient scheme for emigration to Nebraska.

LATTER DAY SAINTS.

We have just been reading, in the New York Herald, a rich letter, from Mrs. Belinda Marden Pratt, a native of New Hampshire, and one of the eight wives of Orson Pratt, a Mormon Elder. The letter is directed to Mrs. Belinda's sister, Mrs. Lydia Kimball, of Nashua in this state; it goes fully into the defence of polygamy on the grounds of scripture and of reason; and makes out, to say the least of it, as good a defence of that practice and system, as can be made of slavery. We have room for the close of the letter only.

I have a good and virtuous husband, whom I love. We have four little children which are mutually and inexpressibly dear to us.—And besides this, my husband has seven other living wives, and one who has departed to a better world. He has in all upwards of twenty-five children. All these mothers and children are endeared to me by kindred ties—by mutual affection—by acquaintance and association; and the mothers in particular by mutual and long continued exercises of toil, patience, long-suffering and sisterly kindness. We all have our imperfections in this life; but I know that these are good and worthy women and that my husband is a good and worthy man; one who keeps the commandments of Jesus Christ, and presides in his family like an Abraham. He seeks to provide for them with all diligence; he loves them all, and seeks to comfort them and make them happy. He teaches them the commandments of Jesus Christ, and gathers them about him in the family circle to call upon his God, both morning and evening.

He and his family have the confidence, esteem, good will, and fellowship of this entire Territory, and of a wide circle of acquaintances in Europe and America.

He is a practical teacher of morals and religion; a promoter of general education; and at present occupies an honorable seat in the Legislative Council of this Territory.

Now, as to visiting my kindred in New Hampshire, I would be pleased to do so, were it the will of God. But first, the laws of that State must be so modified by enlightened legislation, and the customs and consciences of its inhabitants, and of my kindred, so altered, that my husband can accompany me with all his wives and children, and be as much respected and honored in his family organization, and in his holy calling, as he is at home, or in the same manner as the patriarch Jacob would have been respected had he, with his wives and children, paid a visit to his kindred.

As my husband is yet in his youth, as well as myself, I fondly hope that we shall live to see that day.

For already the star of Jacob is in the ascendancy; the House of Israel is about to be restored: while "Mystery Babylon," with all her institutions, awaits her own overthrow.

Till this is the case in New Hampshire, my kindred will be under the necessity of coming here to see us, or, on the other hand, we will be mutually compelled to forego the pleasure of each other's company.

You mention in your letter that Paul, the Apostle, recommeded that bishops be the husband of one wife. Why this was the case I do not know, unless it was, as he says, that while he was among Romans he did as Romans did. Rome, at that time, governed the world, as it were; and although gross idolators, they held to the one wife system. Under these circumstances, no doubt the apostle Paul, seeing a great many polygamists in the Church, recommended that they had better choose for this particular temporal office, men of small families, who would not be in dispute with the government. This is precisely our course in those countries where Roman institutions still bear sway. Our Elders there have but one wife, in order to confirm to the laws of men.

You inquire why Elder W., when at our house, denied that the Church of this age held to the doctrine of plurality. I answer, that he might have been ignorant of the fact, as our belief on this point was not published till 1852. And had he known it, he had no right to reveal the same until the full time had arrived.

God kindly withheld this doctrine for a time, because of the ignorance and prejudice of the nations of Mystic Babylon, that peradventure he might save some of them.

Now, dear sister, I must close; I wish all my kindred and old acquaintance to see this letter, or a copy thereof; and that they will consider it as if written to themselves. I love them dearly, and greatly desire and pray for their salvation, and that we may all meet with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, in the kingdom of God.

Dear sister, do not let your prejudices and traditions keep you from believing the Bible; nor the pride, shame, or love of the world keep you from your seat in the kingdom of heaven, among the royal family of polygamists. Write often and freely.

With sentiments of the deepest affection and kindred feeling, I remain, dear sister, your affectionate sister.

ROBERT FULTON AND NAPOLEON BONAPARTE.—Allison mentions in history that while Napoleon was on the throne, a poor American came to Paris. He had an invention which he wished to show the Emperor.—Napoleon paid little attention to it, and he went away. That was Robert Fulton, whose invention of the steamboat has changed the whole face of the world—who is this day bringing the ends of the earth together; and who has done more for the solid happiness of mankind than fifty Bonapartes.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 40,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $50 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Linimeut, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

DR. ORDWAY'S HUMOR DISCOVERY,

AND BLOOD PURIFIER.

DR. ORDWAY has been using his Blood Purifier in his practice for the last seven years with great success. He has often been urged by his friends and those who have tried it, and know its efficacy, to put it within the reach of all. He has now added to it an Herb, discovered in California, by Dr. KELLEY, which makes it the most wonderful remedy for

HUMORS OF ALL KINDS,

LIVER COMPLAINTS AND CHRONIC DISEASES.

The virtues of this Herb were first made known to Dr. Kelley by an Indian, while attending a patient, sick with that terrible disease, the California Erysipelas and Liver Complaint—the effect was miraculous—curing the man in a few days. The natives, when bitten by a rattlesnake, or rabid animal, resort to this Herb for a cure.—Hundreds are taking this medicine, after trying in vain other remedies, and say that the half was never told them.

If you have Erysipelas, 3 to 5 bottles will cure it.
If you have Scrofula, 3 to 7 bottles will cure it.
Three to six bottles will cure Salt Rheum.
One or two bottles will cure Pimples on the Face.
Two or three bottles will cure Scaly Eruptions and Scald Head.
One to three bottles will cure Nursing Sore Mouth.
One to three bottles will cleanse the system of Biles.
Two to five bottles will cure Rheumatism.
Three to four bottles will cure old running Sores and Ulcers.
One or two bottles will cure Barber's Itch.
One to three bottles will cure Canker in the mouth and bowels.

For Liver Complaints and Jaundice.

Its effects are new and wonderful, removing obstructions from the Liver, open the pores of the skin, carrying off the morbid matter, relieving the side, and all-gone feelings of the stomach; and removing low spirits and despondency, which is the result of this disagreeable and often fatal disease.

FOR DYSPEPSIA.

A fair trial will convince you that there is nothing like it.

FOR CANCEROUS HUMORS.

It is the surest remedy ever offered. One widow lady in Lawrence, has been troubled with Cancer for years, by taking two bottles says she is now quite well.

FOR COSTIVENESS.

One gentleman says that it was the only medicine that cured him.

FOR KIDNEY DIFFICULTIES,

It is spoken of in the highest terms. A young man was sick so much with Asthma that he had to leave College; three bottles cured him, and he has now resumed his studies. One lady in Salem was perfectly cured of Periodical Sick Headache, by the use of two bottles. Mr. Williams, of Lawrence, had humors in his eyes for years, and was cured by the use of the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier. For Chills and Fever, Mercurial Diseases, Tumors in the System, it stands unrivalled; sometimes where the system is much deranged it will cause disagreeable feelings at first, but continue its use as indications favorable. It is purely vegetable, and its compound and proportions are such that the effect is perfectly satisfactory and safe.

HE HAS ALSO A HUMOR SALVE,

Unsurpassed for external humors, which, if used in connection with the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier will much facilitate a cure.

PRICE 25 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Dr. Ordway's Cough Destroyer.

This invaluable Cough Remedy is for the complete cure of Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Influenza, Whooping Cough, pains in the side and breast, hacking or tickling at the throat, spitting blood, tightness across the lungs and chest, and all Lung Complaints leading to Consumption.

No medicine yet discovered has that decided effect in curing Bronchia affections as the Cough Destroyer. It can be taken by all ages and classes, from a child six months old to the oldest man or woman, with the most happy results.

PRICE 50 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Dr. Ordway's Pain Destroyer.

This preparation is composed of a great variety of Extracts, Gums, Essential Oils, most of which have not heretofore been united and compounded into their present form. It will cure attacks of Cramps of the Stomach, Spasms, Convulsions, Faintings, Pain in the Stomach, Bowels, Side, Back, Limbs, and a great variety of other difficulties. It is also invaluable as an external remedy. It will be found to contain nearly double the strength of any similar article, and possesses properties heretofore unknown. No family should be without it for a single day.

PRICE 25, 37½ AND 50 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

Use Dr S. D. Howe's Hygeian, Hoarhound, Liverwort and Asparagus COUGH CANDY.

Warranted free from Mercury, Opium, or any Mineral Ingredient. It injures no one, but benefits all.

Relief guaranteed in five minutes.

NEVER, since the Science of Medicine first dawned upon the World, has any compound gained such extraordinary popularity, in so short a time as DR. HOWE'S HYGEIAN, Hoarhound and Liverwort COUGH CANDY, in curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Difficulty of Breathing, Bleeding at the Lungs, Pain in the Side and Breast, Sore Throat, Cramp, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Hoarseness or any other Symptom of that distressing malady, Consumption.

A host of Certificates can be presented, but the following from Rev. J. M. Trimble, Presiding Elder of the Cincinnati District M. E. Church, must satisfy all of the beneficial results of the use of this Cough Candy.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 25, 1847.

DR. HOWE—Sir: I have used Howe's Cough Candy and have found it a pleasant remedy for Hoarseness, and believe that public speakers troubled with diseases of the throat would find benefit from its use. J. M TRIMBLE.

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two sculleries, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the markets, factories and railroads. Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the north end. It is centrally located between the different ship-yards in that section of the city, each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lowd and is in good order. Attached to it is a lot of land large enough for a Stable or for another dwelling house. It would make a good place for the residence of a person employed at the shipyards across the river, or at the Navy Yard.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 47 Bow street.—This house has been built but a few years, is well finished off, and is very convenient. In the rear is quite a large garden spot. This would be a desirable place for a person employed at the shipyards, or at the Navy Yard nearly opposite.

Also, for sale, a BUILDING LOT, on Mount Vernon street, (opposite No. 2,) with a small building thereon, which can be finished off into a Dwelling house.

All of the above property will be sold on liberal terms, if applied for soon. For further particulars apply to JOSEPH M. EDMONDS,

THE GREAT CLERICAL PROTEST.

The friends of the Nebraska bill have pursued a course in regard to the great protest of the clergy of New England, which has resulted in giving it a notoriety that perhaps it otherwise would not have attained. The attack of Judge Douglas upon the petition at the time of its presentation, gave a wide spread knowledge of the fact that the clergy of New England with, as it were, a unanimous voice, had protested against the measure. The last act of the friends of the bill in regard to this protest, is the publication in the Washington Sentinel of the three thousand and fifty names which were appended to it, for the purpose, as the Sentinel remarks, of "detecting any frauds and forgeries that may have been committed"—of which it professes to believe there are many. The Sentinel calls for information on this point, and in reply thereto the Congregationalist publishes the following statement in regard to the history of the protest, which not only supplies the desired information, but is interesting as giving the history of one of the most remarkable protests ever drawn up and signed by any body of men. The statement is as follows:

"The subject of preparing and presenting this protest was first agitated by one of the editors of this paper in a meeting of the Orthodox clergy of this city. After some conference with brethren in other cities, it was determined to make the attempt to move the entire ministry of New England upon the subject. The precise verbal form which the protest should take was afterwards agreed upon in a similar meeting of the Orthodox clergy of this city and vicinity, and the finishing touch was given to it, and the offensive phrase "in the name of Almighty God," &c., was inserted by the two oldest and most conservative Boston pastors embraced in that body.

This form of protest, thus fixed upon, was then printed upon the first page of a letter sheet, and upon the second page of the same sheet was also printed a brief address, informing the person who should receive it, that a similar sheet had been sent to every clergyman in New England, of every name, whose address could be procured by those having the matter in charge, and requesting him to read the form of protest, and if it met his views, to tear off the half sheet containing it, and sign, seal, and immediately return it to this city.

This brief address was endorsed—by way of intimating the anti-sectarian character of the movement—by four of the oldest and best known clergymen of different denominations in Boston, viz: Rev. Drs. Lowell, Beecher, Baron Stow and Streeter. A copy of this circular—folded and sealed in a U. S. postage envelope—was mailed to every clergyman in New England whose name was given upon the registers of the different States, with the exception of some twenty-five of the clergymen of Boston, who were waited on in person, in order to secure their names together upon the parchment heading of the roll, immediately following the engrossed form of the protest itself. About four thousand circulars, in all, were sent.

As soon as time had been given for the return of the mails, the first leaves of these circulars began to come back with signatures, and for a fortnight they continued to come at the rate of hundreds per day. Each of these, it will be perceived, was an independent protest, i. e., a printed copy of the written form, with an individual name annexed—except where two or three ministers in the same town occasionally affixed their names to the same. Acting upon legal advice, these separate names were shingled together, no name being cut from its place, but, after being arranged by States in the alphabetical order of their towns, they were pasted together, each lapping over its predecessor, sufficiently to show its appended signature. Thus, while the document, when complete, exhibited merely its parchment heading with the three thousand and fifty names following in regular order—each name was in reality attached to its own copy of the one protest lying under the names immediately above it.

No Catholic priest returned his signature. This respectable per centage of the four thousand was therefore unanimously to be deducted. In the next place was to be deducted a considerable per centage for Methodist clergymen and others who have removed their places of residence since the publication of the State Registers—some of which were more than a year old, and therefore measurably obsolete. Add to this another per centage of the sick and absent, and some two hundred, whose names, coming from the remotest towns in the season when the mails were disarranged by heavy snows, did not reach us until several days after the protest had been laid on the table of the Senate, and it will, we think, be conceded that the three thousand and fifty ought to be considered as carrying almost the unanimous voice of the entire Protestant clergy of New England. We might add here also, the fact that several instances have come to our knowledge of the neglect of individuals to sign and return the circular—simply because it was a circular—who afterwards deeply regretted that they had not done so."

HE DON'T TAKE THE PAPERS.—A Mr. John Austin, a respectable farmer in Cumberland, R. I., was diddled out of $100 in Providence on Saturday, by an 'ox' operator, precisely as Mr. Goldsmidt, the butcher, was 'done' in this city at about the same time, by the 'horse' game. Mr. Austin and Mr. Goldsmidt—not having read the papers describing similar feats within the last few months—very readily advanced funds for a moment or two, till a couple of anxious speculators in horses and other cattle could step into the next street for the money. Is there no end to this verdancy on the part of men who are accounted shrewd in business matters? How long will they bite at bait thrown out by sharpers and gull-catchers. It is quite time that these visitors from the rural districts had their eye teeth thoroughly cut before leaving home—time that they felt of the gum every hour, with their fingers, and become thoroughly assured that it is healed over. If they will only read the papers, keep the run of such adventures, and themselves thoroughly posted up—their is no danger of their being victimized. There will be a rush of sharpers to this city shortly, when the Anniversaries bring crowds from the interior, and notwithstanding the numerous cautions and admonitions of the press, they will probably reap the usual crop of victims.—Boston paper.

STATE REFORM SCHOOL IN MAINE.—The new State Reform School at Westbrook, Me., under the superintending care of Mr. William R. Lincoln, is increasing rapidly in usefulness, and bids fair to become a most valuable institution. The recently published report of the Superintendent, states that from the time when its doors were first opened in November, last year, to April 4, twenty five boys have been received there. Of these boys the greater part were natives of Maine. Their ages varied from ten to seventeen years. Twelve of them had previously been imprisoned for crime. The report states that the boys soon begin to improve under the efficient and impartial grade system of discipline which is enforced at the establishment. They have the same motives placed before them which exist in society at large; for their standing among their associates is made to depend in a great measure upon their daily conduct. At the Westbrook School four and a half hours are devoted each day to instruction, and six hours to mechanical, agricultural or domestic labor. The boys make their own clothes and do their own washing and cooking. They attend morning and evening devotion, and Sabbath School.

Rev. Charles Dame, late of Falmouth, Me., has accepted an unanimous call from the Congregational church and society in Brentwood. The installation will take place on Wednesday the 17th inst.

DECLINED.—Hon. Samuel Houston has declined, on account of other engagements, to deliver the address before the New Hampshire State Agricultural Society, at its fair in October next.

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 17, 1854.

POLITICAL DUTY.

The New York Herald of Monday, urges the immediate passage of the Nebraska bill. It says:—

Our readers will have seen, from our Washington telegraphic advices, as published in yesterday's Herald, that the majority of the House of Representatives were reduced on Saturday last to an armistice with the minority upon the Nebraska bill. It had been the expectation and the fixed purpose of the majority to bring the bill to a final vote before Tuesday, though it should require a continuous session night and day, Sunday included, upon the principle, as laid down by Mr. Webster, that "there are no Sabbaths in revolutionary times." The adjournment, therefore, on Friday night, was a point gained by the minority, and the early adjournment on Saturday over to twelve o'clock this day, was a still more important concession of the armistice extorted from the majority.

So it seems to us; and it argues besides, that the majority are not quite so strong as they appeared to be, or thought themselves.

The Herald says again,—

We suppose that Mr. Richardson prefers to mollify rather than exasperate the minority upon Nebraska, in view of other subjects of Western importance yet to be considered. But where a great constitutional principle is the question, there should be no trafficking and trading with a factious minority opposed to the supremacy of the fundamental law. Having the principle in their bill, and the power at their command to enforce it, the majority should not stoop to compromise with factious agitators. They should, after having given a liberal margin for debate—which has been done—push the bill forward to a vote, regardless of the outside pressure or inside intrigues to defeat it, come from what quarter they may.

If for fundamental law, we read slavery, the meaning will be tolerably plain. And if for outside pressure we read the voice of the people, it will be quite plain. You've got your men all engaged, induced to vote for the measure: now put it through, and then the people cannot help it.

Once more the Herald says:

Perhaps we may be informed from Mr. Richardson to day, of some agreement with the minority for the final closing of the debate upon Nebraska—perhaps not. In any event let the bill be passed. Its passage has become necessary to silence the anti-slavery agitators, in putting them to the test of obedience to the law. It is also manifest that until this bone of contention is removed out of Congress, there can be nothing done in the practical business of the session. Let the bill be passed; let the regular appropriations follow; and let us see if something good does not succeed.

* * * * * * *

Best of all, we anticipate the total breaking up, root and branch, rank and file, North and South, East and West, of the two old rotten, demoralized, and effete whig and democratic parties, upon this constitutional rock of the Nebraska bill, and a reconstruction of parties and of the administration, more in consonance with the spirit of the age than the present disordered state of things. Let the bill be passed.

Our readers of both parties, and indeed of all parties, will please to bear in mind the fact, that these are the sayings of a most bitter opponent of President Pierce's administration, and of an ardent admirer and earnest supporter of slavery.

Unless we greatly mistake the people of New Hampshire, they do not believe it their duty to uphold a new party whose corner stone shall be slavery and nothing else; even it is offered by the New York Herald.

And if the question of Nebraska and slavery could come before the people of New Hampshire to day, by itself, we doubt not they would reject it by a two thirds vote.

"What shall we Eat? What shall we Drink?"—There were in the Boston Post of Saturday, two articles on Adulterated Liquors, from which we select the following sentences, remarking at the same time that they are not written by a Maine Law man, but by or for a man who is growing very rich by the liquor trade.

It is a fact well known to liquor dealers, that whole cargoes of liquors and wines, composed almost wholly of deleterious drugs, are continually arriving at our principal ports; while the extent to which the process of deterioration is carried on in the United States, if it could be shown by actual statistics, would startle the whole nation.

There cannot be the least doubt that the recent rise in the price of brandies, amounting we believe to about 300 per cent., has led to a fearful increase in the adulteration of this class of ardent spirits. It is quite certain that dram drinking is now a much shorter cut to the hospital and the grave than it was thirty years ago, and we apprehend that this arises solely from the fact that almost all the ordinary liquors of commerce are more or less impure. Late discoveries in chemistry, perverted to a bad end, have enabled distillers and mixers to counterfeit the flavors of all the finest brands, and the result is, that too many of our bars are little better than dispensaries of poison.

Temperance writers speak the truth when they call the ordinary liquors of commerce poisonous; but they complain without specifying a rational remedy.

Uncle Toby has a rational remedy, which he has seen tried for a number of years with good effect in every case, viz.: Let the poisonous stuff alone; neither touch, taste nor handle. In this way, every man may be certain it will not bite him. "As you value health, be particular."

NEW YORK INDEPENDENT.

This able paper is really what its name imports, able and outspoken. The Independent of May 11 says:

We place little confidence in Congress for the cause of freedom and humanity. The people must take up the Nebraska question and settle it. Let associations be formed to buy up the territory; let a bounty be offered for free emigration; let the free and hardy Germans, and the generous and thrifty sons of New England and the West be encouraged to go and occupy the soil; let Christians undertake the colonizing of Nebraska as a religious duty; let them go with the press, the school, the Bible, the church, and in their "squatter sovereignty," without intervention from the general government, forever forbid the introduction of slavery upon that soil. The great contest for freedom must be, not upon the floor of Congress, but upon the soil of Nebraska itself—and the men of freedom must be there to wage it, backed by the wealth, the talent, and the moral power of the North.

If slavery triumphs in Nebraska, within ten years it will be legalized in New York—Southern men will demand that they shall bring their "property" with them to the Springs and the Falls, or they won't stay in the Union! A temporizing Legislature and Castle-Garden merchants will concede the demand. The Journal of Commerce and the Herald will argue for it as essential to the very existence of the nation, and to the highest developement of Christianity. Then our Fifth-avenue parvenus will insist that such a privilege should not be confined to their Southern guests, and will rid themselves of the annoyance of independent Irish servants and of saucy free negroes, by having their own negroes held under law. The spirit and the machinations that carry slavery into Nebraska will do all this before our eyes, and in our time. And thus the crime will grow 'till God's time of retribution comes in anarchy and blood. Christians, freemen, avert it now!

☞ The proceedings of Congress on Monday, show that the voice of the people has caused our legislators to pause. We expect, however, to see the Nebraska bill passed, when it comes up again, in spite of public opinion in this part of the Union. It is possible it may be otherwise; but we have seen the same game played a number of times, always resulting in concessions to the slave power.

APRIL FOOLS.—Our friend of the Albany Register (says the Com. Adv.) carries his eyes in his head as he walks the streets of that quiet village, and narrates many curious and amusing incidents. Sometimes we suspect him of great inventive faculties—but the following story of an April joke, is as good as any we have seen:

Speaking of the beginning of April, will any body tell us where the custom came from, which makes every body try to fool every body, on the first day of the capricious month? We saw a funny thing on the first of April, down in Green street. Did any body ever see any body pass an old hat on the sidewalk, without giving it a kick? We do not believe such a thing ever happened. Well, a wag seized upon this characteristic, out of whim, to make a little amusement, on 'all fools day.' So he procured a boulder, weighing some twenty pounds or more, and laying it upon the sidewalk, placed over it an ancient weather beaten hat.

The first person who passed that way, was a jolly, rollicking young man, who went whistling 'Jordan is a hard road to travel,' and as he came opposite the hat, placed so temptingly in his way, he gave it a rousing kick, expecting of course to see it go skiving into the middle of the street. But it didn't move, and the kicker picked up his toe in both hands, and hopped about and became emphatic in his language, in a manner that made the perpetrator of the joke dodge around the corner. In a moment afterward a gentleman came that way, with a cricket club on his shoulder, which he brought down with a sweep against the hat, expecting to see it take a hoist over the lamp post on the adjacent corner. But it didn't, while the cricket club as it rang against the stone, flew half way across the street, and the striker fell to dancing about, blowing his fingers as if they were cold, and using a good many words not found in any religious work of the day. We staid long enough to see a dozen or more assaults perpetrated upon that old hat that concealed the boulder, and every time the attacking party got the worst of the bargain.

Rev. Mr. Parker, of Concord, the officiating clergyman of the society at which President Pierce worshipped before he was President, is about to leave his parish, because, out of motives of delicacy, he refused to sign the remonstrance against the Nebraska Bill.—Salem Register.

We believe the fact, but don't believe the reason assigned for it.

AN ANSWER.—The answer of Mr. Walley to a question by Mr. Stephens of Georgia, while the former was speaking, on Wednesday, was a "settler." Mr. W. had affirmed that at the time of the adoption of the Missouri Compromise, it was agreed to by members enough from the North, united with those from the South, to carry it. "It was adopted," said Mr. Walley, "and became substantially a binding agreement." Mr. Stephens—"Binding agreement?" Mr. Walley—"Yes, sir, binding." Mr. Stephens—"Binding upon whom?" Mr. Walley—"Binding upon all honorable men." Mr. Stephens made no reply.

LARGE DONATIONS.—It is said that 50,000,000 acres of public lands have been granted to the Southern and Western States, at different times, and under all administrations, for the support of Schools, Universities, Deaf and Dumb Asylums, &c., and no one questioned the constitutionality of the grants;—and yet, when it is proposed to make a grant of these lands to all the States, for the purpose of supporting the Insane, Pres. Pierce asserts that such legislation is unconstitutional.

LOCAL.

DRINK! BOYS, DRINK!—Dr. S. Gilbert has been creating in us a taste for other drinks than water, by sending in a supply of his Excelsior Cream Mead. We found it a very good article for hot days—but as our stock was soon exhausted, we shall have to refer the thirsty ones to his store, No. 18 Pleasant Street, for the article.

☞ During the shower on Monday afternoon, a barn belonging to Mr. John Paul of Eliot, on the road to South Berwick, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. It contained two or three tons of hay.

MOBILE, 13th.—SHIP BURNT.—Ship Hope Goodwin, Carson, [Parsons] of Portsmouth, N. H., was totally destroyed by fire in the bay last night.

NEW YORK, May 16.—A letter from Havana of May 8th, says that a government bank of discount has been established, with a capital of $800,000. Eight per cent per annum is to be the rate of interest paid.

The U. S. sloop of war Cyane arrived in the harbor the evening before last, from Aspinwall. All well.

NEW YORK, May 16.—The British steamship Australia, from Australia for London, with gold and passengers, was wrecked March 30th, on Green Point, at the Cape. Passengers and treasure all saved.

"SOFT" MOVEMENTS.—The "Soft Shell" State Committee of New York have called a State Convention, to meet at Syracuse, Sept. 6, to consist of four delegates from each Assembly district. The resolutions approve the principles of Pierce's administration, and of the veto of Governor Seymour upon the liquor bill.

CONFISCATION.—On Friday evening some of Uncle Sam's police made a descent on a boat containing a hogshead of molasses and four thousand cigars, which, together with the boat, were seized and appropriated in behalf of the aforesaid old gentleman, for violation of the revenue law.—Portland Advertiser.

THE MODERN CAIN.—Wherever Matthew F. Ward travels, committees of citizens wait upon him and request him to leave, and steamboat captains decline to receive him as passenger. This popular retribution is worse than hanging.

One of the jurors in the Ward trial took some of his farming utensils to a blacksmith of Stephensburg for repairs, but the honest son of Vulcan could not be prevailed upon by neither love nor money to strike the first blow. A merchant in the same town refused to sell another of the jurors goods for cash.

SUICIDE.—An Irishman, named Barnard Haughey, hung himself by a rope from a chamber window of the house where he lived on Dover Landing, on Monday afternoon, 8th inst. He was discovered about as soon as he had thrown himself from the window, but before assistance could reach him, the rope broke, and he fell to the ground. He was taken up, nearly lifeless, and died on Thursday morning. He is said to have been intemperate, and was probably under the influence of liquor at the time. This, with some difficulties of domestic character, is supposed to have been the cause of his committing the fatal act. His age was about 45.—Dover Enquirer.

THE SOVEREIGN OF THE SEAS.—A mutiny occurred on board the above named ship on her passage from Melbourne to London, which grew out of a quarrel between an English sailor and a steerage passenger. The man was put in irons, and the other sailors mustered in his defence. A fight ensued, and the captain and officers, with the assistance of the passengers, prevailed, and ten of the men were made prisoners and conveyed to London in irons. Mr. Myers, the third mate, was shot. A London magistrate refused to grant a warrant to take charge of the prisoners, as the offence was committed under the American flag, and it was expected that they would be sent to the United States by the American Consul, though the most of them were British subjects, and they had petitioned to have a trial in England, and the Consul would be glad to get rid of them. An aunt of one of the prisoners was about to try a writ of habeas corpus. It was stated on the side of the prisoners that the quarrel was brought on by a drunken Irish passenger.—Boston Courier.

SINGULAR CASE OF POISONING.—A very respectable young lady, residing in Carrolton, Ohio, while temporarily in the employ of a physician of that place, visited his office, and while there, out of cariosity, tasted some powdered strychnine which she found in a bottle. Soon afterwards she returned to the house, took a drink of water and went about her duties, but in a short time complained of feeling unwell. The wife of the physician, having seen the young lady go to the office, questioned her as to whether she had taken anything while there, when she admitted that she had merely tasted the contents of a bottle. Measures to counteract the effect of the poison were then employed, but to no effect. She was seized with violent spasms, and in half an hour from the time she left the office she expired.—Buffalo Republican.

PAINTED PAILS.—A correspondent of the Scientific American cautions the public against the use of pails for holding water, which are painted on the inside, as the oxide of lead, with which they are painted is a dangerous poison. "Last week," he says, "having occasion to take a drink of water from a painted pail, which had been in use for some months, I was convinced from the taste of the water that it had taken up a portion of the paint; and having analyzed the water, I found it to contain a very minute quantity of it, sufficient, however, if a large quantity of the water were taken, to produce those fearful diseases peculiar to lead poisoning."

CONGRESS.

MONDAY, May 15.

SENATE.—Several Anti-Nebraska petitions were presented.

Mr. Sumner offered resolutions from the Massachusetts Legislature recommending pensions to the survivors of the war of 1812, and against the Amistad Claim.

The Senate then took up Mr. Cass's resolution in favor of religious toleration abroad, when Mr. Cass addressed the Senate at length, principally in a review of Archbishop Hughes' letter defending the prosecution of the Madiai family in Tuscany.

When Mr. Cass had concluded, Mr. Badger, of North Carolina, alluding to the recent publication in the Shepherd of the Valley, of an article to the effect that "when the catholic population of this country get the supremacy, religious toleration would be at an end," suggested the propriety of amending the resolution so as to secure to Aerican citizens religious toleration at home.

On motion of Mr. Clayton, of Delaware, who intimated an intention to speak on the subject, the resolution was referred.

The vetoed Insane Land Bill was ordered to be printed. Adjourned.

HOUSE.—Mr. Richardson withdrew the demand for the previous question on the resolution offered by him several days ago, and proposed to extend the debate until Friday next, and then to demand the previous question.

Mr. Washburn moved to lay the resolution on the table.

Mr. Giddings, of Ohio, moved to suspend the rules to introduce a bill to repeal so much of the United States Laws as authorizes the Coastwise Slave Trade, but subsequently withdrew it.

Mr. Dickenson, of New York, moved to suspend the rules to introduce a resolution to restore the bills on the calender to the same position as they occupied before they were set aside to reach the Nebraska Bill.

Mr. Richardson, of Illinois, moved to suspend the rules to enable him to offer another resolution to close the debate on Saturday next, and set aside the Pacific R. R. bill until the 24th.

Mr. Sage, of New York, moved to lay Mr. Richardson's motion on the table; yeas and nays were ordered.

After a long discussion, and many ineffectual motions and propositions, the House, on motion of Mr. Stuart, of Ohio, agreed to the first part of Mr. Richardson's motion, deciding to close the debate on Saturday by a vote of 114 to 59. The second branch of the motion, postponing the Pacific Railroad Bill to the 24th of May, was also agreed, by 123 to 53. Adjourned.

SPECIAL DESPATCH. — Washington, May 15, 3 P. M.—The excitement in the House is indescribable. Mr. Craige, of N. C., denounced Mr. Hunt of Louisiana as a factionist,—in the midst of great confusion, Mr. Hunt, after learning what was said, rose to speak. He said "if the gentleman stigmatizes me as a factionist, before God and man I pronounce it false." Cries of order, order, and great tumult; members running all about the Hall. The Sergeant at Arms with his mace at length restored order.

It is understood that notes have passed between Messrs. Hunt and Craige, and a duel is expected.

FURTHER FOREIGN NEWS

BY THE ATLANTIC.

The great strike at Preston has at length ended, after continuing thirty six weeks. On the 1st inst. the operatives returned to their work, without the increase which they had been contending for.

Bombardment of Odessa.—A despatch in the Vienna Oeste states that the Werowzoff Palace was entirely destroyed during the bombardment, and that four frigates were severely damaged.

Another despatch says that 26 sail of the combined fleet arrived before Odessa on the 10th. On the 18th the fleet bombarded the city for an hour, and during the whole day of the 22d. The magazines of the outer town were in flames. This is official.

The London Times says:—"We receive intelligence of the bombardment of Odessa with feelings which are not unmixed with regret.

It was expected that the first operation of war, which the combined fleets now in the Black Sea would inflict, would be a severe blow on the enemy, and would prove with what overwhelming force the naval armament of England and France are provided, but we must be allowed, without the slightest disparagement to the galiantry of the officers of the magnificent fleets under their orders, to feel some regret that the first blow in the war should have fallen upon a commercial city, rather than a military or naval port."

One statement says that the bombardment was over two hours. Another, that it continued incessantly for over ten hours, and only closed with the night.

The Russian account is in these terms:—"The English and French Admiral demanded the surrender of the Russian ships in the port of Odessa; this being refused, bombardment commenced from 18 ships. A small part of the city was destroyed. An attempt to land 18,000 men failed. The bombardment produced no effect."

Seige of Sillistria.—The important position of Sillistria is closely invested, but a telegraph despatch of the 26th says that up to then the fortress suffered no damage.

Accounts from Bucharest, April 19, mention that Sillistria had been hard pressed since the 14th, and would ere then have fallen but for the determined valor of its defenders, who express themselves able to hold out until aid shall arrive.

The Russians, on the contrary, expect to reduce the place in a few days.

The Turks have a strong garrison, but said not to be well victualled or properly supplied with ammunition. The ford is in possession of the Russians, as is also the intrenchment at the junction of the Drechada. The Russians were intending to make an assault on the 1st of May, with 30,000 men. They have erected seventeen heavy batteries, under cover of which they will cross the river. The passage of Olteinitza is expected at the same time. Notwithstanding all these formidable statements, Sillistria is too strong a position to be carried without a severe, and perhaps a prolonged struggle.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of crofula.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its setting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. It gave it to a children a year old: to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs.—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 72, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns.

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fast and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. If the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.

It has been found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, (taking it twardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to cleanse the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors; nobody never will. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

Directions for use. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, teaspoonful. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Manufactured and for sale by DONALD KENNEDY, 120 Warren street, Roxbury.

For sale by E. H. ROLLINS, Concord, N. H.

☞ Dealers wishing the Agency in New Hampshire, will please address E. H. Rollins, Concord, who will supply the trade at the manufacturer's prices.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bags in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for a year.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

Hygeian, Hoarhound, Liverwort and Asparagus

COUGH CANDY.

Warranted free from Mercury, Opium, or any Mineral Ingredient. It injures no one, but benefits all.

Relief guaranteed in five minutes.

NEVER, since the Science of Medicine first dawned upon the World, has any compound gained such extraordinary popularity, in so short a time as DR. HOWE'S Hygeian, Hoarhound and Liverwort COUGH CANDY, for curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Difficulty of Breathing, Bleeding at the Lungs, Pain in the Side and Breast, Sore Throat, Cramp, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Hoarseness or any other Symptom of that distressing malady, Consumption.

A host of Certificates can be presented, but the folowing from Rev. J. M. Trimble, Presiding Elder of the Cincinnati District M. E. Church, must satisfy all of the beneficial results of the use of this Cough Candy.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 25, 1847.

Dr. Howe—Sir: I have used Howe's Cough Candy and have found it a pleasant remedy for Hoarseness, and believe that public speakers troubled with diseases of the throat would find it benefit from its use. J. M. Trimble.

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two sculleries, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the markets, factories and railroads. Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the north end. It is centrally located between the different ship-yards in that section of the city, each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lowd and is in good order. Attached to it is a lot of land large enough for a Stable or for another dwelling house. It would make a good place for the residence of a person employed at the shipyards across the river, or at the Navy Yard.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 47 Bow street.—This house has been built but a few years, is well finished off, and is very convenient. In the rear is quite a large garden spot. This would be a desirable place for a person employed at the shipyards, or at the Navy Yard nearly opposite.

Also, for sale, a BUILDING LOT, on Mount Vernon street, (opposite No. 2,) with a small building thereon, which can be finished off into a Dwelling house.

All of the above property will be sold on liberal terms, if applied for soon. For further particulars apply to JOSEPH M. EDMONDS, INCIDENT AT PARIS.—It is the custom of the Emperor and Empress, nearly every afternoon, to drive to the Bois de Boulogne, a pleasant road about five miles from Paris, and on these as well as other occasions, they are the recipients of many petitions from the people. The carriage of the Empress is a handsome open caleche drawn by four horses, rode by postillions. On her return from one of these excursions, as the carriage approached the Barriere de Etoile, a woman advanced towards it in a hurried and agitated manner, holding a paper in her hand. In her confusion she approached too near, and the wheel passed over her foot, injuring it severely, and in her efforts to disengage herself from the carriage, her arm was caught between the spokes and severely bruised. They immediately ran to her assistance, and raised her from the ground. Although suffering intensely from her injuries, her only anxiety seemed to be for the safety of the paper, and to ascertain if it had been received by the Empress. It was a petition in behalf of her husband, who was confined in prison for some political offence. The Empress had her carriage stopped immediately, and offered her consolations and sympathies, and since then has manifested a lively interest in her welfare, and assures her of her assistance in her behalf.—What makes the affair more interesting to us, is the fact that she and her husband are Americans.—Cor. St. Louis Republican.

'Would you like the lorgnette,' said the young and pleasant looking gentleman who was sitting behind Mrs. Partington at Jullien's concert last evening, holding up his opera glass. 'I guess they have n't got to that yet,' said she, running her finger down the programme in her lap, and looking at it intently through her specs, 'and I could n't say whether I should like it or not; but will you have the reluctance to lend me that observatory of yours, sir.' 'Certainly, ma'am,' said her young friend smiling, 'that was what I proposed when I mentioned the lorgnette.' She received the article graciously, and levelled it in a direction that took the whole southern row of gas lights in its scope. 'I can't see anything but the lights,' said she, 'everything seems like an optional delusion, and for the matter of seeing, a pair o' bolar specs is jest as good.' 'Let me direct it for you,' persisted her young friend. 'Now I see,' continued she, 'and can hear a great deal better to have the players brought nearer. But his ostriches don't seem to mind him at all, for all the motions he is making to 'em to stop, and his threatening 'em with that stick.' Little did the great Jullien think whose eyes, strengthened by spectacles and lorgnette, were upon him, and the orchestra kept right on as if nobody more than common were present.

OUTRAGE ON AN AMERICAN WHALING SHIP.—A correspondent of the New York Herald, who dates from Falkland Islands, March 17, gives the particulars of an outrage committed on the whaling ship Hudson, of Mystic, by order of the Governor, under a frivolous charge brought against the captain of killing some wild hogs on one of the islands. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Captain Cliff, and the British vessel Orestes was sent to New Island to capture the ship and crew and bring them into Stanley Harbor. This proceeding was fully carried out, and on Captain Cliff's appearance before the magistrate of the latter place, he was fined the enormous sum of £880 upon the charge of killing twenty two hogs in August last, although these animals had actually been placed there by himself and others whaling in the neighborhood, for the purpose of breeding. When the United States Commodore at Montevideo received information of the occurrence, he immediately dispatched the ship Germantown to inquire into the facts; and all the papers in the case will be immediately forwarded to our government it order that it may demand reparation for the insult to our flag, and compensation for breaking up the ship's voyage. The whole proceeding is said to have been dictated by jealousy, as our whalers have a monopoly of the fishery of those islands.

THE RAILROAD ACCIDENT ON THE TROY AND GREENBUSH ROAD.—It has been mentioned that on Saturday morning last, an express train from Troy overtook and ran into another which had started ten minutes in advance of it. A despatch from Troy says:—"The intimation of danger was the rushing of the engine into the passenger car, scattering the people in all directions. Some were thrown upon the banks over the track on one side, and down the bank towards the river on the other side. Several persons were injured, some quite seriously; and a young lady, daughter of Hiram P. Hunt, of Troy, was taken from the ruins very much bruised and helpless. Judge Hunt and another daughter were also on the car, who escaped, the latter with a slight injury. The persons disabled were carried across the river to Albany, with all possible despatch, where the best medical attendance was provided."

MUSIC.—The individual who plays the flute, in Elm street, should procure the steam whistle of an engine, and attempt another octave. He has frightened the robins out of the great elm tree, and has created an undue demand for cotton batting, much to the pecuniary satisfaction of Woodberry, the dry goods man. Woodberry should pay the flutist a small per centage, on condition that he continues his exertions in the fourth story, on the fourth octave of harmony. The musical qualities of Dick Swiveller, who played "Away with Melancholy," at 12 o'clock, P. M., when all the boarders were asleep, were not a circumstance to the harmonic wailings of the chap on Elm street. It always blows a gale when he plays.—Charlestown Adv.

THE WAY TO SPOIL POTATOES.—It is a little singular that many who are otherwise excellent cooks, are ignorant of the rich, dry, mealy vegetables; theirs are invariably 'soggy' and heavy as bread when the yeast is worthless. Their method of spoiling potatoes after they are well cooked is wonderfully simple. They place over the dish containing them, hot and smoking from the boiler, a tight cover, and keep it there—any one can do it, and eat water logged potatoes in consequence. Better put their cover out of sight, even if the contents of the dish should cool a few minutes sooner on that account. Boiled potatoes intended for the table should not be covered a moment.—Norwich Examiner.

Dr. Steiner, who shot his colonel in the U. S. army, and was acquitted by the Texas courts, was rescued a few days since by citizens of Waco, while Lieut. Anderson was taking him to Fort Graham to be tried by a court martial.

Barney McGinnisken was decapitated on Monday last. He had been a "prominent" member of the Boston police for about two years.

Morning Chronicle.

For the Chronicle.

THE ACQUISITION OF CUBA.

The repeal of the Missouri compromise, however unwise and impolitic, need not create any great alarm, because no slave state will be admitted into the Union prior to the next Congress, and in the mean time, the people of the free states can elect Representatives who will not prove recreant to the cause of freedom. But it cannot be doubted that the violent seizure of Cuba would be a dangerous experiment. Should Cuba be admitted into our Union, conceding that it might benefit its ignorant, degraded, and superstitious inhabitants, the inquiry arises—how would it benefit the United States? The idea is, perhaps, prevalent, that should that event take place, our merchants could purchase the products of the island at a cheaper rate. This is a fallacy, and well understood by our merchants, trading at that island, to be so. Should it be admitted as a free state, all the southern states would be violently opposed to the measure. If we correctly understand the southern statesmen as they speak through the press and in the halls of Congress, their main object is to gain Cuba to prevent the emancipation of about half a million of slaves—because such an example would be dangerous to the southern institution.

In this view of the matter, the doctrine of 'non intervention' arises. What right have United States to interfere with the institutions of foreign nations? Suppose that England should demand that slavery be abolished in Virginia or any other state? or that all the colored people in New York should be reduced to the condition of slaves? Suppose that France, Germany, Prussia, or any other foreign power, should insist that we should remodel some of our institutions, or change our domestic policy? We need not say that such audacious interference and insolence would produce a spontaneous burst of universal indignation. Shall we lay down a rule for the guide of other nations, which we would scorn to be governed by?

Should Spain, discarding the relics of a barbarous age, see fit to exercise her right of self government, and emancipate her Cuban slaves, she would follow the example of our free states; of all the European nations; of the African nations bordering on the Mediterranean Sea; and the South American states, except Brazil. Even in the latter, there is a prospect of emancipation, which has recently taken place in Venezuela. How can we censure Spain for being governed by our own example? But we doubt whether she is sufficiently civilized and christianized to set her captives free.

There is no prospect that we can acquire Cuba without a war with Spain, provoked on our part. In such event, the rise of insurance upon the ocean would more than counterbalance all the pretended benefits of its acquisition. But should France and England become Spanish allies in the war, before it should end, we must count upon the loss of a few hundred millions of property;—the sacrifice of human life would be quite a different consideration. Where would be our national character, should we repeal our neutrality laws, to let loose lawless bands of freebooters? That such repeal would be, in effect, an act of war, no statesman can doubt; and it is quite evident that a struggle for such repeal will soon take place in Congress. The little matter of the Black Warrior is to be made a mere excuse to bring about hostilities—it is a six thousand dollars concern—and we hesitate not to say, that had the vessel been English or Spanish, and violated our revenue laws by presenting a manifest wholly false, she would have been condemned in our Admiralty Courts. It may be well for the people of the north, in due season, to look the threatened danger in the face, and thereby avert it, if possible; for more than three fourths of the losses and sacrifices would fall upon them, without a ray of hope that any benefit could accrue from war. T.

THE BLACK WARRIOR.—"Columbus," the correspondent of the New York Commercial Advertiser, in his letter of the 27th of April, says:

The Presse is the only paper that alludes to the intelligence from Spain, upon the Black Warrior affair. It confesses with regret that M. Soule's claim for $300,000 is exorbitant, and does not understand on what ground it is based. It evidently is not damages, and would appear to be a fine. It trusts that the mediation of Lord Howden will be accepted, and that no Spanish American misunderstanding will be added to the complications in which Europe is already entangled.

THE MUSICAL REPOSITORY, No. 25, contains three pieces, viz: La Tempete, a favorite French Dance, with a Description of the Figures; In this Old Chair, a ballad, composed by M. W. Balfe; Towards the Threshold, a ballad, composed by Franc Schubert. Published by F. Parker, Cornhill, Boston.

GLEANINGS FROM UNCLE TOM.

Most of the hardest sayings about Uncle Tom's Cabin, came from men who had not carefully read the book. Many of them, we believe, came from men who never read it at all.

Most readers remember there was some squealing about the favor and attention shown to Mrs. Stowe in England; and that it was intimated she would not have had such attentions, if her book had lampooned British slavery, as well as American.

The following extract from a talk between Ophelia and St. Clare, will show how the matter stands with the knownothing critics who found fault with what they had not examined:

"How in the world can the two things be compared?" said Miss Ophelia. "The English laborer is not sold, traded, parted from his family, whipped."

"He is as much at the will of his employer as if he were sold to him. The slave-owner can whip his refractory slave to death,—the capitalist can starve him to death. As to family security, it is hard to say which is the worst,—to have one's children sold, or see them starve to death at home."

"But it is no kind of apology for slavery, to prove that it is n't worse than some other bad thing."

"I did n't give it for one,—nay, I'll say, besides, that ours is the more bold and palpable infringement of human rights; actually buying a man up, like a horse,—looking at his teeth, cracking his joints, and trying his paces and then paying down for him,—having speculators, breeders, traders, and brokers in human bodies and souls,—sets the thing before the eyes of the civilized world in a more tangible form, though the thing done be, after all, in its nature, the same; that is, appropriating one set of human beings to the use and improvement of another, without any regard to their own."

"I never thought of the matter in this light," said Miss Ophelia.

"Well, I've travelled in England some, and I've looked over a good many documents as to the state of their lower classes; and I really think there is no denying Alfred, when he says that his slaves are better off than a large class of the population of England."

MAJOR WYSE'S TRIAL.—Major Wyse's Defence was read to the Court Martial on Monday, but has not been published. It is described as a long document reviewing thoroughly the evidence in the case. The Court after deliberating with closed doors for about two hours, came to a conclusion which is not yet divulged. Col. Lee, the Judge Advocate, was to go to Washington to lay the decision before the President.

Whatever the finding of the military tribunal may be, the facts brought to light during the investigation show a carelessness of the welfare of the soldiers on the part of those charged with superintending their movements highly reprehensible on the score of humanity, and detrimental to the best interests of the country. No army can be efficient unless its rank and file are well cared for. The noble conduct of Major Wyse on board the San Francisco has given him a reputation which his present offence (if it be an offence) will not lessen in the eyes of the public. If he erred, he erred on the side of humanity.

It is remarked in the Boston Journal, that obedience is the first duty of a soldier, but that such obedience must have its limits. An order for a company to jump into the sea, for example, ought not to be given; and the offender or criminal in such a case, is not the man who disobeys it,—but the maniac, or fool, or scoundrel, who gave it.

TRANSFER OF THE STATE PAUPERS.—Thirty seven persons were transferred from the Alms House in New Bedford, to the State Pauper establishment in Middleborough, on Monday morning. On the first day of March last, the number of State Paupers in our city Alms House, was one hundred and five. Since that time they have decreased to the number named. The diminution has been caused partly by the approach of the warm season, in which the expenses of living are considerably reduced, and the opportunities of obtaining employment are more abundant, but mostly from the unwillingness of the inmates to be transferred to the State institution, who have accordingly relieved the public of the expense of their support by leaving our Alms House altogether. —New Bedford Mercury.

We cannot help thinking that Massachusetts has made a fine stroke of policy, in taking State Paupers into cheap inland quarters.—Cheap, but wholesome living, absence from liquors, and plenty of labor, are the best remedies for the diseases which send the foreign paupers to the American Alms-houses.

PARALLEL BETWEEN HOTELS AND RAILROADS.—A correspondent of the Boston Courier says:

The question has been recently asked, why the northern railroads should spend any more money for freight cars, when their business is shown to be unprofitable, beyond paying interest and expenses. Now it appears to me that the same question might be as innocently asked in regard to a magnificent hotel containing 200 rooms, with only 100 of them furnished; and with a table but half the length of the dining hall, earning but just enough to pay the rent, servants and bills—if the hotel keeper should propose to double his accommodations, and thus double his business, by only making a comparatively small outlay, to accomplish a result so expedient and so desirable.

Recent letters from Tahiti state that drunkenness and debauchery now reign in that beautiful island, upon which the French forced their priests and brandy at the cannon's mouth.

LOCAL.

DEDICATION.—The new Wesleyan Church in South Eliot will be dedicated on Thursday, May 25th. Morning services to commence at 10 1-2 o'clock. Sermon by Rev. R. C. Stone, of Manchester, N. H.

☞ The fire which we reported as occurring in South Berwick on Monday afternoon, was in York; the building belonging to John F. Paul. About four tons of hay, a lot of lumber, and other articles, together amounting to about $300, were destroyed.

INSTALLATION.—Rev. Charles Dame, on Wednesday, was installed as pastor over the Congregational Church and Society in Brentwood. The services were as follows:

Invocation and Reading of Scriptures by Rev. Mr. White.
Prayer by Rev. Mr. Toby.

Benediction by the Pastor.

SHIP HOPE GOODWIN.—This vessel, burnt in the harbor of Mobile on the 14th inst., was a fine ship, built in Portsmouth, N. H., in 1852, 1198 tons register. She belonged to Ichabod Goodwin, Esq. who has $62,000 insurance on the ship and freight money, as follows: The Neptune and New England Mutual offices, $17,000 each; the Equitable Mutual, $16,000; the Hope office, $12,000.

LATER FROM MEXICO.—New York, 17*th*. The Herald has a letter from the city of Mexico, dated May 3, which states that General Alvarez had placed himself between the capital and the forces of Santa Anna, whose supplies are thus entirely cut off. His men also are fast falling victims to want and the climate. Alvarez had captured 400 mules laden with baggage and provisions for Santa Anna.

Lieut. John G. Parke, of the U. S. Army, arrived at Tuzore, in the department of Sonora, on the 20th February. He is to trace the northern boundary between the two countries.

THE LATE PASSAGE OF THE ATLANTIC.—Gen. Webb, who was a passenger in the Atlantic, reports that Capt. West, for the purpose of avoiding icebergs mixed with field ice, which would be more dangerous and cause more delay than icebergs alone, took a northerly course, and in consequence fell in with a large number of icebergs of magnificent dimensions. The ship passed them all without danger, in the space of about 24 hours.—They afforded to the passenger a most rare and magnificent sight.

AN INGENIOUS THIEF.—On Monday, as a fashionable looking man was examining some fancy boots in a New York store, the proprietor of the establishment saw two thieves stealing shoes from his show case. He immediately rushed out and gave unsuccessful chase, and upon his return, wearied and out of breath, was exceedingly mortified to find that his customer during his absence had made off with half a dozen of the best pairs of boots in the shop.

SAD CASE.—The mother of the child which was bitten by a mad dog in Litchfield, N. H., last week, came to this city on Monday to consult with physicians upon the case. Of course they gave no encouragement, and both the child—a girl some fifteen years old—and the parents are waiting with the most intense anxiety for the developement of the disease for which relief is hopeless. The child is a daughter of Mr. Thomas J. Tufts. Two calves bitten by the dog have died of hydrophobia.—Nashua Telegraph.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS.—Last evening, at a meeting of the Bangor Mercantile Association, the vote which was carried at a previous meeting by a majority of two to one, instructing the Lecture Committee to secure the ablest lecturers, male and female, for the next winter's course, was rescinded. Upon this, one of the committee resigned upon the spot. Subsequently it was voted to dispense with the course of lectures. So there is to be no course under the auspices of the Mercantile Association.—Bangor Mercury.

For the Chronicle.

TO *****.

The past—'tis like a varied dream—
A dream of love and sunny skies;
Of faithless vows, and blighted hopes,
Of tearful penitence and sighs.

A dream of sweetest innocence—
When I was wont to love but thee,
Nor dared believe thy heart so false,
As e'er to sin, or injure me.

But now, alas! thou hast accused—
Nor heeding well thy solemn vow,
Hast dared to hurl thy venomed shaft,
With fiendish anger on thy brow.

* * * * * *

The Future—ah! how dark it seems!
A sea o'er hung with sable clouds—
Where, like a night of ceaseless woe,
Deep gloom thy fragile form enshrouds.

All hope hath fled—thy prayer ascends,
But the storm king, nor heaven heeds,
When sacred vows are set at naught,
Though Mercy for thee weeps and pleads

Go then—thou false and heartless one!
Of all thy wrongs I thee forgive;
The true and good I only seek,
With such 'tis all my joy to live.

Portsmouth, May, 1854. ..*.

It is expected that the contribution taken up in the churches in England on the occasion of the late national Fast, in behalf of the wives, widows and children of the soldiers and sailors in service in the war with Russia, will amount to $500,000. About $40,000 was contributed in London.

A NEW WAY OF LIBERATING SLAVES. The Richmond (Va.) Inquirer says that a negro slave, who was tried at the Louden Court on a charge of setting fire to a stable, was found guilty of the crime, and sentenced to be transported beyond the limits of the United States.

THE ARMY.—By general orders No. 6, just issued at Washington, it is provided that captains shall habitually be with their companies. Orders causing any expenditure of money must be in writing and copies furnished to the Adjutant General.

THE SCHOOLMASTER ABROAD.—A town meeting in Wareham recently took action on the dog question, and according to the town records, it was voted, "That all persons within the town, owning dogs, shall be muzzled!"

In the woods only one hundred miles north of Bangor, the snow is about three feet deep, and there is now good moose hunting in that region.—Portland Advertiser.

A national council of the free negroes of the United States is to be held at Cleveland on the 54th inst.

The Czar of Russia was married in 1817 to the sister of the King of Prussia. He is now the same age of Edward Everett.

CONGRESS.

TUESDAY, MAY 16.

SENATE.—In the Senate this morning, Mr. Mallory of Florida, offered a resolution, declaring that the recent acts of the Cuban authorities clearly show a design to throw Cuba into the hands of the African population—an event detrimental to the United States, &c.

Mr. Sumner of Massachusetts objected to the consideration of the resolution at this time.

Mr. Mallory called the attention of the Senate to the quotations made yesterday by Mr. Badger of North Carolina, from the Shepherd of the Valley. Mr. M. denied that that paper was a Catholic organ. Much debate ensued.

The vetoed Insane bill was taken up, and Mr. Butler spoke in support of the veto.

Mr. Butler continued his remarks for an hour in defence of the veto of the Insane bill.

M. Hunter of Virginia moved a postponement of the bill, and that the Indian Appropriation bill be taken up.

No quorum voted, and the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—The House went into committee on the Nebraska bill.

Mr. Hunt of Louisiana made a personal explanation, denying the correctness of the Globe's report of the difficulty yesterday between himself and Mr. Craig. He asserted that the report was true as far as his own remarks were concerned, and that he was willing to stand by it.

Some excitement ensued, when Mr. Hunt again took the floor, saying that yesterday he branded the words of Mr. Craig as false, and he branded them so still, to which Mr. Craig replied:—"The gentleman cannot strut into a scrape and sneak out of it in that way."—(Sensation and cries of order.)

When order was restored Mr. Maxwell of Florida commenced a speech in favor of the Nebraska bill, and was followed by Mr. Mayall of Maine against it.

Messrs. Flagler of New York and Giddings of Ohio followed in opposition to the bill, when the House adjourned.

WASHINGTON, 17th.—CONGRESS TO-DAY.—The House is considering the Nebraska bill in committee, and Mr. Brady is speaking in its favor.

In the Senate two private bills were passed.

Mr. Clayton offered a joint resolution expressing the sense of Congress on the conduct of the boat's crew of the British ship Virago, who were instrumentel in the rescue of Lieut. Strain's party. Referred.

Mr. Mallory's resolution concerning the organization of Cuba was then taken up. Debate is going on.

NEW YORK, May 16.—From Havana.—The steamer Cahawba arrived at this port this evening, from Mobile 9th inst., and Havana 12th, making the run from Moro to Sandy Hook in four days.

From Havana we have papers to the 12th. They contain nothing of importance, except sundry decrees in the Island of Cuba.

The official gazette of the 9th contradicts the statement that the government of Spain had directed the Captain General to indemnify the owners of the Black Warrior. On the contrary, it says that the Queen has the fullest confidence in the zeal, services and action of Gen. Pezuela, and that he will bring the affair to a proper termination, recommending him at the same time to maintain the dignity of the nation.

It is said there are 10,000 troops on the way from Spain to reinforce the army in the Island.

BALTIMORE, May 16.—A terrible explosion occurred at the English Coal Pits, fourteen miles from Richmond, yesterday. Twenty men, who were at work in the pit at the time, were killed, all but one, and he was taken up dreadfully injured. The bodies were terribly mutilated. The accident was caused by leaks from old damps.

NEW YORK, May 17.—A movement is started in this city, in accordance with which the churches of all denominations of Christians throughout the States and Territories are invited to join, in the observance of Friday, May 26, as a solemn day of fasting and prayer, in view of the political evil which now threatens the nation. Preparatory meetings will be held on Friday next.

CINCINNATI, 15.—The steamer Pike, from St. Louis last Thursday, for Louisville, was snagged one hundred miles below St. Louis, and sunk nearly to the hurricane deck. From six to twelve passengers, with the crew, were drowned. Among the former were two children and a woman. Officers and cabin passengers all saved. The boat belonged to the mail line, and the St. Louis Republican reports a probable loss of 40 or 50 lives.

BALTIMORE, 17th.—The Southern mail this morning brings New Orleans papers of last Thursday. Matt. F. Ward publishes a card in the Delta, addressed to the "editors of the United States," asking a suspension of opinion in regard to the murder of Mr. Butler, until a full report of the trial now in press by the Messrs. Appleton, of New York, is published.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—At Fall River, Sunday, a party of eleven persons left on a fishing excursion in a sail boat, and when at anchor at some distance off that harbor, fishing, with one sail up, the boat was struck by a squall and capsized. Two persons on board named John Appleton, aged 50, master mechanic in the Linen Works, and Matthew Dalton, aged 15, a weaver, were drowned.—Mr. Appleton succeeded previous to his death in rescuing a brother and a nephew.

FATAL RAILROAD COLLISION.—On Saturday evening at Goff's Falls upon the Concord Railroad, an up passenger train came in collision with a down freight train, breaking up the forward part of the passenger train, killing a brakeman named John Rollins, and slightly injuring several passengers. The cause of the accident was, that a freight train had broken down on the up track, and the passenger train shifted off on the other, when it came in collision with the down freight train.

DR. ORDWAY'S HUMOR DISCOVERY,

AND BLOOD PURIFIER.

DR. ORDWAY has been using his Blood Purifier in his practice for the last seven years with great success. He has often been urged by his friends and those who have tried it, and know its efficacy, to put it within the reach of all. He has now added to it an Herb, discovered in California, by Dr. KELLEY, which makes it the most wonderful remedy for

HUMORS OF ALL KINDS,

LIVER COMPLAINTS AND CHRONIC DISEASES.

The virtues of this Herb were made known to Dr. Kelley by an Indian, while attending a patient, sick with that terrible disease, the California Erysipelas and Liver Complaint—the effect was miraculous—curing the man in a few days. The natives, when bitten by a rattlesnake, or rabid animal, resort to this Herb for a cure. Hundreds are taking this medicine, after trying in vain other remedies, and say that the half was never told them.

If you have Erysipelas, 3 to 5 bottles will cure it.
If you have Scrofula, 3 to 7 bottles will cure it.
Three to six bottles will cure Salt Rheum.
One or two bottles will cure Pimples on the Face.
Two or three bottles will cure Scaly Eruptions and Scald Head.
One to three bottles will cure Nursing Sore Mouth.
One to three bottles will cleanse the system of Bile.
Two to five bottles will cure Rheumatism.
Three to four bottles will cure old running Sores and Ulcers.
One or two bottles will cure Barber's Itch.
One to three bottles will cure Canker in the mouth and bowels.

For Liver Complaints and Jaundice.

Its effects are new and wonderful, removing obstructions from the Liver, opening the pores of the skin, carrying off the morbid matter, relieving the side, and all gone feelings of the stomach, and removing low spirits and despondency, which is the result of this disagreeable and often fatal disease.

FOR DYSPEPSIA

A fair trial will convince you that there is nothing like it.

FOR CANCEROUS HUMORS.

It is the surest remedy ever offered. One widow lady in Lawrence, has been troubled with Cancer for years, by taking two bottles says she is now quite well.

FOR COSTIVENESS.

One gentleman says that it was the only medicine that cured him.

FOR KIDNEY DIFFICULTIES,

It is spoken of in the highest terms. A young man was sick so much with Kidney Affection that he had to leave College; three bottles cured him, and he has now resumed his studies. One lady in Salem was perfectly cured of Periodical Sick Headache, by the use of two bottles. Mr. Williams, of Lawrence, had humors in his eyes for years, and was cured by the use of the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier. For Chills and Fever, Mercurial Diseases, Taints in the System, it stands unrivalled; sometimes when the system is much deranged it will cause disagreeable feelings at first but continue its use as indications favorable. It is purely vegetable, and its compound and proportions are such that the effect is perfectly satisfactory and safe.

FULL DIRECTIONS ON THE BOTTLE.

☞ Price $1.00.

HE HAS ALSO A HUMOR SALVE,

Unsurpassed for external humors, which, if used in connection with the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier will much facilitate a cure.

PRICE 25 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Dr. Ordway's Cough Destroyer.

This invaluable Cough Remedy is for the complete cure of Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Influenza, Whooping Cough, pains in the side and breast, hacking or tickling at the throat, spitting blood, tightness across the lungs and chest, and all Lung Complaints leading to Consumption.

No medicine yet discovered has that decided effect in curing Bronchial affections as the Cough Destroyer. It can be taken by all ages and classes, from a child six months old to the oldest man or woman, with the most happy results.

PRICE 50 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Dr. Ordway's Pain Destroyer.

This preparation is composed of a great variety of Extracts, Gums, Essential Oils, most of which have not heretofore been united and compounded into their present form. It will cure attacks of Cramps of the Stomach, Spasms, Convulsions, Faintings, Pain in the Stomach, Bowels, Side, Back, Limbs, and a great variety of other difficulties. It is also invaluable as an external remedy. It will be found to contain nearly double the strength of any similar article, and possesses properties heretofore unknown. No family should be without it for a single day.

PRICE 25, 37½ AND 50 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Full directions for the above medicines, on the Bottles. Orders should be accompanied with full directions how it should be sent.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, it here none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

Hygeian, Hoarhound, Liverwort and Asparagus

COUGH CANDY.

Warranted free from Mercury, Opium, or any Mineral Ingredient. It injures no one, but benefits all.

Relief guaranteed in five minutes.

NEVER, since the Science of Medicine first dawned upon the World, has any compound gained such extraordinary popularity, in so short a time as DR. HOWE'S Hygeian, Hoarhound and Liverwort COUGH CANDY. In curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Difficulty of Breathing, Bleeding at the Lungs, Pain in the Side and Breast, Sore Throat, Cramp, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Hoarseness or any other Symptom of that distressing malady, Consumption.

A host of Certificates can be presented, but the following from Rev. J. M. Trimble, Presiding Elder of the Cincinnati District M. E. Church, must satisfy all of the beneficial results of the use of this Cough Candy.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 25, 1847.

DR. HOWE—Sir: I have used Howe's Cough Candy and have found it a pleasant remedy for Hoarseness, and believe the public speakers troubled with diseases of the throat would find benefit from its use. J. M. TRIMBLE.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 76 state Street, oppo. Kilby street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837 determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, TWENTY DOLLARS instead of twenty, as paid back by others, will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can save not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and expedition. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase an Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Side, &c.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers it warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two cellars, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the markets, factories and railroads. Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the north end. It is centrally located between the different ship-yards in that section of the city, each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lord, and is in good order. Attached to it is a lot of land large enough for a Stable or for another dwelling house. It would make a good place for the residence of a person employed at the shipyards across the river, or at the Navy Yard.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 47 Bow street.—This house has been built but a few years, is well finished, and is very convenient. In the rear is quite a large garden and a barn; it would be a desirable place for a person employed at the shipyards, or at the Navy Yard nearly opposite.

Also, for sale, a BUILDING LOT, on Mount Vernon street, (opposite No. 2,) with a small building thereon, which can be finished off into a Dwelling house.

All of the above property will be sold on liberal terms, if applied for soon. For further particulars apply to JOSEPH M. EDMONDS,

Feb. 27. No. 9 Islington street.

Real Estate for Sale.

A DESIRABLE lot of Real Estate located in central business part of the city. The situation is one of the most beautiful locations, commanding a view of Piscataqua harbor and Navy Yard, unsurpassed by any in the city. There is a large Garden, connected with the premises, filled with choice Fruit Trees. A plan of the above may be seen, the premises examined, and any information respecting the same will be given by calling on either of the subscribers.

SONG.

Give me an eye, a swimming eye,
To meet my ardent glances—
A sunny eye to gaze upon
When pleasure in it dances,
Give me an eye to mingle beams
When mirth and joy have bound me;
Give me an eye to mingle tears
When sorrow's clouds are arounds me.

Give me a cheek, a soft, soft cheek,
Warm roses blushing o'er it,
So bright, so sure, so angel like,
'Twere sinless to adore it.
Give me a cheek to press to mine
With that calm, holy feeling,
That lulls the soul as music does,
When o'er the senses stealing.

Give me a lip, a balmy lip,
Sweet smiles around it wreathing—
A dewy lip, carnation like,
Of love and fondness breathing.
Give me a lip to kiss when all,
Or few, or none caress me—
A full red lip to dream upon,
A seraph lip to bless me.

Give me a hand, a snow white hand,
To tremble when I press it—
A fairy hand to hold in mine,
A little hand to bless it.
Give me a hand to kiss and breathe
O'er it my soul's devotion—
A hand to hold and press mine too,
With deep, unfeigned emotion.

Give me a heart, a gentle heart,
With warm affections beating—
A heart to flutter with delight,
When lip with lip is meeting.
Give me a heart to call my own,
To cheer my path when dreary—
A pure, a guileless, constant heart,
To lean upon when weary.

"WHAT IS RELIGION?" is a question much easier asked than answered. And perhaps the "theory" is not of much consequence, provided the "practice" is all right. We once heard a definition of religion, however, which though rather fanciful than metaphysical, contains at least a hint of the truth. At a social party, where humorous definitions was one of the games of the evening, the question was put, "what is religion?" "Relsgion," replied one of the party, more famous as a man of business than as a man of wit—"religion is an insurance against fire in the next world, for which honesty is the best policy."—Boston Post.

Very smart and very fine, as a popular definition. Quite defective, erroneous and mischievous, as a rule of life or ground of hope. Religion is a life, and not a compensation.—And honesty is not a policy, but a principle.

SAILORS, THEIR SUBORDINATION AND DISPOSITION TO MISCHIEF.—The following story was told at one of the anniversary meetings at New York, last week:

Merchants complain of the scarcity of sailors and their growing insubordination on shipboard, and consider the laws regulating the discipline of seamen in the merchant service altogether defective and by far too lax.—As an instance of the danger to which ships and their cargoes are exposed from the reckless conduct of seamen, the following statement was made:—It appears that the Kate Hooper, valued at about $75,000, and with a cargo also worth about $75,000 more, was lying in Hampton Roads, Norfolk, bound for Liverpool, when her crew deserted, but were pursued and carried back on board the ship.—The said seamen, while the ship was riding at anchor during a gale, took a cold chisel and nearly severed the chain cable, which, had they succeeded in doing, the vessel and cargo would probably have gone on shore, and possibly have been lost. Finding they could not finish their job before daylight, they wrapped an old sail-cloth around the cut link. The ship hoisted anchor, and sailed for Liverpool. On reaching that port the old cable was thrown into the hold, and a new chain cable purchased. A new crew was shipped, and the vessel returned to New York, when, on hauling out the old chain for sale, and removing the padding of sail cloth, it was found for the first time, that it had been almost severed in the manner stated. Had the Kate Hooper been overtaken by a storm in the Channel before making Liverpool, and cast anchor, the probability is that both ship and cargo, with the lives on board, would have been lost.

EDWIN FORREST vs. N. P. WILLIS.—Action to recover damages for an alleged libel published in the Home Journal on the 6th of April, 1850. The article complained of related to the difficulties then existing between Mr. Forrest and his wife. After three hours' deliberation the jury declared their inability to agree, and were discharged. It is said that the jurymen differed in their estimate of the damages from $10,000 to six cents!

DEATH OF JAMES MONTGOMERY.—The Atlantic brings us the intelligence that James Montgomery, the most popular of the religious poets, who have written in English for half a century, died suddenly at his residence in Sheffield, on Sunday, April 30th. Montgomery was in the 83d year of his age. He was born at Irvine, Scotland, November 4th, 1771. His father was a Moravian clergyman, for which profession the poet was also educated. Before Montgomery had attained his tenth year, he exhibited his inclination for poetry, and at the age of sixteen he appeared in the streets of London with a manuscript volume of poems. In 1792, he was engaged as a writer for a weekly gazette in Sheffield. He afterwards assumed its management, and conducted it with taste, ability, and moderation. It had a high toned and liberal character, but was obnoxious to the government, and Montgomery was twice imprisoned, for articles copied into its columns. Both actions against him were gross instances of oppression, and raised him very much in the estimation of the public. He was associated with Mr. Gales, the father of the respected senior editor of the National Intelligencer, in his connexion with the press at Sheffield.—Mr. Gales left England to avoid prosecution on account of his liberal principles, and the young poet assumed the publication of the newspaper, and suffered the penalty thereof.

It was during his second imprisonment that he wrote his "Prison Amusements," which appeared in 1797. From this time his poems followed each other in rapid succession. He had but little skill in narrative, and was deficient in dramatic power. His short poems and hymns are full of devotion to the Creator, sympathy with the suffering, and a cheerful, hopeful philosophy. He is the author of three hundred and fifty five sacred poems, and the hymn books of all Protestant sects have copied largely from his writings. His works show that he was emphatically the poet of religion and morality. His thoughts are remarkable for their purity. His political principles were quite liberal, and harmonized with the catholicity of his religious views.

Our limits forbid any extended notice of this Christian poet. His character and life have been more like the course of a calm and deep river, than of a romantic torrent. He deserves immortal eulogy, in that he has written no line—

"— which, dying, he could wish to blot."

A NEW ROUTE FROM THE WEST.—The propeller Dunkirk arrived at Buffalo on Monday evening from Chicago, with a full cargo of beef, pork and lard, from Burlington, Iowa, being the first shipment from that point by way of the Lakes. The products of that region have heretofore sought a market by the Mississippi River to New Orleans. The Rock Island Railroad has opened a new channel for their products, and large shipments may be expected from the section.

Among the laws passed by the late Legislature of Massachusetts, was one by which, in case of a suspicion that a fire is not the result of accident, any person may within ten days make oath of his suspicion before a Justice of the Peace, who thereupon is required to summon a jury of six men, who are to investigate all the circumstances, in much the same manner as in a Coroner's inquest. The verdict rendered by the jury is to be returned to the Court as a basis for further action, if the results arrived at require it.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, MAY 19, 1854.

CUBA AND NEBRASKA.—It is well asked—If there is so much agitation about a very immaterial question, what may we expect upon the occurrence of a question of a substantial and serious nature? If Nebraska creates so much confusion, what will Cuba do? The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, who has paid some attention to the subject, writes—

That we shall have Cuba, in the course of time, there can be no more doubt than the fact that our population and strength will continue to increase. The fruit will fall when ripe. But who would obtain any political preferment by waiting for an event which time would render certain? The peaceable acquisition of Cuba would confer no notoriety upon any one. Therefore it may be considered as certain that every demagogue will insist upon precipitating the Cuban question. It may not involve us in a foreign war, but it will give us a war at home.

It is to be understood that the President will recommend hostile measures, if the feeling of the public and in Congress will countenance it. I am confident, however, that Congress will not heedlessly follow such rash and selfish counsels. There will be some talking but no action on the subject.

DROP LETTERS ADDRESSED TO BOX HOLDERS.—Any person has the right to place printed or other mailable matter in the post office for box holders in the same office, and it is the duty of postmasters to duly place such things in the boxes of those to whom they may be addressed.

We have seen this wonderful paragraph in at least twenty papers; and we have no doubt it is true;—but what of it? We suppose every postmaster in the country knows what to do with drop letters, or drop papers,—and suppose also that the droppers and receivers know that such droppings cost one cent each.

SIR CHARLES NAPIER ON THE AMERICAN EAGLE.—A letter from Copenhagen, said to have been written by Mr. Bedinger, our Charge at that place, gives an account of an interview with Sir Charles Napier at a public dinner. After making us many compliments the bluff English admiral remarked:

"I begin to believe in the description which some one of your orators gave of the American Eagle, when he said—'he sits on the top of the Alleghany, dips his beak in the Atlantic and his tail in the Pacific, stretches one wing over Canada, the other over Mexico, and grasps the continent in his claws.'"

OVERDOING BUSINESS.—The Philadelphia ledger states that several large failures have recently taken place in that city, and adds:

"Philadelphia has been doing a very large business the past spring, and our merchants have been felicitating themselves not a little at their own large operations over their New York brethren. In the excitement attending a large business, competition is very apt to look more to large sales than the selection of good and reliable customers. Each firm seems more desirous to outdo his neighbor in the footing up of its sales, than in the avoidance of bad debts. We are not sure that some of our merchants will not have reason to repent of some such folly as this, ere the present spring business is entirely closed.

Should the financial trouble continue, which is just now beginning to make itself felt in the South and West, and which is manifest in the drain of coin, there is much reason to fear that our merchants will have reason to regret that some of their customers did not bestow their patronage on some other city. Of one thing we are quite certain, there are too much and too long credits tolerated in almost all business pursuits. It is unnecessary,—nay, it is worse. The direct tendency of such policy is extravagance and profligacy."

RESOURCES OF THE UNITED STATES.—A correspondent, who always preserves a cheerful aspect amidst financial and commercial difficulties, and who is never appalled by imaginary dangers, in speaking of the internal and external alarms at the present time, says:—"The United States of America are too strong in wealth, resources and substantial prosperity, to be seriously, or for any length of time affected by foreign troubles, in which they are not implicated. Cultivated farms, mineral deposits, the fisheries, fertile lands, swarming factories, busy workshops, facilities of inter communication, an ocean covering commerce, an independent press, together with health, intelligence, peace, liberty, and plenty, all proclaim a loud rebuke to the timidly distrustful or the thoughtlessly ungrateful, who are not inspired with the sincerest confidence and gratitude in view of these solid and manifold blessings."—Boston Courier.

BREADSTUFFS.—The flour market is very firm; some inconsiderate persons have been circulating a statement that the present high rates are owing to control of the market by speculators, who are holding the supplies and preying upon the necessities of the people; this mischievous representation is entirely unfounded. The canal opened at a late date, in consequence of the backwardness of the season; the supplies at the East were short, owing to the high prices of last Fall, and the demand for export had previously exhausted most of the accumulation of last season. This left the stock here very light, and the result is the advance noticed. There is no wheat in this vicinity or throughout the State which can be bought to make flour, even at the present selling prices.—N. Y. Jour. of Com.

Rev. Theodore Clapp has left New Orleans for Mobile. His health has been very much impaired, and he goes under medical advise to recruit. His first visit will be to his native hills in Massachusetts, and perhaps afterwards to Europe. He will not probably return before November.

OLD FOLKS' CONCERT.

High street church, Portland, was beseiged on Friday night long before the doors were opened. It seemed as if the whole town was on the qui vive to hear the Old Folks. At an early hour the house was crowded to its utmost capacity, aisles, galleries, pulpit and all. It did one's heart good to look around upon the expectant multitude. The singers were so numerous that the choir could not contain a tithe of them. They filled the free seats, and two or three pews on each side of the gallery. Taking the pitch from the bass viol, manipulated with great skill by Mr. Ira Berry, the choir burst forth in one of those ancient strains which made the old folks young again. Such tunes as Majesty, Sherburne, Winter, Pollard, Hallowell, Montgomery, were given in succession with a gusto, we will venture to say, never before equalled. Notwithstanding the sacredness of the place, many of the pieces were received with applause, and were repeated by the choir. The only piece of much length was the 'Easter Anthem,' which went off finely. A critical ear might detect faults, but an occasion like this is not to be measured by critical rules. We doubt if ever a concert in this city went off more favorably than that of the 'Old Folks.' The closing performance was Old Hundred. The audience were requested to join in this, and we will venture to say that this grand choral was never sung with better effect than on this occasion. On the whole, the evening's exercise was one of rare interest. The right chord was touched, and a perfect sympathy ran through young and old. We are glad to learn that in accordance with an unanimous request the concert will shortly be repeated.—Portland Advertiser.

THE FISHERIES.—The St. John Times does not like the present aspect of the Fishery question—especially the withdrawal of the British cruisers. It commences an article thus:—

England cannot just now afford a fleet to protect our fisheries, and as Mr. Crampton has failed to make a treaty on the subject with the United States government, the Colonies are left to take care of themselves. A sort of Convention it is said, is to be held at New York, at which delegates from the several Provinces will meet and determine what is to be done. A temporary arrangement is talked of, the amount of which would be, that the Yankees should keep off the fishing grounds at present, as there is no fleet to drive them off, and then should be at liberty to try and come on again as soon as England can spare time to attend to such a trifling matter. To this arrangement, no doubt, poor, simple Jonathan will readily assent.

MARRIAGE AMONG THE LOWLY.—Recently a damsel in Newburyport was married under peculiar circumstances. Two young men had been paying attention to her—one for some two years, who was her favorite; the other, several months, who was the chosen of her parents. They were both expecting to be married on the same week, and the last lover had advanced some money for the purchase of a few requisites, but as he distrusted his hold upon the damsel's affections, he had also engaged with the father, that if he would guard his chances, and keep the daughter from his rival, he would give him a parcel of land somewhere back of the city. To secure the matter, the heroine was pretty closely watched, but slipping out the door, without change of dress or even a bonnet, she reached a neighbor's house, borrowed some outer garments, met her overjoyed favorite, and in a short half hour the elder had fastened the knot, leaving growling parents, and the competing beau minus his money, but with the land in his own hands. This bit of romance has occasioned a stir in the neighborhood, but nobody is seriously hurt.—Herald.

THIEVES.—On Wednesday, in the Boston Police Court, Curtis Gilman, a watchman in the employ of the Boston and Providence Railroad Company, and Frederick Kellogg, were arraigned on a joint charge of stealing about $50 worth of cloths, linen, satin, vesting, &c., from the depot of the corporation on Tuesday night. The goods were found at a house on Shawmut avenue, in the keeping of a young woman named Susan Williams.—The defendants waived an examination, and in default of bail they were committed for trial. Miss Susan, being unable to give security for her appearance as a witness, was also committed.

The Ladies Missionary Society, which is laboring to redeem the Five Points in New York, has in the past year, given regular instruction in day and Sabbath Schools, to more than two hundred children, introduced work in connection with the mission, for a great number of the inhabitants, found situations for fifty three children, and scores of men and women, distributed 20,000 garments, 500 pairs of shoes, and 300 pieces of bedding to the destitute, and expended large sums of money in various channels. These women are true sisters of mercy; and verily they will have their reward.

ANOTHER STATE.—A bill has been reported to Congress, looking to the admission of Oregon as a State, in 1855—in time to give its vote in the next Presidential election.—The Territory is having a very rapid growth. In 1849 its population was 13,294; now it is more than 40,000. The settlement of Nebraska may check the emigration from the Atlantic States, by turning the tide in that direction; but Oregon has great advantages, and its admission will give power to the Pacific slope, where it is wanted.

TENT MEETING.—Our brethren who believe "the last year of the President's administration and the reign of Emperors and Kings has come," propose to hold a series of "tent meetings" in Concord, N. H., commencing Tuesday, May 30, and continuing over the following Sabbath. Eld. Cummings and other ministers of God and "loyal subjects of the Most Grand, the most Illustrious and Glorious King of this Sublime Kingdom" are expected to be present. All members of "the household of faith" are invited to attend; as also all others.—Democrat.

Good resolutions are like fainting ladies—they want to be carried out.

LOCAL.

CITY COUNCIL.

In the Board of Alderman, on Thursday evening, it was ordered that the Committee on Schools be directed to form some system for defraying the contingent expenses of the School Houses, such as cleaning, &c.

The Mayor, by request of a citizen, mentioned the subject of sweeping Market street; laid on the table.

The Committee appointed to investigate Mr. Lyman's claim to land occupied by the city, reported that Mr. Lyman wished further time to show his claim; laid on the table.

In the Common Council, the following preamble and resolutions were presented by Mr. Tullock, and passed:

Whereas the Board of Aldermen have allowed the time specified in the City Charter for the appointment of City Officers to pass without making such appointments or giving any notice that they will concur in the resolution of this Branch of the City Government in forming a convention for the purpose of fulfiling this part of our official duties; and Whereas it is necessary that the Common Council should be informed in regard to its duties and powers in such an unexpected exigency; therefore

Resolved, That a special committee be appointed to inquire and report—

1st, Whether the City Collector of Taxes appointed in 1853, holds over until his successor is qualified to act in his stead?

2d. If he holds over, to what matters does his power extend? Can he, under the appointment of 1853, legally collect the taxes assessed for 1854? Are his sureties for 1853 responsible for his official conduct in collecting taxes assessed for 1854, or must the Collector give new surety for his official acts not coming within the scope of his bond of 1853? If so, what kind of security can legally be given?

Messrs Tullock, Seymour and Carr were appointed the Committee.

An answer was received from the City Solicitor, respecting the refusal to go into convention, which is, in substance, that each individual is presumed to act honestly, and must answer to his conscience for his oath; and that he knows no method of legal compulsion in such a case.

The Council then adjourned to Thursday, June 1.

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

The Second Anniversary of the Portsmouth Young Men's Christian Association, was held in the Temple on Wednesday evening, with appropriate religious services, including anthems by a select choir, and Old Hundred by the assembly.

The opening prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Willis, of the Universalist church; the address was delivered by Rev. Dr. Peabody, of the Unitarian; and the benediction pronounced by Rev. Dr. Burroughs, rector of St. Johns (Episcopal) Church.

The Annual Report was read by Mr. Lewis W. Brewster of the Journal, and will be published in our columns to-morrow.

Dr. Peabody's Address was on the Commercial Aspect or Business Relation of every man's employment. In discussing this subject, he presented Honesty as the polar star of the man and the christian, and exhorted the young men to maintain the most unflinching integrity, as the foundation of character, and rule of life. It was eminently a practical address, was well received, and will as we hope produce a happy influence.

NAVY YARD.—On Wednesday last, orders were received at the Navy Yard on this station, to proceed with the enlargement and completion of the frigate Santee, an appropriation for which purpose has been passed during the present session of Congress.

The Santee is a frigate of about 1700 tons, and was put up in 1821. At that time she was planked and nearly ready for launching; but work was suspended, and she has remained in the same state since. The keel and other parts of the vessel are in a bad state, and will have to be replaced. It is proposed to lengthen her out about 20 feet, sharpen her ends, and thus make her a clipper.

The model and plans for her enlargement have been sent to Washington, and approved, so that the work now will be prosecuted with vigor. About 50 men were taken on, on Thursday.

A few men are also at work on the Franklin, which is to be rebuilt as a steam propeller.

DESECRATION.—Some gentlemen who often walk in the Proprietors' Burial Ground at the South end of this city, have noticed a destruction and wasting of flowers, probably caused by thoughtless boys.

We suppose these boys are not aware of two things, which are yet quite true. One is, that they greatly hurt the feelings of the friends who planted these flowers of the grave. And the other, that they are liable to a heavy fine, if they happen to be seen and prosecuted.

We hope a word to the wise will be sufficient.

☞ Capitalists who wish to emigrate to the West will learn of a good chance for an investment by reading an advertisement in another column.

Rich and Valuable Mill Property
For Sale in Wisconsin to Close a Concern.
THE KINGSTON MILLS, situated in the beautiful and thriving Village of Kingston, Marquette County, Wisconsin, are now offered for sale at a low price to close an Estate.
This magnificent property consists of a GRIST AND FLOURING MILL of the most modern construction, with two runs of stones. The supply of water is unfailing and ample at all seasons, with a fall of twelve feet. It commands a vast amount of custom work, sufficient to keep it in full operation the whole year round. The building is four stories high, very large and commodious, and built in the most substantial manner.
Also, a SAW MILL, built after the most approved plan. It has been hitherto rented for one hundred dollars per month.
Also 120 ACRES OF LAND—embracing some choice village lots in Kingston.
This property is within a few miles of the Milwaukie & La Cross Railroad, and within four miles of the navigable waters of the Fox River. A portion of the purchase money may remain on bond and mortgage if desired.

CONGRESS.

WEDNESDAY, May 17.

SENATE.—In the Senate, two private bills were passed.

Mr. Clayton offered a joint resolution, expressing the sense of Congress on the conduct of the boat's crew of the British ship Virago, who were instrumental in the rescue of Lieut. Strain's surveying party. Referred.

The Resolution of Mr. Mallory of Florida, concerning the Africanization of Cuba, was then taken up.

HOUSE.—The House has been engaged in the consideration of the Nebraska bill. Mr. Ready of Tenn., in support of it, said he preferred the Senate bill to the amendment proposed by the gentleman from Illinois, (Mr. Richardson,) but at the same time he should not be very scrupulous in looking at all the minutiæ of the bill, so as to hunt out objections to the substitute, inasmuch as he perceived the amendment embodies the great principle on which the bill is based; and inasmuch as there is a difference only in points of minor importance, he was willing to take either the Senate bill or the amendment.—His party views were different from those of the administration, but this should not control his action here on a great national question.

Mr. Etheridge of Tennessee spoke against the bill. He said if the House had been left to itself, free from threats and promises from the other end of the avenue, a thousand caucuses and cabinet consultations could not have prevented the bill from being buried so deep that it would never have been heard of again. He argued that neither the South or North, or any other portion of the Union could be benefitted by the repeal of the Missouri Compromise.

Mr. Oliver of Missouri followed in favor of the bill. While he was speaking, at half past two o'clock, a tremendous storm came on suddenly, accompanied with thunder, lightning and hail, causing so much commotion among members that he suspended his remarks for some moments. It was so dark that the chandeliers had to be lighted.

Mr. Bennett of New York followed. He contended that the repeal of the Missouri Compromise would bring the Union to the verge of destruction.

Mr. Straub of Pennsylvania spoke in favor of the bill, and at half past five o'clock the House took a recess until 7 o'clock.

NEW YORK, May 17.—The ship W. H. Harbeck, Captain Marshall, from this port for Mobile, took fire at three o'clock this morning, while lying at the South West Spit, and is a total loss, together with her cargo of 700 bales of hay. She was towed, while burning, as far as the Narrows, where she was got ashore and scuttled. The captain and crew were taken off by the tug boat, saving nothing but what they had about them personally.—The vessel was about six years old, and owned by Harbeck & Co., of this city.

COUNTERFEITERS ACQUITTED.—At a recent session of the County Court, in Essex County, Canada, several negroes were tried for having counterfeit bank notes in their possession, and for uttering spurious gold dollar pieces. The cases were all clearly proved, and yet the prisoners were acquitted because "there is no law upon the Canadian Statute book to punish such crimes." We presume there is a law against counterfeiting British money, but the money found in the possession of the prisoners was probably American. Boston Journal.

A MOVEMENT FOR THE CLERGY, AND NOT BY THEM.—We see in the religious papers of Boston, that the 'Society for the Relief of Aged and Destitute Clergymen,' has chosen a Committee to interrogate the ministers of New England concerning their salaries, &c. Replies have been received from more than a thousand clergymen, and these replies are in press. We learn that facts and inferences of deepest interest to the community will be found in this pamphlet. We are glad that laymen have taken the initiative steps in this matter.

On Saturday afternoon the body of Samuel Hunt, late Secretary of the Manufacturers Insurance Company, was found in Charles river, near College wharf, Cambridge. It will be recollected that Mr. Hunt was reported to have committed suicide on the 9th day of November last, in rear of Braman's Baths. The body was identified by articles found on the person.—Boston Transcript.

A correspondent from Havana, writing to the New Orleans Delta, asserts positively that in event of a war between the United States and Spain, the Captain General has a decree ready to be issued at any moment, abolishing slavery and arming the slaves. Many Europeans, with their families, were leaving Havana in anticipation of trouble. [Somewhat doubtful.]

LIBERAL BEQUESTS.—It is reported that Miss Caroline Plummer, whose death is recorded in to-day's paper, has bequeathed $25,000 or more to the Salem Athenæum, $18,000 for the establishment of a Female Reform School in this city, $15,000 to Harvard University—besides sundry other legacies, the particulars of which we have not heard.—Salem Register, 18th.

One A. Farnsworth, who signs himself "Brevet Major of New York Volunteers," and G. Bolivar Hall, who has the same military designation, publish a call in the New York Herald, declaring that a war with Spain is inevitable, and announcing their design of raising a regiment of infantry, of 1000 men, to offer to the Federal Government, to prosecute the war.

DAMAGES.—In the U. S. Circuit Court at New York, Mr. Spooner, publisher of the illustrations of Shakspeare's plays, has obtained a verdict of $8000 damages against John M. Daniel, formerly editor of the Richmond, Va., Examiner, and now American Charge at Florence, for a malicious libel.

ARREST OF SUPPOSED INCENDIARIES.—In Cambridgeport, three boys, named Butler, Pearson, and Montgomery, have been arrested upon suspicions of having set fire to the box factory of Mr. Charles Harlow, which was consumed on Monday night.

m6 Just received. JOSEPH H. FOSTER.

Theodore Parker last night gave his anti-slavery friends a good deal more than they bargained for, in the matter of his speech.—The house was crowded with a miscellaneous mass of people of all parties, creeds, and colors, assembled to hear Messrs. Parker, Garrison, and Phillips, who were announced to speak. Mr. Parker opened, and spoke over two hours and a half, and even then stopped only because he was compelled to do so by the impatience of his hearers, leaving at least one third of the ground he had marked out untouched. His speech was very able—denunciatory of everything, prophetic of evil to be perpetuated, and hopeless of any reform in any department of public affairs.—New York Times of Saturday.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to stay.—There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Whenever the body is bound it works easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs., another 10 lbs., and another 7 lbs.—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference fourty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, neither do I care.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. If the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him.

Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to cleanse the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb, immersed in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, one teaspoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormentors of our nightly rest.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 76 state Street, oppo. Kilby street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and the best advice on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications in the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents."

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. THOMAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 100,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cuts, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 Sheafe street. This is a well built house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two sculleries, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the markets, factories and railroads. Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the north end. It is centrally located between the different ship-yards in that section of the city, each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lowd and is in good order. Attached to it is a lot of land large enough for a Stable or for another dwelling house. It would make a good place for the residence of a person employed at the ship-yards across the river, or at the Navy Yard.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 9 Bow street.—This house has been built but a few years, is well finished off, and is very convenient. In the rear is quite a large garden spot. This would be a desirable place for a person employed at the ship-yards, or at the Navy Yard nearly opposite.

Also, for sale, a BUILDING LOT, on Mount Vernon street, (opposite No. 2,) with a small building thereon, which can be finished off into a Dwelling house.

All of the above property will be sold on liberal terms, if applied for soon. For further particulars apply to JOSEPH M. EDMONDS,

Feb. 27. No. 9 Islington street.
